G. C. MOOKERJEE, Secretary.

GROSVENOR HOUSE, the 22nd May 1920.

THE GOVERNMENT COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE.

The Day Course.

1. There is a specialized Day Course extending over two years. Candidates who have passed the Matriculation Examination are eligible for admission. Others are admitted, provided they satisfy the Education Department, by passing a preliminary test examination of a similar standard, that they have sufficient general education to enable them to derive advantage from the teaching.

2. Compulsory subjects :—

(a) English (modern), and especially English Correspondence, including Commercial Correspondence, letter-drafting and precis-writing.

(b) Arithmetic, including Commercial and Mental Arithmetic.

(c) An Indian vernacular.

(d) Commercial Geography.

(e) Book-keeping (Junior).

For an Indian vernacular, the Institute provides a thorough training in Bengali. Students taking up any other vernacular are given directions for the examination for which they have to prepare themselves. Anglo-Indian candidates who have passed the Higher Standard examination in an Indian vernacular held by the Inspector of European Schools, Bengal, or who have passed the Lower Standard examination in an Indian vernacular held by the Board of Examiners, will be further examined in the same vernacular in the following manner :—

(1) They will be examined orally to test their command of the vernacular for the ordinary purposes of business.

(2) They will have to translate into English a business letter dictated in the vernacular, and will be examined in both the dictation and translation.

3. Optional Subjects.—Shorthand and Typewriting—(A candidate may take up one or both, according to his option).

A student must take up all the compulsory subjects and must pass in each to obtain the final certificate. The marks obtained in the Optional Subjects—Shorthand and Typewriting—are counted towards a prize.

4. Examination.—At the end of the first year's course, an examination is held to determine promotion to the second year class and to decide the award of scholarships. At the end of the two years' course the final examination is held towards the end of April or the beginning of May. A candidate who fails in one of the five compulsory subjects is not eligible for a pass certificate. A candidate who fails in one subject only in the final examination may appear again in the final examination in the following year in that subject without attending the class. A candidate who fails in only two subjects in the final examination may appear in the final examination in the following year in those subjects, provided that he attends the classes in those subjects.

A candidate who attends a final examination to be examined in a su bject in which he has previously failed must pass again in English, if En glish was not a subject in which he had failed, in order to obtain the dipl oma.

5. Text-books.—The following text-books are prescribed :—

(a) English—Hooper and Graham's "Home Trade".
(b) Arithmetic—Grant and Hill's "Commercial Arithmetic" and "Mental Arithmetic".
(c) Bengali—"Kapalkundala" by Bankim Chandra Chatterjee.
(d) Geography—"Commercial Geography of the World" by A. J. Herbertson, "A Short Commercial Geography" by L. W. Lyde, "A School Economic Atlas" by J. G. Bartholomew and "A New Geography of the Indian Empire, Burma and Ceylon" by Morrison.
(e) Book-keeping—Arthur Fieldhouse's "Complete Book-keeping."
(f) Shorthand—Pitman's Shorthand Instructor, Centenary edition.

The text-books cost about Rs. 25.

6. Session and Fees.—The session begins about the end of June and closes about the end of April. The usual summer and Puja vacations are given. The students have to pay an admission fee of Rs. 3 and monthly tuition fee at the rate of Rs. 3 beginning from June. The final examination fee is Rs. 8. Tuition fees are to be paid monthly in advance after admission.

7. Attendance.—Strict regularity of attendance is enforced. Students attending less than 75 per cent. of the lectures are debarred from promotion to the second-year class or from appearing at the final examination. Classes are held from 10-30 A.M. to 4 P.M. with half-an-hour's interval daily from 1-30 to 2 P.M. On Saturdays classes are held from 10-30 A.M. to 1-30 P.M.

8. Scholarships and Prizes.—Three scholarships of Rs. 12 each per mensem, tenable for one year, are awarded to those students of the first-year class who, amongst those admitted, have secured the highest marks in English at the Matriculation Examination of the Calcutta University. Three scholarships of Rs. 20 each per mensem, tenable for one year, are awarded to those students of the second-year class who obtain the highest total marks at the examination held at the end of the first-year's course. Holders of Junior and Senior scholarships at the Matriculation Examination are not eligible for these scholarships. The best two students in the final examination at the end of the two years' course obtain prizes of Rs. 75 and Rs. 50, respectively, offered by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. The Remington Typewriter Co. present medals to the best three students in typewriting at the final or special examination.

9. Successful candidates are eligible for posts in the lower grade Secretariat Service.

10. Applications for admission must reach the Principal before the 30th June every year. As only a limited number can be enrolled, priority of application is considered.

(A separate prospectus is issued for the evening lectures.)

Combination of the above subjects and reduction of fee.—If a student simultaneously takes up two or three of the subjects (a) to (e), a reduction of Re. 1 per instalment on each of the fees payable by him will be granted: for example, if a student is a member of both the Shorthand and the Elementary Book-keeping classes, he will have to pay instalments of Rs. 2 for each subject, instead of Rs. 3, for the session July to December.

(f), (g), (h), (i) and (j).—Classes are formed in these subjects if a sufficient number of candidates apply for admission. The fee for each subject is Rs. 3 for each series of ten lectures.

The examination fee for each subject is Rs. 5.

3. Attendance.—Strict regularity and punctuality of attendance are observed. Students must attend 75 per cent. of the lectures in order to appear at the examination. Classes are not held in the evening on Saturday.

4. Standard of Admission.—Candidates who have attended the lectures of the day course are eligible for admission. Others will be admitted provided they appear qualified for the class or classes they seek to join.

5. Prizes.—Prizes of Rs. 50 each are offered by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce to the best candidates from the evening classes in subjects (b), (d), (f), (g), (h), (i) and (j). Questions and Answers.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 1.

STARRED QUESTIONS.

The following starred question was asked and answer given :—

By the Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur:—

Traffic on the Panchanontolla Road, Howrah.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state what is the average width of the Panchanontolla Road in the town of Howrah, and how much of it is left for traffic?

(b) Are the Government aware that this width, with the railway trains frequently running on one side, is not sufficient for pedestrian and wheel traffic in a town like Howrah?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley:—

" (a) and (b) The width of the Panchanontolla Road varies so much that it is difficult to strike an average. At its widest point, the road is 66 feet, at its narrowest 27 feet. The space left for wheel traffic at the narrower points is small, but it is above the minimum prescribed by an agreement executed in 1889 between the Municipal Commissioners of Howrah and the promoters of the Howrah-Amta Railway which provides that a clear roadway of 14 feet, exclusive of the 6 feet required for the railway, shall be left intact for ordinary wheel traffic."

UNSTARRED QUESTIONS.

The answers to the following unstarred questions were laid on the table :—

By the Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari:—

Training of students of the Bengal Engineering College.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether any firms owning collieries, factories, cotton, jute, and other mills and docks in any part of India, are prepared to admit B.E. students of the Bengal Engineering College for further training, and if so on what terms?

(b) If the Government have no such information at their disposal, are the Government considering the desirability of taking steps for obtaining the necessary information?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley:—

" (a) and (b) Arrangements are already made to give Bachelor of Engineering students of the Bengal Engineering College at Sibpur a course of practical training for one year, in order to enable them to qualify for the final college 'diploma of Civil Engineer.' Such training is arranged for under the Public Works Department, a railway, the Sanitary Engineer, a Municipal Engineer, or if any important work is in progress, under a District Engineer or a recognised firm of contractors. If any student desires to take up docks and harbour, it is arranged that he should be given a course of training under the Port Commissioners.

Questions and Answers.

The proposal that Bengal Engineering students should receive practical training in collieries, factories, jute mills and cotton mills does not commend itself to the Government of Bengal for the following reasons. The Bengal Engineering course is a Civil Engineering course and does not prepare students for work in collieries, factories and mills, for which previous training in mechanical and electrical engineering is desirable, and in the case of collieries special instruction in mining, such as is given in the Sibpur mining classes. Bachelor of Engineering students, not having had a course of mining or mechanical and electrical engineering, would not be good material for a practical training in collieries, factories and mills, while it would be impossible to recognise such training as qualifying for the college diploma of Civil Engineer."

By the Hon'ble Babu Bhabendra Chandra Ray:—

Increase in the establishment of the Criminal Intelligence Department.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to make a statement showing the increase, if any, in the establishment of the Criminal Intelligence Department, temporary as well as permanent, since the promulgation of the Defence of India Act, and the resulting increase in expenditure year by year?

(b) How much, approximately, of the said increase (if any) in establishment and expenditure, respectively, was necessitated by the administration of the Defence of India Act and other war measures of a similar nature?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Stephenson:—

"(a) and (b) A reply will be given at a later meeting of the Council."

3.

System of payment of contractors under the Public Works Department.

(a) Are there any standard rules, or uniform practice regarding the system of payment to contractors, under the Public Works Department?

(b) If so, to what extent?

(c) At what intervals are bills of contractors required to be paid thereunder, and how far is the system followed in practice?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Cowley:—

"(a) and (b) Payments to contractors are governed by the terms of the contract for each specific work. The general departmental instructions on the subject are contained in the Public Works Accounts Code, Chapter VII, Part III, to which the Hon'ble Member is referred.

(c) Under the rules quoted, running account payments to contractors should ordinarily be made monthly. In the case of petty works and repairs the usual practice is to pay for the work on completion. In the case of large works and repairs extending over a long period, running account payments are made at convenient intervals."

By the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq:—

Goondaism in Burrabazar.

(a) Are the Government aware that there exists a panic amongst the residents of Burrabazar and its neighbourhood owing to the depredations of goondas and other bad characters?

Questions and Answers.

(b) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to a number of specific cases of goondaism which have recently occurred, showing how bad the state of things is in Burrabazar?

(c) Have the Government taken any steps in the matter?

(d) If so, will the Government be pleased to make a detailed statement regarding the steps taken for the punishment of the criminals, as well as the prevention of such occurrences in future, in order to allay the prevailing panic in the public mind?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Stephenson:—

"(a) and (b) Government have received representations regarding goondaism in Burrabazar from the Marwari Association, the Marwari Chamber of Commerce and the Marwari Trades Association, but the information before Government does not bear out the statement that there is a panic on the subject. During the last six months there have been nineteen primâ facie true cases of robbery or attempted robbery reported in Burrabazar, of which twelve were detected and the accused sent up for trial. In addition to these, there have been a few cases which have been declared to be false; in these, dishonest durwans have taken advantage of the situation to pretend that they have been robbed; six such cases have been reported, and in the majority of these the alleged stolen property has been recovered from the durwans themselves, who have been prosecuted for criminal breach of trust.

(c) and (d) Government have sanctioned a temporary staff of one European Inspector and a jamadar to supervise the patrolling of Burrabazar and a force of two sergeants, two head constables and thirty constables has been drafted to Burrabazar for the purpose. Great difficulties have been experienced in housing this force in Burrabazar itself and none of the Marwari Associations have so far found themselves able to give any assistance, though a patrol force which is housed outside the area to be patrolled clearly loses in efficiency. The difficulty of dealing with the question by action in the courts lies in the reluctance of persons to give evidence in bad livelihood cases against the principal offenders, who are well known. The whole question is, however under further examination."

Lecturers and demonstrators in the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services.

(a) What is the difference in qualifications required of a person entering the Provincial Educational Service as a professor and another entering the Subordinate Educational Service as a lecturer or demonstrator?

(b) In what manner do the work, duties and responsibilities of a lecturer or demonstrator differ from those of a professor?

(c) Is not the former often required to teach the same subjects in the same classes along with the professor?

(d) Is the pay of an officer serving as a professor, lecturer or demonstrator determined according to his academic distinctions and success as a teacher, or on the work he actually does, or on what other grounds?

(e) Is it not a fact that lecturers and demonstrators are appointed with different initial pay varying from Rs. 100 to Rs. 200 in different colleges and in different subjects?

(f) What is the cause of this difference?

Questions and Answers.

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley:—

" (a) The minimum academic qualifications required are the same, but those who are appointed direct to the Provincial Educational Service as professors are required to have considerable experience or special capacity. Lecturers and demonstrators in the Subordinate Educational Service are eligible for appointment as professors in the Provincial Educational Service.

(b), (c) and (d) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the statements made by Mr. W. C. Wordsworth in reply to resolutions on the subject of the improvement of the pay and prospects of lecturers moved by the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chowdhury in the Council meetings held on 15th March, 1918 and on 14th March, 1919.

(e) Under the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam certain lecturers and demonstrators were appointed on an initial pay of Rs. 100 per mensem. In Bengal such officers are usually appointed on Rs. 125 in class IV of the Subordinate Educational Service except certain demonstrators in the Presidency College who were appointed on Rs. 200 in class VIII of the Provincial Educational Service.

(f) The demonstrators for the departments of physics, chemistry, physiology and botany in the Presidency College are in the Provincial Educational Service. Four posts in that service were sanctioned for these demonstrators so that the services of the best men available might be secured and that the college might maintain its reputation as a model institution in respect of science teaching."

Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services.

(a) Is it not a fact that in some colleges demonstrators are in the Provincial Educational Service while in other colleges they are in the Subordinate Educational Service?

(b) If so, what is the cause of this difference?

(c) Are the Government aware that it frequently happens that a person in a lower grade of the Subordinate Service is promoted to the Provincial Service but persons of superior qualifications in higher grades continue to work in the Subordinate Service?

(d) Are the Government also aware that it is frequently found that a junior man teaching a particular subject is in the Provincial Service while a senior man having another subject, with equal or higher academic distinctions and experience, is in the lower service?

(e) Are the Government aware of a feeling that exists that it is desirable that equally qualified persons of equal experience in different subjects should have equal status and pay?

(f) Is it a fact that many outsiders, who are not in the service, are appointed directly to the higher grades of the Subordinate Educational Service?

(g) Is an extra post sanctioned in the grade in which the appointment is made in every case so as not to retard promotion?

(h) If not, are the Government considering the advisability of creating new posts in the grade in which such appointments are made?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley:—

" (a) and (b) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the reply to clauses (e) and (f) of his question No. 5.

Questions and Answers.

(c) and (d) It is inevitable that this should sometimes happen, as a professorship in one subject cannot be filled by a lecturer or demonstrator in another subject.

(e) It is possible that this view may be held in some quarters, but it would be impracticable to give effect to it.

(a) Is it a fact that acute distress has prevailed for some time in certain areas within the Satkhira subdivision? Distress in certain areas in the Satkhira subdivision.

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to make a statement showing the extent of the distress, and the steps taken to alleviate it?

(c) Is there any truth in the statement that several people have died in certain villages within the Gabura Union in the Satkhira subdivision, as a result of taking insufficient and unhealthy food?

(d) Will the Government be pleased to place on the table any local reports they may have received regarding the situation?

(e) Have the Government received reports of similar distress from anywhere else?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"(a), (b), (c) and (d) A copy of extracts from the latest report of the Commissioner of the Presidency Division of the 7th April, 1920, is laid on the table. In addition to the measures already taken as reported therein, Government have sanctioned a grant of Rs. 2,000 for gratuitous relief.

(e) No."

Extracts from the report from the Commissioner of the Presidency Division on distress in the Gabura Union of Satkhira subdivision, district Khulna.

WITH regard to the deaths said to have occurred from starvation, it will be seen that the head-constable in charge of the Protapnagar beat-house reported, on the 2nd March, that the occurrence of 14 deaths from starvation in Gabura Union during the month of February had been reported by one Sadar Gazi, chaukidar of that union. This report was seen, on the 5th of March, at Kaliganj, by Inspector Kamini Kumar Banarji who, after sending a telegram to the Superintendent of Police, Khulna, started for Gabura, where he arrived on the evening of the 7th. The Inspector made enquiries in the Gabura Union on the 8th and 9th March and submitted a report on the 12th March, from which it appears that on the 1st and 2nd March the occurrence of 18 deaths from starvation in the union had been reported by 3 chaukidars—Sadar Gazi, Tena Gazi and Kanai Gazi. The result of the Inspector's enquiry, as stated in his own words, was: "The chaukidars did not report the deaths in time and all the 18 deaths were not caused by starvation. The villagers said that the following 5 deaths were due to want of food, but it is difficult to give a decisive opinion, as the deaths were reported to the beat-house long after, and I had not the opportunity of seeing the victims just before the deaths. It is a fact that they did not get regular food and some villagers of this union are still suffering much for want of food and clothing and using grass seeds for rice." Subjoined to the report is a list of 5 persons—two men, two women and one male child—whose deaths were alleged by the villagers to have been due to want of food. The Inspector's report does not give the dates of the 18 deaths to which it refers. He remained at Gabura until midday on the 10th March and distributed some rice there.

Meanwhile, the Inspector's telegram of the 5th of March had been communicated to the Officiating Collector of Khulna, who sent a copy of it on the 6th to the Subdivisional Officer of Satkhira, with a request to enquire personally and arrange for immediate relief if needed. The Subdivisional Officer submitted a report, after visiting Gabura Union, on the 13th March. The date of his visit to the Union is not mentioned in his report, but he must have gone there on the 10th, 11th or 12th. He stated that there was no foundation for the chaukidar's report that 14 deaths took place from starvation. The chaukidar in question could not be found, and it was reported that he had left the mahalla. Of the 14 persons whose deaths were alleged to have been due to starvation the families of 5, viz., two males, two females and one boy, were very poor, and in a distressed condition. These were evidently the same 5 persons whose deaths, according to the Inspector's report, were said by the villagers to have been due to want of food. The Subdivisional Officer added that the 5 deaths in question had resulted from fever or cholera, but the distressed condition of the union gave the opportunity for a cry for the continuance of the relief, and any death taking place was ascribed by the people to starvation.

The Officiating Collector of Khulna made enquiries in the Gabura Union on the 24th and 25th March. He reports that he found many able-bodied men of very good physique in the affected area, and adds.: "The 14 deaths originally reported as due to starvation took place from Kartik—(October-November)—onwards. The local people would ascribe them to starvation, and it would, of course, be difficult to obtain evidence to gainsay it. But when it is found that the surviving members of a family are not in bad health and did not show any signs of immediate collapse, the report that one of the family had died of starvation was hard to believe. When, for instance, ducks, fowls and other domesticated animals and birds were found in a house, it was difficult to accept the statement that the mother had died of starvation. Amir Pan who was said to have died of starvation was on close enquiry found to have died of Rakta-Bikar (apparently dysentery.")

There is, thus, no reliable evidence of any death from starvation having occurred in the Gabura Union. It is clear that no death from starvation in the union had been reported to the police up to the end of February. The place is remote and difficult of access, and even if the deaths in question had been promptly reported, which was probably not the case, it would have been almost impossible to obtain reliable evidence as to their cause.

At the same time, it is clear that some distress exists in the Gabura Union and some other unions in the neighbourhood.

As regards the rice crop in this part of the district, Mr. Hart informs me that it was reported after the cyclone by Mr. Dash, the then Collector, that the breaches of embankments caused thereby did no damage to speak of, because at that time the water was sweet, and the flood did not remain on the land long enough to damage the paddy, except in small patches, where it had been planted very late.

Gabura being on the extreme southern limit of cultivation, it is likely that the land there has only recently been reclaimed, and this may account for the soil being still saline. Whatever be the cause, it is clear that in this part of the district the last rice crop was to a great extent a failure. It is reported that the crops of the two previous seasons were indifferent, and distress has resulted which probably, owing to the remoteness of the locality, was not completely met by the relief operations. The Civil Surgeon, who accompanied the Officiating Collector in his enquiry on the spot, reports that he noticed some cases of extreme emaciation and chronic bowel-complaints due, apparently, to insufficient nourishment and taking bad and indigestible food.

For the able-bodied there appears to be sufficient work available at present in the making and repairing of embankments and in the excavation of a tank for drinking water, which has been undertaken. It is reported that the wages which were being paid by the local Zamindar's naib for repairing embankments were insufficient, but he has agreed to increase the rate from 2 annas to 5 annas a day.

It will be necessary to give gratuitous relief for some time probably until the next harvest to distressed persons who are incapable of working themselves and have no one to support them. The Inspector of Police distributed 4 maunds of rice and a small sum of money on the 9th March, and the Superintendent of Police distributed 15 maunds of rice and 4 tins of arrowroot and left in charge of a Sub-Inspector a quantity of barley, arrowroot, sugar and suji for distribution to invalids. The Officiating Collector took with him to Gabura on the 23rd 50 maunds of rice, 64 pieces of cloth, a supply of arrowroot, Mellin's Food and salt, as well as a supply of medicines. He was accompanied by the Civil Surgeon, and also by an epidemic doctor whom he left at Gabura in charge of medical relief operations. The Circle Sub-Deputy Collector, Satkhira, has, for the present, been placed in charge of gratuitous relief, and instructed to prepare a list of those who require it. In his report of the 29th, the Officiating Collector has asked for a grant of Rs. 2,000 for gratuitous relief. Mr. Fawcus having now taken charge of the district from Babu Dasarathi Dutt, I would recommend that he may be given carte blanche to incur such expenditure on gratuitous relief as may be necessary, pending further enquiry which he will be asked to make personally in the Gabura Union and other affected localities as soon as possible. He will also be asked to submit proposals for the organisation and continuance of relief measures for such time as may be required. For this purpose the deputation of a special officer may be necessary, but, before recommending this, I wish to have more precise information as to the extent of the distress.

Mr. Hart has suggested that, if possible, some of the surplus stock of Burma rice which was sold by the late Collector Mr. Dash, at Rs. 5-4 a maund, on condition that it should not be removed from the district, should now be bought back and put on sale in the hâts in Gabura and other affected unions, at prices not exceeding Rs. 5-10 a maund. I will ask the Collector to consider this suggestion.

The late Officiating Collector asked for an allotment of Rs. 5,000 for Agricultural loans, which was sanctioned by Government telegram No. 3295 of the 26th March. It is now reported that Agricultural loans will not be required in the affected area until May and June.

The Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

LIST OF AMENDMENTS

TO

THE CALCUTTA RENT BILL, 1920.

Preamble.

1. The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq moved that after the word "rents" in line 2 of the preamble the words "of small premises" be inserted.

He said :—

"My Lord, it is now for me to move the first of the amendments on the agenda paper, namely, that after the word 'rents' in line 2 of the preamble the words 'of small premises' be inserted. Before, my Lord, I press this amendment, I wish with your Excellency's permission to say a few words in order to explain my position clearly and to avoid being afterwards misunderstood. My Lord, the suggested amendment, it is obvious, wants to restrict the operations of the provisions of the Bill in a considerable measure. I have not attempted to define the phrase 'of small premises,' but an indication of what we mean by an amendment of this character is given by one of the amendments of which I have given notice and also by the several amendments that have been proposed by other Hon'ble Members. Briefly stated, the idea is that the scope of operations of the proposed Act should be limited to premises of which the rent does not exceed a certain limit, and as to what that limit should be there seems to be some difference of opinion, but several Hon'ble Members are of opinion that some such limit should be put. Since I gave notice of this amendment I have come across observations which go to show that it is being understood in certain quarters that the object of bringing an amendment of this character is to benefit the Indian section of the population and try to exclude the European section generally. Speaking for myself, I can say that I have had no idea of this character. It was never my intention if the Act is to be a beneficial measure at all that the Indians should get the benefit of it to the exclusion of another section of the community. I will, therefore, explain what I meant when I gave notice of this amendment. I found, my Lord, on the first day when the Bill was introduced in this Council, that my Hon'ble Friend Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur took up a most defiant attitude and he was not at all in favour of any such Act being passed. I do not remember what he really did say, but from what I understood him to say I found that there was a strong feeling amongst the landlords that this Rent Bill was going to be something like an encroachment on some of their most cherished privileges and they felt it their duty to oppose this measure. Now so far as the tenants are concerned the feeling is also very strong, and I thought that if by a sort of compromise I could placate the body of landlords to a certain extent, I would be able to get some sort of concessions for the tenants. If we put a dividing line as to how far the Act should go, it is obvious that those who would be above that line would not get the benefit of the provisions of the Bill, that is, persons who by reason of their wealth or influence or other causes would be sufficiently strong to protect themselves, and those who would be below that line would be certain persons of the poorer classes who would otherwise be always at the mercy of their rapacious landlords. I therefore suggest that some such limit ought to be put. It now remains for the representatives of landlords to explain their position, because in a matter of this kind we ought to understand the position of both landlords and tenants before we go further with the Bill. But if they insist on taking up a defiant attitude, I shall certainly, my Lord, be the last person to make any sacrifice which I believe to be absolutely unnecessary in order to please them.

With these few words I put this amendment for acceptance by the Hon'ble Member."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, I am sorry that a gentleman of the acumen of the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq should have been misled in a matter of this nature. In trying an attack on the landlords he is really giving them a sop so to speak. I cannot of course accept this amendment, and I might briefly state the reasons for which I cannot do so. The question is not as to whether we should allow the landlords as a body to assess or to rackrent on the income of buildings above a certain limit. The question is a plain one. The whole principle underlying this Bill is that the practice of rackrenting—the practice of profiteering—has gone on to such an extent in this city that Government are in duty bound, for a time at any rate, to check those malpractices and are constrained to come in and interfere with private rights. If that be so, I do not think that any sensible man could advocate the principle that let the landlords fleece those that can afford to be fleeced. It would be quite a wrong principle—it would be a principle which I could not for my part, not only as Member-in-charge of the Bill but as a landlord myself, advocate or accept. It might easily be proposed that there are poor landlords like those the widow's friend the Rai Bahadur pointed out the other day who have got one wretched house and that therefore they should be allowed to profiteer. I do not think that this amendment could possibly be accepted, because it is so diametrically opposed to the whole principle underlying this Bill, and for these reasons, my Lord, on behalf of Government, I am unable to accept this amendment."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq said:—

"My Lord, attempts at compromise are always a betrayal of weakness. I confess myself that I need not have proposed an amendment of this character. I do not find anybody else supporting the amendment, and as the Hon'ble Member-in-charge does not see his way to accept the amendment, I beg leave to withdraw it."

The amendment was then by leave of the President withdrawn.

The President said:—

"The amendment that stands next on the agenda paper (No. 2) should not be moved in respect of clause 1. It should be moved in respect of clause 2 which applies to premises, and I would refer the Hon'ble Member to a subsequent amendment, No. 25. I shall remind him of his present amendment when we come to that one."

Clause 1.

3. The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur moved that clause 1 (3) be omitted.

He said:—

"My Lord, the reason for my moving for the omission of clause 1 (3) is this. It is just possible that after some little time the Government of Bengal may extend the operations of this Act to the Cossipore-Chitpur Municipality on the north of Calcutta and to the Tollygunge Municipality on the south of Calcutta. On some morning it will perhaps be found that the Act is extended to these two municipalities and the result will be that the men with capital and land who proposed to build houses in these areas will be deterred from doing so, and so instead of having more house accommodation in or about Calcutta, the city would be deprived of that advantage. It is not wise that you should create such a feeling amongst the land-owners and capitalists and prevent them from investing their money in building houses in these areas where land is available and buildings are scarce. That is the representation which the land-holders' conference which met some time ago in the British Indian Association's room, have put before the Government. I think there is considerable reason for the apprehension that it will not be quite a safe thing for people to acquire land at Tollygunge or within the limits of the Cossipore-Chitpur Municipality and build houses there for house accommodation, because at any time if Government choose, a drastic measure like this it can be enforced in these areas. But as it is, this clause really hangs like the sword of Damocles on the people who have any intention of developing the areas on the north and south of Calcutta. If hereafter necessity arises for the operation of an Act like this in these areas, I do not think there will be any difficulty in introducing another Bill for such purpose.

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Rai Debendra Chunder Ghose Bahadur.

With these observations I commend the amendment to the acceptance of the Council."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, if we turn to clause 24 of the Bill we find that new buildings are not going to be affected. If so, supposing there are developments afterwards in Tollygunge or Cossipore-Chitpur, they would not be affected. Then again, I do not think that any sensible Government would notify the extension of the provisions of this Act to other areas unless they were convinced that a certain number of landlords had again started their old tricks for which we are now legislating in Calcutta. Then again, if the Hon'ble Mover of this amendment were to see clause 1 (3) to which he has made reference, he will find that we have put in the words 'after previous publication'. That will give time for objections, and I therefore really fail to see why there should be this suspicion—when it is the intention of Government to encourage development of Calcutta or its suburbs—that the moment this Act comes into operation, there is likelihood of its being extended to the suburbs at once. Of course, if there are men in some of these areas who go in for profiteering to such an extent that the Government are forced to step in, that is a different matter. But as clause 24 makes it quite clear that any new building project either in Calcutta or in its suburbs do not come within the purview of this Act and as we have got the words 'after previous publication' it strikes me that there is really not so much ground for opposition.

For these reasons, my Lord, on behalf of Government, I am unable to accept this amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said:—

"My Lord, as to the interpretation put on the wording of clause 24, I am sorry I read it differently from what the Hon'ble Member-in-charge of the Bill has done. It is laid down in this clause that this Act shall not apply to premises erected after or in course of erection at the commencement of this Act. According to my interpretation, supposing if this Act is extended two years hence to Tollygunge it will protect houses erected after the introduction of that Act, but it will not protect those erected or are in course of erection at the commencement of the Act there. So there is a considerable difference between my interpretation of the Act and that of the Hon'ble Member-in-charge of the Bill. Then it is said that before the Act is extended to any other area there will be a previous publication and the people will be given opportunity to have their say. Is it the same thing as the opportunity given to discuss matters in Council here, or will opportunity be given to discuss the matter in the new Council which is expected to come into existence in 1921? I dare say the tenants will have more representation on the new Council than they are supposed to have now. I, therefore, say that it is the same thing whether you keep sub-section (3) to section 1 or by a stroke of the pen extend this Act to other districts or introduce a second Bill in Council for the same purpose."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; President; Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri.

4. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that in line 2 of clause 1 (3), after the word " publication " the words " and with the previous sanction of the Government of India " be inserted.

He said :—

" My Lord, this is a simple amendment. I only want that the sanction of the Government of India should be received. The sanction of the Government of India has been received to the framing of this Act for the town of Calcutta, so I think that when it is proposed that this Act should be extended outside Calcutta, it will be practically a new Act for that area, and the sanction of the Government of India should also be obtained in connection therewith. I do not think there can be any objection to the proposal, because, after all, it will be the local Government in consultation with the Government of India who will extend the Act to areas outside Calcutta."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" My Lord, I am unable to accept this amendment because we have already taken the sanction of the Government of India to introduce this Bill, and subsequent sanction is not only not required, but entirely unnecessary. This is only one of many amendments framed to obstruct the Act being extended to the suburbs, and to create a wrong impression, because Government will think very carefully before they extend this Act to the suburbs, especially when we have got the building development of Calcutta in contemplation. I do not think this amendment is at all necessary; I object to it, and therefore oppose it."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

" My Lord, if this amendment is not accepted by Government that is a different matter; it will not break my heart; but it is not an amendment to obstruct in any way the improvement of the city. I do not think the insertion of the words will be a stumbling block to the extension of the Act outside Calcutta. I do not think the Government of India is so much in the clutches of the people of Calcutta as to be guided by them."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motion was by leave of the President withdrawn :—

5. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that at the end of clause 1 (3) the words " with such modifications as they may deem necessary " be added.

6. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that for the word " three " in line 3 of clause 1 (4) the word " five " be substituted.

He said :—

" My Lord, it will take some time for the development of the suburbs and to put up new houses. As the object of the Bill, I understand, is to discourage speculation and profiteering for some time which might retard the progress of the development of Calcutta pending the building of new houses within the town and the suburbs to accommodate the excess population, I think the time allowed is very short, and ought to be extended to 5 years instead of 3 years. It is not necessary to say much in support of this amendment. I put it to the consideration of the Council."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Kishori Mohon Chaudhuri.

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, I should like to have accepted this amendment, but the reason I do not do so is this: It is clear that whenever we legislate in a matter of this nature, we do interfere with private rights, and as the other two Acts in India have been enacted for a period of three years, and as in my opening speech I said that in Bombay the people had appreciated the provisions of this Act so much that they have got it extended for two years more, I think we may leave it to the good sense of the people of Calcutta. If after three years they find that they have derived a certain amount of benefit, which this Bill hopes to effect, we must leave it to them to apply for an extension for another two years, but for the present, I think we ought to be content with three years, and Government is not prepared to accept the figure five for the figure three."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said:—

"My Lord, after what has fallen from the Hon'ble Member-in-charge I do not press for this amendment, and ask leave to withdraw it."

The motion was then by leave of the President withdrawn.

Clause 2.

7. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that after the word "and" in line 9 of clause 2 (c) the word "also" be inserted.

He said:—

"My Lord this is an amendment only of a verbal nature. The word includes' has been used before the word 'Government' and I think we might conveniently use the word 'also' too."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, I have much pleasure in accepting this amendment.

The motion was then put and agreed to.

8. The Hon'ble Mr. Arun Chandra Singha moved that at the end of clause 2 (c) the following be added, viz:—

"the Corporation of Calcutta, the Calcutta Improvement Trust, the Calcutta Port Trust, and other local authorities".

He said:—

"My Lord, the clause as it stands does not clearly say that the term landlord' also includes public bodies such as the Calcutta Corporation, the Improvement Trust, etc. My amendment is only to remove any doubt there may be on this point."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, I have consulted the Legislative Department, and I may say that these words are not necessary because the words 'any other person' would cover all these bodies that the Hon'ble Member has in view. It is for this reason that the amendment seems to be superfluous. It is not as if these bodies would be excluded, and therefore the words are not necessary. I oppose the amendment."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Mr. Arun Chandra Singha ; Mr. P. C. Mitter ; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

The Hon'ble Mr. Arun Chandra Singha said :—

"In the circumstances I beg to withdraw my amendment."

The motion was then by leave of the President withdrawn.

9. The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter moved that at the end of clause 2 (c) the following be added, viz:—

"Provided nevertheless the expression shall not include a person from whom a lessee has taken a lease of any premises for purposes of subletting or where the lessee has sublet such premises for a period of 7 years or more";

He said :—

My Lord, I am in favour of protecting the actual occupants of houses, and to that extent I am prepared to modify the ordinary contractual rights. The object of this amendment is that if a person originally takes a lease for the purpose of subletting, he shall not be protected for he does not stand in need of protection under this Act. The second portion of my amendment relates to a person who has actually sublet for 7 years or more. The scope of the Act is only for 3 years. To fulfil the object of the Act, I am allowing more than double the number of years for which this Act will run, and, furthermore, a man who has originally taken a lease for the purpose of subletting is perhaps a profiteer of the worst description, and I do not want a man of that character to take advantage of the provisions of the Act and make a profit by subletting at his own figure. That is the reason why I have ventured to put forward this amendment, and I may say that if this amendment is accepted, it will not at all go against either the spirit or the object of this Act."

The Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, the Hon'ble Member himself discussed this point at great length in Select Committee, and I may say that several of us, members of the Select Committee, did not see eye to eye with him. He has thought fit to press this matter in Council to-day. I do not propose to go at any length into the reasons why this amendment should not be accepted, but I will only mention two things. In the first place, I have not heard of any cases where the landlord with eyes open gives his house to a tenant to sublet. Even if he does, I do not quite follow Mr. Mitter as to who is deriving the benefit from this—certainly not the tenant ; the benefit will be on the side of the landlord by trying to keep out the middleman. What I feel about this is that in any case, and even if there is a middleman, he could not sublet above the standard rent ; if so, why should we exclude the middleman from this ? Further, if we were to go into this question of a period of 7 years or more, simply because the Act is to be one for 3 years, we might not only raise difficulties in this clause, but in several other clauses. For these reasons, my Lord, in the first place, because I do not think there is just and sufficient ground to keep out the middleman, and, secondly, because I do not think that it is right and proper to do so, I oppose this amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"My Lord, I am afraid the Hon'ble Member-in-charge has not understood my point, and his reply is no answer to my motion. Take the case of a house which has been let out by a landlord to his immediate tenant for Rs. 600 ; assume that the house contains a number of flats or suites. The standard rent as between the landlord and his immediate tenant will be Rs. 600 plus 10 per cent. Now assume the house was never sublet and the middleman paying Rs. 660 to his landlord sublets the different suites or flats at any rate he chooses. In a case of this kind, what justification is there for interfering with the ordinary contractual rights as between the first landlord and the middleman? There may be justification for interfering with the contractual rights of a landlord of tenants in actual occupation. One reason why this Bill had to be introduced was the difficulty of actual occupants in getting accommodation. That reason does not apply to middlemen; therefore, when there has been a long lease between the owner and those not in actual occupation, why interfere with contractual rights? Why extend the scope of the Act more than is necessary? That is the reason why I submit that this amendment ought to be accepted."

The motion was then put and lost.

10. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha moved that after the words "part of a building" in lines 1 and 2 of clause 2 (e) the words "or hut" be inserted.

He said :—

"My Lord, I do not see any reason why bustees should be excluded when the purpose of the Bill is surely to afford protection to the poorer classes."

The Hon'ble Babu Bhabendra Chandra Ray said :—

"My Lord, I am sure the Hon'ble Member deserves the gratitude of the poorer people for bringing forward this amendment. If there are any persons, who by common consent deserve protection, it is the poor people, and it is in their interests that this amendment has been proposed. The only possible objection to its acceptance may be that it would tend to discourage clearing of bustee lands, and building operations thereon. It will, however, be seen that where such lands will be required for bonafide building purposes, the proviso to clause 10 will be a sufficient check."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"My Lord, I should like to explain one thing, as this matter was discussed in Select Committee. One reason why in Select Committee the words "or hut" were accepted, was this—Perhaps my hon'ble friend Mr. Bhabendra Chandra Ray is not familiar with bustee tenancies in Calcutta, and perhaps he does not know that if this amendment be accepted, then for those for whom he is pleading, the very poor class of people, would be adversely affected. Those who are familiar with bustee tenancies in Calcutta know that a landlord who owns the land is generally a well-to-do man, from whom a comparatively poor man takes 2 or 3 cottahs of land on a precarious tenancy for 3 or 4 years, paying a certain rate per cottah as rent to the landlord, and then that man builds his own huts and sublets them to a number of still poorer men. Now that man (the middleman) has got to recoup all his investments within the course of 3 or 4 years. That man is a poor man (the man in actual possession of the land), and the less he has got to do with Controllers the better. My Lord, I thought it my duty to explain this, leaving it to Government to accept the amendment or not."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Raja Hrishikesh Laha.

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, on an examination of the question, we believed that the words 'part of a building' would cover a hut, but I have consulted the Legislative Department and I have been advised that there is no harm in accepting the words 'or hut'. I therefore accept the amendment."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

11. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the words "let separately" in line 2 of clause 2 (e) the words "or intended to be let separately" be inserted.

He said:—

"My Lord, I may explain that in many cases there are arrangements for letting houses separately to tenants. For instance, the landlord may live in one portion of the house letting out the other portion say for Rs. 20 or Rs. 30, but if the landlord wants to let the whole house afterwards, he cannot realise more than Rs. 20 or Rs. 30 for the same; therefore, I think that this amendment is necessary in order to enable the landlord to let other portions of his house. Such cases occur in the northern part of the town very frequently; there may be houses divided into two or three parts, and on account of adverse circumstances the landlord is compelled to let other parts of his house. Therefore, this amendment will help such people."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, in the first place, I think this amendment is quite unnecessary because of the provisions in clause (f) (ii) which says 'that in the case of any premises which were or shall be first let, after the first day of April 1919 . . . . . ' I think that covers the point. And secondly, I am not so certain about this idea of 'intended to be let separately'. I do not know whether the Rai Bahadur has anything behind his mind, apart from the poor owner. I am afraid I am rather suspicious about this, and so I am not prepared to accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said:—

"My Lord, hitherto we have been accustomed to the charge of harbouring suspicions against Government. Now according to the Hon'ble Member in charge it is the Government who harbour suspicion against the non-official members. I think that the charge of suspicion is reciprocated on both sides. However, I thought that the days of suspicion were at an end, but it seems to me that the observations of the Hon'ble Member have emphasised a feeling of suspicion on the part of Government which will, I hope, not be reciprocated on the non-official side, and it would have been better if the Hon'ble Member had not set such an example."

The motion was then put and lost.

12. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha moved that the words "or for the purposes of a shop or an office" in lines 3 and 4 of clause 2 (e) be omitted.

He said:—

"My Lord, stalls in municipal markets only have been excluded from the operations of the Act, whereas private markets and shops have not been exempted. In order to move this invidious distinction, I beg to move this amendment. I may also state that as trade is now in a prosperous condition,

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Mr. Phelps; Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur.

shop-keepers can well afford to pay higher rents than ordinary tenants. Merchants, also, are making handsome profits, so they do not want any protection from the Rent Controller for business purposes. It is, therefore, just and proper that their offices should be excluded from the Act."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said:—

"My Lord, some time ago the Hon'ble Raja gave his opinion that shop-keepers were indulging in profiteering; why should not landlords also? Well, there are several reasons why they should not. The two cases are not at all analogous. The shop-keeper renews his stock from year to year, and even from quarter to quarter; if the landlord or the owner of a property or land or house was subject to the same conditions as a shop-keeper is, with regard to his stock-in-trade, there would be some analogy. The Hon'ble Raja said: 'You make 50 per cent. profit, why should we not make 50 per cent. profit also'. But the 50 per cent. profit that the shop-keeper makes is not net profit, but it is gross profit, and there are very few shop-keepers who make more than 10 or at the outside 15 per cent. net profit. Therefore, I am opposed to the Hon'ble Raja's amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said:—

"My Lord, my amendment (amendment No. 13) is almost exactly the same as the present one. I therefore take this opportunity of making a few observations in support of this amendment. When this Bill was first introduced the public, so far as could be ascertained from newspapers and public meetings, gave us to understand that the principle reason for such a Bill was to protect people with limited incomes—people with fixed salaries and large families. They found considerable difficulty by the operations of the Transfer of Property Act and the Contract Act; they also found difficulty in getting house accommodation, owing to the limited supply. I may say that this shortage is not due to the small number of houses but to the large influx of people from Europe, Japan and America, and this fact has operated in creating the present situation. The price of building materials is also very high. When the Bill was first introduced, it provided not only relief to people who wanted houses for residential purposes, but also those who wanted accommodation for business purposes, but some modification of this relief has been grafted on to the Bill in the Select Committee. I can quite sympathise with those who have to move to less desirable houses on account of the excessive demands of landlords; but I have no sympathy for business people who would insist in occupying the same kind of shops or offices. I may be in the wrong; it may be that I do not see eye to eye with them; but I do not feel any sympathy for them, because these people have during war time been allowed to acquire large profits from business. It may be, as the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps has pointed out, that the profits of busines people are not more than 10 to 12 per cent., but are we to understand that during war time the profits of those people were 10 to 12 per cent., and not ten times above that figure? If people in the trade had not acquired so much money in the war, they would not have been able to invest so much money in house property in Calcutta as they are doing now. It is a well-known fact that the rise in land values in Calcutta is due to the speculation of these people who made money during war time in business. I do not exclude petty shop-keepers from this category, because they were also making hay while the sun shone. We have seen articles of clothing and food sold at five times their value during war time. As these shop-keepers and office-holders have made an extra profit I do not see why we should give the benefit of this Act to them. I confess that I am not in the same class as my hon'ble friend is, and I believe that his personal feeling is that people who run an office or business are the people for whom sympathy has to be shown. As Government are not going to check profiteering in other branches of business, there is no reason that they should extend the operations of this Act for the relief of persons whose cases do not excite any sympathy. You will find, really, my Lord, that I am not speaking in this matter without any precedent to support me. The English Act of 1915 which first made a statutory provision for relief during the war time only provides for relief to occupiers of residential houses, and to occupiers of shops and office premises no relief is given by the British Parliament, and even in the amending Act of 1919 there is no such relief given to this class of people. The only alteration made is that the annual value of houses which were exempted has been raised from £35 to £70. Therefore, I submit that because the holders of shops and offices are comparatively more influential in the city of Calcutta than in a corresponding degree in England, where the rise in the value of property is more respected than here in India, that therefore you should put an artificial check on the exercise of the rights of landlords in Calcutta in favour of keepers of shops and occupiers of offices. I think it may be taken from me that in the English Act, which I have got with me, there is no such provision. The operation of the Act is restricted only to residential houses of the annual value of £70 and, unless it is proved that the legislator of India is more wise than the British Parliament or that the mercantile people are more oppressed here than in any other part of the British Empire, I would move that the words 'or for the purposes of a shop or an officer' be expunged from the clause of the Bill."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Akhil Chandra Datta.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, I oppose this amendment and I propose to meet all the arguments that have been advanced in support of this amendment. It is said that these shop-keepers are also making large profits and, therefore, the landlords would say : 'As you are also making large profits, why should the protection be afforded to you?' Now in answer to this I would say that the shop-keepers may be divided into two classes—honest business-men and profiteers. As regards the former class, they certainly deserve the protection. Now there is no doubt that this Act is essentially and mainly a crusade against profiteering, and so far as this legislation is concerned we are only concerned with one particular class of profiteers. Because there are other profiteers also it does not follow that protection should not be afforded to the shop-keepers who are also suspected to be profiteers. It appears to me that the psychology of the landlords is this : 'Well, I am a profiteer and you are a profiteer also. Now so far as I am concerned, this Act is giving a death blow to me, and therefore it is only fair that you should not get the benefit of this Act, because we are brother-profiteers and we should, therefore, share the same fate.' Now that is a psychology which cannot commend itself to any reasonable man. No doubt, there is a great volume of feeling in the country that Government should undertake similar legislation on the lines of the present legislation against other sorts of profiteering, but there is no reason that because all possible legislation against all possible sorts of profiteerings has not already been undertaken—and certainly they cannot be all done in one moment—the legislation that is being enacted against one particular class of profiteers should not be done fully. Now, my Lord, amongst the shop-keepers there are some small shop-keepers who make ordinary profits and their number is considerably larger than those who make enormous and abnormal profits, and therefore to withhold the protection of this Act from that large class of people will be something very unfair. They are a very useful section of the community. My hon'ble friend Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur was telling us that these people were making any amount of profit during war time, but fortunately for us the war is over, and the state of things which prevailed in war time should not be taken into consideration when we are legislating in 1920."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur ; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan ; Mr. P. C. Mitter.

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I feel it my duty to oppose this amendment. If we understand properly the underlying principle of the Bill, we come to know that protection is to be given to all classes of people who live in Calcutta. If the object of the Bill is to give protection to those who live in their dwelling houses, that is a different matter, but as I understand, the principle is that the arms of law are to be extended to all classes of people whether they live in dwelling houses or not. When Government and the State have taken the law in their hands for the protection of all people, is it reasonable, is it consistent with justice, to urge before the House that shopkeepers and office-holders should be excluded from the operation of the law? Conceive for one moment that there are shopkeepers who are very poor people, and what would be their condition if the law does not protect them? Bearing in mind the underlying principle of this Act, I submit that the amendment is not a very reasonable one. We are not in England or any other country where we have to quote the English law for our protection. We are to consider the condition of our people, and if it be admitted that there are rapacious landlords who are extorting excessive rents, I think it is fair that this law should be extended to all shopkeepers and those who run offices."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, the discussion as to whether we should omit the words 'or for the purposes of a shop or an office' has been fairly equally balanced. I do not propose to go at any length in opposing this amendment which of course I must do on behalf of Government. I do not think the question of our wisdom soaring higher than that of the British Parliament arises here, nor does the question that because some of these shop keepers put up high prices even in pre-war days that they should be punished arise. What the Government are concerned with is this : Has profiteering taken place with regard to buildings let out for shops or offices or not? I hold proof in my hands that it has taken place. That being so, we are in duty bound to rope in the shop and office just as much as a residential building, and further my reply to the Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur with regard to the profiteering shopkeeper who has inflated the price of foodstuffs and other things would be that if hereafter they still go on profiteering in the way that some of them have done, the Government will have a crushing reply ready for them. The Government will say—'Here we have given you protection against the rapacious landlord and yet when you go on profiteering, you certainly deserve no mercy or indulgence.' I think it must be quite apparent that that is the principle which must guide us in including a shop and an office and not the principle enunciated by the Rai Bahadur.

For these reasons, my Lord, I am unable to accept the amendment of Raja Hrishikesh Laha."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"My Lord, as I have proposed an amendment of a similar nature I would say a few words on this amendment. It has been said that although shopkeepers may be profiteering that is no reason why profiteering landlords should be given protection. I entirely agree with that proposition, but I should like the Council to consider another more important aspect of the question. Are we going to legislate with regard to all profiteering? Did we legislate when there was cloth trouble? Did we legislate when the brickfield owners were selling bricks at something twice or thrice the normal price? I entirely agree with Babu Akhil Chandra Datta (he at any rate is consistent) in his suggestion that wherever there is profiteering let there be legislation to put a stop to it; of course if this be a sound view in politics, let us accept it by all means and follow this view to its logical conclusion. If we do not accept this view as sound, is it wise or right that we should select only one kind of profiteering, namely, the profiteering of landlords? In giving my support to the general principles of this Bill I have always said that a good deal of profiteering is going on and perhaps, to some extent, this Bill is justifiable. I know that no Government can remain unmoved by the cries of a roofless population and that no Government ought to withstand the cries of a hungry population but does that apply to protecting shop-keepers?

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

I have no sympathy with the rapacious landlords, but I want to look ahead and to see the present housing problem of Calcutta solved on proper lines and not on lines of mere imitation of Rangoon or Bombay but on lines worthy of Calcutta, by developing her, by making it possible for her to build many larger houses and cheaper houses by promotion of building societies in which tenants, be they tenants of residential houses or shops, will be interested. I want Calcutta to solve her housing problem on lines of self-help and not merely by Bolshevik legislation. It may be necessary temporarily to resort to a legislation of this character to allow people not to go roofless, but does that justification exist in case of shops? I venture to think it does not. My Lord, I would not have troubled myself about shops. Speaking personally and for those whom I represent in this Council, I have no interest in shops, but I have been in the Select Committee as also in Council pleading for a juster Act and not for the tenants of shops and in the interest of rapacious landlords. The latter will know very well how to get rid of the provisions of this Act and there are hundreds of ways of doing so for a dishonest landlord. I am pleading for the exclusion of shops for contractual rights should not be interfered with unless it is absolutely necessary in the very interest of the poorer middle class tenants, or in the interest of those whom this legislation seeks to protect. I plead for not extending this legislation beyond what is actually necessary. It may be that my voice is a voice crying in the wilderness, but it may be that a few years hence Government will repent of its hasty action. But there is another matter which I deprecate and deprecate most strongly, namely, the introduction into the discussion of this question the party interest of landlords or the party interest of the tenants. Let the tenants and the landlords all combine and try to solve the housing problem of Calcutta. Sectionalism will do no good to India. For all these reasons I submit that the word 'shop' should be omitted."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said:—

"My Lord, I need not formally move the motion which stands in my name (amendment No. 14). The Hon'ble Raja has said already what ought to be said in this matter. He has said that he has been convinced of unjust profiteering on the part of shop-keepers. I have said from the very beginning that I have absolutely no sympathy with rack-renting landlords, and that I am in favour of legislation to provide shelter for poor people who cannot afford to live in these hard times on account of the economic distress that is now prevailing here, but, my Lord, I have been very carefully searching to find out what the facts are that have induced the Government to include shops and offices in this Bill in order to afford them protection. It has been said by the Hon'ble Member-in-charge in his introductory speech that there has been profiteering, so far as shops and offices were concerned. My Lord, he may cite 20 or 30 cases of residential houses and there are 16,000 tenanted residential houses in Calcutta. We may leave them aside, because I have said I have full sympathy for those who cannot find shelter, but I will now confine myself to the 5,000 shops within the Calcutta municipality,—my figure is quite correct and it may be verified from the municipal register—may I respectfully inquire, my Lord, in how many cases out of these 5,000 shops has the Hon'ble Member-in-charge, after due investigation, found that there has been exhorbitant increase of rent without any justification whatever? I should also like to know another fact: It has been said that many of these shop-keepers are poor; there are no doubt poor shopkeepers, but at the same time we know that, generally speaking, trades people have reaped a substantial harvest during war time. May I also ask what was the income-tax derived from these 5,000 shops before the war and after the war? My Lord, that will be a convincing figure, and it would show that there has been no preposterous rack-renting on the part of landlords in respect of shops and places of business and that business men have done well and could afford to pay an increased rent. Then I would refer to another point. The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps has said that these shops and places of business make only a ten-per-cent. profit. It is common knowledge that trades people have made enormous profits and that they are now rolling in wealth. The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta says the majority of them are small shopkeepers. My Lord, the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta hails from Comilla; he comes to Council perhaps for every third or fourth meeting, and probably that is how he has gained his knowledge of shops in Calcutta."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Babu Akhil Chandra Datta; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta interrupting said:—

"My Lord, I rise to a point of order. The Hon'ble Member has no business to pass these remarks, it has nothing to do with him, whether I attend Council regularly, or only every third or fourth meeting."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur continuing said:—

"I beg the Hon'ble Member's pardon. I withdraw my remarks. As regards the small shopkeepers, there are small shops in Burra Bazar, but behind those small shops there is a mint of money. Go over any part of Burra Bazar and you will find that it is full of small shops, but as I have said there is large capital behind those shops. Those shopkeepers have reaped an enormous harvest by selling cloth at a profit during the high prices. It has been stated in the Rent Committee's report that the increase of prices of things, that is to say, the lowering of the purchasing power of money has caused a rise in land values and rents. It is also partly due, as has been admitted by the Rent Committee, to the demolition of buildings by the Calcutta Improvement Trust without any attempt at re-housing the displaced population. Now, my Lord, the rise in the price of living generally has gone above 100 per cent., and I should like to know, my Lord, whether in the case of these 5,000 shops and business places, the rents have been raised to anything approaching the same proportion. My Lord, new enterprises are springing up every day; there is limited accommodation in certain areas called trading areas, and so if a person pays a little higher in order to secure a particular place to carry on his business, I think he should be allowed to do so. I do not see any injustice in it; this is merely business and if this is not allowed to be done, business will be strangled. My Lord, much has been said of the English Act. The English Act controls the rent of small dwelling houses only; it does not control the rent of shops and places of business. If we follow the English law there is no reason why we should not follow it in all its essential features."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri said:—

"My Lord, we have heard of the rapaciousness of the shopkeepers, the price of everything has gone up, but if we exclude the shopkeepers from the provisions of this Bill, what will happen; they will have another chance of saying that they have got to pay higher rents, therefore they are entitled to charge more for their goods. That is what will happen. Then how are you going to make a distinction between the small shopkeeper who lives in his own shop, and the big shopkeeper who keeps his shop for places of business only and lives elsewhere? It will require a great mathematician to work out this distinction? It is for this reason, my lord, that I oppose the amendment."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq; Raja Hrishikesh Laha.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq said :—

"My Lord, if I intervene at this stage of the debate, it is to emphasise two points in the speech of the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta and the Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali. With reference to the remarks delivered by the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter with a certain amount of heat, I can only tell him that a Bolshevik can only be successfully met by another Bolshevik and that in this particular case, we shall welcome this legislation as an indication, if I may say so, of the dawn of slow-returning wisdom on the part of Government. Profiteering has been going on so unscrupulously for the last few years that it is a pity that Government did not intervene to put a stop to it long ago, but because Government has not done what was necessary or even what was its bounden duty in other directions, is it any reason to come forward and say that because Government has failed in its duty in other respects that Government should stop its hand in this matter also? Will two wrongs make one right?

Then, my Lord, as regards another point which has been referred to by Mr. Ashraf Ali, and which I should like to emphasise: If the shopkeepers are not protected, what will happen? These landlords will find that their chances of profiteering at the expense of residents in houses will be gone and so they will have a greater inclination to seek for fresh fields, and they will try to exact more than a fair rent from the shopkeepers, and the result will be what Mr. Ashraf Ali has pointed out. Prices have gone up already, and they will go up still higher. After all what does the shopkeeper do? He imports things from outside India; he pays a certain rate of freight, and other expenses incurred by him; then he pays a certain rent and then makes a profit. He will necessarily increase the price of the articles he sells, if you increase his rent. It seems to me that the way would be not to oppose this Bill, but after it has been passed into law, to put pressure on Government to undertake legislation on similar lines in order to put a stop to profiteering in other directions. I know that a course like that is beset with difficulties, but we need not be afraid of that. We have got to find a solution to that, just as we have found a solution for the increase in house rents. I therefore think that it will not be wise to oppose this provision simply because similar provision has not been made in other respects, and lastly, I do not see why merely shops and offices should be excluded from protection. What about hotels and other places also? If we restrict it only to residential houses, we have got to take away everything else from the purview of this Act. For all these reasons I oppose this amendment."

The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha said :—

"I am not much impressed by the arguments adduced by the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps. We own a few houses in Calcutta and the nett return therefrom is not more than 4½ per cent., whereas you accept the statement of my Hon'ble friend that shopkeepers make a nett profit of 15 per cent. On his own showing, they make a profit of 300 per cent. more than the landlords, and if that is not proprofiteering, I do not know what profiteering is. As the shopkeeper makes a handsome profit at the expense of the consumers, there is no reason why he should be at all protected.

It has been also urged by other Hon'ble Members that the prices of things will be increased if we raise the rate of rent. All I can say is that my Hon'ble friend Babu Akhil Chandra Datta and others have never seen Burra Bazar at all. If he had been there he would not say that profiteering has not gone on. His knowledge in that direction is very limited. I do not see why shopkeepers who indulge in profiteering should be at all protected. I therefore press the amendment."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

The President ; Babu Surendra Nath Ray ; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

The President said :—

" Items 13 and 14 are disposed of by the decision of the Council on amendment No. 12."

The following two motions were then deemed to have been withdrawn :—

13. The Hon'ble Rai Debendra Chunder Ghose Bahadur to moved that the words " or for the purposes of a shop or an office " in lines 3 and 4 of clause 2 (e) be omitted.

14. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that the words " or for the purposes of a shop or an office " in lines 3 and 4 of clause 2 (e) be omitted.

15. Motion No. 14 not being carried, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the words " or for the purposes of a shop or an office " in lines 3 and 4 of clause 2 (e), the following be substituted, viz:—

" or for the purposes of a shop whose monthly rental is below Rs. 20 and which is let for the retail sale of food-stuffs "

He said :—

" My Lord, it will be seen that what I propose in this amendment is that shops whose monthly rental is below Rs. 20 should only be included within the scope of the Bill. I need not say much on this amendment as the question has been fully discussed already. All I want by this amendment is to protect small shops. I hope the Hon'ble Member-in-charge will agree with me in saying that the bigger shops need not require protection. I hope, though it will be hoping against hope, that this amendment will meet with acceptance at his hands."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray said :—

" My Lord, I had no intention of taking any part in the discussion of this amendment, but as certain facts regarding certain Government tenants have been placed in my hands, I have risen to support this amendment. My Lord, we have heard much about the rapaciousness of Indian landlords ; we have heard much about profiteering by landlords, but in this respect I really do not know whether the landlords have been following the benign Government. I have got a small list in my hand. It contains the names of 25 or 30 tenants—all Government tenants—of the Orphangunge market who have been served with notices by Government for higher rents. I may say that they have been tenants of Government for the last six or seven years. These tenants have already sent in a petition to the Collector of 24-Parganas, but they have been told by the officer-in-charge of the market that they would have to pay higher rents from henceforth. I will cite a few of these cases :—Abdul Gani has been paying Rs. 23 as rent ; this will be raised to Rs. 30. Gobardhan has been paying Rs. 37 ; his rent will be raised to Rs. 60."

The Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" May I rise to a point of order, my Lord. I am not quite clear what this has got to do with the protection of shops on a monthly rental of Rs. 20 and less. The Hon'ble Member is here citing certain cases in which Government is going to put up the rents of certain shops above a certain figure, while the amendment before us is for the protection of a certain class of shops."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

The President; Babu Surendra Nath Ray; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

The President said:—

"I do not appreciate the bearing of the Hon'ble Member's arguments upon this amendment. The object of this amendment is to reduce the scope of the Bill so as to exclude from its provisions large shops. Under these circumstances I am unable to follow the arguments of the Hon'ble Member. I cannot see whether he is arguing in favour of or against the amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray said:—

"I would now place before the Council the case of smaller tenants. One tenant was paying Rs. 17—."

The President said:—

"Order! order! The Hon'ble Member must adduce arguments either in favour of or against the particular amendment which is under discussion. I do not see that the argument which he has so far adduced has anything to do with this particular amendment, and unless he shows me that it does bear on the amendment, I must rule him out of order."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray said:—

"I am in favour of this amendment. I say that these tenants should also be protected."

The President said:—

"Yes; but then the Hon'ble Member is in favour of the Bill and not in favour of the amendment. This amendment is in favour of reducing the scope of the Bill."

The Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, I must ask the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur not to hope against hope. I cannot accept this amendment because it is against the principles of the Bill. When the first amendment on the agenda paper was moved by the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq I explained what the principle underlying the Bill was, and this is driving right against that principle, and as such I must oppose it."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri said:—

"My Lord, I would only ask my friend, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, who is a great master of statistics, to tell us how many shops there are now let out at Rs. 20.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said:—

"Although I cannot give him the figures just now, they are available in the office of the Corporation, but I believe a very large number of moodi shops or small shopkeepers (their number is not quite insignificant, but quite large) who sell foodstuffs will receive protection if this amendment be accepted. I may say without betraying confidence that I understood from the conversation I had with the last speaker that he would favour such a compromise and would support my motion."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Mr. P. C. Mitter; Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; President; Mr. Arun Chandra Singha.

The following motion was deemed to have been withdrawn as being covered by previous discussion in the Council :—

16. The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter to move that in line 4 of clause 2 (e) the words " a shop or " be omitted.

17. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that in sub-clause 2 (e) the words beginning with the words " or lodging house " in line 7 to the end be omitted.

He said :—

" In this amendment a mistake has crept in. I wrote after the words lodging-houses and not beginning with the words lodging-houses, and the amendment should now be so worded. My arguments in support of this amendment are exactly the same as have been advanced previously. Why should not the shop-keepers be allowed the same advantages as the stall-keepers? There ought not to be any difference between them. If protection is given to one it should not be denied to the other. I, therefore, propose that this amendment be accepted and the words beginning with ' but does not include a stall let for the retail sale of goods in a market as defined in section 3 (24) of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899 ' be omitted.' "

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" My Lord, may we not take amendment No. 18 as well? In that case I may reply to both at the same time."

The President said :—

" Perhaps it would be for the convenience of the Council if we took the discussion of Nos. 17 and 18 together as they deal substantially with the same question and the Hon'ble Member-in-charge of the Bill will then give the Government view with regard to these questions. I will put the two amendments from the chair after the discussion has taken place."

The Hon'ble Mr. Arun Chandra Singha said :—

" My Lord, I beg leave to withdraw the amendment which stands in my name."

The following motion (No. 18) was then by leave of the President withdrawn :—

18. The Hon'ble Mr. Arun Chandra Singha to move that for the words " but does not include a stall ", in lines 7 and 8 of clause 2 (e), the following be substituted, viz:—

" also a stall or stalls ".

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" My Lord, when we excluded the stalls it was not the intention really on the part of Government to exclude every kind of stall in a market and for that reason I had thought of mentioning that the amendment to be moved by Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri would remove the anomaly that at present exists. In fact I had put down for myself, in case the Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali had not turned up, to move a similar amendment on behalf of Government, and I think if this Council, if your Excellency gives permission to the Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali to move his amendment, were to consider his amendment favourably then it would meet the point that the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri has in mind. Our object really in excluding the stall as defined in the Calcutta Municipal Act was to meet such cases where, say, in a good mango season in an ambata many mangoes come to the market but if it be a bad mango season mangoes do not come to such a great extent. For that reason we thought that there would be difficulty in fixing a standard rent for this particular kind of fruit stall. It was not intended that we should allow stalls to come within the definition of the market, where if there was a cloth shop it would be defined as a stall. Therefore, I think if your Excellency grants permission to the Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali to move his amendment the anomaly would at least be removed and for that reason I am not prepared to accept the amendment of the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri."

His Excellency the President said:—

"The Hon'ble Member will see that Government are prepared to accept amendment No. 19. If their acceptance of that amendment meets his point perhaps he would withdraw his amendment and allow the Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali to move amendment No. 19."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said:—

"My Lord, if amendment No. 19 be accepted I think that will meet my case also. I, therefore, ask for leave to withdraw my amendment."

The motion was then by leave of the President withdrawn.

19. The Hon'ble Mr. M. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri moved that after the words "a stall let" in line 8 of clause 2 (e) the following be inserted, viz:—

"at variable rents at different seasons or years".

He said:—

"My Lord, after what has fallen from the Hon'ble Member-in-charge I just formally move my amendment."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, there is one mistake in the amendment, as it has been printed. I beg to point out that the words 'of the year' should be substituted for the words 'or years'."

The motion was then put in the following form and agreed to:—

"After the words 'a stall let' in line 8 of clause 2 (e) the following be inserted, viz:—

'at variable rents at different seasons of the year.'"

20. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that in line 8 of clause 2 (e) after the words "in a" the words "Bazar or" be inserted.

He said:—

"My Lord, now that the amendment of the Hon'ble Mr. M. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri is accepted we find that it is only the market that is included, but there are also bazars, as defined in the Calcutta Municipal Act, where there are stalls whose rents are variable at different seasons of the year, such as in

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Buhadur; Akhil Chandra Datta.

Harrison Road there is a row of vegetable shops and fruit stalls which sell different fruits at different seasons of the year. I think, therefore, that if it be the intention of the legislature to exclude such places, the words "Bazar or" may be included."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, I thought that my explaining that it was not the intention of Government to exclude every kind of stall in a market would have been a clear enough indication that the Government did not favour the idea of stalls other than those for the kind of fruits and vegetables regarding which standard rent is not possible to fix. Now, my friend comes along with the idea that along with those stalls we should also exclude bazars. Now, if we look at the definition in the Calcutta Municipal Act of the word "bazar," we find that it has been defined as a place of trade other than a market where there is a collection of shops or warehouses, and according to the hon'ble mover we would then be excluding the whole of Burra Bazar itself regarding which we have heard so much. I do not think it is at all practical politics to think of including bazars."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said:—

"My Lord, certain observations of the Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur induce me to refer to certain facts as regards the principal market in the town of Calcutta—the Hogg Market—which belongs to the Corporation. It is not only a market as defined in the Calcutta Municipal Act, but it is a bazar as well. There are shops almost on all sides of it and also in its interior which deal in perishable or eatable goods and they would certainly be called a bazar according to the definition given in the Calcutta Municipal Act. I do not think there would be any difficulty hereafter if we used the words 'bazar as well as market' in place where they have been used. I may also mention here that it is not a fact that the stall holders who sell fruits—perishable things—pay daily rents, but rents are fixed for a certain term, and instead of mangoes the stall-holders also sell other fruits at different seasons of the year. So the Corporation feels no difficulty in the matter of rents which are not variable. I think there is some force in the contention of my friend the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur that the words 'or bazar' should be put after the word 'market.' I am not very particular in this matter because I happen to represent the Corporation, and if the Hon'ble Mr. Payne in the Select Committee has accepted the word as put in the Bill I do not think I should rebel against him and suggest something different, but I merely point out these facts which apparently were not known to the Hon'ble Member-in-charge of the Bill."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said:—

"This amendment is very important. To all superficial observers it would seem that because the word 'market' is there, it would not mean very much if the word 'bazar' was added, but I think there is more underneath this amendment than appears on the surface. It means a lot of things. The words 'bazar' and 'market' are used in a particular meaning in the Municipal Act. The definition of 'bazar' is this: It is a place of trade other than a market where there is a collection of shops or warehouses. Therefore, if the word 'bazar' is added, the result will be as the Hon'ble Member-in-charge of the Bill has said, the whole of Burra Bazar will be taken out. I may go a little further and say that if the word 'bazar' be inserted a considerable portion of the town of Calcutta will be exempted from the operation of this Act. In fact the scope of the Bill will be reduced by more than a-half. So the amendment is not so innocuous as it really looks. I, therefore, strongly object to this amendment being accepted."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Surendra Nath Ray; President.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said:—

"My Lord, I may at once explain the motive that underlies my amendment. The amendment to which we all agreed. I mean the one moved by Mr. Ashraf Ali, says that 'stalls let at variable rents at different seasons of the year for the retail sale of goods in a market as defined in section 3 (24) of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899'. I have moved that this amendment be accepted together with the addition of the word 'bazar' as defined in section 2 of the Calcutta Municipal Act. So there need not be any apprehension of Burra Bazar or other bazars being excluded from the operation of this Act. After all, three-fourths of Burra Bazar are not let at variable rents at different seasons of the year for the sale of different sorts of articles. There are various kinds of bazars, the cloth bazar, the goldsmiths' bazar, and so on and there the stalls are permanent stalls. As a matter of fact, there are some small bazars, take for instance the one in Aheeritolla Street, where there is a range of vegetable shops that sell at certain seasons cabbages and at other seasons potatoes or mangoes. Similarly, in parts of Burra Bazar there are some stalls that sell vegetables and different sorts of fruits at different seasons of the year. When we have excluded these stalls in a market from the operation of this Act, I do not understand why similar stalls in a bazar should not be given the same benefit. I think these stalls should receive the same treatment. This is my amendment, if it is suspicious, throw it away, but it is a bonâ fide motion brought forward by me with a view to placing the stalls in a market and those in a bazar on the same footing."

The motion was then put and lost.

21. The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray was to have moved that for the words "goods in a market as defined in section 3 (24) of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899," in lines 9 and 10 of clause 2 (e), the following be substituted, viz.;—

"meat, fish, fruit, vegetables, livestock or such perishable goods in a bazar or market as defined in the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899."

He said:—

"My Lord, as the Hon'ble Member-in-charge of the Bill has already accepted amendment No. 19, which is practically my amendment. I do not wish to press the point. I ask for permission to withdraw it."

The motion was then by leave of the President withdrawn.

22. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur was to have moved that for the brackets and figures "(24)," in line 9 of clause 2 (e), the following be substituted, viz., "(1) and (24), respectively".

The President said:—

"I think that amendment No. 22 is consequential on amendment No. 20, so it is no longer necessary to move it."

The motion was then deemed to have been withdrawn.

The following motion was by leave of the President withdrawn:—

23. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that at the end of sub-clause (e) after the words and figures "The Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899," the words "or in the neighbourhood thereof" be inserted.

24. If motions Nos. 15, 20, 22 and 23 were not carried, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur was to have moved that the following words in lines 7, 8, 9 and 10 of clause 2 (e) be omitted, viz., "but does not include a stall let for the retail sale of goods in a market as defined in section 3 (24) of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

The President; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

The President said:—

"Amendment No. 24 is now disposed of by the decision of the Council upon amendment No. 17. Amendment No. 25 deals with a question which is also raised in other amendments. It was first raised by amendment No. 2 in the agenda paper, and I told the Hon'ble Member in whose name the amendment stood that the appropriate place in which to move it would be in respect of the clause dealing with definitions. The same question of principle which is raised by amendment No. 25 is also raised by amendments 41 and 164. If the word "premises" or rather if the definition of the word "premises" is to be qualified in any of the ways suggested, the most appropriate place for that qualification to be made is now on this clause, and I propose, therefore, that the general discussion on the question of qualifying the definition of the word "premises" should take place now. If the Hon'ble Members desire that their different proposals should be submitted to the Council separately, I will then put them before the Council in the form of provisos on the lines of amendment No. 25 as soon as the discussion on the general question is disposed of."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said:—

"My Lord, I beg to withdraw this amendment" (No. 25).

The following motion was then by leave of the President withdrawn:—

25. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that at the end of clause 2 (e) the following be added, viz.—

> "provided that the Act shall not apply to residential premises whose monthly gross rental value is Rs. 150 and upwards and to a shop or to an office whose gross monthly rental value is Rs. 50 and upwards".

The President said:—

"It is now open to the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray, if he desires to do so, to move the substance of amendment No. 2 but drafted in the form of a proviso on the lines of amendment No. 25."

Clause 1.

2. The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray moved that at the end of clause 2(e) the following be added, viz.—

> "provided that the Act shall not apply to premises of which the monthly rent is or was less than Rs. 200 on the 1st of April, 1916."

He said:—

"My Lord, it is a fact and there is no use denying it that in many instances there has been a very large increase of rent in Calcutta and this has caused great hardship on the poorer and middle class people and that there is justification for a measure which tends to give them some security or allay their apprehensions for the future till normal conditions prevail. I admit the right of Government to control private property at the expense of some and for the benefit of the many in case of necessity.

When you are going to control private property it is essential that it should be done only for the benefit of the really needy and to meet cases of real hardship. The English law controlling rent of premises was a war measure and applied to premises of an annual value of £35 in 1915 and it was only when the pound depreciated that the Act was made applicable in 1919 to premises of an annual value of £70. Here in the present Act it is not proposed to place any limitation and the rich, the poor and middle class people are being treated all alike for which there is no precedent. When Government controlled rice it did not control the price of the finest class of table rice, the Dadkhani rice or Kamini rice, but only the Burma rice. When the question of control of cloth was discussed it was never proposed that the price of the Dacca muslin or the fine silks or shawls or the finest class of broad cloth or furs although some think them necessaries also should be controlled. The proposals of the Government of India for controlling cloth only contemplated the production of a kind of very coarse cloth needed for the very poor. If you are going to control house-rent equity demands that the power should be exercised only in cases where there is real hardship:

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

The President; Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur.

People who want to live in buildings for which the city is known as the City of Palaces with double tennis courts and grounds for harbarium and orchid house, in marble floors with spacious dining-room, drawing-room and dressing-room with the latest kind of sanitary arrangements in a fashionable quarter, with hot and cold water arrangements and accommodation for a large number of servants must pay for these at the current market rate. They cannot expect the Legislature to pass a law for their benefit.

I therefore move that the provisions of this Bill should be applicable only in respect of premises having a rent of not more than Rs. 200 per month on the 1st April, 1916, for it is from this period that the standard rent will begin. I think small houses or flats occupied by middle class Europeans or by well-to-do Indian gentlemen could be had on the 1st April, 1916, for Rs. 200. This will meet with the necessities of the present situation. Why should rich people take advantage of legislation which ought to be intended for the poor.

It has been said that you can get better accommodation in London for £70 per annum than you can in Calcutta at the same price. I have no personal knowledge of conditions of life in London, but surely in 1916 people who paid Rs. 2,400 for rented accommondation in Calcutta got better accommodation than for £35 in London in 1915.

[The Council here adjourned for lunch.]

[The Council re-assembled after lunch.]

The President said:—

"Does the Hon'ble Member in whose name No. 41 stands desire to speak on it?"

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said:—

"My Lord, I have an amendment, No. 41, but I would like to speak on the principle of the amendment of the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray, reserving my right to reply on the amount of the annual value of the house which should be protected."

The President said:—

"I might read the form of the amendment which I suggest the Hon'ble Member should move. If he accepts the proposal which I made before we adjourned I would suggest that his amendment should read in this way :

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur.

'Provided that the Act shall apply only to premises of which the annual rateable value as it stood in the municipal assessment book on the first day of April, 1919, does not exceed Rs. 2,700 '."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said:—

"If your lordship will give me leave, I would substitute the figures Rs. 5,500 for Rs. 2,700, so that as it is of higher value, it might be brought within the scope of this Act, and so that the tenants who paid Rs. 500 a month on the 1st of April, 1919, might be protected under this Act.

It is hardly necessary for me to point out that in England the minimum annual value of houses which are protected by the restricting Act is £70. A house with an annual value of £70 is not exactly the same as a house of an annual value of Rs. 700 here. The same kind of house here would fetch a higher rent. I have no personal knowledge, but others who have say that a house yielding a rental of £70 in London would fetch three times that rent here. That would be something like the annual value for which my Hon'ble friend Mr. Roy has been contending, but he told me this morning that the effect of such an amendment would indicate racial feeling, as the European resident generally would be excluded from the operation of the Act. The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps also says the same. I would therefore restrict rise in the rent of houses of an annual value of Rs. 5,500 which means a monthly rent of Rs. 500 less 1-10th per cent. for the cost of repairs and then I do not think it could be said that the movers have been actuated by racial feeling. But if there is ground for such a suspicion—the movers being all Indians, and no Europeans supporting them—I think the suspicion would be removed if Government were to accept my amendment. The English Act is an Act for preventing the increase of rent of small houses. The English Act does not give any reason why larger houses are exempted, but the Hon'ble Member-in-charge owes it to the Council to say as to why in Calcutta where there is a mixed population, and where the landlord element, both in European and Indian quarters, is hardly European, I think the Hon'ble Member owes a duty to the Council to explain why a wholesale condemnation of house-owners is contemplated by this Act. Government seeks to redress the distress of poor people. But that is one thing, and to condemn the whole class of landlords is another. I think the reasoning for the wholesale inclusion of all houses on the ground that profiteering has to be checked, is not exactly a sound one. You should have not only the idea of checking profiteering, but also the alleviation of distress. As regards profiteering it has yet to be shown that houses fetching Rs. 500 on the 1st April, 1919, bear an increased rent now on account of the profiteering spirit of the owners. I do not think the Hon'ble Member-in-charge has cited a single case of this description in his introductory speech. It is better to go on figures than upon feelings. One feels very much for the tenant who has got to go out, but have we got to protect all classes of tenants? Has not the landlord of a tenant paying Rs. 2,000 a month when the lease expires at the end of 20 years the right to increase the rent if the old tenant is prepared to pay him and remain? I do not see where the injustice and hardship comes in. I know of a house in Chowringhee occupied by a firm of well-known traders for many years. After the passing of this Act, the landlord will be debarred from increasing the rent of that house. I know of another house near the Museum which has changed hands for 5½ lakhs, and the purchaser will now be debarred from enhancing the rent which was only Rs. 800 before when the tenant left. It is very hard on that landlord when he paid so much for that house. The injustice is not to the tenant, but to the landlord. It has been a puzzle to me that while in Great Britain the Act applies only to small houses, why it should apply to all sorts of houses in Calcutta. If we are to copy legislation, why go to Rangoon, a city of wooden houses, and not to England. If your lordship allows me to change the figures in my amendment from Rs. 2,700 to Rs. 5,500 as the annual value, then there would be no complaint of hardship."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

The President ; Mr. Phelps.

The President said :—

"The Hon'ble Member's amendment should now be considered in the following form :

'That at the end of clause 2(e) the following be added, viz.—

'Provided that the Act shall apply only to premises of which the annual rateable value as it stood in the Municipal Assessment Book on the first day of April, 1919, does not exceed rupees five thousand and five hundred ".

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said :—

" My Lord, I must heartily congratulate my friends on the left, and particularly the Rai Bahadur, for his frank and whole-hearted, and I may say, honest support of landlordism. He is a landlord, and he is a loyal landlord. He does his very best to further interests of landlordism perfectly unabashed. There is not a single note of sympathy in all his amendments, with either the poor or the tradesman. He says he does not understand trade, and I believe him. He says he does not understand poverty, and I believe him. He says he does not understand, and has no local knowledge of things and rents in England, and conditions in England, and I believe him. I can assure the Hon'ble gentleman that any European who goes Home to England from Calcutta, and in the course of conversation happens to mention the rent he is paying for his house in Calcutta is usually put down as a story-teller. They will hardly believe him. I have seen handkerchiefs thrown up in the air as a test whether they should believe him or not. Comparisons are odious, and they are unreasonable. To compare houses in England in a temperate climate with houses in a tropical climate under tropical conditions of life is unreasonable and, if I may say so without offence, devoid of knowledge. In England one could live in comfort in rooms 12 to 14 feet square without any verandahs, without many what we call necessaries here, and luxuries there ; the two sets of conditions do not bear any relation whatever to one another ; therefore the standard of rent treated with in the English Act—£35 raised to £70 a year—should not be mentioned by anybody who knows anything at all about it. I crave leave of Your Excellency to again correct my Hon'ble friend in his statement about the assessment in Calcutta ; I took the liberty of explaining to my Hon'ble friend personally, but he would not take the correction. He says the Calcutta Corporation in assessing the value of houses allows ten per cent. for repairs ; I explained to him that they also allowed ten per cent. for vacancy ; he said 'No no,' but I repeat it and I know what I am talking about. I have made this my special study for years. and I say it is ten per cent. for vacancies and another ten per cent. for repairs ; but whether in every case ten per cent. is the standard for repairs, I do not know, and in many cases, in recent years, the ten per cent. for vacancies might very well have been omitted. However, that is the law. My Hon'ble friend instanced the case of a well-known business house in Park Street. He says the landlord there after the passing of the Act would only be able to charge ten per cent. more than the rent which he was getting on the 1st of April, 1919, and he considered that a very great hardship on the part of the landlord. Then he went on to tell us of another hardship of a gentleman who paid 2½ lakhs for a house standing on grounds covering 14 cottahs. That house used to fetch Rs. 800 a month, and the gentleman takes it upon himself to go and pay 5½ lakhs of rupees for it. This property would in the ordinary course be only worth Rs. 2,40,000, but the gentleman goes and pays 5 lakhs for it, and my Hon'ble friend says that if this gentleman is not able to double his rent. how will he make it pay ? Well, my Lord, this is the kind of thing that has been going on for the last two years in Calcutta, and that is the reason why an ordinary person cannot get a house for an ordinary rent, or an ordinary price. I have no sympathy with a man who will go and deliberately give twice the value of the property in a boom, and hopes to get his money back out of the tenant. For these reasons, my Lord, I oppose the amendment."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Mr. Mitter; Mr. Phelps; Babu A. C. Datta.

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said:—

"My Lord, I did not originally intend to take part in the discussions to this amendment, but I think it my duty to place before the Council some errors into which the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps has fallen. I think my Hon'ble friend Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur is quite right because in section 151 of the Calcutta Municipal Act the percentage allowed is an allowance of ten per cent. for the cost of repairs and for all other repairs necessary to maintain a building and not 20 per cent.

Then, my Lord, there is another thing about which I should like to refer to shortly. I am not in favour of any differentiation between this class of tenants and that class of tenants, but at the same time, I feel that if persons in high position—persons like the Chief Justice, Judges of the High Court, Members of the Executive Council, members of the Civil Service and big merchants—find difficulty in getting accommodation in that part of the town where they were accustomed to reside, it is because unlike London where shop-assistants do not aspire to live in Mayfair. A European here, however humble his position, wants to live much above his station, and what is the result? In that particular quarter of the town where 10 or 20 years ago a certain class of men used to reside, we find now shop-assistants on 2 to 3 hundred a month crowding three to a room, and the result is that rents go higher. So it will not do merely to restrict rent by passing an Act of this kind, but it will also be necessary for the society to adjust itself."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said:—

"I am speaking not particularly about the Act, but I am quoting the procedure that is actually followed in the Corporation."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said:—

"My Lord, the amendment under consideration raises the fundamental question of principle as to whether there should be any differentiation at all or whether all tenants, big or small, should be governed by the same provisions of the law. This is a point, my Lord, upon which there is a considerable difference of opinion, and at one time I was inclined to be in favour of the view that there should be some differentiation. But after giving my best consideration to the question and hearing all parties and arguments that can possibly be urged on either side, I have come to the conclusion that there should be no differentiation at all. Now, my Lord, what is the result of a differentiation as proposed in this amendment? The result will be preferential treatment meted out to the big landlords. What I mean is this: Big houses means necessarily big landlords. There is profiteering both in small and big landlords, and that is the assumption upon which we are proceeding. That being the position, the result of this differentiation will be this. While the small landlords will be penalised the big landlords will go scot-free. That is an aspect of the matter which cannot be accepted. In other words it will be giving undue preference to the big landlords. Then there is another aspect which ought to be takeni nto consideration and it is this: A certain limit is proposed to be put. Now suppose that during the last year or the year before last a rapacious landlord managed anyhow to force up the rent higher than the proposed limit. In that particular case what will be the result of this amendment? The result will be putting a premium upon the rapaciousness of that particular landlord. Let us consider that there are two landlords, one of whom has managed anyhow to force up the rent higher and the other, who is a good landlord, has not done it. If the principle of differention is accepted, the result will be that the man who did not force up the rent will be bound by the provisions of this Act, whereas the other landlord—the rapacious landlord who managed anyhow to force up the rent—will not be so bound. So the result will be putting a premium upon the rapacity of some landlords. I have given my best consideration to this matter, and the only argument that suggests to me in favour of this amendment is this. Well, we might leave the big people alone: they know how to take care of themselves, and it may be said—well, after all, in their case it is a luxury to enjoy big houses, whereas in the case of small tenants it is not a case of luxury but it is a matter of necessity. It has been suggested to me by my Hon'ble friend to the right with whom I discussed the matter in the morning that some people may find it necessary to give up their customary mode of living, to give up the houses which they used to occupy and to take smaller houses, being unable or unwilling to pay higher rent. If that happens, the remedy will be worse than the disease. The real housing problem of Calcutta will not be solved and besides there will be no relief either to the landlord or to the tenant. If the bigger houses are vacated and the smaller ones are occupied, neither will it be an encroachment upon the field of smaller tenants without any relief to the landlords. Then, my Lord, there is the other general consideration that law is not a respector of persons. That is a principle which ought to be applied not only in favour of small tenants but also in favour of big tenants. As far as I know, there is no rent law under the Transfer of Property Act or the Contract Act or the Presidency Small Cause Court Act which makes any distinction between big tenants and small tenants. Let us just take the particular case which was stated by the Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan in his introductory speech where he said that in one case the rent of one house was raised from Rs. 750 to Rs. 2,750. Now, my Lord, the man in occupation of that house may be a rich man, but none the less it cannot be said that it was not a case of real hardship.

For all these reasons I cannot support this amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, I oppose this amendment on the ground that underlies it or rather that seems to underlie it, that is, the differentiation between the Europeans and the Indians. My Hon'ble friend seems to think that because the Europeans are earning more they ought to pay more for the house-rent. I may be wrong to think that this is his intention, but that is what struck me. Secondly, I oppose this amendment because my friend is inclined to think that a big house means a big tenant. My friend forgets that for want of accommodation in Calcutta people club together and some four or five persons take a big house, each of them paying perhaps less than Rs. 200 a month. Therefore if this amendment is carried, what will happen is this: Persons who have the good sense of clubbing together in one house will be punished, having to pay more rent. We all know that it is very difficult to get houses in smaller flats as one can get in England. Perhaps in England you will get 4 or 5-roomed flats, but here you cannot get this sort of accommodation for say Rs. 175 or Rs. 200 a month. For these reasons I oppose this amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, with reference to the observations of the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps, I think I may state it for his information that he is not quite correct in his statement that 20 per cent. is allowed on account of repairs and vacancies. As a matter of fact 10 per cent. is ordinarily allowed and where there are several tenants living separately another 10 per cent. is given, but in cases where there is more than one tenant, another 10 per cent. is allowed at the discretion of the Deputy Chairman or the Vice-Chairman, but the ordinary law is 10 per cent.

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Babu Bhabendra Chandra Ray. Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

With regard to the argument of the Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali, I think I am correct in stating that a house which is let out to several tenants and which yields a total rent of Rs. 200 a month will be protected even if this amendment is accepted. My friend must not forget that 'premises' means not the whole premises but part of premises which is let out to tenants.

As regards Rs. 500, I do not want to say anything further because after all the matter has been fully discussed, and it is quite immaterial, so far as I am concerned, whether it is Rs. 500 or Rs. 200. My own view is that it would have been better if legislation had been undertaken on the lines of the English Act, but as there seems to be an impression that I have made the suggestion with the intention of excluding the Europeans—which is furthest from my mind—I have simply stated what my views are. What I am rather surprised to hear is that the condition of things is so different here from those which prevail in London, that a tenant paying £70 per annum in England cannot be assumed to be on the same basis as a tenant paying Rs. 200 or Rs. 500 a month here."

The Hon'ble Babu Bhabendra Chandra Ray said:—

"My Lord, this is one of a series of amendments which propose to limit the operation of the Bill to houses bearing comparatively low rentals. I am free to admit that there is considerable force in the contention that legislation should protect only persons of more or less limited means. Those who live in high style are no doubt equally the victims of rack-renting; but in their case there is an ample margin for economy. There is, however, another aspect of the case which seems to go against the amendment.

The other day my Hon'ble friend Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur divided the landlords into two classes—first, those who drive in motor-cars, and second, those whose circumstances do not permit them to travel except in tram cars. As an illustration of the latter class he drew a very moving pricture of the poor widow and the orphan having to depend upon a slender income from house-rent for their meagre subsistence. May I ask, in the interest of which of the two classes are these amendments proposed? Are they calculated to help the indigent widow and orphan among the landlords? Certainly not. For they will be precluded by this measure from adding to their modest income from house-rent beyond a certain limit, while the motoring landlord, who owns the larger houses, will have no bounds to his rack-renting ambition.

If we are to accept this amendment, I do not know, my Lord, how to avoid the comment that will certainly be made that this Council has yielded to the opposition of the high and mighty landlords, and has ignored the interests of the less exalted house-owner. If we have to be obnoxious to the landlords, let us have the courage and fairness to be uniformly obnoxious to the entire class—motorists and non-motorists alike.

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, I suspected when the amendment was being moved that a certain amount of discussion would be brought forward regarding the style of living, but I am glad to find that, with the exception of one or two speakers, this has been more or less avoided, although I must say that the first speaker, the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Roy, rather had his hits in a distinctly veiled manner, insinuating that those who could afford tennis courts and other luxuries should not be protected. My Lord, we are not here to discuss those that prefer the simple mode of living or those that prefer motor-cars or tennis courts. What we are concerned with is the principle underlying the Bill. In the very beginning when the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq wanted to make a change in the preamble I said on behalf of Government that we could not deviate from that principle. I of course must confess that my brain has been more bewildered than my eyes used to be pained when I used to go to a cinema show—in the days when it was not so perfect as it is perhaps to-day—in the way in which Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur went from one subject to another. He went on with the question of meting out punishment to booming landlords and then he jumped on at once to the question of giving protection to the rich. I really could not follow whether he was advocating the protection of the poor or the rich. To my thinking he is not only advocating the protection of the rich but he is advocating in this Council that one section of the rich should chase out another section of the rich or those who can pay. I think it must be apparent to this Council that what we are really concerned with is as to whether the principle of profiteering or rack-renting is right or wrong. We say it is wrong and we want it rectified and to rectify the people who in their lust and eager desire make more money than they ought to make. This Bill is a corrective measure it is not a measure to encourage a particular section of the landlords. As the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chundra Datta in his very forcible speech has pointed out, we shall be depriving the poorer landlords by affording such a protection to those who can well protect themselves. My Lord, I think it is perfectly clear to this Council that protection is being asked not because those for whom protection is being asked are poor but because they are rich and they want to have the upper-hand on a class of people who can afford larger houses. I think it shows a very regrettable petty-mindedness apart from the question of principle. But it is on the question of principle that I oppose and strongly oppose these amendments."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray said :—

"My Lord, it is well known that in England the Act of 1915 and the subsequent amending Act of 1919 were war measures. It was only in Bombay that for the first time we find that no limitation was put to the value of holdings, but in England it was first applicable to holdings having a net municipal value of £35 and then it was raised to £70. The conditions of Bombay are quite different from those of Calcutta, and I think for that reason no limitation was put in the Bombay Act. If Calcutta is a city of palaces Bombay is a city of hotels. Those who have been to Bombay will probably corroborate me in saying that there are very few residential houses in Bombay. It is a place full of hotels and it is only in the Malabar Hills that there are a few respectable residential houses. Moreover, when the Act was passed in Bombay no accommodation could be had either for love or money there. That was a place whence people left for Mesopotamia, France, England and all other places and the war materials were collected there. Soldiers were also housed there and so it was necessary to put some sort of restriction on the rapacity of the landlords. Therefore there could be no differentiation between large and small holdings in Bombay. But in Calcutta where you have got not only palaces but also respectable buildings for the middle class European gentlemen and respectable Indian gentlemen and where you have got separate quarters for Europeans and Indians, I think there ought to be some sort of differentiation. My Hon'ble friend Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur has said that the annual value of a holding in England which is worth £70 per annum would be worth about Rs. 200 per mensem here. I have put the figure at Rs. 200, but I am quite prepared to change it to Rs. 2,700 per annum. But I am not prepared to accept Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur's amendment that it ought to be raised to Rs. 500, for how many people I should like to know live in houses or flats worth Rs. 500. As a matter of fact I know from my personal experience that even gentlemen who have got an income of Rs. 4,000 do not even pay so high a rent. I know one Judge of the Calcutta High Court pays Rs. 400 a month as house rent. As regards the members of the Executive Council, I do not think any of them pays more than Rs. 500.

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq.

Mr. Phelps has said that 20 per cent. is allowed for repairs and I may state for his information that not 20 but 10 per cent. is ordinarily allowed for repairs. If he goes through the bills of such respectable contractors as Mackintosh Burn & Co. he will find that 10 per cent. is not generally charged by them—they charge 15 to 20 per cent.—and those who live in houses worth Rs. 500 must have their houses repaired by Mackintosh Burn or Martin & Co.

When I put down the figures I did not make any distinction between Europeans and Indians. In fact, I stated that middle class Englishmen and well-to-do Indians who used to pay Rs. 200 a month on the 1st April, 1916, should be protected by the Act. The Hon'ble Member-in-charge had stated that we must base our law on principle only, irrepective of the question of rich and poor. My contention is : protect them who are in need of protection, rich or poor. The President of the Chamber of Commerce was the President of the House Rent Committee. He did not want protection ; that was never his suggestion. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha who was a member of the Committee never wanted protection. Even the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps in his note of dissent did not ask for protection. If these are facts, then why give protection to those who don't want protection and who can afford to pay high rents. I can cite some facts in support of my contention, but as they are of a personal nature, I refrain from mentioning them. Indeed people who used to pay Rs. 500 before can now easily pay Rs. 800. This is all I have got to say."

The motion was then put and lost.

Motion No. 41 as amended was then put and lost.

26. The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq moved that for clause 2 (f) (i) the following be substituted, viz:—

> " (i) the rent at which the premises were let on or before the first day of April, 1916, with such addition to this rent, not exceeding twenty per cent., as the Controller may deem reasonable and proper."

He said :—

"My Lord, this amendment to my mind, raises a point of the most vital importance to the entire tenant population of Calcutta. I go so far as to say that in case the Bill is not amended somewhat on the lines which I have ventured to suggest, we had better have nothing to do with a piece of legislation which comes to us in the guise of a ministering angel but is in reality a most unsidious foe. My Lord, it is proposed that for the purposes of standard rent we should look to the rent as it existed on the 1st April, 1919. But what are the facts ? It is notorious that for some time past rack-renting had been going on at such an exorbitant rate that about the 1st April, 1919, it had reached its climax, and I think it will not be very far from the truth

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

when I say that the very evil which this Act proposes to remedy had been consummated by about that date. I could not collect figures for a very large area of this city, but I have got figures for certain houses near about the neighbourhood of where I live—Turner Street, Marsden Street, Ripon Street Royd Street, etc.—and I find that in about 1916 the rents began to rise and taking an average of all the houses, I put the rise down to 6 per cent. In 1917 the average was 17 per cent., in 1918 the average worked out to something like 36 per cent. and in 1919 the average was well over 43 per cent. I am of course speaking of the average. In certain particular cases it was 50 per cent. or more. My Lord, if you take that as the basis, then what we actually do is to give the landlords who had been enjoying all these profits of rack-renting for the last four years, an excess of 10 per cent. of the rent which had already been in excess before. Would the Hon'ble Member-in-charge of the Bill support a proposition which instead of providing any remedy to the tenant really makes his position much worse than at present. You allow him the rent paid on the 1st April, 1919, when, as I have said, profiteering had already reached its climax, and after having done that you give him an increase of 10 per cent. Therefore, I respectfully submit that this suggestion is so monstrous that we tenants can never accept it. I must strongly oppose it. I have suggested that the rent paid in 1916 should be taken as the basis. I know there are many landlords who have not increased their rents for some time. In these cases, the Controller should be authorized to allow him an increase of not more than 20 per cent., or as he deems fit and proper. Instead of tying the hands of the Controller, we should leave it to his discretion as to what the increase should be in order to make it fair and equitable both to the landlord and the tenant. I have tried to make my suggestion as elastic as possible. I have not attempted to put down any hard-and-fast rule. There is, I submit, a strong case to take the rent of 1916 instead of 1919 as the basis for calculating the standard rent, and in order to afford some sort of relief to the landlords who have not raised their rents, I have suggested an increase of 20 per cent. I believe that this is a suggestion which should be acceptable to the landlords and not work harshly on tenants.

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, in principle, as regards allowing the landlord a certain percentage of increase there is not much difference between the Hon'ble Mr. Haq and the Government because calculating from April, 1919, we have allowed 10 per cent. If the Government had found that profiteering to that extent which was found to be the case in 1919 had taken place in 1916 and since then, then this proposal would certainly have been quite fair, because as it is three years we are making it 10 per cent.; if it were six years. it would have been 20 per cent. as proposed by the Hon'ble Maulvi Sahib. In practice it would have meant 10 per cent. if profiteering had taken place to that exten in 1916; but the main point which the Government had to consider in fixing the date was whether profiteering was really so general in 1916 as to justify our putting back the date to 1916. I am personally not aware of some of the instances which the Hon'ble Maulvi Sahib has quoted regarding Turner Street, Royd Street, etc., but we know for a fact that profiteering really began towards the second half of 1918; there were practically no cases in the beginning of 1918; it really began in the second half of 1918, and it was in the first half of 1919 that things reached the climax. It is therefore not a question as to whether the Government is not prepared to put back the date to 1916, in favour of the landlords. In legislation of this kind Government has got to be fair, and Government does not consider that it would be fair to put the date back to 1916. Evidently the Hon'ble Member has accepted the principle of a certain amount of increment to be granted to the landlord, and that is quite correct because I believe the Calcutta Corporation in calculating their assessment generally calculate a 5 per cent. increase. If that be so, it will be seen that a 10 per cent. increase for 3 years to which we are going to restrict it, is really less than what the Calcutta Corporation's calculations come up to in three years. Therefore, taking every side of the question into consideration I, whilst agreeing that Government are fully justified in curbing the passion for high rents that some landlords indulge in, do not think it would be at all justified in putting it back to a fictitious date like 1916. For these reasons, my Lord, I am sorry I have to oppose this motion."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq ; Mr. Phelps.

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq said:—

"My Lord, I am sorry, I am not convinced by the Government reply. The Hon'ble Member-in-charge has said that the principal question to be considered is whether profitering had become general or not. I admit that it had not become general in 1916. That was only the beginning. People had just began to realize what a nice game it was to play. It became worse in 1917, it became notorious in 1918 and it reached its climax in 1919. The Hon'ble Member has himself admitted that it was very brisk in the second part of 1918. What did the landlords do after that ? Did they hold their hands in 1919 ? Indeed, it reached its climax in that year. So that if you take the rent of 1919 as the basis, you give the landlords something more than he bargained for. That is what I object to. It has been said that I object to the increment given to the landlords. I do object to that. If you take 1919 as the basis then I do certainly object to any further increment given to the landlords. They have had enough already. If I accept the principle of increment it is only under the particular circumstances that the rent of 1916 is taken as the basis but not otherwise. As at present advised, I would press the amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

27. The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps moved that the words "with the addition in either case of ten per cent. on such rent" at the end of clause 2 (f) (i) be omitted.

He said :—

"My Lord, we have reached a somewhat somnolent condition this afternoon, but I hope I shall be listened to with some patience. I move this amendment because the rise in rents commenced in 1917, and by 1918 I was led to call public attention to the matter in the Corporation. I was not successful in inducing the Corporation to regard the matter with any seriousness, but by the year 1919 the rise in rents had become a public scandal. The Government however, taking all things into consideration in drafting this Bill and wishing to hold the balance fairly between landlord and tenant, fixed April 1919 as the date of the standard rent. Although many people thought that April 1918 would have been better and fairer, I for my part was willing to waive the point. The Select Committee, however, have seen fit to go one better, and have actually allowed a 10 per cent. rise on the rates paid in 1919. We owe that, I suppose, to the landlord interest in the Select Committee as represented by my redoubtable friends to my left. I submit, my Lord, and I appeal to the Hon'ble Member-in-charge of the Bill, for support, that the allowance of 10 per cent. over and above the rates obtaining on the 1st April, 1919, is not reasonable. Hundreds of respectable people who are now struggling with their family expenses, will receive no relief whatever, and we must not forget that the primary object of the Bill is to give these people

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

The President; Mr. Phelps.

relief. I shall quote some figures, not my own, but figures collected by the Rent Committee—the famous Rent Committee of which I was a member—to show the difference between the rents of 1919 and of 1918. They will show that the rents of 1919 were much advanced to those of 1918, and ought in all conscience to be deemed adequate without the additional burden of another 10 per cent. In this matter, I represent not only myself and my own interests, but I represent hundreds of persons who have appealed to me, many of them personally, and many of them through their various agencies. I have here three or four petitions imploring me to move in the matter. In order to substantiate, my Lord, what I have said and what I have urged in the matter of the increase of rents in 1919 and that of 1918, I will quote from statistics collected and collated by the Rents Committee, but which were never published, and have never seen daylight before. Here I have 10 or 12 sheets, the figures of one column of which shows the percentage of increase of rents in 1919 over 1918. I fancy, my Lord, these figures will be an eye-opener. The first on the list is an increase of 142 per cent. I will read them as they occur: 142, per cent., 133. 25, 100, 26, 40, 60, 122, 23, 85, 55, 28, 32, 114, 170; these are not my figures, my Lord, they were collected by the Rents Committee; then it goes on, 80 per cent., 150, 60, 70, 28, 40, 30, 30, 38, 95, 16, 7, 27, 13, 83, 22, 10, 9, 21½. These figures show the increase in 1919 over that of 1918; 52, 10, 18, 12½, 13, 15, 16, 14, 20, 14, 28, 8, 10, 13, 13, 68, 100, 22, 35, 22, 7, 6, 6, 18, 12, 20, 10, 30, 12, 15, 35, 14, 9, 18, 11, 17, 12, 14, 28, 80, 40, 10, 33, 12, 20, 22, 30, 22, 25, 25, 11, 16, 37, 22, 7, 15, 13½, 10.

I think, my Lord, this is sufficient to show that the rise beginning in 1919 over that of 1918 is, to put it mildly, somewhat extravagant. I am an owner of property myself; I have seven tenants, and have not raised my rents since 1909; still the property pays. It has been paying so well, that I have been offered a handsome premium, to part with it. The rents are so reasonable that two of my tenants have raised their rents voluntarily as a compliment to my honesty.

I should like Hon'ble members to understand that these are official figures collected by the Rents Committee, the Government Rents Committee, the famous Rents Committee, and I would ask permission, my Lord, to put these figures in, to go down in the records of these proceedings."

The President said:—

"I do not think it would be in order for the Hon'ble Member to put any statement in the official records of this Council which have not been made public in the course of our proceedings. Any figures which he has quoted will appear in the record. But it will not be in order to record in our proceedings figures which he has not adduced in the course of his speech."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said:—

"That will answer my purpose, my Lord, if the reporters have been kind enough to take down the figures. It only remains for me to say that the fact was endorsed that very few complaints were received by the Rents Committee from the public of Calcutta. Time after time people have come forward privately to me and given me information like this, but warning me not to publish their names.

I appeal to the Hon'ble Member-in-charge, and to Your Excellency on behalf of the public, to reconsider the decision and support the amendment. A man came to me last night, but he urged me for goodness' sake to regard the matter as confidential. I appeal to the Hon'ble Member-in-charge

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Mr. Phelps.

earnestly on behalf of the public to reconsider his decision to support the proceedings of the Select Committee. I think, my Lord, I have shown some reasons for my contention. I was half inclined to support my friend the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq's amendment, but I desire to be perfectly fair to the landlords as well as to the tenants, and I do not wish to say or do anything that will lead anybody whatever to suppose that I am inimical to the landlords."

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I beg to support the amendment. I do not endorse all the observations which have been made by the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps. I do think that when the Select Committee conceded an additional percentage of 10 per cent. it was moved on various considerations. We must say that under the influence of nobody did the Select Committee make the suggestion and the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps might have considered that the advantageous statement in that section was due to other causes. But it is a matter for the consideration of the Council whether 10 per cent. should be considered as an addition over the year 1919. My own view is that if this had been calculated on the basis of the year 1916 it would have been sufficient for the purpose. If it be argued that there was profiteering in the year 1919 the additional percentage might be considered as something unfair. If at the very beginning (1916) there were signs of profiteering then I submit the additional percentage might be allowed, but to admit it in the same breath that there was profiteering in the year 1916 and at the same time to increase it by another 10 per cent. is not a correct view of the matter. Therefore my respectful submission is to consider whether that percentage is to be based on the year 1919 or the year 1916."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, Government have very carefully considered this question of giving an additional 10 per cent. on the standard rent, and I may say that there is a certain amount of justification for those who desire to press that profiteering began in 1918. But with regard to the principle of allowing 10 per cent. on the standard rent, I think it must be admitted that when we are going to restrict any increase in rent we must take into consideration every side of the question. I believe that it will be admitted, as I said when presenting the report of the Select Committee, that there were certain reasons for which a landlord could justly claim a certain amount of increase on what we may fix as the standard rent. Government considered this matter carefully and in Select Committee agreed to this 10 per cent. on the understanding that those who pressed for a fancy 25 or 30 per cent. would not press that matter further in Council. I shall probably have to say something in case this amendment were thrown out with regard to Mr. Phelps' next proposal, and on that I might be prepared to concede something on behalf of Government, but on the present proposal, I am sorry I am unable to accept this amendment. I think that taking everything into consideration, it is only fair that the landlord should get a certain percentage over the standard rent."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said:—

"My Lord, I only bow to the dictum of the Hon'ble Member-in-charge I have to say no more than what I have already said, but I gather from his remarks that this 10 per cent. rise was a sort of sop to some of the members of the Select Committee who were pressing for fancy percentages. My Lord, I ask for a division."

The Ayes being 7 and the Noes 27, the motion was lost.

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Mr. Phelps; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

28. Motion No. 27 not being carried, the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps moved that for the figures "1919" in line 2 of clause 2 (f) (i), and wherever else they occur in the Bill, the figures "1918" be substituted.

He said :—

"It remains for me to move my second amendment having lost the first.

I do not wish to take up the time of the Council any further, I simply move it."

The Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, when this matter was discussed in the Select Committee I suggested to some of the members of that Committee that if they were going to give 10 per cent. increase the date ought to go back to at least January 1919, but since then the Government have considered the matter very carefully and it is perfectly true that in the latter half of 1918 there was a good deal of profiteering. If, therefore, Mr. Phelps were to substitute the words 'November 1918' for '1918' I would be quite prepared to put the matter to the free vote of the Council."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said :—

"My Lord, I accept the Hon'ble Member's suggestion."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I have listened very carefully to the speech of the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps. He has quoted from the statements, which were not available to us, certain cases of rack-renting which were brought to the notice of the Rent Committee. My Lord, we are in a very disadvantageous position because we have not got the statements with us and we are not aware whether in all those cases the rent was increased without any addition or alteration to the buildings or the rents were increased on the buildings as they existed before the increases were made. I speak with a free and unbiassed mind in the matter, and if it is really true that there has been a general and widespread exorbitant increase of rent of the houses in the town without any addition or alteration to the buildings, or change in their conditions or environments, then I think the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps' proposition would require the most attentive consideration and support of this House. But, my Lord, in the absence of any information to that effect I am afraid an atmosphere is created which unfortunately prejudices the minds of many. Mr. Phelps has read out from a statement giving certain instances out of, I may say, 22,000 rented houses in Calcutta, of about 60 or 70 cases, and I find from the report of the Rent Committee that they got their forms duly filled up and returned by 250 occupiers of houses in Calcutta. I do not know in how many cases out of those 250 statements that were furnished to the Rent Committee were rack-renting ascertained, and whether it is an undeniable fact that those increases had been effected without any change or addition to the buildings. This requires very careful consideration.

It is the general idea and the Hon'ble Member-incharge of the Bill had assured us that there has been an abnormal increase towards the second half of 1919 and the standard rent has been fixed from 1st April. 1919, basing it on that fact. I think it behoves the Government, before they see their way to accepting the amendment of Mr. Phelps, to shift the information which he is vouchsafing us and to satisfy themselves that there has been a widespread enhancement of rents in the town, from the time quoted by Mr. Phelps, and I earnestly hope that Government will do this. Figures must be available to satisfy this Council on this point otherwise I am afraid a grave injustice would be done to the landlords. I do not deny that in certain cases there has been excessive rack-renting, but that does not justify us to assume that there has been an universal rack-renting in the city. All these facts required to be carefully considered and threshed out before the Council accepts the motion of Mr. Phelps."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul Haq said :—

"My Lord, I am really surprised that the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur should have been so ungracious as to refuse to the tenants of Calcutta little or small mercies which the Government are now prepared to show them. We forget that Bombay took steps to remedy this evil by legislation as early as 1918, and when they took steps in this direction they found that profiteering and rack-renting had been going on at such a tremendous rate since 1916 that they were content to take the 1916 rent as the basis. That is to say, at the time they undertook legislation they put back the date from which standard rent must be calculated to two years. I think, my Lord, my friend the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur will admit without any extensive survey of the kind that he has proposed that during the two years 1916-18 there was not so much profiteering as during the years 1918-20. It is a proposition which has only got to be stated to be accepted. This profiteering went on briskly since the year 1916 and it was brisker still during the latter years. If the amount of profiteering that was going on in 1916-18 justified the Government of Bombay to undertake legislation in order to put a stop to such rack-renting is it not fair that we should ask the Government here also to begin with the year 1918 and to take that as the basis of the standard rent? What the Hon'ble Member-in-charge of the Bill has proposed is not April 1918 but he has suggested November 1918, and I personally think it does not afford any relief to the tenants. I would only be willing to vote in support of this motion simply because I find that I cannot get anything better and it is only because I must try to make the most of what is offered to us. Although I suggest that this is not at all sufficient, I am very much surprised that my friend, Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, should come forward to oppose this amendment. If the Act is passed as it stands drafted in the Bill, Government might instead of going through the elaborate provisions of the Bill say at once in one section 'let the rent stand what they are to-day: Profiteering is now almost over.' There has hardly been anything since this Bill was in the air. There were protest meetings going on and people took the alarm and what they had done they had done previous to 1918. As to the evil that has been done in Calcutta, instead of having all these elaborate provisions in this Bill one might as well say that there will be no further rack-renting. Therefore I say it is more modest than what the landlords could fairly expect. In these circumstances it is not fair to the tenants to oppose this amendment. I therefore support the amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"My Lord, I must confess that I have a good deal of sympathy with this amendment. It is no doubt true that in many cases profiteering landlords have increased the rent considerably. It is equally true that in many cases (I am glad to find Mr. Phelps is one of them) landlords have not raised their rents at all. My Lord, my quarrel is not with those who desire to stop undue raising of rents, but my quarrel is with the whole basis of the Act. This Act, which allows a profiteering landlord to add 10 per cent., stands in the way of the moderate landlord who has never raised his rent but seeks to punish him for his moderation. I have pressed and pressed consistently for this in the Select Committee and there is an amendment in my name in which I am asking that the tenant should be given power to reduce the rent in the case of a landlord who has increased his rent unduly, and similarly the landlord should be allowed to get a fair percentage of increase if he has not increased his rent

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Babu Akhil Chandra Datta; Rai Debender Chunder Ghose.

in the past. But instead of that what is the whole basis of the Bill; it takes a certain date automatically as the date for fixing a fair rent. It may be very convenient, it may be very practical, but I say it is unjust both to the landlord and to the tenant. If you take a certain date automatically you must be unjust to someone whatever that date may be. If you take it as April 1919 you are unjust to the tenants because in the meantime a large number of profiteering landlords have increased their rents and with regard to them the argument of the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps is perfectly sound. On the other hand, if you fix the rent automatically, there again on the argument of Mr. Phelps you are unjust to the landlords. Therefore if later on my suggestions are accepted and the idea of dealing justly between landlords and tenants is accepted, it does not very much matter whether the date is 1st April, 1916, or 1st April, 1918, but at the present stage the difficulty I feel in accepting either view is this: I do not know what percentage of landlords have profiteered unduly. If a large percentage have profiteered unduly I would be inclined to vote with Mr. Phelps, but if on the other hand I find that on the 1st November, 1918, a large number of landlords did not profiteer unduly then I would be prepared to vote in favour of the motion as it has emerged from the Select Committee and my difficulty is all the greater because we had no chance of considering the position earlier. This was not in the original Bill and this was not mooted in the Select Committee, the only thing that was suggested in the Select Committee was 1st January, 1919, but even that was not fully discussed. Now, my Lord, that is the position and I feel great difficulty either in opposing or supporting the amendment, but I say that there ought to be some provision in the Bill by which we can do justice both to landlords and tenants."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said:—

"My Lord, Mr. Phelps' amendment raises such an important point that I feel I shall be failing in my duty if I only give a silent vote in support of it. There are one or two facts about which there is no controversy, namely, that there was a general rise in 1918, that there was profiteering on an extensive scale in that year and that the climax was reached in 1919. That being the position and these being admitted facts, I think it will not be fair to take April, 1919, as the basis for standard rent. It would result with the addition of 10 per cent. in an enormous increase in the rent, for in 1919 itself the rents were enormous. Therefore, the only fair way would be to fix the date in 1918. In fixing the date for standard rent we should take into consideration the time when there was profiteering on an extended scale. And it being the admitted fact that there was profiteering on an extended scale in April, 1918, I think it necessarily follows that we should fix the date in 1918. Mr. Phelps wants April, 1918. That is quite fair, but if that is not possible, then of course November, 1918, will certainly do."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said:—

"My Lord, but for the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta's intervention I would not have spoken. But, as it is, I would only address the Council on one or two points. The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta says that there had been profiteering and it commenced in 1918. But for his intervention I might have better considered Mr. Phelps' amendment, for Mr. Phelps knows Calcutta conditions and lives among us. But it is not for Babu Akhil Chandra Datta, who comes to Calcutta for a day or two now and then, to say that profiteering has been going on here. But for his intervention, as I have said, I might have induced myself to accept Mr. Phelps' original amendment. There is the recommendation of the Select Committee. It is for those who want a change in the date to put forward evidence. The evidence ought to have come from the Government side and they were in a position to put it forward as they must have been in possession of figures. But there has not been shown any evidence as to the right date on which profiteering began. I think if there are figures, the members of this Council ought to have them. They could have been collected easily from the Registration office. There are also the Municipal assessment records. But these evidences have not been placed before us. I submit such a change ought not to be allowed."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said:—

"My Lord, my hon'ble friend to my left doubts my figures. In order to strengthen my case I would give him a few additional figures showing the rise from 1919 up to January 1920. The additional rise in 1919 has been 23 per cent., 480, 45—these are additional figures—100, 60, 120, 166, 113, 96, 33, 57, 100, 75, 25, 146, 52, 75, 82, 163, 212, 54 and 165 per cent. These are additional rises in 1920—60 per cent., 124, 36, 24, 80, etc. In regard to the inquiry as to what the rise was in 1918 over that of 1917, I am able to give some figures. These are they :—25, 25, 16, 10, 30, 40, 32, 33⅓, 10, 12, and so on. The rise in 1918 over that of 1917 was comparatively modest. It was in 1918 that I first began this propaganda against extortionate rents, and I think my case is fully justified when I say that in 1917 there was a slight rise, in 1918 it became decided, in 1919 it became scandalous and in 1920 it has became preposterous."

The President said:—

"The Council will understand that Government are leaving the decision of the question to the unfettered discretion of the Council, that is to say, the official members will have equal liberty with the non-official members to vote for the amendment or against the amendment or abstain from voting as they think right."

The motion was then put in the following form :—

"That for the words and figures 'April 1919' in line 2 of clause 2 (f)(i) and wherever else it may be necessary to give effect to the purpose of the amendment, the words and figures 'November, 1918' be substituted."

The motion being put, a division was taken with the following result :—

29. The Hon'ble Mr. M. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri moved that at the end of clause 2 (f) (i), the following be added, viz.—

" and provided there is no lease or agreement to a lease "

He said :—

" My Lord, as soon as the Bill passes into law the rents will increase 10 per cent. automatically. But you are not restricting the landlord's right to increase the rent. My amendment is to the effect that there should be no rise of 10 per cent. if there is any lease or agreement to the effect that there should be no rise within the next few years or any period of time. I do not mean of course that if the agreement says that the rents should be increased 50 per cent. next year, the landlord will have the right to enforce it. But what I mean is this : if there is an agreement or lease between the landlord and the tenant, written or verbal, to the effect that there should be no rise in the rent during the period of the lease, then the landlord will not have the right to the 10 per cent. increase. If there is such a lease in existence, then the tenant's right should be protected. Otherwise, as soon as the Bill becomes law even the landlords, who have agreed to such leases as I have mentioned, would also increase their rent by 10 per cent. This will lead to litigation. If my amendment is accepted, it will protect the tenant's right and will also save litigation. My amendment is not to protect the landlords who have by force or otherwise got the tenants to execute a lease for, say, a 50 per cent. increase. That he cannot do under the provisions of this law, but my amendment only wants to protect the tenant's right and to restrict the 10 per cent. increase. My Lord, this is an emergency Act. You want to protect the tenants. You do not want the tenants to go to the civil courts. Therefore on behalf of the tenants I submit that it would be far better if we have this addition in the clause. It will save the tenant's rights and it will save him from going to the civil courts to fight his landlord. My amendment does not affect the standard rent at all. It will only restrict the increase of 10 per cent. if there is a lease. That is my idea and with this view I commend the motion to the Council."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, I think that the object of the Hon'ble mover is rather to go behind the decision, at which the Council has already arrived, that there should be allowed an addition of 10 per cent. on the rent paid on the 1st November. 1918 ; and on that ground alone I must oppose this amendment on behalf of Government. Also, I am advised that the effect of adding this proviso may very possibly be to produce a situation which would be against the interests of the tenant himself. The interpretation of this proviso may be that there should be no addition of 10 per cent. allowed in those cases where there was a lease or agreement to lease, and further that in cases where tenants have given or been forced by unscrupulous landlords to give a lease or an agreement to a lease on a high rental, such as, say, 50 per cent. above the standard rent, the tenants would not get the protection of this clause. On this ground, too, I must oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, as I have already said, my amendment is only to protect the tenant. It cannot mean that if there has been an agreement for a 50 per cent. rise, the landlord will have the right to enforce that. Clause 4 with its proviso provides for that. I will give you a concrete instance. Suppose there is a tenant who is paying Rs. 100 a month as rent. There is an agreement between him and his landlord that there would be no increase in the rent for the next 5 or 6 years. That agreement has not been registered—in Calcutta these agreements are, as a general rule, not registered. Now, as soon as this Bill is passed into law, the landlord will claim a 10 per cent. increase in spite of the agreement. The Controller can do nothing but refer the tenant to the Civil Court. The tenant has no remedy whatever. It is to guard against this that I have suggested this proviso. The standard rent will not be affected by it. We have sufficient safeguards under clause 4. I would therefore press the amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

30. The Hon'ble Mr. Arun Chandra Singha was to have moved that the following be added at the end of clause 2(f) (i), viz :—

"Such addition not being allowed where the rent has been increased within the preceding two years"

He said :—

"My Lord, as amendment No. 28 has been accepted, I beg leave to with draw this amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

31. Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq was to have moved that for the figures "1919" in line 2 of clause 2 (f) (ii) the figures "1916" be substituted.

The President said :—

"Amendment No. 31 is consequential upon amendment No. 26 which has already been rejected by the Council."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Maharajadhiraja Buhadur of Burdwan; Mr. P. C. Mitter.

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq said:—

"In any case, I beg leave to withdraw the amendment."

The motion was then deemed to have been withdrawn.

32. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that at the end of clause 2 (f) (ii), the following be added, viz:—

"and in the case of any premises which fell or shall fall vacant, the rent at which the premises may be first let after the commencement of this Act".

He said:—

"My Lord, as far as I understand, the object of this Bill is not to allow the existing tenant in any way to be disturbed or rack-rented. The Bill also makes provision that the standard rent of a house which has not been let before 1st April or 1st November, 1918, should be the rent at which the house was first let. I take it, my Lord, that if a house is vacated and remains unoccupied then the new tenant will come and occupy the house, and I believe it is just and proper that this house should be treated in the same way as the house which was first let because it will not disturb the existing tenant in any way and it will also help a large number of new-comers in this way. There may be four or five applicants for the house and perhaps someone who is in the greater need of the house may make his own arrangement with the house-owner as he would do in the case of a house which is first let. If my amendment is accepted no hardship will be involved to the existing tenant, and therefore I move this for the consideration of the Council."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, this is one of those amendments of the Rai Bahadur which it seems very hard to ascribe a motive to, but underlying it I feel is that consistent desire on his part to cut away at the very root of the Bill. He wants us to believe that because a house falls vacant after the commencement of this Act we should not interfere. He wants that a case of that kind should not come under the purview of standard rent. I think, my Lord, on the face of this amendment it must be quite apparent to the Council that the only thing to do is to summarily throw it out. On behalf of Government I am unable to accept it."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Badadur said:—

"My Lord, it is hardly worth while to reply considering the frame of mind of the Hon'ble Member. All that I want to say is this: it is not my intention to do away with the standard rent altogether. What I want to press is that a vacant house may be placed on the same footing as a house which is first let."

The motion was then put and lost.

33. Motion No. 9 not being carried, the Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chandra Mitter was to have moved that the following be inserted as clause 2 (f) (iii), viz:—

"(iii) a fair rent settled by the Controller, where a lessee has taken a lease for purposes of subletting or where the lessee has sublet the premises for a period of 7 years or more".

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Babu Surendra Nath Ray; The President; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

He said :—

"I have discussed the principle embodied in this amendment in connection with a previous amendment of mine, and in view of that discussion I do not want to press this."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

34. The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray was to have moved that after clause 2 (f) (ii) the following be inserted, viz.—

"(iii) In the case of any premises which have been let to a new tenant after the first day of April, 1919, and before the passing of the Act, the rent at which the said premises were first let to that new tenant, and if such premises have been let more than once to new tenants between the aforesaid dates the rent at which the said premises have been last let".

He said :—

"This amendment is practically the same as that which has now been moved by my hon'ble friend Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, and as it appears that it will meet with the same fate, I beg leave to withdraw it."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

35. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur was to have moved that at the end of clause 2 (f) (iv) the following be added, viz.—

"Provided that the standard rent under this Act shall not be considered to be the basis of any valuation in any Land Acquisition proceeding".

The President said:—

"Amendment No. 35 cannot be moved in respect of clause 2 which deals entirely with definitions, and by amendment No. 35 the Hon'ble Member proposes to introduce an entirely different matter in the clause. It should be moved in the form of a new clause at a later stage of the Bill, and if the Hon'ble Member will look to amendment No. 165 he will find that that is the appropriate place in which to move the proposed amendment."

36. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that the following be added at the end of clause 2 (f) (iv), viz :—

"Provided always that at no time shall the rent fall short of seven per cent. income on the estimated fair value of the premises which in the case of dispute between the landlord and the tenant shall be determined by the Controller".

He said :—

"My Lord, this is a proposition which almost follows the same line of a certain amendment of my friend the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter. There is much dispute about the date of fixing the standard rent, about the standard rent being excessive to the tenant and about the standard rent being lower than what the fair rent should be, and all these arguments have been brought forward from different points of view. This proposition is laid before the house with a view to do away with these difficulties and to harmonise all conflicting views. It is well known that a reasonable income is always expected from certain investments, and I think it will be admitted on all hands that if a 7 per cent. return is allowed on the fair value of the property, it will not be excessive either from the tenant's point of view or from the landlord's point of view. It is also well known that in other businesses people have been making profits from 15 to 30 per cent. and in some cases even 300 per cent. Therefore I think this is a very modest proposal. I do not know what the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps thinks of it, but I hope it will meet with the acceptance of this House. My Lord, Government securities which were formerly 3½ per cent. now yield a return of 6 per cent., and other securities also yield an income above 6 per cent., not to speak of shares and other things. Therefore I think the proposal that I am making may be deemed perfectly fair and reasonable."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Mr. O'Malley.

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said:—

"My Lord, the amendment applies to cases where the Controller has power to fix standard rent and it provides for a minimum of 7 per cent. of the estimated fair value of the premises in all those cases. The amendment is open to criticism on the ground that the unit of the Bill is not a complete holding or building, but premises, and premises include single rooms in a house. I suggest that the valuation of single rooms in a house or a hut would be a matter of practical difficulty. It would also not be properly applicable to rooms in a hotel, boarding-house or lodging-house. Here the cost of food, furniture and servants has to be taken into account. The amendment, however, makes the value of the premises the sole criterion.

The amendment is open to still greater objection on more general and important grounds. It introduces a principle which is not contemplated by the Bill, which takes the actual rent as the basis on which ordinarily to fix the standard rent. It would lead to complications as it involves calculations as to what is a fair value, which would add very largely to the burden thrown on the Controller. What would be the basis of calculating fair value? Would it be the selling price of the property in the neighbourhood? Owing however to the land boom, inflated prices—often wildly speculative prices—have been paid, which would not be a reliable guide or a reasonable basis of valuation. Or is property to be valued not according to its present use or rental, but according to what it would fetch if used in a different way, for instance, as shops,—in other words, according to its potential value? Or again is the reinstatement principle to be followed, i.e., is the value of the property to be taken as the cost of purchasing an equally convenient site and equally convenient premises? Here again, owing to the present shortage and high price of building materials as well as the abnormal conditions due to profiteering, the valuation would often be excessive. Seven per cent. is taken as a minimum in all cases, and if this was based on inflated prices, the enhancement would often be beyond the means of the tenants. This legislation has had to be undertaken because rents were being forced up to a pitch beyond the capacity of tenants, and this amendment is likely to reproduce the state of affairs the Bill seeks to remedy.

A further objection to the amendment is that except in certain cases covered by the first proviso to section 15 (2) it is not intended that the Controller should have his time taken up with intricate valuation work. His work and responsibility will be heavy enough as it is. To take alone the fixing of fair rents under the first proviso to section 15 (2) in cases where salami has been paid and an application has been made to the Controller because the landlord thinks the existing rent is low, it means the settlement of rents by the Controller for a large proportion of the shops in Calcutta. This is a formidable task for any man. It was the intention when this Bill was framed that the Controller should have power to vary the rent only in special cases, where there were special reasons for departing from the standard rent, and not that he should be a general court of appeal in case of disputes about values. I would most strongly deprecate adding to his duties by putting him in the position of a Land Acquisition Officer with numerous difficult questions of market value to decide for all classes of premises; and I cannot therefore accept the amendment on behalf of Government."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said:—

"As far as I have been able to follow the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley, his objection is that there will be difficulty in valuing these premises as there will also be single rooms in premises. To that my reply is this: if the whole premises can be valued there will not be much difficulty in working out the proportionate valuation of the different parts of the house. Then as regards the rooms in a hotel or a lodging-house, the matter was discussed in Select Committee where, it will be remembered, it was stated that the cost of food and lodging would be taken into consideration, and I think the valuation of a hotel can be made without any difficulty. Add 7 per cent. or whatever percentage the Controller may fix as a reasonable return and then the whole cost will be proportionately divided between all the tenants there. Then it is stated that it will involve a lot of calculation. but, my Lord, thousands of houses are disposed of in two or three months' time by the Corporation and I do not think there will be any difficulty in assessing the fair value. It is further stated what will be the value—the present selling value of a property in the neighbourhood. Well, I have purposely inserted the words 'fair value'. I do not say the land boom or anything of the kind, but what is generally adopted by the officers of the Corporation, especially by the Vice-Chairman or the Deputy Chairman in deciding assessment cases. Then it is stated that it will throw heavy work on the Controller. It may be true that to a certain extent it will throw some work upon him, but it is likely that he will have some assistants as well. The much vexed question of rent is now agitating both landlord and tenant, and I think the Controller ought to do the work very satisfactorily. This is a perfectly fair proposal and I fail to understand why this should be opposed. My Hon'ble friend Mr. P. C. Mitter and myself have said not only here but also in the Select Committee—let a fair and reasonable adjustment be made between landlords and tenants. But unfortunately this Bill is rushed with such a precipitate haste that no opportunity has been given for the consideration of our proposal. I earnestly hope that our proposal would be taken into consideration, because it will satisfactorily settle all differences. I do not think any tenant will object to paying a reasonable percentage. I heard a certain speaker at the Town Hall meeting say that the tenants would not even grudge to pay 9 per cent. on the fair value of the property. He was a spokesman of the tenants, and I think I can fairly assume that if such a proposition is accepted, it will please all parties. It may be that certain consequential amendments would be necessary to clause 15 in order to enable the Controller to decide such cases. If the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill consider it a fair proposition and be pleased to accept it, I think the other necessary amendments can be made without any difficulty before the Act is passed."

The motion was then put and lost.

The President said:—

"I think amendment No. 37 is consequential upon amendment No. 9 and if that is so, the amendment should be with drawn."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri; Mr. O'Malley; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

The following amendment was then deemed to have been withdrawn :—

37. If motion No. 9 be carried, the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter to move that at the end of clause 2 (g) the following be added, viz:—

"Provided nevertheless the expression shall not include a person who has taken a lease of any premises for purposes of subletting or where such person has sublet for a period of 7 years or more ".

38. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that after clause 2 (g) the following be added, viz :—

" (h) ' sum ' means primarily money but also includes a consideration representing money value."

He said :—

" My Lord, the object of the amendment which I propose to move is to harmonise the provisions of sections 9 and 19. In section 19(2) it is laid down that a person shall be deemed to receive a sum in excess of the standard rent, if he receives any consideration representing a money value in excess of such standard rent. In section 9 practically the same thing has been said but there is no such provision, and one may avoid the consequence of taking something in kind instead of money. I think if the definition be added that will obviate the difficulty, and in that view and only for the sake of harmony I propose that the definition be added."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

" My Lord, we are advised by the Legislative Department that this amendment is unnecessary. The Hon'ble Member has referred to clause 19(2), and if we are to insert this definition it would merely be a repetition. The statement as to consideration representing a money value comes in its proper place in clause 19. Though I fully sympathise with the Hon'ble Member in his desire to improve the drafting of the Bill, I am afraid that in this case it will not be at all a real improvement. For this reason I am unable to accept the amendment on behalf of Government."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

" My Lord, I have two amendments standing in my name—Nos. 38 and 144. In the latter amendment I have suggested that sub-clause (2) to clause 19 might be omitted, as instead of saying anything there if there were a definition in clause 2, there would be no anomaly, and in the absence of any such definition there, one may avoid clause 9 by taking money in any other shape. It might be anomalous if in one case there is no safeguard and in another there is only by way of an explanation."

The motion was then put and lost.

39. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that at the end of clause 2 (g) the words " with the written consent of the landlord " be added.

He said :—

" My Lord, I want to move for the addition of these words for this reason : an existing tenant may take some money and go away putting an undesirable and troublesome tenant in possession under the Act, though the landlord will be prevented for three years from letting out his premises to a new tenant. A tenant will be able to do that, and make what he can out of the bargain, but the landlord will not be able to do anything. Therefore I want this amendment. It is a custom which is generally prevalent throughout Calcutta."

The Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, I am sorry I cannot accept this, because there are a large number of tenants at will. There cannot be in every case the written consent of the landlord, and there is no reason why these tenants should not be protected."

The motion was then put and lost.

40. Motion No. 39 not being carried, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that at the end of clause 2 (g) the following be added viz:—

"but it does not include a tresspasser or a person who in collusion with an out-going tenant or otherwise occupies any premises without the landlord's written consent."

He said:—

"It is practically the same amendment. I fail to understand why some such provision should not be accepted. The landlord will not be able to let out his premises, but the tenant if he so wishes can go away within 3 years putting in a stranger. The landlord has no guarantee as to whether he is not an undesirble or troublesome tenant. Therefore I think the landlord should have the privilege of choosing his own tenant. The standard rent will be the same, and there will be no harm."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan:—

"My Lord, I am sorry I cannot accept this, because I think the Rai Bahadur has got in his mind the ordinary kōrfadar. As regards them, the position is very clear. Unless the landlord has accepted any rent from him, a kōrfadar cannot possibly become a tenant. Very often the landlord knows whether the tenant he has accepted is a kōrfadar or a Sha Bhāradār or not. I do not think that the additional words are necessary here. It is the same old question. There cannot be written consent in every case, therefore I oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said:—

"My Lord, I only desire to draw the attention of the Government to the definition of the word 'tenant'. Tenant means 'any person by whom or on whose account rent is payable for any premises', and from that point of view it may be thought that so long as anyone pays rent on behalf of the original tenant, that person will be considered the tenant. I hope Government will consider that point. I do not know how to advise on the point because there are so many difficulties about it."

The motion was then put and lost.

42. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha moved that for the words "or a retired officer of the Government having similar qualifications" in lines 4, 5 and 6 of clause 3 (1) (a), the following be substituted, viz:—

"having experience of rent values and land acquisition cases in Calcutta"

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Raja Hrishikesh Laha; Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur.

He said :—

"My Lord, it is too much to expect from an officer who has retired from Government service on account of age, such onerous and active work as the Rent Controller will have to perform. It will not therefore be desirable to appoint such pensioners, although some of them may have some experience of rent values and land acquisition cases in Calcutta. It cannot be disputed that most of the Judicial and Executive officers have little or no experience of rent values and land acquisition cases in Calcutta, as most of them are employed in mufassal stations, and it is absolutely necessary that they should have such experience in order to discharge the duties of the Controller properly, and command the confidence of the public. I therefore move this amendment."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, in the Select Committee when we defined 'Controller' we also went into this question very thoroughly as to whether or not we should put in a retired officer of Government, and I believe it was the unanimous decision of the Committee that it should be put in. As regards putting in the qualifications of such an officer, as suggested by the Hon'ble Raja, applying to Members of the Judicial or Executive, Imperial or Provincial service, I think he must realise that Government is not likely to appoint a Controller who has not got experience of land values and land acquisition cases in Calcutta. But he must leave it to the common sense of the Government to appoint a man with a certain amount of such experience. Therefore these words are not necessary, and I oppose the proposal to delete the words 'or a retired officer of the Government having similar qualifications'. For these reasons I oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha said :—

"My Lord, after what has been said by the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur, I can only say that if a proper person such as Mr. Peterson or Mr. Woodhead is appointed, I shall have no objection, but there are retired officers who have some experience of land acquisition work and rent values in Calcutta, who may be very popular with Government but not very popular with the public, and we do not want such officers to be appointed. That is the reason why I wish to omit the words. If Government appoint any able officer who can perform the duties satisfactorily, I shall have no objection."

The motion was then put and lost.

43. The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur moved that for the words "a barrister" in line 1 of clause 3 (2) (b), the word "an" be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, my amendment cannot be said to be one of practiel importance, but it refers to the drafting of clause 3(b) and from the artistic point of view, something can be said on this point. The Council is aware that the High Court knows only of three classes of law practitioners—the advocate, the vakil and the attorney, often called the solicitor. The advocate in the Calcutta High Court is always a barrister; vakils are entitled to get themselves enrolled as advocates, but from the year 1862 when the High Court was first established up to the present time, vakils have declined to get themselves enrolled unless under certain conditions which the High Court could not allow. Therefore the expressions 'barister' and 'advocate' cover the same sort of person, because an advocate of the Calcutta High Court is always a barrister. Some time of course he may be a member of the Faculty of Advocates in Scotland. Therefore I think the words 'a barrister' might well be omitted."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"I understand that the Hon'ble Rai Bahadur does not want to debar a barrister."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"Of course not."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"We have been advised that although the word 'advocate' includes a barrister, it is safer to put the word 'barrister' as well. Therefore I oppose the motion."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"A barrister as such is not entitled to practise in the High Court unless he gets himself enrolled as an advocate. Therefore a barrister is a person who may not have any practice at all. The result will be that if you allow this word 'barrister' to remain, you might appoint a person who has failed to get his admittance to the High Court as an advocate and therefore had no opportunity of acquiring experience in land acquisition cases or any cases. I think this would be an undesirable state of things."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"I desire to say a word or two. This is only an enabling clause which gives a wide range of selection to the Government in the matter of the appointment of a Controller. I quite agree with the Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur that as a matter of practice, all barristers are advocates. At any rate all barristers practising in the High Court are advocates. I believe this clause has been taken from the Calcutta Improvement Act. As a matter of fact, in ordinary practice, we appoint barristers direct from England, and they are entitled to become High Court Judges. Supposing there is a retired barrister-judge of the High Court whom we want to appoint as a Controller. Why should this amendment stand in the way of such an appointment, and after all, is it necessary to delete the word 'barrister'? If anything it errs on the side of safety."

The motion was then put and lost.

44. The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur moved that after the word "attorney" in line 1 of clause 3 (2) (b), the words "of the High Court of Calcutta" be inserted.

He said :—

"My Lord, this amendment may not also be an amendment of practical importance, but I move it for this reason : An attorney practising in the Allahabad or Punjab High Court is also entitled to be appointed as Controller under the provisions of this clause, but not being a practitioner of the Calcutta High Court he could not have gained experience of rent values or land values in Calcutta."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My lord, I am willing to accept this amendment"

The motion was then put and agreed to.

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Mr. O'Malley.

45. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that for the words " who has practised as such and has experience of rent values and land acquisition cases in Calcutta ", in lines 2 to 5 of clause 3 (2) (b), the words " and practice " be substituted.

He said —

" My Lord, as in the case of clause 2(a) I want to leave the discussion entirely to the Government. Of course we may insist on practice, but only that will do, and we need not have the other words."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" Having accepted the amendment previous to this, and as the question of land values will relate mainly to Calcutta, I cannot very well accept this amendment ; I therefore oppose it. "

The motion was then put and lost.

46. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the words " the standard rent " in line 4 of clause 4 (1) the words " and the tenant does not agree thereto by any written agreement " be inserted.

He said :—

" My Lord, the object of my amendment is to give freedom both to the tenant and landlord when they want to make an arrangement for the occupation of a house. It will be convenient for both to come to an arrangement, otherwise tenants who cannot afford to pay, might not be able to get leases.

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

" My Lord, the effect of this amendment would largely be to defeat the whole object of the Bill and render it naugatory. It would mean that any landlord could get any amount of enhanced rent, provided that by hook or by crook he could get a tenant to sign a written agreement. Conditions are such that tenants are no longer free agents able to withstand the exactions of those landlords who are extortionate and rapacious. Given a shortage of houses, landlords are able to enforce their own terms, and the object of the Bill is to prevent their making an unscrupulous use of their power. Tenants require protection and the Bill aims at making null and void unconscionable agreements executed under compulsion of abnormal conditions and of preventing a recurrence of such agreements. The amendment cuts at the root of the Bill which aims at substituting control for uncontrolled agreements, and Government therefore cannot consent to its acceptance."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

" My lord, I do not want to say anything more. I have already said all I have to say."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motion, being consequential upon Motion No. 46, was then deemed to have been withdrawn :—

" 47. If motion No. 46 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that the words " notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary " in line 5, clause 4 (1) be omitted "

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq; Mr. P. C. Mitter; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

48. The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq moved that clause 4 (1) (i), (ii) and (iii) be omitted.

He said :—

"My Lord, I may say in order to shorten the discussion that I am not very particular about omitting (i) and (ii), but I propose that my suggestion as to the drafting of (iii) be accepted. My object is that in all cases in which there have been leases during the last three years, as has just been pointed out by the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley, tenants have hardly been free agents in the bargain, and I do not think it is fair to the tenant to exclude these cases from the operation of the Act. There may be a lease for 5 years or more, but on enquiry it will be found that these leases have been entered into under conditions unfavourable to the tenant. And because the tenant under certain conditions has been obliged to enter into a written agreement, I do not think it is sufficient ground to keep him within the terms of the agreement under the provisions of this Act. I therefore submit that proviso (iii) should be omitted."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"My Lord, I do not quite follow my hon'ble friend. He seems to think that the tenant whose lease has already expired will come under the proviso to section 4. I do not think that will be so. The language of the clause is : "The rent payable under any lease entered into before the date of the commencement of this Act for a period of 5 years or afterwards which has not expired on that date." That being so, I do not understand the apprehension of my hon'ble friend,"

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I just wish to point out that this clause was discussed in Select Committee, and it was found that it was rather more advantageous to the tenants if they had got a long lease, say, for 5 years or over, to retain that lease."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, we do not want this Act to be in any sense a punitive measure, and therefore we thought that in cases of leases of 5 years and upwards that there was a certain amount of justification for the rents not being irrecoverable, and we thought that in the case in which a tenant entered into a lease with his eyes open more or less, for a period of 5 years or upwards, he should not get the advantage of clause 4. I am advised, my Lord, that this clause should be allowed to stand as it is, because I have got a subsequent amendment to move at a later stage, but I understand the Hon'ble Member does not object to (i) or (ii), but that he wants (iii) deleted."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul Haq said :—

"My Lord, I do not want to add anything to what I have already said."

The motion was then put and lost.

49. The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mittra Bahadur moved that after the word "lease" in line 1 of clause 4 (1) (iii) the words "or any agreement to lease" be inserted.

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur ; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan ; The President ; Raja Hrishikesh Laha ; Mr. O'Malley.

He said :—

"My Lord, the reason for this insertion is that the lease itself represents that arrangement has been made or was made and the words 'agreement to lease' also carry the same idea. Therefore, I think, the clause would be incomplete unless the words 'agreement to lease' were inserted.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

My Lord, I have got a similar motion, and I therefore support it. In this country agreement is generally regarded as lease or equivalent to lease. In our part of the city a simple letter or something of that sort is regarded as binding on a person."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, I am willing to accept this amendment of the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

The President said :—

"The next amendment which stands in the name of the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha is practically the same as the amendment which has just been accepted and the same remark applies to amendment No. 51 which stands in the name of the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur."

The following motions were then deemed to have been withdrawn :—

50. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha to move that after the word "lease" in line 1 of clause 4 (1) (iii), the words "or any agreement to lease with possession" be inserted.

51. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that after the word "lease" in line 1 of clause 4 (1) (iii) the words "or agreement for a lease" be inserted.

52. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha moved that for the words "five years" in line 3 of clause 4 (1) (iii) the words "three years" be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, leases in Calcutta are usually taken for three years, so I beg to move that for the words 'five years' in line 3 of clause 4(1)(iii) the words 'three years' be substituted."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I have got a similar motion and I formally move it. I may say that, if the motion of Raja Hrishikesh Laha is accepted, it will not disturb the fundamental principle of the Bill in any way because the Act will be in force for three years. The lease will be for three years and even if within the currency of this Act the lease expires, the standard rent will be the rent that is in the lease and the tenant will not suffer in any way. I hope, therefore, that this amendment will be accepted."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, the object of providing in this clause for leases for 5 years has already been explained by the Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur. The case of 3 years' leases is different. It has just been explained to us that it is a common period for leases, and there is reason to believe that many tenants have been forced into leases or agreements to lease for 3 years at exorbitant rentals in recent times, that is to say, since profiteering in houses set in. These persons who have been compelled to agree to extravagant rents require protection, and if the amendment were accepted they would be deprived of that protection. Government cannot, therefore, agree to remove from control leases entered into for the comparatively short period of 3 years and to deprive of protection those who agreed to them under the force of circumstances beyond their control. I am, therefore, on behalf of Government unable to accept the amendment.

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motion being covered by the decision on amendment No. 52 was then deemed to have been withdrawn :—

53. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that for the words " five years " in line 3 of clause 4 (1) (iii) the words " three years " be substituted.

53A. The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan moved that the words " which has not expired on that date " in lines 4 and 5 of clause 4(1) (iii) be omitted.

He said :—

" My Lord, on further examination of this clause we have arrived at the conclusion that cases are not likely to arise after the commencement of this Act. Therefore I beg to move that the words ' which has not expired on that date ' in lines 4 and 5 of clause 4 (1) (iii) be omitted."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

54. The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter moved that the following be added at the end of clause 4 (1) (iii), viz. :—

> " (iv) to the rent payable under any lease or agreement to lease for a period of 5 years or more, provided the terms embodied in such lease or agreement to lease are certified by the Controller to be just and fair "

He said :—

" My Lord, there are two safeguards—first of all the safeguard about the certificate of the Controller that the rent is just and fair and the second safeguard is that the rent must be agreed to both by the landlord and the tenant. It very often happens that a tenant likes to have a longer lease than three years and from that point of view he is willing to enter into a five years' lease on certain terms and conditions which he deems to be fair. The Act, as it stands, does not provide for such a lease, and I move for this sub-clause as an additional proviso in the interest of the landlord as also of the tenant. Let freedom of contract be curtailed where the principle of the Act demands it, but where the principle of the Act does not demand it, freedom of contract ought to be respected specially when the agreement will be certified as just and fair by the Controller. In the muffasal in the case of ryots, the provisions of the law is that a compromise certified by a court or a Settlement Office is accepted, and I do not understand why the better educated city population should not have the same freedom."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri; Mr. O'Malley; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

The Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri said :—

"I oppose this amendment on the ground that landlords might try to take out agreements from their tenants which will not be benificial to the interests of the tenants themselves. I fail to understand why an amendment moved by Raja Hrishikesh Laha was accepted by Government while a similar one moved by me was rejected. The safeguard pointed out by Mr. Mitter is not of much value, as I think the Controller will have great difficulty in coming to a conclusion as to what should be a fair rent because both the landlords and tenants will bring forward experts—engineers, surveyors, valuers, etc.—in support of their contention, as to what should be the fair rent. I do not think it will be in the interest of the tenant to accept this amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, the hon'ble mover is anxious to add to the list of exceptions covered by clause 4 and to bring into that list cases of leases or agreements to leases for 5 years or more, provided that the Controller certifies the terms to be just and fair. The amendment has the same object as many other amendments, namely, to get rid of the simple and automatic working of standard rent under clause 2 (f), to set up another criterion, and to add to the duties and responsibilities of the Controller which are already sufficiently onerous. I have already explained that in framing the Bill it was the intention of Government to rely on standard rent in the generality of cases and to allow the Controller to come in and vary the standard rent only in exceptional cases. It is not the intention of Government that the Controller should be a kind of court to fix fair rents. This amendment would overwhelm the Controller with work and the settlement of numerous cases involving difficult questions of valuation, to which I have referred in replying to a previous amendment of Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur. I have already explained the difficulty of fixing a fair rent under the abnormal conditions which are now prevailing due to the land boom, artificially inflated prices and profiteering. It is true, and I have no doubt that the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter will remind me of it, that such questions are likely to arise when the Controller fixes rent under the first proviso of clause 15(2), but Government feel that the cases in which he should have to go into such matters should be limited and they are opposed to their expansion.

And I cannot help thinking that in practice these landlords who are unscrupulous and unprincipled and who have the tenant at their mercy might take advantage of the provision proposed in this amendment to refuse to give leases except for long periods at a highly enhanced rent and might force tenants to agree to unjust terms which the Controller might not be able to detect, owing to suppression or concealment of relevant facts. For these reasons I am unable to accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I have followed the observations of Mr. Ashraf Ali and Mr. O'Malley and I fail to understand why the addition suggested by Mr. Mitter should be opposed. As far as I have followed Mr. Ashraf Ali, I understand that he is afraid that the tenant will be oppressed by the landlord and, as far as I have been able to follow Mr. O'Malley, he is generally of the same opinion. Further he says that it will burden the Controller with a large amount of work. With reference to that observation I would say first that the proposal is that the agreement should be made in the presence of the Controller, and if the tenant does not like the agreement, he may not come to the Controller and the agreement will not be made at all. Then again my friend forgets that a tenant would be very glad to get a tenure of 10 years,

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Mr. P. C. Mitter; Babu Surendra Nath Ray.

lease whereas the Act only gives him a tenure of 3 years. I do not understand why should the legislature prevent him from taking advantage of the existing law. There is always a suspicion in the mind of Government and in the minds of some Hon'ble Members that rapacious and unscrupulous landlords will swallow up the innocent tenant (as if so innocent that he cannot say 'yes' or 'no'). My Lord, I am sorry that this should be the frame of mind of Government in a matter of this kind. If a tenant likes to make an agreement with a house-owner in the presence of the Controller and if the Controller is satisfied that the terms are perfectly fair and just, he may grant the terms. You say the Controller will be over-burdened with work, but then why put both the landlords and tenants in his hands; they do not ask for it."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"Opposition to a motion like this makes one dispair of the ultimate solution of the housing problem. My friend Mr. Ashraf Ali has opposed it with the best of motives, but perhaps he does not know the state of things in Calcutta as I do, because I have lived here much longer and I know the city much better than he does. In the course of last year or so hundreds of houses have changed hands in favour of undesirable landlords. These new landlords have acquired those houses from bonâ fide landlords, who were not rapacious landlords, but who were anxious to promote good-will between themselves and their tenants. Those houses have passed into the hands of speculators At present in spite of the Rent Act longl eases are in contemplation, transfers are taking place and on enquiry from my Bombay friends I learn that in Bombay prices of houses have gone up very considerably. Therefore I say in whatever way you may frame your Rent Act, the dishonest landlord will not care for it. Mr. O'Malley who is so anxious about protecting the tenant, the tenant, who even in the presence of the Controller will not be able to protect himself, will perhaps answer me when I ask him the following question—Suppose a landlord and a tenant enter into a contract to pay Rs. 20,000, as bonus after the expiry of the Act, how is this Act going to prevent it? Suppose a tenant agrees to pay in Rs. 5,000, as deposit without interest, how is this Act going to prevent that? So long as we have got more tenants than houses any amount of legislation will be unavailing. Then, what should be our object? Our object should be to secure non-rapacious landlords, not to increase the number of dishonest landlords but to keep as many honest landlords as possible. If we do not allow things to be done in this way we force dishonest landlords to do things in an underhand way. No doubt honest landlords will not stoop to underhand means, and the result will be that at the end of 2 or 3 years we will require another Act because we will then find that few houses have been built and the situation made worse. However I have done my duty and pressed my point here, and it is a pity if those who are anxious to safeguard the interest of the tenant throw away every suggestion, however well intentioned it may be, without investigating facts. I hope that in this instance those who, either from shortness of time or due to the insistence in the public press for some measure of this kind, have not been able to pay sufficient attention to this measure, should consider this point carefully (not merely with suspicion) with a view to safeguarding the object of the Act and to protect honest landlords and honest tenants."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray said :—

"The next amendment which stands in my name is practically the same as the present one, so I shall say only a few words with reference to this amendment. My amendment simply means upholding the freedom of contract. I think it will be admitted that this Bill has been introduced in the interest of the tenant class, but I am very much doubtful if it will serve that purpose

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; The President; Babu Surendra Nath Ray.

if such a clause as that suggested by me is not inserted. I will cite one or two instances showing how it will prejudice the interest of the tenants. Your Lordship is probably aware that mufassal people come to Calcutta either for treatment or to marry their daughters or for any other special reason only to stay here for 2 or 3 months. According to the present Bill, a landlord will not be able to charge anything more than the standard rent, but a man who comes for treatment for 2 or 3 months is prepared to pay a larger amount than an ordinary tenant. What will be the fate of this would-be tenant if the landlord does not let out the house to him? He will probably have to go back to his home and there either die or ungergo such treatment as may be possible there."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said:—

"Is the Hon'ble Member speaking on the motion which stands in the name of the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter?"

The President said:—

"The amendment standing in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray is approximately the same as the one now before the Council. We cannot have two discussions on the same subject and therefore the Hon'ble Member should make his speech now."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray continuing said:—

"It is well known that in Calcutta during the cold weather houses are let out at a higher rent than in the months of July and August or in the months of May and June. According to the present Bill, a man who comes to stay in Calcutta for three years will pay the same rent as a man who will stay for a couple of months or so, but is it fair? Therefore I suggest that in order to remove this inequality of treatment the landlords and the tenants may be allowed to enter into some sort of agreement which is fair to both parties. And if the Controller is also satisfied that the terms of the agreement are fair and just I do not see any reason why such an agreement should not be allowed."

The motion being put a division was taken with the following result:—

The Ayes being 18 and the Noes 16, the motion was carried.

The President said :—

" It is no longer necessary to put amendment No. 55 before the Council. It is covered by the decision on the previous amendment."

The following motion was then deemed to have been withdrawn :—

55. The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray to move that after clause 4 (1) (iii) the following be inserted, viz. :—

" provided also that a landlord and a tenant may enter into a lease on any terms as to rent when both the landlord and the tenant make a declaration before a Controller that special reasons exist for the contract or where the Controller considers that the terms are fair and just ".

56. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that at the end of clause 4 (1) (iii) the following be added, viz :—

" (iv) to the rent payable under any lease for more than three years entered into after the commencement of this Act;

(v) to the rent payable by a tenant for a specific period less than a year;

(vi) to the rent payable by a person paying an annual income tax of Rs. 500 and upward;

(vii) to any rent agreed to be paid by a new tenant after the previous tenant had voluntarily vacated ".

He said :—

" My Lord, I would only move (v) and omit the rest, that is to say, I would move that at the end of clause 4(1) (iii) the words " to the rent payable by a tenant for a specific period less than a year be added.

I will simply explain what my object is in moving this amendment. My Lord, after this Act is passed, the standard rent will apply to the tenant who will occupy the house at least for the term of this Act, viz., three years.

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta; Mr. Phelps; Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri.

Now my Lord, there are cases where a house falls vacant someone comes for the purpose of wedding or for the purpose of treatment or during the cold weather season to stay for two or three months only. I think, it will be admitted that he ought not to get the same treatment as regards rent as a tenant who will take the house for three years, because the landlord will have to incur a lot of expenditure in repairs, white-washing, etc., when it is vacated after three months by the tenant. I, therefore, sumbit that such temporary tenants should be allowed to make their own arrangements with the landlords. It has nothing to do with squeezing the tenant, and I think Government will see the reasonableness of my proposal and accept it."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said:—

"My Lord, I have great pleasure in supporting the amendment of my hon'ble friend. Those who own houses in Calcutta will understand that it is very undesirable to let out a house for two or three months and if you take the standard rent only, the landlord will be put to very great expense and loss. There is also the risk of the house lying vacant, and in this connection I would refer to a specific matter. His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales will be coming to Calcutta in the next cold season, and on that occasion many persons will visit Calcutta to meet His Highness. Assuming that some of them are Rulers of States, Government has got only one guest-house at Alipore for them, and it will have to hire other houses for them. If the framers of the Bill think that owners will let out their houses on standard rent for a short period only, the result will be that landlords will refuse to let out their houses unless they are taken for at least three or five years, and the visitors will be put to inconvenience and the responsibility will lie with the Government. Is it pretended that these Ruling Chiefs will be distressed tenants who could not pay? Rents for a limited period have always been higher than normal."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said:—

"This is a provision which is intended to be used against mufussal people and cause them inconvenience. Although a mufassalite, still I see much force in the argument advanced by the hon'ble mover, and though I do not agree with all his arguments, and although I do not live within the precincts of the Maharatta ditch, I beg to support this amendment, and will vote for it."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said:—

"I am going to give myself the luxury of voting with the Rai Bahadur, and for these reasons. I understand that he is now moving (v) and omitting (iv) (vi) and (vii), and I have much pleasure in supporting him. I happen to know some of the difficulties that beset landlords in Calcutta in this particular respect, inasmuch as sometimes a person will come and engage a house for a short period, for instance during some festivities or for a wedding or something of that sort, and the party is perfectly willing to pay double because he wants some extra decorations, or perhaps his habits are entirely different to the habits of the usual occupants of the flat or house, and they introduce other undesirable features, and when the tenants vacate, the landlord is put to considerable expense again to bring it back to a normal state. Therefore I have much pleasure in supporting the Rai Bahadur."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri said:—

"My Lord, I oppose this amendment with all the emphasis I can command. I do not think my Hon'ble friend has understood the situation. This amendment is designed to cut the whole ground from under the Bill. If this is accepted the whole effect of the Rent Bill will be null and void. My Lord, we have heard much about unscrupulous landlords trying to extract some agreement from the tenant. If this amendment is accepted, no landlord would give a lease of any house for more than a year or for more than 6 months, and he will renew the lease every six months after that. How are you going to check that? If a tenant comes and wants to enter into a lease for 3 years, the landlord will certainly refuse to give him a lease for more than six months. He will say that he wants the house for his own residence, or for a wedding in his family after six months or so, and after six months he will say that the marriage has been postponed or put forward other excuses. You cannot check all this if we accept this amendment. We are really trying to stop profiteering. We do not want large hotels like the Grand Hotel or the Great Eastern Hotel to fix their tariff at Rs. 60 a day. Perhaps in future I myself when I come to Calcutta may have to live in a hotel, and the Government of Bengal will not give me more than Rs. 10 a day. The idea is that we must stop profiteering wherever found in this respect. Therefore I oppose this amendment."

The Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, I hope that I will not be misunderstood if I say that an amendment like this is wholly unjustifiable. On behalf of Government I must oppose it very strongly. In the first place, it will not only give a loophole to landlords, not to lease out their houses for long periods, and thereby make a profit in the cold weather rents, but it will also, in that very sense, make the housing problem in Calcutta all the more acute. The hon'ble mover here appears like an innocent lamb; he knows nothing. He is very anxious to provide for the poor patient, and also at the same time for a man who wants to come to Calcutta to have a good time and a spree, but he wants that they should be made to pay more than the ordinary fellow, but I think it must be borne in mind that if we were to introduce a clause of this kind here, we would be defeating the very object of the Bill. I am afraid Mr. Phelps has not been able to grasp the situation, because we would be encouraging the landlords—under this clause the tenant will not be able to recover any excess—not to let out their houses for a long period. I do not think that that is very desirable. I am perfectly certain that if this amendment which looks very innocent now were accepted next cold weather in connection with the Prince of Wales' visit a great deal of profiteering will go on. I am very sorry Mr. Phelps has not considered this point of view. On behalf of Government I must strongly oppose this amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said:—

"My Lord, I am afraid I have not yet made up my mind as to which side to vote. In the first place, the Act has been so framed that if in the next cold weather a man in actual occupation sublets his flat at Rs. 2,000 a month the Act cannot touch him, so that profiteering which it is the intention of the Act to stop will not stop. I have pointed in the Select Committee and I think it my duty to point it out in Council that profiteering cannot be stopped in this way, and that for a very short and simple reason. If there is more demand than supply you cannot stop profiteering; so that it is a question of choice between the owner of the property and the man in actual occupation as to who should take advantage and profiteer. If I am a tenant in occupation I can go and live in a room elsewhere and sublet my flat for Rs. 1,500 which I took from the original landlord at Rs. 250 a month. This is an aspect of the question which I have got to consider before I make up my mind as to which side to vote. There is another aspect of the question to be considered also. For bonâ fide purposes it is necessary for many mufassal people to come to Calcutta for a short time; if the landlord gets the same rent for a six months' lease or a three months' lease as he will get say for a three years lease it is absolutely clear that he will not let it out on a three or a six months' lease, so it will be difficult for mufassal men to come here and get houses for a short time. How will they solve the problem? They will go and bribe the man in occupation. I am afraid the argument of the Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan is not quite sound. If we get this class of tenant, the landlords will be able to get rid of the good effects of the Act so far as its good effects go, but my own view is that the good effects of this Act will be very little. If it were possible for us to give at least one month for the consideration of this problem instead of following the example of Bombay and Rangoon, we might have obtained a better Act. Whether this amendment is accepted or not, unscrupulous landlords will drive their coach-and-four through the Act."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Mr. O'Malley; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; The President.

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, I would just like to point out one particular point which has not been referred to by previous speakers. I understand there is considerable danger that if this amendment is accepted, it will be practically impossible to work the section referring to hostels, boarding-houses and lodging-houses in which the majority of the residents are not tenants for the whole year. This is a point that I wish to draw to the attention of the Council."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, with reference to the observations that have fallen from the Hon'ble Member-in-charge of the Bill and from Mr. O'Malley I want to say one thing, and that is that in order to secure the bonâ fide of a transaction, I would ask Your Excellency's permission to add the words 'with the consent of the Controller', as I have been advised on this side of the House, but I cannot do so without the permission of your Excellency. It is known very well that whatever comes from this side of the house is looked upon with suspicion, but one thing I am sure of, and that is that in the coming cold weather although the landlords will not make any profit, the tenant will manage to let out his house at a considerable profit. No Controller will be able to check it. Therefore I want to put in these additional words. It will be a check on the landlords and a check on the tenants. Then as regards hotels and such other places I think the Controller will be able, in the next cold weather season, to fix the tariff which he considers reasonable. There will be no difficulty on that score. Therefore I earnestly beg Government to consider whether they will not accept this amendment and let the landlords recover something towards repairs and vacancy. There is no provision about that in the Act, and therefore I pray that short-time tenants should not be allowed the benefits of this Act."

The President said :—

"Before putting this amendment to the Council, I have to point out that Government as at present advised are of opinion that if this amendment is carried it will undermine the whole principle of the Rent Bill, and assuming that, and in the event of this amendment being carried, Government will have to adjourn and reconsider their position with regard to the provisions of the Bill."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, have I your permission to add those few words to my original amendment?"

The President said :—

"I cannot undertake to consider a large amendment of this kind on the spur of the moment. The Hon'ble Member ought to have thought of that before he handed in his amendment."

58. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that the words "decorations or" in line 5 of clause 5 be omitted.

He said :—

"My Lord, my object in moving this amendment is this: In this clause the amount spent on decorations is excluded from the cost of building and rebuilding and therefore I think the words 'decorations or' should be omitted because decorations in these days cost a good deal of money and they should be calculated in determining the cost."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, the amendment seems simple enough, but there are different kinds of decorations, and considering the way that I feel that these innocent lambs of tenants are going to fare at the hands of honest landlords like the Rai Bahadur, I am not prepared to accept the amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

59. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the words "he may apply to the Controller to alter the standard rent" in lines 5 and 6 of clause 5 the following be substituted, viz :—

> "he may charge such increase of rent as may be agreed upon between himself and the tenant, or in the case of dispute or difference such increase of rent as the Controller may determine"

He said :—

"My Lord, the clause 5 runs thus—'where the landlord has, since the 1st day of April, 1919, incurred, or during the continuance of this Act, incurs expenditure on the improvement or structural alteration of any premises (not including expenditure on decorations or necessary repairs), he may apply to the Controller to alter the standard rent.' I may point out that in the English and in the Bombay Act it is not necessary to apply to the Controller to alter the standard rent. The standard rent is settled between the landlord and tenant on the basis that it should not exceed more than 10 per cent. If this amendment is accepted, it will not burden the Controller, on the contrary it will save him a lot of unnecessary work which will otherwise be thrown upon him. As far as I know both the English Act and the Bombay Act do not burden the Controller."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, this also cuts at the principle of the Bill and it will bring in all sorts of questions between the tenant and the landlord, and it will also burden the Controller to find out what those charges are. For these reasons I am unable to accept the amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 6.

60. The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq was to have moved that after the words "previous terms" in line 4 of clause 6 (1) the words "but not otherwise" be inserted.

61. The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq was to have moved that clause 6 (2) be omitted.

The Hon'ble Member being absent, motions Nos. 60 and 61 were deemed to have been withdrawn.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

62. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that at the end of clause 6 (2) the following be added, viz:—

"Provided that the payment by the tenant of rates, taxes or other impositions payable by the occupier of any premises under the provisions of the Calcutta Municipal Act or any other law for the time being in force, shall not, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to be an alteration of the terms of the tenancy so as to constitute an increase of rent".

Clause 7.

63. The Hon'ble A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq was to have moved that for clause 7, the following be substituted, viz :—

"7 (1) It shall be open to the landlord or the tenant to apply to the Controller to revise the municipal valuation, municipal rates and taxes of premises owned or occupied by him as the case may be, on the basis of the standard rent.

(2) The Controller shall give due notice to the landlord if the application is by the tenant, or to the tenant if the application is by the landlord, and in either case to the Municipality or Municipal Corporation concerned, of his intention to hear all parties concerned on a date to be specified by him.

(3) The Controller shall then hear all parties and, making such inquiries and investigations as may be necessary, settle the valuation, the rates and taxes in respect of the premises.

(4) The Controller shall have power to reduce or increase the municipal rates or taxes with respect to any premises, and nothwithstanding anything contained in the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, or the Bengal Municipal Act. 1884, such reduction or increase shall be binding on the Corporation or Municipality concerned as well as on the landlord and tenant, and any amount in excess of the rates and taxes fixed by the Controller shall be irrecoverable".

The Hon'ble Member being absent, the motion was deemed to have been withdrawn.

64. The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray moved that for clause 7 the following be substituted, viz.—

"Where the landlord pays any municipal rates or taxes in respect of any premises he may by a notice in writing to the tenant increase the standard rent proportionately to the increase in the amount for the time being payable by the landlord in respect of such rates or taxes over the amount paid during the period of assessment which included the first day of April, 1919".

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Mr. Gurner.

He said :—

"My Lord, it appears that if the Municipality raises the tax of any holding in respect of which standard rent has been fixed and in respect of which the assessment of valuation of the Municipality is more than that of the standard rent, then the landlord will be able to recover only the increased amount of the rates and taxes from the tenant and not the amount proportionate to the increased valuation of the holding. I think when public bodies such as the Calcutta Corporation raise the annual value of a holding, it is only meet and proper that the landlord should get the benefit not only of the increased taxes but also the benefit of the rent which he may get otherwise. This is, my Lord, all I have to say."

The Hon'ble Mr. Gurner said :—

"My Lord, in rising to oppose this amendment on behalf of Government I would in the first place invite the close attention of this Council to the actual effect of clause 7 as it stands in the Bill.

This clause is taken from the Bombay Act and provides in brief that when the landlord pays municipal rates he may apply to the Controller for payment by the tenant any increase in the rates over the amount paid on the 1st April, 1919. Now the effect of this clause taken from Bombay is modified somewhat to the disadvantage of the tenant in its application to Calcutta. In Bombay so far as I can ascertain the rates are not apportioned by law between the owner and the occupier. In Calcutta on the other hand the consolidated rate is by law payable half by the owner and half by the occupier. Consequently except in the rare cases where the occupier agrees to pay the owner's rates the landlord pays municipal rates in respect of all his rented premises. He may or may not pay the occupier's share of the rates. He is bound by a statutory liability which he seldom seeks to avoid to pay the owner's share, that is, approximately 10 per cent. of the annual value of the premises. Therefore clause 7 as it stands will apply practically to all rented houses in Calcutta, and it will have the direct result of shifting on to the tenant, subject to the decision of the Controller, the statutory liability of the landlord under the Municipal Act for increase in the owner's share of the rates which is bound to occur.

I need hardly explain why such an increase should occur. For the simple reason that assessment is fixed for periods of six years, and as Wards come up for revision at that period the rent has almost invariably outgrown the rates. The old assessment is that fixed six years before on the basis of the fair rent at that time and it will be realised at once that this, after a lapse of six years, will be considerably below the rent now paid for the premises, fair rent, standard rent or whatever it may be. Therefore in the great majority of cases of the revaluation of rented premises the assessment will have to be increased simply to bring that up to the level of the fair rent.

Now but for clause 7 that increase would have been equally shared and very reasonably so by landlord and tenant in accordance with their statutory liability under the Municipal Act.

That, Your Excellency, I should have thought was a sufficiently generous concession by Government to the landlord.

He may escape liability for the rise of his rates over those of 1919 even though his rents in that year had risen above the valuation on which his rates are based and will rise by another 10 per cent.

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur.

And what more is asked for ? In the first place that this transfer of liability should be outside the sphere of the Controller that the principle of payment of all increases of rates by the tenant should be not subject to the discretion of that officer but become an iron law. The landlord issues his notice and, without consideration of any special circumstances, without appeal, the tenant pays. Aware as we all are of the circumstances which have brought this Bill into being, there are few, I think, who would consider it reasonable to place the operation of this clause out of the hands of the Controller.

But there is much more behind the amendment than that for its effect will be to make the tenant liable not for the actual increase of rate payable by the owner, but for an increase in his rent proportionate to that. I must trouble Your Excellency with figures to make clear the result of this. Suppose for instance that in April 1919 the rent paid was Rs. 1,800 per annum and the rent fixed five or six years before were Rs. 1,500, a very moderate supposition, the total rates payable would then be Rs. 300 per annum, the landlord's share being Rs. 150. When the time comes in 1920 for reassessment the municipal valuation is naturally raised to the level of the rent, Rs. 1,800, the rate payable becomes Rs. 360 and the landlord's share Rs. 180. That is, the owner's share of the rate has increased on the basis of his own rent by Rs. 30 on Rs. 150 or by one-fifth. Is the landlord then to be allowed to increse his rent not by the actual Rs. 30 but proportionately, that is, by a fifth on Rs. 1,800, or by Rs. 360 ? Is he to raise his rent from Rs. 1,800 to Rs. 2,160 because his rates have gone up from Rs. 150 to Rs. 180 ? The proposal is so preposterously inequitable that I should not be surprised if now that the curtain is lifted from the cradle my hon'ble friend disowned the monstrous prodigy and yet that is the plain purport of his substituting the words "proportionate increase" for the word actual increase in his amendment.

I have, I trust, made it clear that the amendment now under consideration, as drafted, cannot possibly stand and I would oppose in any form the extension of the already ample concession to the owner made in clause 7 of the Bill."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I support the amendment of the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray. I am referring to houses in the northern part of the town where revised assessments are taking place at the present moment and a memorial has been sent up to your Excellency's Government complaining against the revised assessment by the Calcutta Corporation. I am not here to join in the agitation, but what I do say is this : It is only reasonable that the Calcutta Municipality should increase the rateable value of that part of the town because in that part of the town there have been structural improvements partly effected by the Improvement Trust and partly effected by the Calcutta Corporation, and where the owner of a house has got a new road passing two sides of his house, the value of the property naturally increases and therefore the Municipality have a just cause for assessing the rental value of the property to a higher figure. That is what the Calcutta Corporation are doing in the northern part of the town and that has given occasion for public meetings and memorials against this work of the Corporation. What my Hon'ble friend Babu Surendra Nath Roy says is this—'If you do not stop the Municipality from increasing the rental value of these properties for the purpose of fixing the rent you must give the benefit of the rental value by the Corporation to the landlord against the tenant.' The legislature not only controls the relations between the landlord and the tenant but it has the power to control the operation of the Calcutta Corporation and it can put in a clause either directing the municipality not to increase the rental value or giving the benefit of the rental value to the landlord against the tenant. I do not see any unfairneses in this. The fact that the Calcutta Corporation have increased the rental value is certainly primâ facie evidence that the rent ought to be more than what it was in 1918. These proceedings are taking place in 1920 in the northern part of the town, and therefore there is no reason why the Controller should be bound hand and foot not to take cognizance of these rental values?"

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Mr. Gurner; Rai Debender Chander Ghose Bahadur; Babu Surendra Nath Ray; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

The Hon'ble Mr. Gurner said:—

"May I point out that the amendment does not leave any discretion to the Controller in the matter?"

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur continuing said:—

"I am referring to the words of section 7 of the Bill. Well, for the increase of the rental value by the Assessment Department of the Calcutta Corporation the Hon'ble Mr. Gurner, who is the Chairman, is alone responsible and not the Commissioners.

Therefore, I think, it is very fair for the Hon'ble Member-in-charge of the Bill to see that this inconsistency does not take place, and, I think, he should be the last person to oppose an amendment of the kind proposed by my hon'ble friend Babu Surendra Nath Roy. This is all I have to say."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray said:—

"My Lord, my hon'ble and esteemed friend Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur has practically said all that I have to say in reply. Only one word, my Lord, and it is this: There has been an admission—and a very serious admission—by Government just now that the Municipal valuation is fixed according to fair rent. The landlords have all been crying to have fair rent fixed and that is all they want. They don't want preposterous or exhorbitant rent. All they want is fair rent and so let them have fair rent according to the municipal valuation."

The motion was then put and lost.

65. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that in line 2 of clause 7 the word "or" be omitted, and after the word "taxes" in the same line the following be inserted, viz:—

"cesses, exemption or betterment fees or other impositions by Government or any local authority".

He said:—

"My Lord, I am afraid the amendment which was put rather in a hurry does not clearly express what my intention is. My intention is that besides municipal rates and taxes there are other impositions, such as the education cess, charge for the excess consumption of water and exemption or betterment fees, and I think something ought to be provided with regard to this vexed question. Take the case of a house the standard rent of which is fixed at Rs. 50, but afterwards the owner pays an exemption fee of Rs. 500 in respect of that house on account of certain improvements carried out in that locality. So far as this section is concerned, I do not know whether the landlord will be able to make any arrangement with the tenant for the payment of these extra charges. I think it will be admitted that if these extra charges are to be borne by the owner of the house, it will be very hard upon him because it will be practically reducing the standard rent to a considerable extent. The wording may not be quite clear, but this is my intention and these are the points which I desire to bring to the notice of Government. If Government see the justice of my suggestion, they may be pleased to accept the principle of my amendment and modify it in any way they may think fit."

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Sir Henry Wheeler; The President.

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, I am only willing to accept this much, that is, 'Where the landlord pays any municipal rates, taxes or cesses'. I am not willing to accept the other things exemption or betterment fees or other impositions by Government or any local authority. If he is willing to accept that, on behalf of Government, I am prepared to add the word 'cesses'."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said:—

"I have no other alternative than to accept this, but it would be better if the question of other impositions was considered."

The motion was then put in the following form and agreed to:—

"That in line 2 of clause 7 the word 'or' be omitted and after the word 'taxes' in the same line the following be inserted, viz.—

'or cesses'."

66. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that the words "apply to the Controller to" in lines 2 and 3 of clause 7 be omitted.

He said:—

"My Lord, it will be seen from clause 7 that in regard to any increase the owner of the property is required to apply to the Controller. I have got the Bombay Act with me and there is no such provision. The increased amount can be charged by the landlord."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said:—

"Is not this practically covered by amendment No. 64?"

The President said:—

"I think this amendment which the Hon'ble Member wishes to move is disposed of by the decision which the Council came to on amendment No. 64. The effect of carrying this amendment will be practically the same as carrying amendment No. 64. The Council has already rejected No. 64 and therefore No. 66 is no longer in order."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

67. Motion No. 65 being carried in a modified form the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that in line 5 of clause 7 the word "or" be omitted and after the word "taxes" in the next line, the following be inserted, viz., "or cesses."

The motion was put and agreed to.

68. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha was to have moved that at the end of clause 7 the words "if the tenant objects to pay the same" be added.

The Hon'ble Member being absent, the motion was deemed to be withdrawn.

69. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the words "one month" in line 4 of clause 8 (1) the words "fifteen days" be substituted.

He said:—

"My Lord, I think 15 days' notice is quite sufficient, otherwise the owner of the property shall have to wait for one month more. I hope this amendment will be accepted by the Hon'ble Member-in-charge of the Bill."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, I cannot accept this. If is far too short a period."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Calcutta Rent Bill.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

70. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that in lines 5, 6 and 7 of clause 8 (1) for the words "of his intention to increase the rent, accompanied by a certificate from the Controller fixing the standard rent" the words "specifying the amount of such increase" be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, here I may say I am following the English Act and the Bombay Act where a notice by the landlord is quite sufficient. The Bombay Act follows the English Act, but the Calcutta Act makes a great departure from them by requiring the landlord to submit a certificate from the Controller to the tenant. If any such certificate is necessary, a certified copy of the previous order of the Controller ought to be sufficient. In the Bombay Act and in the English Act no such certificate is necessary because there the procedure is laid down that where an increase is liable under the provisions of the Act, it is unnecessary to produce a certificate. I think in Calcutta, too, it is unnecessary to increase the burden of the Controller, and also of the landlord and tenant. There are tenants and tenants and landlords and landlords, why put them to unnecessary expense and trouble? I think a simple notice, say in Bengali, stating the amount of advance will be quite sufficient."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, in this case I would welcome a little burden on the Controller, because it will have a healthy check on the landlord, and therefore I am not prepared to accept the amendment, which, on the surface seems innocent, but which is certainly more in favour of the landlord than of the tenant."

The motion was then put and lost.

71. Motion No. 70 not being carried, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the words "of his intention to increase the rent, accompanied by a certificate from the Controller fixing the standard rent", in lines 5, 6 and 7 of clause 8, the following be substituted, viz:—

"which shall be supported by a copy of the Controller's order fixing the standard rent in case of dispute".

He said :—

"My Lord, as my previous amendment has not been accepted, I hope this will be accepted. It amply provides safeguards for the tenants also. In case of a dispute between the landlord and the tenant, the landlord will go to the Controller and get a certificate and show it to the tenant."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, I think our draft is more happily worded, and I do not like the words 'in case of dispute'. I therefore oppose the amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

THE CALCUTTA RENT BILL, 1920.

The discussion of the Amendments on the Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920, was resumed.

Clause 9.

72. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the word " person " in line 1 of clause 9 (1) the word " landlord " be substituted.

He said :—

" It will be seen in clause 9 it is stated 'it shall not be lawful for any person . . . . . to require the payment of any fine . . . . . in addition to the rent ;' and then in a subsequent sub-clause it is stated 'that the sum will be recoverable by the tenant by whom it was made from the landlord. In one place it is 'person,' in another place it is 'landlord.' The 'person' may mean broker or middleman or anybody, and in order to make it uniform I suggest this amendment."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" My Lord, the reason that we have got 'person' quoted here is that we have also got to provide for the landlord's agent who may be receiving the premiums and therefore it is quite clear that 'any person' is the proper wording and not 'any landlord.' The landlord may not in every case collect his own rent ; he may have an agent."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

" But, my Lord, it may be some other person besides the agent, and if the agent takes the premium the landlord will be responsible, so my amendment is quite harmless."

The motion was then put and lost.

73. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the word " fifteenth " in line 3 of the proviso to clause 9 (2) the word " thirty-first " be substituted.

He said :—

" My Lord, the 31st of March is the end of the official year, and instead of the middle of the month, I think it would be more convenient to include the last day of the month, and I think that was also the original idea."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" My Lord, some people's memory, when it suits them, becomes very short. I think the Rai Bahadur forgets that in the original Bill it was from the date of the commencement of the Act. When I agreed to the 10 per cent. increase I said that we must rope in a certain number of landlords before the commencement of the Act, and therefore I said the proper date should have been the 8th of March, the date that the Bill was published, but I also said that I was quite willing to put it at the 15th of March, the date of the introduction of the Bill in Council, and I think the Rai Bahadur agreed to my suggestion ; there is no question of the middle of the month or the end of the official year, here therefore I cannot possibly accept this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan ; Mr. P. C. Mitter ; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

74. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that at the end of the clause 9 (2), proviso, the following be added, viz:—

" nor shall affect or apply to any payments made by way of brokerage, costs, lawyers' fees or other incidental and necessary expenses "

He said :—

" My Lord, when the lease of a house is taken, brokerage and lawyers fees and other expenses are incurred. I do not think it is intended that when the premium is refunded, that all these costs which are incidental to a lease should be refunded ; these are expenses which are legitimately incurred and paid. I hope this suggestion will be considered."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" My Lord, I think the Rai Bahadur is as well aware as anybody else that in cases of salami sometimes brokerage is included, and therefore we cannot possibly leave the word 'brokerage' in the way he desires. As regards costs and lawyers' fees, I take it that ordinarily these would not be affected, but as regards other 'incidental and necessary expenses' it may mean anything ; therefore it is not possible for me to accept this."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

" My Lord, I do not also think that this amendment is necessary, but my reasons are quite different from those of the Hon'ble Member in charge. In view of clause 9 (1) the sum which that clause prohibits from being realised will not include lawyers' charges, brokerage or 'other incidential and necessary charges', this amendment is unnecessary."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

" Then, I wish to withdraw my amendment, my Lord."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

75. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that at the end of clause 9 (2), proviso, the following be added, viz:—

" Provided further that a premium or any other like sum may be required to be paid in respect of any premises not let for residential, educational, charitable or public purposes ".

He said :—

" My Lord, I do not want to say much on the subject. It is well known that the payment of salami or premium is an old and established custom in this country, and this matter has not been discussed here in this Council. But I think it is practically the unanimous opinion of the three members who have submitted notes of dissent to the Select Committee's report that this practice should be allowed to continue."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" My Lord, the Rai Bahadur discussed this question ad nauseum in the Select Committee. Of course it is not for a member of Government to lose his temper or use intemperate language, but I cannot help saying that this is a most wicked amendment. It will at once knock the bottom out of the clause regarding salami. I have never heard of salami being paid for residential houses, or for houses taken for charitable purposes. but it is only taken in the case of shops, and the very class of houses for which salami is paid, and which we want to protect we have put in a restriction of salamis for other kinds of houses. For this reason I am unable to accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"I only beg to point out this : I do not know whether my amendment seemed clear or not to the Hon'ble Member. My amendment excludes residential, educational or charitable buildings, and does not imply that these should be included so far as salami was concerned."

The motion was then put and lost.

76. Motion No. 75 not being carried, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that at the end of clause 9 (2), proviso, the following be added, viz:—

> "Provided further that this section shall not apply to premises other than those occupied for residential, educational, charitable or public purposes and in respect of which a premium or a like sum is usually paid, but the amount of the premium or any other like sum shall not exceed by more than ten per cent. the amount previously paid as premium or the like, but this does not exclude any voluntary payment of a premium or any other like sum".

He said :—

"My Lord, I may mention that I believe the amendment is clear ; it is not intended that salami should be imposed on residental, educational, or charitable institutions. It is merely in respect of business premises where salami has been paid for years past; and is subject to a maximum payment of ten per cent. which is the maximum which is also allowed in respect of rent. Some such provision is suggested here with a view to enable the system which is now in vogue to continue, and against which there is no complaint whatever."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said :—

"My Lord, I would like to thank the mover of this amendment for the revelations which he has vouchsafed."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"Some people touch their noses like this, and some like that and that is what this amendment is ment to do. I do not think that I mentioned anything in my speech on the previous amendment that the Rai Bahadur was going to apply his amendment to residential premises. I said that the Rai Bahadur's intention was that salami should be levied for shops, and really this provision has been put in to protect shops, and for that reason I am unable to accept this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

Clause 9 A.

77. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that after the word "rent" in line 3 of clause 9A the following be inserted, viz. :—

> "in respect of premises in which special alterations, accommodations, decorations, fittings, and repairs are made at the tenant's requisition or ".

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. P. C. Mitter; The President.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

78. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur was to have moved that after the words " which are " in line 4 of clause 9A the following be inserted, viz:—

" let out to tenants at will or tenants on very short terms or are "

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

" Amendments Nos. 79, 80 and 81 relate to the same subject. My amendment is No. 81, and is in some sense of a wider scope. I would ask Your Excellency's leave to move this amendment first."

The President said :—

" Yes, I think that is so. I think the Hon'ble Member's amendment has a wider scope, and should therefore be moved first."

81. The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter moved that in clause 9A for the words " twenty years for the purposes of development either by building or re-building, if the Controller is satisfied that such premises are bonâ fide required for such purposes," in lines 5 to 8 the words " nine years " be substituted.

He said :—

" My Lord, I consider the proviso to be all-important. Having accepted the principles of the Bill, and the previous clauses having been passed, we must keep in view the importance of allowing nothing, but the standard rent during the continuance of the Act, and that the proviso safeguards. With regard to the question of salami, that is a question which affects freedom of contractual rights between parties, but when the question of freedom of contractual rights affects the principles of the Act, then the freedom of contract must give way to the principles of the Act, but if we have 9 years instead of 20 years, then we have three times the period the Act will remain in force, and when we safeguard the payment,—nothing should be paid, but the standard rent—during the actual period the Act will remain in force, I do not see how the principle will be affected. On the other hand, it is necessary to provide in such a way that the development of Calcutta will not be retarded. Suppose there is a landlord who has not got money to develop his property, and suppose an intending tenant has the money for that purpose. If the question merely be to add a storey to a two-storied house, the tenant may be quite willing to take a lease for 9 or 10 years and add another storey. The object of the Act will be safeguarded, and at the same time, the provision will be better from the point of view of the tenant and the landlord. On the other hand, if the clause stands as it has been drafted, then salami will be acceptable only for the purposes of building or rebuilding and so on. In that case the landlord and the tenant will have in every case to go before the Controller, and where it is only a question of pulling down a house clause 9A will come into operation, and my submission is, it is not necessary to have the latter portion of the first part of clause 9A so long as we have the proviso, we should not be interfered with."

The President said :—

" I may point out to the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur that the amendment which stands in his name (No. 82) is practically covered by this amendment, so that the discussion on the two will take place now."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. Phelps; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; The President.

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said :—

"My Lord, I must oppose this amendment. There are other ways of treating encumbered properties than merely by the adoption of the course of demanding salami. I myself have had a scheme, and there are other schemes available which will help owners of encumbered estates in a much better way than this."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"I would just like to mention that the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha has also got an amendment on this subject. I do not know whether he proposes to speak on it ; in that case I might be able to speak at the end in reply to all these amendments."

The President said :—

"The amendment standing in the name of the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha is very much more restricted in its scope than the amendment now before the Council. The amendments of the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter and the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, now under discussion, raise a much wider issue and I think we should take them separately."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, of course the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter in his reply will accuse me of having broken a compact regarding the 10 per cent. increase, but I do not think I have done that ; but I think he is distinctly breaking the compact which he entered into in the Select Committee over this. The idea of allowing any salami at all only came into my head when we considered that it would not be illogical to have a provision for the development of properties which ought to be developed. I have not known of any instances of a man taking a lease for nine years, and developing or rebuilding the property and giving it back to the landlord. The landlord generally gives these long leases for two reasons. First of all, to be saved from the bother of having to pull down his premises and of rebuilding, and, secondly, because it also saves him from the constant notices that he may receive from the Corporation or the Trust or other public bodies. The object underlying this new clause is this, that we do not want to be accused that in our desire to stop the levy of any kind of premium by the landlord, even that in long leases, even when a landlord is prepared to give long leases to tenants to develop the property, we were debarring him from doing so under the provisions of this Act. I may point out that the proviso here has only been put in so that we may keep to the principle of a standard rent, otherwise, really and truly in practice, this proviso would be more an eyewash than anything else because in a lease for 20 years or upwards, surely after three years, the question of standard rent would not arise. Moreover, another thing that remains to be seen is when the building or rebuilding is allowed, if a landlord choose to take the matter to court, whether or not this would really come under clause 24. For these reasons, and also for the reason that Government cannot be a party to allowing any salami, excepting in the case of a very long lease, I am sorry I have to oppose this motion, and I am surprised that the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter, who accepted it in the Select Committee, should now bring forward the question of nine years.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. P. C. Mitter.

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"My Lord, as regards the breach of compact mentioned by the Hon'ble Member in charge, I am afraid my memory does not agree with his. The only compact which was made was this : the Hon'ble Member said that if any one of us put an amendment for an increase of 10 per cent. he would withdraw that 10 per cent. clause but he in his turn agreed to the 1st of April 1919 as the date for fixing the standard rent. In contravention of that compact the Hon'ble Member in charge has accepted the motion of Mr. Phelps. As regards this particular clause, so far as my memory serves me, there was absolutely no compact. I drew attention to this clause in my note of dissent. And I may remind the Hon'ble Member that when the point was discussed in the Select Committee I said seven years was quite enough. Mr. Payne said that for development purposes you do not ordinarily get a lease for less than 20 years. The position I took up in the Select Committee was that we must safeguard the object of the Act so far as the payment of rent for 3 years is concerned, but save and except that I strongly opposed any modification of contract. But that is interference with freedom of a different position. After all the compact has nothing to do with the particular matter we are discussing at the present moment. The question is whether I have given reasons in support of my amendment. Yesterday, during the course of discussion, I pointed out that if a dishonest landlord wanted to take salami he could do so in a round-about way and the bill as drafted could not touch him. I warned you not to be led away by mere apprehensions and not let honest landlords suffer. My Lord, I agree with my hon'ble freind opposite that landlords do not ordinarily give long leases for development purposes for less than 20 years and that is the reason why I wish to delete the words 'development purposes.' In my limited experience, I have seen instances—a large number of instances—where a landlord is in need of money and where his house would fetch Rs. 500 a month he would lease it out for Rs. 300 and charge Rs. 5,000 or so in cash. In such a case the premium is not objectionable. There the premium is only realizing a portion of the rent in advance. That principle has been accepted in clause 15. Then why interfere with freedom of contract when the necessity of the situation does not demand it ?"

The Ayes being 11 and the Noes 23, the motion was lost.

79. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha was to have moved that for the word " twenty " in line 5 of clause 9A, the word " ten " be substituted.

He said :—

" My Lord, I do not wish to press my amendment."

The motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

80. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur was to have moved that for the word " twenty " in line 5 of clause 9A, the word " ten " be substituted.

The President said :—

" Amendment No. 80 is covered by the previous decision."

The motion was then deemed to have been withdrawn.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

82. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur was to have moved that the words " either by building or rebuilding, if the Controller is satisfied that such premises are bonâ fide required for such purposes " in lines 6 to 8 of clause 9A be omitted.

83. Motion No. 82 not being carried, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the word " rebuilding " in line 6 of clause 9A the words " or otherwise " be inserted.

He said :—

" My Lord, there are two ways of devoloping a property. For instance, there is a big area, and it may be necessary to open out roads there or to fill up a tank. I think, therefore, that the word 'building' or 'rebuilding' is simply restricting one kind of development, I have therefore suggested the insertion of the words 'or otherwise' after the word 'rebuilding.'"

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, this is another way of getting at the amendment which the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur withdrew, namely, amendment No. 77, as the words 'or otherwise' cover 'all' as well. Moreover, the object of this new clause 9A is simply to allow premia in cases where the landlords are willing to allow the tenants long leases for the purpose of development of their property and nothing else. It is only with that object that the Government themselves put in this new clause and we cannot accept this addition. I, therefore, oppose it."

The motion was then put and lost.

84. Motions Nos. 82 and 83 not being carried, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that the words "if the Controller is satisfied that such premises are bonâ fide required for such purposes" in lines 6 to 8 of clause 9A be omitted.

He said :—

"My Lord, we have accepted the provision of the 20 years' lease for the purpose of development either by building or rebuilding. Is it necessary, therefore, having regard to the long term of the lease in case all such premises for the party again to incur the expense of going to the Controller and obtaining his permission ?"

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, I am not of course as sanguine as my friend Mr. P. C. Mitter about the honesty of landlords, but I think it is a very necessary provision and I must insist on the maintenance of this provision. I, therefore, oppose the amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 10.

85. The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter moved that in line 5 of clause 10 (1) for the words "be made so long as" the following words be substituted, viz:—

> "be executed till after the expiry of three months from the date of such decree or order, provided".

He said :—

"My Lord, my object in moving this amendment is that the tenant should have protection for a period of 3 months after a decree in ejectment is passed and not for the full period during which the Act remains in force. My reasons, my Lord, are these. First of all when a landlord wants to eject a tenant he will have to serve a month's notice on the tenant according to the prevailing custom in Calcutta ; then he is to institute a suit in court, and ordinarily it takes a fairly long time in Small Cause Court cases to get an ejectment decree. Now in the clause as it stands the tenant who is in the happy position of being in occupation of a particular premises will remain in possession of such premises for the remaining portion of 3 years, that is, the period during which the Act is in force. But what about the less happy person who is not in occupation of a house ? Supposing we have 100 tenants but 50 houses, the 50 tenants who are in occupation of those 50 houses will have the good fortune of remaining in possession of those houses and the other 50 tenants, who are not so fortunate, will have to go without any houses. It may be said that if we allow this provision the landlord will indirectly get some advantage, will perhaps take a premium or charge a higher rent, but are there not provisions in the Act which will bring to book the landlord, if such a case is brought to light? The landlord may be fined Rs. 500 and there are various other provisions in the Act which will stand in the way of the landlord from getting this indirect advantage. On the other hand, the standard rent is fixed and the landlord cannot charge anything more than the standard rent, but the tenant, who is in actual occupation of a house, may take a bonus of Rs. 500 from a sub-tenant, if he cares to sublet the house, while himself paying Rs. 200 to the landlord, and there is nothing in the Act to prevent him from doing so. Is it the real object of the Act? I do not for a moment say that all landlords are honest and that is why I wanted to exclude that class of landlords who are responsible for the present state of affairs. That is why I moved an amendment yesterday which, if accepted, would not have extended the benefit of the Act to profiteering middlemen, but the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill did not accept my amendment. However, it does not lie in the mouth of my hon'ble friend to say that I am very optimistic; I am not at all optimistic. A large number of persons have become Calcutta landlords who will try their level best to avoid the provisions of this Act. If there are among black sheep, landlords there are black sheep amongst tenants also. I foresee that a large number of houses will be taken up by tenants of this class, who will take short leases because they know they cannot be turned out after that period, and then sublet at a profit and thus the bonâ fide tenants will suffer. On the other hand, if my amendment be accepted, then the landlord will have a choice of his tenant, but he will not be able to add a penny to the standard rent nor will he be able to get a bonus in addition, whereas the subletting tenant or sub-tenant will get all these advantages. Now, my Lord, there is one word more and I have done.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. O'Malley.

Is freedom of contract to be always treated as 'a scrap of paper' even when the necessities of the suitation do not demand it? Is it wise for the Government to show this example of treating freedom of contract as 'a scrap of paper'?"

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, the clause as it stands bars the courts from making an order or decree for the recovery of possession by the landlord so long as the tenant pays standard rent and performs the conditions of the tenancy except in the cases mentioned in the proviso. The whole object of this clause is to give security of tenure to the tenant. The Hon'ble Mr. Mitter's amendment would allow the court to pass orders for recovery of possession, even if the proper rent is paid, but would merely postpone the execution of the order—in other words, the eviction or ejectment of the tenant—for three months. He is less liberal than the Rents Committee which proposed that an authority should be created which should have power to grant an extension to one year to tenants who admit that they are due to leave their premises. Mr. Mitter would give nine months less than the Rents Committee and he is even more illiberal than some of the courts are at present, for there are cases in which the courts in giving order for recovery of possession have postponed ejectment for six months and ordered that during those six months the tenant should continue to pay at the old terms and not the largely enhanced rent demanded by the landlord. I have before me the report of a case in the Small Cause Court, which appeared in the papers about two months ago, in which a tenant had been renting a house in Collin Street belonging to a particular landlord for about eight years and had, during that period spent about Rs. 2,000 in making improvements and alterations in the premises.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. Phelps; Mr. P. C. Mitter.

Now the landlord wanted him to vacate the house, on a month's notice. The tenant, through his lawyer offered to enhance the rent from Rs. 80 to Rs. 150 per month. This, however, the landlord refused to accept, saying he could realise far more than Rs. 150 for the premises. The learned Judge regretted his inability to accept the terms offered by the tenant, but gave him six months' time in which to vacate the premises, the rent to be at the old rate of Rs. 80 a month.

To allow the courts to pass orders for eviction and to suspend their execution for only three months would mean putting the tenants again at the mercy of such landlords as are unscrupulous and rapacious. In practice it would mean that the landlord could force the tenant to agree to the terms he chose to impose. The tenant would be in constant fear of being sued in the court, and this would serve as a lever to get enhanced rent. The whole object of this clause is to give the tenant security of tenure, to allow him to remain in possession so long as he pays rent and does not contravene the terms of his tenancy, and this amendment would actually defeat that object.

Before I sit down I should like to say a few words as regards a misconception of the scope of this Act on the part of Mr. Mitter. If I did not misunderstand him, he is under the impression that the tenant may take anything that he likes from a sub-tenant. I may, however, refer him to the definition of the word 'landlord' as given in the Act. The word landlord includes a tenant who sublets any premises and every person from time to time deriving title under a landlord So a tenant is himself a landlord in relation to his sub-tenant, and the sub-tenants to whom the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter referred are already covered by the definition. I am, therefore, unable to accept the amendment on behalf of Government."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said :—

"My Lord, the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley has given a very mild specimen of what is going on. I can give him another specimen. This is a case in which a man had rented a house for 18 years and had been in occupation for 15 years. During that time he had at his own expense put in crazy china floors, electrified the house and added three rooms and three bathrooms. The rent went up from Rs. 180 to Rs. 300 a month. That man had paid in rent no less than Rs. 44,000 besides the improvements he had effected out of his own pocket and then he got notices of ejectment unless he paid Rs. 600 a month."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"My Lord, my friend the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley has said that I am less liberal than the Rents Committee, but I beg to submit that a moment's consideration will show that it is not so. The Rents Committee was not in favour of a standard rent. Now that the tenants have got the standard rent—it is a great concession—it is hardly logical to accept what is in favour of tenants and rejected disregard that part of the Rents Committee's recommendation which was not in favour of a large proportion of the tenants. If the position of Government was that the Rents Committee's recommendations were correct then I would have welcomed those recommendations, but as the Government think that their recommendations are not correct, then it stands to reason that when we are giving the privilege of standard rent to the tenants we shuld not quote their recommendations. In fact my recommendations are not less liberal in favour of the tenants than those of the Rents Committee.

Now as regards the instance of a case in the Small Cause Court which Mr. O'Malley has quoted, a moment's consideration will show that the motives which obtained at that time disappear as soon as the Rent Bill is passed into law. There the sole motive was to get the rent enhanced, but, after the Rent Act is passed, the landlord is precluded from getting anything larger than the standard rent. Therefore that is an instance which is hardly in point, and the same remark applies to the observation of Mr. Phelps. I have often said and again I repeat that there are many landlords who are very rapacious and also that there are many tenants who are dishonest, but let not the position of honest tenants be made more difficult. If my amendment is accepted the position of honest tenants will be made easier because the landlords, who will not be able to add a penny more to the standard rent, will not in a hurry change his tenant unless there is good reason for it. My freind, Mr. O'Malley, has given reply to some of the observations I made in my opening speech. For example, what about the other 50 tenants who have no houses? If we do not give a chance to those 50 tenants, where are they to go? The result of maintaining this clause will be that they will have to try either only new houses after such houses are built, and there will be an unequal competition for such houses. With every respect to my hon'ble freind I do not see eye to eye with him in his reading of the definition of the landlord and tenant and the definition of standard rent. I will give this instance to my friend and he will probably oblige me with a reply at a later stage of the debate. Suppose A is the owner of a house of which the rent is Rs. 400, B is the tenant who has sub-let it to C for Rs. 500. As between A and B the landlord is A, the tenant is B and the standard rent is Rs. 400. But as between B and sub-tenant C, B is the landlord and C is the tenant and the standard rent is Rs. 500. Now as regards C there is no standard rent when he brings in D. His position is just the same as the position of the owner of a house who has never let out the house. Now if C has ever let out the house there is a standard rent, but if C has never let out the house he was free to let out the house at any rent he chooses, because in his case there is no standard rent. If at a subsequent stage of the proceedings my amendment which says that do not allow the landlords more than 6½ per cent. on their outlay then we will have solved the problem. I tried to bring those facts to the notice of the Select Committee, but I am sorry that the attitude of Government was that any concession, however reasonable that may be would be a concession granted to the rapacious landlords ignoring the fact that there are both honest landlords and dishonest landlords and honest tenants and dishonest tenants. I think there is time yet for remedying the defects, and I hope Government will see its wisdom to accept it, because if my amendment is accepted there need not be so much beating about the bush. I have tried to make the Act a fair and just one both for landlords and tenants, and I hope Government will accept it in the interest of the tenants who will go otherwise roofless."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. O'Malley.

The motion was then put and lost.

86. Motion No. 85 not being carried, the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter moved that in line 5 of clause 10 (1) for the words " be made so long as " the following words be substituted, viz :—

" be executed till after the expiry of six months from the date of such decree or order, provided ".

He said :—

" I move my amendment without a speech, the only difference between this amendment and the previous one being that here I have put in 'six months' in place of 'three months'."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

" My Lord, I oppose the amendment on behalf of Government on the question of principle and not of period. The object of Government is to give security of tenure to the tenant and that object would be defeated by the amendment."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

The motion was then put and lost.

87. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that after the word " tenancy " in line 7 of clause 10 (1) the words " consistent with this Act or with any other law in force " be inserted.

He said :—

" My Lord, my amendment simply aims at the addition of a limiting clause to the conditions of tenancy. Whatever conditions there may be in the agreement, they must be consistent with the Act and that is the only argument I have to adduce in support of my motion."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

" My Lord, I would deprecate the addition of the words proposed as being unnecessary. The clause as it stands is clear : it provides that the tenant must pay rent to the extent allowable by this Act and perform the conditions of his tenancy. It would be superfluous to add that those conditions must not contravene the law ; in other words that they must not be illegal. If they are illegal they are null and void. I, therefore, oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

" My Lord, I beg leave to withdraw the amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

88. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the word " tenancy " in line 7 of clause 10 (1) the following be inserted, viz. :—

" and does not sublet the premises or any part thereof to another person without the consent in writing of the person from whom he derives his title ".

He said :—

" My Lord, I think this amendment to be necessary. There is a large number of people who would like to have accommodation and if the tenant, without the consent of the landlord, makes money by letting out the premises to another person, I don't think it would be right. I think it would be in the interest of the bonâ fide tenant to make some arrangement with the landlord. And, therefore, I think that this proviso should be added."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" My Lord, in the first place I do not think the addition of these words would be relevant with this clause, for here it is not a question as to whether the landlord should have a right over his tenant if he sublets the premises. It is a question of recovery of possession and really I am not able to follow why the landlord should be allowed to recover possession simply because the tenant has sublet the premises. Surely the tenant will not be able to sublet unless there is such a condition in the lease, and therefore it seems to me, in the first place, that the amendment is irrelevant, and, secondly, if this question had come in under the question of standard rent, we would have been able to follow it. But here it seems to be not only unnecessary but also, I really do not follow, why a tenant should not be allowed to sublet. Of course tenants would not sublet in any case, unless there was a distinct permission to do so, in his lease. Therefore I oppose the amendment."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, so far as the English quarter of this town is concerned it is mentioned in the lease that the tenant would not sublet without the consent of the landlord, and that in case of a breach of this condition there would be a forfeiture of the tenancy. In this Act too, if the tenant sublets his house without the consent of the landlord, then the landlord should be allowed a re-entry."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I quite understand the situation. But what will happen in a case where there is no written agreement between the landlord and the tenant but only a verbal one? In such a case, I do not know if the tenant sublets his house, the owner of the house will have the right to take possession of the house. That is the difficulty and if that difficulty is met, I do not want to press it. But I am not very clear on this point."

The motion was then put and lost.

89. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the word "annoyance" in line 6 of the proviso to clause 10 (1) the words "to the landlord or" be inserted.

He said :—

"My Lord, it is stated here that if the tenant is guilty of nuisance or annoyance to his neighbours he may be removed. But I know of cases where the tenants have caused nuisance or annoyance to the owner himself. Therefore I think that these words are necessary. This will do harm to nobody, and I think the cause of nuisance or annoyance would be determined by the court. The owner cannot simply charge his tenant of causing nuisance or annoyance and turn him out. In my experience of small places, I know that tenants and landlords—especially those who have let out a portion of their house—do not always pull on well together."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"The acceptance of this amendment, my Lord, might have very grotesque results. We may have a landlord asking his tenant to bring his hookah into the house, and a tenant's refusal to do so might be construed as a cause of annoyance to the landlord."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, the court will decide whether the bringing of a hookah is a nuisance to the landlord or not. Any and everything cannot be held to be a nuisance. I therefore press this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

90. The Hon'ble Mr. Arun Chandra Singha was to have moved that the words "building or" in line 8 of the proviso to clause 10 (1) be omitted.

The Hon'ble Member being absent, the motion was deemed to have been withdrawn.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Raja Hrishikesh Laha; Mr. Phelps; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri.

91. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha moved that after the words "for his own occupation" in line 9 of the proviso to clause 10 (1) the words " or for the occupation of any member of his family or his employé " be inserted.

He said :—

"My Lord, the reason for this amendment is obvious. The landlord may require the house for the residence of his son or any other member of his family or for his employés, and it is only just and proper that these words should be inserted. If this amendment is carried then sub-clause (1a) will also have to be amended."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, I can well understand, of course, that in certain cases the landlord may desire to get possession of his house for his own use or for near relatives, but we have had samples of certain of the amendments moved, and the spirit in which the landlord proposes to work the Act. He might bring in a coolie under the cloak of the word 'employé'. I do not think it is possible to allow such a broad definition, and for that reason I am unable to accept this amendment."

The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha said :—

" My Lord, if such amendments are not carried then I have got nothing more to say. I know for a fact that houses are required for members of a family or for the employés, and when this Act comes into force, the landlord will not be able to find any place for them near his house."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said :—

"My Lord. I must mention at this stage that one of the threats held out to me personally is that if this is passed the landlord who wants to take possession of the house will call any Tom, Dick and Harry, his dependants and put them in possession under this clause."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"I think that this provision exists in the Bombay Act and also in the English Act, and therefore it would not be out of place here."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, I oppose this amendment on the ground that if it is allowed it will nullify the Act in a certain way. The employés of a landlord as the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha has told us may want accommodation, but that accommodation may be found somewhere else on the standard rate of rent. What then is the necessity of dispossessing existing tenants? The existing tenant, if he has to go out, will have to find accommodation for himself. Then why not the employés? After all, the landlord does not lose. If he has to take a separate house for his employés, say at Rs. 100 a month, he will get that rent from his existing tenant. This amendment will work as a perpetual threat to the tenants and owing to that the tenant will be compelled to enter into some sort of compact with the landlord which would nullify the good effect of this Act."

The Ayes being 11 and the Noes 24, the motion was lost.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

92. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that after the the words " for his own occupation" in line 9 of the proviso to clause 10 (1) the words " or for the occupation of any members of his family or his employé" be inserted.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. O'Malley; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

93. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the words " are held " in line 10 of the proviso to clause 10 (1), the following be inserted, viz:—

" or for complying with the requisition of a local authority or a court of law or for bonâ fide sale of the property "

He said :—

" My Lord, it not unoften happens that a landlord is served with a notice from the Improvement Trust asking him to pull down a portion of the house, or from the court over a partition suit. The landlord may also want possession of the house for a bonâ fide sale. In such cases, subject of course to the order of the court, I think the landlord should have the right to take possession of the property."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

" My Lord, the amendment consists of two portions which have been put together rather ingenuously. As for the first portion we considered in Select Committee whether there should be a condition to cover the lawful requisitions of a court of law or local authority, and we came to the conclusion that it was unnecessary. Ordinarily the order of a court of law will be carried out and if the tenant defies it, he does so at his peril, and the court can deal with him. As for municipal requisitions they are covered by the general provision for causes deemed satisfactory by the court, and I submit that this is the most satisfactory way of dealing with such cases. There seems to me also to be a possibility, if this amendment is accepted in its present form, that some injustice might be done. A requisition may require only temporary possession. The amendment, therefore, aims at giving the landlord permanent possession even in cases where possession for a temporary period is required, and it does not allow the tenant's right of re-entry when the work for which the house was required has been completed.

The second part of the amendment is the more serious of the two. Under it, if a landlord wishes to sell rented premises, the tenant would have to vacate. I would ask the Council to consider what effect this would have. It would lead the field clear for those speculators in house property whose operations have done so much to bring about the state of affairs which this Bill seeks to remedy. If there is a bonâ fide desire on the part of the landlord to sell the property, the sale can take place, but why should the tenant be turned out on that account? The Hon'ble Rai Bahadur assured the Council yesterday that everyone in Calcutta should have a roof over his head, but this amendment is not consistent with that assurance. I, therefore, earnestly appeal to the Council to reject this amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

" My Lord, as regards the first part of my amendment I understand from Mr. O'Malley's speech that it would be covered by the last clause of the Bill. But as regards bonâ fide sale of property it not unoften happens that when the property is sold, the owner wants to live in the house. It is the custom here that people do not like to go in for encumbered property and then go to litigation for its possession. It may be said that in the case of a sale the tenant will be ejected if the house is bonâ fide required for the use of the new owner. By the acceptance of my amendment, the owner can go and live in the house immediately after he has purchased it, or he can let it out on standard rent, as he pleases.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri; Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur.

The Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, I do not understand this amendment. What the Hon'ble Member wants is covered by clause 10 of this Act. After having paid for the house he becomes the landlord, and he can get the house for his own use on application to the Controller. Everybody likes to have his house unencumbered. It is for this reason that this Act is being enacted in order to protect the tenant from the profiteers. I know of cases where the purchasers paid a high price and ejected the former tenant in order to bring in tenants who would pay more. It is for this reason that we are enacting this law. I therefore oppose this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

94. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the proviso to clause 10 (1) the following be inserted, viz:—,

> "Provided further that if a tenant occupies any premises for less than three years from the date of the commencement of this Act or leaves the premises during the continuance of this Act without being compelled thereto, he shall be liable for the rent of the said full period of three years or shall indemnify the landlord against all losses and costs, etc., as the Controller may determine".

He said :—

"My Lord, this is truly in the interests of the tenant as well as the owner of the property because as my hon'ble friend Mr. P. C. Mitter has said there are good tenants and bad tenants, good landlords and bad landlords. There are tenants who are quite anxious to be bonâ fide tenants for a long period not less than three years and if a tenant, who in the pretence of occupying the house for three years enters the house, and, after three or four months leaves the house, then the bonâ fide tenant, who would live there for a long time, will be practically shut out. If such a proviso is inserted then that will obviate the difficulty, otherwise the tenants will not be liable for any consequences and he may be quite able to shut out other bonâ fide tenants from the possession of the property. I think, therefore, that in the interest of both tenants and landlords that this proviso should be inserted"

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, the amendment suggested by my hon'ble friend Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur commends itself to my judgment for this reason. If you compel the landlord to retain a tenant for a period of three years, whether the landlord wishes or not it will be just and reasonable that the landlord should be assured of three years' rent. It is well known that in all leases in the town of Calcutta for a term of, say, three years there is a clause to the effect that on the expiry of the term of the lease the leasee will be bound to deliver up possession to the lessor and that all rents for the whole period should be paid up. He is bound to be answerable for the rent of the whole period whether he occupies or not. He has no option to surrender the lease and say, 'I have occupied it for one year and I do not propose to occupy it for any further period: I go away and won't pay you any further rent.' It does not lie in his mouth to say so because he will be liable in a court of law for the rent of the remaining two years. Therefore I think it is fair that if the landlord is bound to retain the tenant for a period of three years the tenant on his part should also be bound to pay the landlord the rent for the full period of three years."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri; Mr. Phelps; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

The Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, in all fairness I am inclined to support this amendment for this reason. As my hon'ble friend the Rai Bahadur has just now said, if you are now taking away the right of the landlord for ejecting a tenant within three years, it is quite fair that he should have the right that the house should not fall vacant within three years. I will just give an example and will try to illustrate my argument. I have a house where I know that the present tenant will not live for more than three months. Knowing all that I cannot turn him out before the expiry of three months and put in another tenant who will live there for more than three months. In the meantime, before the expiry of three months, the tenant who was willing to remain there for three years finds another house and goes there. After the expiry of three months I cannot find another tenant to put him in the house and so my house remains vacant—it may be for one year or less. Therefore I am rather inclined to support this amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said :—

"It is difficult for me—a simple man—always to follow my hon'ble friend the Rai Bahadur in his subterraneous arguments, but it appears to me that this amendment would provide the landlords with leases gratis. I must admire his sense of humour."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said:—

"My Lord, I must candidly confess that the working of the minds of the Calcutta house owner has been a most wonderful revelation. Being a rural landlord myself, I can well appreciate the fear when some barristers go to the mufassal from Calcutta and try to rouse the tenants against the capacity of the landlord and his ideas of abwabs. But, my Lord, the rapacity of Calcutta house owners beats hollow the eagerness of rural landlords to take abwabs. I am indeed very much surprised that Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri, who is generally so intelligent over these matters and is able to grasp the underlying motive of the Rai Bahadur and those who advocate that policy in this Council, should have been taken in. We are not legislating simply for one class of tenants who give leases. We have got to consider the tenants-at-will such as shop-keepers, and are we to be told that every tenant, whether he enters into a contract with the landlord or not, has got to stick there for three years whether he likes it or not? My Lord, the whole proposition is monstrously unjust. You cannot possibly persuade or force a tenant to stay there for three years if he does not wish to. Of course if the lease is for three years and the tenant goes away after two years, that is a different matter, and if he has not got the power under the lease to sublet, that is a different matter. But when you have got tenents-at-will such as shop-keepers, are they to be forced to stay there for three full years because that will please the landlord? I do not see at all the relevancy of this, and I consider the whole thing to be monstrously unjust, and therefore I must oppose it very strongly."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I have fully explained that it is also for the benefit of those tenants who want bonâ fide occupation of the house for a fixed period as provided in the Act, but there are tenants and tenants, and if they once enter the house they shall have the right, whether there is agreement or no agreement, to stay there for three years. But if a tenant occupies a house for his own convenience and vacates it after two or three months and keeps out other tenants who would honestly live there for two or three years, then the latter will be put at a disadvantage and my amendment seeks to prevent this sort of things. If this is monstrously unjust then everything which we propose is monstrously unjust."

The motion was then put and lost.

95. The Hon'ble Mr. M. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri moved that at the end of clause 10 (l) the following be inserted, viz :—

> " But no landlord shall be allowed to take possession for the purposes of his own occupation or for the occupation of any person for whose benefit the premises are held, if the house had never been used for the residence of the landlord ".

He said :—

" My Lord, it will be seen that by clause 10 the landlord can take possession of a house if it is required for his own residence. This will be only a threat over the tenants and this threat will result in the enhancement of rent or some sort of agreement with the tenant. If the landlord had bought the house for the purpose of letting it out, what right he has got now to live in that house? He can get a similar house at a standard rent elsewhere. Why should you drive this man from the hospitable roof which you have once given him? Just consider yourself in the position of the tenant. If you were in that position you would not certainly like to be ousted. Because you have got a house you say, 'I want to live there and you must vacate.' Why did you not live there before? In the mufassal, my Lord, the zamindars in our country cannot take away a single cottah, which is one-hundredth part of an acre, from a tenant in a village if the land has been given to him and he has lived there for some time. The Calcutta tenants are now more helpless than the poor agriculturists. They have made it their home and they cannot find out any other place near about where to earn their living. The Calcutta landlords have found that out and are trying to raise the rent simply because they have got nowhere else to go to. If a landlord is allowed to take possession of his own houses if it is required for his residence, what will happen is this. Every landlord will set up a claim before the Controller and ask him to give possession of his house. Perhaps he will be allowed to go and live in the house, but he will occupy, say, one or two rooms and let out the whole house. Who is going to stop it? It is in one way a sort of ejectment andt his threat will be quite enough for the landlords to get whatever rent they should like."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray said :—

" I am sorry I have to oppose this amendment. It seems to me that there is neither sense nor reason in what my hon'ble friend Mr. Ashraf Ali has said. If the position for which my hon'ble friend contends be correct, then it comes to this : the tenant practically acquires the right of occupancy which the tiller of the soil can acquire after 12 years. If I require my house for my own purposes, why should I not get it? I think reasons and commonsense are in favour of the law as it has been drafted and passed by the Select Committee. I oppose this amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

" My Lord, I beg to oppose this amendment. I would simply say that the introduction of this amendment in the clause of the Bill will operate very harshly both on the landlords and the tenants. If the learned mover reads the clause, he will find that the clause itself is drastic. The clause itself opens with the words 'no order or decree for the recovery of possession of any premises shall be made so long as the tenant pays rent.' Now, therefore, if the landlord desires that he should take possession of any premises for certain purposes. I do not think that any law can prevent him from doing so. It will be too much if the Act is stretched to that length. It must be remembered that he is the owner of the house, and consequently the tenant, and, I may go so far as to submit, or the State has any authority to control his wishes unless he appears to come within other definitions of the Bill. Therefore it appears to me that this amendment is an extraordinary one. It is an amendment which has been made for no purpose whatever, and it is desirable that this amendment should not be pressed."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Maharajadhirja Bahadur of Burdwan ; Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri.

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, it will probably bring a smile to the lips of the Rai Bahadur when I get up and say that I oppose this amendment, and my reasons for doing so are the following. In the first place, Mr. Ashraf Ali wants to limit the power of possession of the landlord to any house in which he has never lived himself, and then he wants to go further and limit that power in respect of the occupation of the house by any person for whose benefit the premises are held. Well, my Lord, I think that there is no justification for giving such an extraordinary privilege to any tenant or tenants, because if we read the proviso to clause 10 we find that the landlord has got to satisfy the court as to why he wants to take the khas possession of his building. Now take the case of a landlord—probably Mr. Ashraf Ali has not got a large family—who has a big family and who wants to give his grown-up sons houses for occupation. Am I to understand from Mr. Ashraf Ali that because the landlord has never occupied one of these houses he will not be allowed to take possession of such a house? As a matter of fact, when I objected to Raja Hrishikesh Laha's amendment, I ought to have mentioned that to a certain extent the Raja Sahib has got protection under the proviso. If he only reads these words—'for whose benefit the premises are held, or where the landlord can show any cause which may be deemed satisfactory by the court,' he will find that they would cover any member of his family or any near relative. However, to turn to Mr. Ashraf Ali, I do not think there is any justification for keeping the landlord out of the possession of his own property provided he can show bonâ fide reasons to the court. Further, he has mentioned a case in which he says that the landlord may get possession of a house and he may live in only one room of that house and let out the remaining portion. Of course, I agree that a wicked landlord may do that, but in that case he would be only ousting a tenant or tenants, but the moment he admits other tenants, as long as this Act continues, they will still derive the benefit of the standard rent and other provisions. Therefore I do not think that any strong case has been made out by Mr. Ashraf Ali to deprive the landlord of getting possession of his house. For that reason I am unable to accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri said :—

"I would first answer my hon'ble friend Babu Surendra Nath Ray. He seems to think that because it is his house he can do anything he likes with it. But allow me to remind him that you cannot do anything with your own house after this Act is passed. You cannot increase the rent and you know what will be the consequence of doing so. When he knows that the Act is going to be passed, I do not know how he could have said that.

The only ground for which I am pressing is this : that there will be plenty of landlords coming forward who will say that they wanted the house for their own occupation and that will go against what we are trying to stop. I have already explained my grounds when I moved my amendment and it is no use repeating them again."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

The President ; A. K. Mr. Fazl-ul-Haq.

The President said :—

" Amendment No. 96 is consequential upon 91."

The following motion was then deemed to have been withdrawn :—

96. If motion No. 91 be carried, the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha to move that in lines 2 and 3 of clause 10 (1a), after the words " for his own occupation " the words " or for the occupation of any member of his family or his employé " be inserted.

97. The Hon'ble Mr. M. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri moved that in line 4 of clause 10 (1a), after the words " are held " the following be inserted, viz :—

" or for the purposes of building and re-building ".

He said :—

" My Lord, as the Bill is drafted at present, it will be seen from clause 10(1*a*) that there is no provision for giving the tenant the right of re-entering a house the khas possession of which is taken by the landlord for the purposes of building or rebuilding. The object of my amendment is to give that right to the tenant. This matter was discussed in Select Committee, and my hon'ble friend Mr. P. C. Mitter's argument against it was that if a house was taken for the purpose of building then you would have to get out a plan from the Municipality and that meant a good long time, say six months. If my amendment is accepted, then the tenant will have a right of re-entry after six months and the landlord will not be able to let it out to somebody else. What I wish to lay before the Council is this. A landlord takes the khas possession of a house for the purpose of building, and then he will go on in a dilatory way and perhaps his plan will never come out from the municipal office in another three months. Since in principle we are all agreed that if a house is required for residential purposes and if it is not used for that purpose, the house must go back to the former tenant, I think it is only fair that in respect of houses the khas possession of which is taken by the landlord for the purposes of building or rebuilding, the former tenants should have a right of re-entry.

With these words, I beg to commend the amendment to the acceptance of the Council."

The Hon'ble Mr. A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq said :—

" My Lord, I support this amendment, and I do so on these grounds, that it seems to me that the inclusion of these words makes the circumstances complete, and in accordance with the proviso, that is to say, the circumstances under which the landlord can recover possession of certain premises. The proviso states these circumstances, and as I understand this clause, it is meant to be a protection on behalf of the tenant against any misuse of this proviso. It will prevent the landlord from getting round the provision, and it will work for the benefit of both tenant and landlord. If the landlord is allowed to get back the premises on the ground that he requires the house for his own residence or for any member of his family ; it stands to reason that if he takes possession of the house on the ground of building or rebuilding, the tenant should also have the similar right of re-entry. The only argument that can possibly be advanced against this is what has been referred to by the Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali. I would only add that as regards getting the plan from the Municipal office, the landlord ought to try and get the plan beforehand, and then try to get rid of his tenant. But if this provision is not added, the landlord will try to get round this provision against which there seems to be no remedy. For this reason I think this amendment ought to be accepted. "

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. P. C. Mitter; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri.

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"My Lord, I will first deal with the objection which is more or less in the nature of a drafting objection. If my hon'ble friend's amendment is accepted, and if the nature of the building or rebuilding be such that it can be finished at an early date, finished within six months, then surely, my friend does not mean that the old tenant will go and occupy the building at the same rent after improvement and development. Suppose a second storey be added, and if it is given to a good contractor it can be added within three months' time. If my hon'ble friend's amendment be accepted, the tenant will come and say to the landlord 'well, you have no doubt spent Rs. 20,000 on the house, but you must allow me to live there at the old rent.' It is surely unnecessary to dilate on this. What usually happens is this. Perhaps my hon'ble friends Mr. Ashraf Ali and Mr. Haq are not aware of the fact that so long as you do not pull down a building, you are not allowed to show on your site plan, the exact position on which you want to rebuild, and I hope Mr. Gurner will bear me out in this. The Corporation very rightly insists on it and they have been insisting on it for the last few years. That being so, it takes a little time after one gets possession to demolish the house and then submit the plan. Those who have anything to do with these matters know that architects take some little time to make plans, and if there is anything wrong in the drawing, the chances are that the plan is returned, and that also takes some little time. If you want to have an amendment which my hon'ble friend Mr. Ashraf Ali is anxious to have here, then the landlord will be bound to release his house under the old conditions. That is to say, even after demolition and rebuilding he cannot get anything more than the standard rent. I therefore oppose this amendment."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter has very fully explained the difficulties with regard to getting a plan sanctioned by the Corporation, and I may say that this matter was gone into very thoroughly in the Select Committee. The reason that Government did not put in these words was that in the first place Government thought as Mr. Mitter has pointed out, that it would not really benefit the tenant to have to wait a long time for the plan to be sanctioned so that he could get re-entry, for by that time he would have got other places to get into. Secondly, if we were to allow the landlord's demand, of course it would not so much arise in connection with the question of building as of rebuilding—if we were to allow the right of rebuilding it may be quite possible that when the house is rebuilt it may be built in flats, and it may not be for the same class of tenants. Therefore taking everything into consideration, we came to the conclusion that we should not allow the right of re-entry to tenants under this clause. For these reasons I am unable to accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, I am constrained to say that the Government have not been able to grasp the import of my meaning. Government are trying hard to protect the interest of the tenant. But in this instance I do not understand why the Government do not see eye to eye with me. There is nothing in this Act to prevent the landlord from applying to the Controller for the purposes of building or rebuilding. He has only to apply in order to get permission. He has not got to show his plans or estimates or anything. Is there anything in this Act to show that if the landlord lets out his house without building or rebuilding to another tenant, the old tenant can come in? If the landlord gets back the house for some other reason, the old tenant of course can come in again. I do not think there is any provision in the Act under which a tenant come in again if the landlord has let out his house after taking khas possession of it. The Hon'ble Mr. Mitter has said that it is only a drafting mistake. If he accepts the principle of my amendment and thinks that the wording might be improved, is it too much to ask him to suggest a better wording? I appeal to the Council in the name of the tenants that some such amendment as the one I have proposed should come in here."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri.

The motion being put, a division was taken with the following result :—

The Ayes being 6 and the Noes 29, the motion was lost.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920:

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri; Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq.

98. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that at the end of clause 10 (1a), the following be inserted, viz:—

" provided he agrees to occupy and pay rent for the rest of the period of the continuance of this Act, and, if he leaves earlier, to indemnify the landlord against all losses and costs as may be determined by the Controller ".

He said :—

" My Lord, I may point out that here in this clause the tenant is given the right of re-entry. We have agreed to that. But it may so happen that the tenant takes a house for two months and then wants to continue for some time longer. I think that in the interest of a large body of bonâ fide tenants this proviso should be inserted. I do not know whether this amendment will be accepted. I may point out however that this amendment is not for the increase of rent or for possession by landlord. This is intended for a class of people who might want the house for a long period."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" My Lord, this is practically the same as amendment 94 which I opposed, and I have nothing further to add. I oppose this amendment too for the same reason."

The motion was then put and lost.

99. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that after clause 10 (1a), the following be added, viz :—

" (1b) Wherever the landlord recovers possession on the ground that the premises are required for building or re-building, the tenant shall have a right of re-entry if the premises are let to any other tenant within six months from the date of recovery of possession without the addition of any substantial building, or without substantial re-building, as the case may be ".

He said :—

" My Lord, it is not necessary to say much. The discussion on amendment No. 97 shows that this addition is necessary. Of course, re-entry is provided under another clause, but there is nothing here. The wording of my amendment will, I am sure, meet the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter's objection. It is not enough to say that the landlord will not charge more than the standard rent. He should also have his right of re-entry if there has been no addition or alteration in the building within six months."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri said :—

" My Lord, I am glad that the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri has moved this amendment. This will meet the drafting objection for which, I think, my amendment was not accepted. Now that that defect has been removed by this amendment, I hope it will be accepted. Otherwise, let me warn the Council once more that if once the house is taken into the khas possession of the landlord, he will let it out to another tenant and the old tenant will not have his right of re-entry. If this is not accepted this Act will hardly have the effect intended for it."

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq said :—

" My Lord, I need scarcely say that I heartily support this amendment. I listened very attentively to the reply given by the Hon'ble Member in charge to the Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali's amendment and I confess that I failed to be convinced by his reasoning. Briefly stated, the landlord can get possession of certain premises on the ground that he requires it for his own use or for the use of some other members of his family or for the purposes of building or rebuilding. Even at the risk of repeating the question that was put by the Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali, I would ask the Hon'ble Member to enlighten the Council on the point; what provision is there in the Bill to meet the case when a landlord with a view fraudulently to get possession of the premises orders a tenant to get out of his house on the plea of building or rebuilding. It may be asked why should the landlord do so? He may do it for fraudulent purpose. When the old tenant goes out, a new tenant will come in who will of course pay the standard rent plus certain underhand demands which no enactment in the world can put a stop to. And if the landlord can successfully do it twice in the course of a year, he will go on doing it and take mysterious payments as salami's or premiums. I repeat, therefore, my Lord, that if a provision of this character is not made in the Bill it will render the Act itself nugatory. It will stultify the very provisions which have been enacted in this Bill. The landlord has only got to go to the tenant and say "get out of the house" and the tenant has got to go. And once he goes out, the landlord can defy all the other provisions of the law. I want the Hon'ble Member in charge to tell us what provisions are there in the Bill against any subterfuges of this character. If there are no such safeguards, it is no use telling us that there is this difficulty and that difficulty. In that case, let us have no Act at all. Let us give it up. Why have an Act which certainly cannot protect the tenant at least to the extent that we wish him to be. Is it going to be the proverbial Delhi ka laddu? I therefore most respectfully submit that it seems to me that there is a loophole in the Bill for the landlord to get round the Act. If the drafting is unsatisfactory, if the suggestion made is unacceptable, then let the Government consider the point. But because no satisfactory amendment was sent up in time or because the amendment drafted by a certain member does not come up to the standard, that is certainly no excuse for not accepting an indispensable amendment. I do not wish to say anything more, but I strongly support the amendment."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq has spoken with a certain amount of heat, if I may say so, on this amendment. He thinks or suspects that the Government are in league with the landlord against the tenant over this clause. Nothing can be further from this. What the Government think is this: on the amendment moved by the Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali, I explained the difficulties of fixing any time for the landlord to get a sanction and approval of plans from the Corporation, and that therefore the question of re-entry from that point of view was neither possible for the landlord nor entirely beneficial from the tenant's point of view, because he is not going to stay away for 6 or 8 months, and then be allowed the right of re-entry. Then I took up the other question, viz., under what circumstances is the landlord going to get this power of khas possession or re-entry into his property. I think it will do no good my repeating the other arguments which I adduced, when on behalf of Government, I was unable to accept Mr. Ashraf Ali's amendment. All I need say at this stage is this: if you look at clause 10, you will find that ordinarily no landlord is going to oust his tenant; therefore clause 10(1) is certainly in favour of the tenant. Then we come to certain objects for which the Court, if it is satisfied, can allow the landlord to take possession, and one of these objects is that if the landlord requires his property or premises for a bonâ fide purpose of re-building or building. Now, my Lord, the reasons that the Government did not bring any amendment forward as the Hon'ble Mr. Fazl-ul-Haq suggested that Government should have brought forward was for the simple reason that the Government thought that there was no loophole. Government do not think there is any loophole; Government believe in the Court; Government think that the Court is not going to allow re-entry unless the Court is satisfied that the landlord requires the premises bonâ fide for the purpose of building or rebuilding. For these reasons I do not see my way to accept this amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, I am sorry to see myself opposed. We have not heard anything from the landlord's point of view on this. The question is whether it will be possible for the landlord to dislodge his tenant simply by declaring that he wants the house for re-building. If the landlord makes an affidavit, if he gets a builder to depose in his favour, he would get it. But once he gets the house, he will be able to use it in any way he likes. The Hon'ble Member in charge has said that tenants will not certainly wait for six months. But in certain cases they may have to do it. And in such cases tenants have no right of re-entry. Why should the landlord be allowed to let it out to another person? I only want protection in such emergency cases. There is nothing in the Act to guard against the landlord's letting the house to another person."

The President (on finding the Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali prompting the speaker) said :—

"I really cannot allow the Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali to make a second speech through the mouth of the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri said :—

"I beg your pardon, my Lord."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri continuing said :—

"We want a special protection under this clause. In that view of the case, I again appeal to Your Excellency's Government to grant the tenants this special protection by which the landlord also loses nothing."

The motion being put, a division was taken with the following result :—

The Ayes being 8, and the Noes 26, the motion was lost.

[The Council here adjourned for lunch].

(The Council reassembled after lunch.)

100. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the word "willing" in line 6 of clause 10 (2), the word "continues" be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, the provision in clause 10 (2), which allows a tenant whose lease has expired, to stay on if he is ready and willing to pay rent is a good provision, but I think the words 'ready' and 'willing' are rather vague. In the English Act we find that instead of the word 'willing' the word 'continues' is used. I therefore suggest that the English wording be used."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, I am advised that the word 'willing,' as it stands, is better, and the word 'continues' is unnecessary and may also lead to anything. I am, therefore, unable to accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I expected that the Hon'ble Member in charge would give some reasons as to why the tenant should willingly pay rent as he has been paying it, and I thought that the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur would commend to his judgment, but instead of that he has favoured us with the observation that he has been advised that Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur's amendment is undesirable. It is merely wasting the time of the Council if we do not get answers with reasons as to why any proposal that we may put forward should not be accepted, and I think it would have been wiser on our part to drop this business."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur ; Mr. O'Malley ; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan ; Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq ; Mr. G. N. Roy.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I find in the English Act the word 'continues', but if the Hon'ble Member in charge is advised that the present wording is better than the wording in the English Act I have nothing to say."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, as regards the meaning of these words to which reference has been made by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur I may mention that the word "willing' is intended to cover cases in which the leases have expired ; and in any case sub-clause (4) provides that in every case the tenant shall continue to pay month by month the rent to the full extent allowable by the Act. On account of this provision the present amendment is unnecessary."

The motion was then put and lost.

101. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that at the end of clause 10 (2), the following be inserted, viz. :—

> " and otherwise observes and performs the terms and conditions of the tenancy and complies with the requirements of the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 10 "

He said :—

"This also follows the wording of the English Act and in order to avoid any ambiguity on the subject I have suggested the addition of the words for tenants whose leases have expired."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, here again the reason for which I oppose this amendment is that it is unnecessary, as it is already covered by clause 10 (1), and for that reason we do not think it is necessary to repeat it in sub-clause 10(2)."

The motion was then put and lost.

102. The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq moved that after the word " premises " in line 5 of clause 10 (4), the words " up to the date of payment " be inserted.

He said :—

"My Lord, this amendment is more for the benefit of the landlord than the tenant. I think, my Lord, it is fair to the landlord that in those cases in which he is compelled to sue his tenant the tenant should be compelled to make payments in full up-to-date so that the landlord may not be obliged to go to Court for any outstanding dues. I submit this amendment for the consideration of the Hon'ble Member in charge.

The Hon'ble Mr. G. N. Roy said :—

"My Lord, the amendment seems to be unnecessary. The Act provides that the tenant is to pay up all arrears of rent due by him and the proposed amendment will only make the provision more rigid for the tenant. Suppose he is a monthly tenant and he pays up arrears, say, on the 10th June. He will deposit under this provision rent up to the end of May. Under the amendment he will have to deposit 10 days' rent of June as well. Surely this is not what the Hon'ble Member means. All arrears as mentioned in this section is good enough for all practical purposes, and it gives a chance to the tenant to deposit rent within a reasonable period. I, therefore, oppose the amendment on behalf of Government."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq said :—

"My Lord, I do not press the amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

103. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the words "month by month" in lines 5 and 6 of clause 10 (4) the following be substituted, viz:—

"in the first week of each succeeding month for which the rent will be due".

He said :—

"My Lord, as I have already said, there are poor house-owners who live upon the income of their small holdings month by month. As I understand that payment may be made on the 30th of the next month, the owners of these small houses, who live upon the income of their houses, will experience great difficulty in making both ends meet. There is a large number of such small proprietors and it seems to me reasonable to ask the tenants to pay up their rents within the first week of the next month."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, I may have something to say with regard to the next amendment to be moved by Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri, but with regard to this amendment I am sorry I am unable to accept it, as I think that payment within the first week of each succeeding month might mean some hardship to the tenant."

The motion was then put and lost.

104. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that for the last two lines of clause 10 (4), the following be substituted, viz:—

"the said premises, and also unless he pays rent due by him to the full extent allowable by this Act within the time limited by the terms of his contract with his landlord or, in the absence of any such contract, within the 15th day of the month next following that for which rent is payable".

He said :—

"My Lord, this amendment is a compromise between the two views. I think a fortnight's time would be convenient to payers as well as to the payees and up to the 15th day of the month next following that for which the rent is payable time may be allowed. In this view I suggest my amendment for the acceptance of the Council."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, I am willing to accept this amendment with certain modifications. If the hon'ble mover would accept the following wording I would be willing to accept it on behalf of Government :—'the said premises, and also unless he pays the rent due by him to the full extent allowable by this Act within the time fixed in the contract with his landlord or, in the absence of any such contract, by the 15th day of the month next following that for which the rent is payable."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri; Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq; Mr. G. N. Roy.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, I accept the modification."

The motion was then put in the following form and agreed to :—

"That for the last two lines of clause 10 (4), the following be substituted, viz :—

"The said premises, and also unless he pays the rent due by him to the full extent allowable by this Act within the time fixed in the contract with his landlord or, in the absence of any such contract, by the 15th day of the month next following that for which the rent is payable."

105. The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq moved that after clause 10 (4) the following be added, viz:—

"(5) Where the landlord satisfies the Controller that a tenant is a habitual defaulter, or for any sufficient cause, the landlord may apply to the Controller for a certificate that the tenant has rendered himself liable to summary ejectment.

(6) The landlord may then, without prejudice to any other remedies open to him, bring a suit, in the Court where such a suit would ordinarily lie, for the ejectment of the tenant after having filed the certificate of the Controller mentioned in sub-section (5) along with the plaint.

(7) The Court may suspend passing a decree for ejectment, if the tenant deposits in Court, for payment to the landlord, an amount not exceeding six months' rent"

He said :—

"My Lord, the amendment I beg to move now is for the benefit of the landlord and is directed against that class of tenants who cause a good deal of inconvenience to landlords by becoming habitual defaulters. I will make a frank confession that this amendment has been suggested by a matter of personal inconvenience. I have a tenant who has been giving me a lot of trouble. I thought that a provision of this character should be made in the Bill to guard against the inconvenience felt by landlords on account of tenants who are habitual defaulters. I submit this amendment without any comment for the consideration of this Council."

The Hon'ble Mr. G. N. Roy said :—

"My Lord, it is not clear whether the amendment moved by the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq is to benefit the landlord or the tenant. As a matter of fact, this amendment is really unnecessary because we have a provision already in the Bill. The Hon'ble Member seems to be under a misconception, the Controller is a Controller of rents and his principal duty is to ascertain the standard rent. Whether a tenant should be summarily ejected or not must be determined by the court and not the Controller. We have it already in the Bill that the tenant will not get the benefit of section 10 unless he pays the rent month by month and that section gives a discretion to the Court to allow the landlord recovery of possession where he can show any cause which may be deemed satisfactory by the Court. The amendment sets up the Controller as an intermediary between the landlord and the Court, and the procedure will be more cumbrous. The Act provides a simple procedure. On this ground I oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq said :—

"My Lord, I beg leave to withdraw the amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Babu S. N. Ray.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

106. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that at the end of clause 10 (4), the following be added, viz :—

" (5) No sub-tenant shall be entitled to the benefit of this section unless the sub-lease was in conformity with the terms of the lease and has been recognised by the landlord ".

107. The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray to move that after clause 10 the following be inserted, viz :—

Control of accommodation.

" 10A. The Controller may on application made to him by the landlord or by any other person wanting accommodation in Calcutta require any tenant to vacate any premises or part of a premises on the ground that such premises or part of the premises are not essentially necessary for his requirements and on non-compliance on the part of the tenant, may eject him on the expiry of one month from the date when a notice has been served in writing on him:

Provided also that in requiring a tenant to vacate any premises or part of any premises the Controller shall take due account of the social usage and custom of the class to which the tenant belongs:

Provided also that in the case of any other person than the landlord such procedure shall be adopted only when one month's proportionate share of rent has been deposited:

The Controller shall determine the amount of rent to be paid for each share ".

New Clause 10B.

Persons not to be ejected under the Land Acquisition Act, etc.

108. The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray moved that after clause 10 the following be inserted, viz:—

" 10B. No person shall during the continuance of this Act be ejected from any premises which may have been or shall be required under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, or the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911, or the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, and which is not actually necessary for the purposes of the improvement unless an equivalent accommodation has been provided for him ".

He said :—

" My Lord, as I have already said on a previous motion the Bill being an emergency measure, must be treated as such and it is our bounden duty to see that for the temporary period for which the Bill is intended to be in force the evil is not accentuated. The Report of the Rent Commission appointed by Government has clearly demonstrated the fact that much of the present evil is due to the action of the Improvement Trust first in not making any proper scheme for the population they have displaced and, secondly, generally increased land values by selling surplus land at an enormous profit. We are now told that the Improvement Trust is now going to make some scheme of the kind and that for that purpose they are going to acquire lands at Maniktolla and Cossipore-Chitpur. We heard before of some housing schemes undertaken by the Improvement Trust and understand that some years ago they actually built some houses in the Maniktolla quarter of the town to house the bustee people and the poor middle class. It is a fact, however, that they have not been successful and certainly the accommodation was quite inadequate for the present requirements of the city. I am not sure when the housing schemes of the Improvement Trust will take shape or what shape it will take,

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri; Babu A. C. Datta; Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq.

but it is evident that people will be displaced from their homes not only by the housing schemes but also by the general operation of the Trust for the Improvement of Calcutta. The present amendment is intended as a measure to safeguard, in however small a degree as possible, against the accentuation of the evil. It will not prevent the Trust from proceeding with any legitimate and desirable project or even to acquire, on the guise of that purpose, surplus lands to sell at a profit, but simply requires the Trust to make proper accommodation for the people displaced—an obligation which the Trust has so far failed to comply.

As regards the extension of that principle to the cases of compulsory expropriation of other kinds under the Land Acquisition Act or the Calcutta Municipal Act it may be pointed out that it is undesirable, in view of the present state of affairs, to compel people to vacate their houses when they have no place to go to."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, I support this amendment. The Improvement Trust is one of the culprits for whose action this Rent Act is being passed. The Trust takes more land than is required for opening out a new road and after the street is completed disposes of the surplus land on both sides of the road at a great profit. Take, for instance, the Central Avenue. Here the Improvement Trust without providing any place beforehand for the accommodation of the occupants of the houses which have been acquired turned the tenants out of their houses. It was also pointed out in the public press that it would have been better for the people of Calcutta if the Improvement Trust had opened out roads in the suburbs and improved the sanitary conditions there before they took up the work of opening out new roads in the heart of the city and of demolishing houses without providing for new houses elsewhere. For this reason I support this amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, I have great pleasure in supporting this amendment for the reasons which have been adduced by the hon'ble mover and by the preceding speaker."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq said :—

"My Lord, I also support this amendment. Whether the Improvement Trust is or is not one of the culprits for whose delinquency this Act is rendered necessary, there is a good deal of truth in the argument that the operations of the Trust have been conducted in such a manner that accommodation in Calcutta has become very insufficient and has rendered among other causes a considerable rise in rent. I realise that the practical effect of the acceptance of this amendment will be that the operation of the Trust will have to be postponed for the period this Act is in force. That perhaps is a possible difficulty, but I think some way could be found out of the difficulty by providing accommodation for such persons as may be ejected by the operations of the Trust. Government ought to find out some scheme for helping people in securing suitable accommodation. I can see the difficulty, but I should think that the difficulty is not of an unsurmountable character, at any rate it is only fair till normal conditions are restored that there should not be any further disturbance of the conditions that are prevailing in the city either by the operations of the Land Acquisition Act or the Calcutta Improvement Act. For these reasons I support the amendment."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur; Mr. Phelps; Mr. Goode.

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I beg to support this amendment. It needs discussion so far as the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act of 1891 go. Authorities have a right to acquire lands under this Act or other cognate Acts, but there is no doubt that the present state of things, according to the opinion of many, is due to the acquisition of land by the Improvement Trust and the obvious result is the increase of rent in Calcutta. Now if Government enact a law like the Rent Law of Calcutta, it is necessary that further steps should be taken to prohibit the continuation of further increase of rent. Now if the fact be that the Improvement Trust is responsible to a certain extent for this state of things, is it good argument to say that the Improvement Trust will be allowed to continue to acquire further lands? That demands a consideration of Government because we do not wish to have a similar Act hereafter for the purpose of restricting the rent.

Let us take another aspect of the question. If the Land Acquisition authorities are allowed to acquire lands the obvious result would be that many people will have to vacate their houses and lands, and what will be the state of things? That is the same state of things of which we are now complaining will come back again; therefore this amendment demands the serious consideration of Government. Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq has brought to your notice that it will be a check to the Improvement Trust to acquire further lands. Probably that would be the result, but if the Rent Act is passed Government should take steps to improve house accommodation in Calcutta, for that is the chief reason for the rise in rent, and then go on with the work of the Trust. I, therefore, have great pleasure in supporting this amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said :—

"My Lord, I welcome the opportunity of defending the Improvement Trust. I am a whole-hearted admirer of the Improvement Trust and of what they have done in Calcutta. This amendment seems to me to rouse an old hornet's nest quite unnecessarily. I am myself one of the critics of the Improvement Trust, but I am not an enemy of the Improvement Trust, and it affords me much pleasure to defend the Trust on this occasion. My reason for criticising the Improvement Trust as regards the rent, as mentioned in the Rent Committee, was that the Improvement Trust was too indiscriminate in the public auctioning of lands that came in their possession without imposing upon the purchaser any necessity of building a house on that land, and by so doing they set an example of raising the land values in Calcutta. In that particular respect the Improvement Trust did considerable damage to the interest of Calcutta, but that is a mere side issue which does not affect the general policy of the Act under which the Improvement Trust goes to work. That is merely a side issue and because I suggested this criticism in the Rents Committee, I got attached to myself a considerable degree of odium which was quite unearned and unnecessary, but this hornet's nest that has been raised by this amendment is very dangerous to the interest of the Improvement Trust but advantageous to the tenants of Calcutta. I think if the amendment were carried it would impede the legitimate work of the Improvement Trust and for that reason I oppose it."

The Hon'ble Mr. Goode said :—

"My Lord, the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps in mentioning the activities of the Improvement Trust has rightly said that the amendment which is now before the house attempts to raise in a new form the old antagonism to the work of this body which many of us had thought was long since dead. I think many of the Members of this Council will agree that the enmity and suspicion with which the work of the Trust was originally regarded, have now largely subsided so far as the ordinary rate-payer in Calcutta is concerned. I think it is now fairly generally agreed that the ordinary citizen of Calcutta regards the operations of the Trust as beneficial not merely to the wealthier inhabitants of the city but also to those poorer citizens whose living conditions are so deplorable. I suggest therefore that it was unfortunate that, by what the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps termed a side issue, this House should attempt to hold up and stay the beneficent work of that body. The Improvement Trust, as we all know, has been charged on many occasions with having provided inadequately for the re-housing of Calcutta. We all know also that at the present moment the Improvement Trust is engaged in working out some large re-housing schemes. I suggest that it would be a disaster of the first order if this House by its vote on this clause of the Bill should attempt to check and stay that most important work, and I trust that the good sense of the members of this Chamber will restrain them from giving countenance to an attempt to modify earlier legislation of this Chamber in an offhand way. I may say, my Lord, that the Government of Bengal—and this fact is well-known to the House—is at present engaged in amending the Calcutta Improvement Act. A Bill has already been drafted, and it is not before the Council at the present moment because I understand Government has decided to make further inquiries into the question of re-housing. Government feels that the Act, as at present in force, does not deal sufficiently fully with this important problem. There have been important developments at Home in the matter of re-housing, and the Local Government here is anxious to avail itself of the experience which we can obtain from abroad and also, I understand, from Bombay. In view of these facts, it would be doubly unfortunate if now you should attempt to hold up the work of the Trust by restricting and restraining its operations for the duration of the present Bill. I do not think it can be urged with any force that the Improvement Trust is likely to show any want of humanity or consideration in dealing with persons whom its operations have evicted. Therefore, my Lord, so far as the substance of the amendment goes, Government is compelled to offer the strongest opposition to it.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. Goode.

I may also criticize its form. It may be observed that the amendment proposes that the Trust shall not acquire lands which are not actually necessary for the purposes of any improvement. My Lord, every one in this Chamber is well acquainted with the legal quibble which arose out of the drafting of the Calcutta Improvement Act. They are aware that the interpretation of somewhat similar words in the Act has been the subject of reference to the Privy Council. I submit that the words 'actually necessary for the purposes of the improvement' are hopelessly wide and vague, and it would be quite impossible for this House, even if it were prepared to accept the substance of this amendment, to accept its present form. The amendment does not even suggest who is to be the arbiter of the degree of necessity under which any premises may be required. Not only is the Calcutta Improvement Trust concerned in this matter but the Calcutta Corporation also, which has at present a very large and ambitious programme of improvements. As many members of this Chamber are aware, the work of the Calcutta Corporation has been considerably hampered during the past four years owing to the urgent need for economy. But the Corporation has, at the present moment, launched out on a very wide and ambitious programme of improvements. Is it suggested that these beneficent activities of the Corporation should be delayed and very largely checked for providing accommodation for the few persons who are likely to be affected by their schemes?

I suggest, my Lord, that the means are entirely out of proportion to the end or object which it is sought to attain. I will, therefore, mainly on the ground of substance, oppose this amendment because to me it appears

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Mr. Phelps; The President.

that this proposal to stay the work not merely of the Calcutta Corporation or the Improvement Trust, but also any original schemes which the Government may desire to undertake in Calcutta, will not commend itself to the good sense of this House since the object which it seeks to achieve is entirely disproportionate to the dislocation of work and the harmful results which will ensue. As regards the form of the proposed amendment, it could not possibly be accepted. I would merely urge members not to be misled by plausible arguments which have been put before them, but to judge this matter on its broader issues, and to decide that it would be quite unreasonable and most unwise to hold up the work of these great bodies merely to provide accommodation for a few persons, whom their work is likely to dispossess."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I have closely followed the debate on this important question. In the first place I may say that the Improvement Trust has done a considerable amount of work which has contributed to the health and sanitation of the city, and notwithstanding all the hardships that the people have had to bear, the main outcome of all the improvement schemes that have been carried out is that the town is much healthier than it was before, that congestion has to a large extent in these places, where improvement has been carried out, been minimised. But at the same time I speak with a perfectly impartial mind, though I am a member of the Trust, and a critic of the Trust, yet I must say that although it has done beneficent work, it has to a considerable extent, as has been observed by another impartial body, the Rent Committee, contributed to the present state of the city, that is to say, the present want of houses in Calcutta. My Lord, what I find is this : that we have carried out schemes regardless of any thought how to replace the displaced population. My hon'ble friend, Mr. Phelps, to whose speech I have listened and have made some notes, paid the Improvement Trust some compliments on their work, and injudicially complimented them also for having raised the value of land to an extravagant extent. What has happened is this : take the Surtibagan area, scheme No. 1. This is an area between Harrison Road and Colootolla Street. It was a congested area, undoubtedly deserving improvement, and it was badly in need of it for the health of the locality. It was full of small dwelling-houses. Now all these houses have been swept away by the Trust, with no thought of re-housing all the poor people who lived there. No doubt this is a fair area now with broad streets, roads 60 to 80 feet wide ; it is a picture now ; but the price of land round about there has gone up owing to the speculation of the Delhiwallahs, and the Marwaris and the poor middle class people have been absolutely swept out of Calcutta. This scheme was completed about 6 or 7 years ago. These poor people have been driven out and their difficulties are further aggravated by the fact that our community is so conservative that they will not go to any other locality like Tollygunge, or Bhowanipore or Chitpore where land is cheaper ; they must live in the quarter where their other relations lived, and that is owing to the peculiar social customs of our country."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said :—

"I rise to a point of order, Sir. In my opinion the speaker has travelled beyond the point of the amendment."

The President said :—

"No, I do not think so ; the hon'ble member is explaining how the operations of the Improvement Trust deprived men of their dwelling-houses. That seems to me to be quite relevant to the argument, although there is no necessity to embroider more than necessary in order to press home the argument."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Mr. P. C. Mitter.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, continuing, said :—

"I have been studiously brief to-day and unfortunately this speech was interrupted. As I have said, these are the difficulties. Similarly, take other schemes. Scheme No. 7 displaced a large number of people, and this has contributed considerably to the present situation to-day, and until very recently there has not been any attempt to take up scheme for reinstating these people first before dispossessing them. I may tell you very frankly and candidly that wherever there were small holdings it was said by the head of the Trust, 'Let them go somewhere, we will acquire those plots'. The Trust get them for Rs. 1,500 or 2,000 a cottah, and then rich people come along and they pay Rs. 15,000 to Rs. 20,000 a cottah for those lands. I submit that the proposed amendment would not in any way restrict the operations of the Trust; all that it proposes to do is that unless equivalent accommodation is provided people should not be dislodged from their holdings. We are doing that now. All my hon'ble friend suggests is that the Trust and the Corporation should not acquire areas outside their immediate improvement schemes. I do not think that in any way will hamper the operations of the Trust. Let the roads only be made and no surplus land be acquired until accommodation is available for the displaced people. I do not think there will be any practical difficulty, and therefore I cannot see what objection there is to accepting this proposal. Which is a greater evil, to make people roofless and homeless or delay the execution of a scheme for two or three years? I think the former is the greater evil."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"My Lord, I am one of those who think that the Improvement Trust has done very useful work for which the future residents of Calcutta ought to be thankful to that body, and although I hold that view, I am not blind to the limitations and the defects of the Calcutta Improvement Act. I think, my Lord, especially after our experience of the working of the Calcutta Improvement Act, that that Act is capable of a good deal of improvement. My Lord, the method of recoupment as provided for in that Act is this, that if a particular area is needed for a road, say 50 or 100 feet wide or whatever it may be, the Act empowers the Trust to acquire the surplus land on either side of the road for purposes of recoupment. I quite appreciate the importance of getting additional revenue, but I venture to assert with a good deal of confidence that it is a very wasteful method of getting the necessary revenuea Any one who has any knowledge of the working of scheme No. 5 the are. between Elgin Road on the north, Hazra Road on the south, Russa Road on the west, Lansdowne Road on the east will appreciate my point. Take the Russa Road scheme, what has the Improvement Trust done? It has acquired a certain necessary area within the road line, but in order to provide the necessary funds it has acquired further land beyond the road line with the result that properties on the east side of Russa Road have reaped all the benefits of the improvement, but have not contributed a single pice towards the improvement, while properties on the west side have had to pay the bill. Now, my Lord, under scheme 5, perhaps 75 per cent. have been dehoused, while, roughly speaking, perhaps only 20 per cent. need have been dehoused for the purposes of the road. I fully appreciate the necessity for providing revenue. I suggest that in the coming amendment of the Improvement Act, I hope Your Excellency's Government will soon take it up—that a much more equitable and more fair . . . . . "

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

The President; Mr. P. C. Mitter; Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur.

The President said :—

"The Hon'ble Member is now getting quite beyond the scope of the amendment. I cannot allow him to deal with the future amendment of the Calcutta Improvement Act when discussing this Bill."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"My Lord, under the Act as it stands, I submit the methods are wasteful, and although I cannot develop my ideas on that point, but what I do submit is that, pending the amendment of the Improvement Act, if this motion can be accepted in this limited form, the work of the Trust will not be held up. I would ask the hon'ble mover of this amendment whether it would not be proper to limit his amendment to the operations of the Improvement Trust only because after all it is that body which is mainly responsible for the dehousing of the people. I quite agree with the Hon'ble Mr. Goode as regards the necessity for proceeding with improvement schemes and also as to the undesirability of restricting the works of public bodies. I would suggest some such words as 'within the actual road line.' In that way perhaps the work of the Trust could be carried on and not held up. The question of finance is all-important so far as the improvement work of the Trust is concerned. But we know that the Trust made a good deal of money last year when speculation on land was going on—more than it expected. So its finances are quite sound at present. Perhaps if the amendment is modified in the form I have suggested, that is restricting it to the operations of the Improvement Trust only, I hope Government will find its way to accept it."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, after hearing the speech of my hon'ble friend, Babu Surendra Nath Ray, on this amendment, I was inclined to think that the acceptance of this amendment by the Council would be to hold up the work of the Improvement Trust and the Calcutta Corporation and also the acquisitions by Government for their own purpose and that it would be impolitic to force this amendment on the Council and that I should not be a party to supporting my hon'ble friend's amendment. But after hearing the speech of the Hon'ble Mr. Goode, I recollect that the proposed amendment of the Improvement Trust Act of 1911 has been in contemplation for several years—at least I have been hearing of it for the last four years. The war could not possibly have been a reason for not proceeding with this legislation. Therefore if there be anything which would hasten that legislation, i.e., the amendment of the Improvement Trust Act, I would support such a movement. If the result of the acceptance of my hon'ble friend's amendment leads to that, I think I ought to support it. I may be permitted to mention that the work of the Improvement Trust has not been an unmitigated blessing to all parts of the town. It has done great good, but it has also done great evil—the evil which could be avoided if the Improvement Trust Act could be worked properly. The members of the Board resent criticisms and they believe that what they think right must be right and outside opinion has no value in their eyes. As I have said, the Calcutta Improvement Trust has been the chief cause for the misery of which those who call themselves tenants, complain, and the logical conclusion of the principle which has been guiding Government in enacting the Calcutta Rent Bill is that which has been suggested by my hon'ble friend, Babu Surendra Nath Ray, that it stops all works of the Improvement Trust and the Calcutta Corporation. But my friend forgets that the Calcutta Corporation has to pay 15 per cent. upon the market value of the property acquired, whereas the Improvement Trust is relieved of that necessity. As regards the inconvenience which a man feels if he has to vacate his place of residence or business on account of the acquisition by Government that is compensated to some extent by the 15 per cent. statutory allowance paid to him ordinarily, but the Improvement Trust is under no necessity to pay it for any acquisition, and the Trust is free of that obligation. Therefore the Corporation stands on a different footing, and, as it has already been pointed out, the Calcutta Corporation contemplates acquisition of lands in a populous part of the town, that is in Wards Nos. 21 and 22, in the direction of Monohurpukur and the Ballyganj Railway line. Therefore the proposed operations of the Calcutta Corporation will not affect the present question. As regards ordinary acquisitions by Government for their own purpose, to which reference has been made by my hon'ble friend, Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, i.e., acquisitions near the Calcutta Medical College, of course they would displace a large number of people, and, if Government were to proceed judiciously, what will be paid as their market value could be paid in a more liberal scale, so as to nullify the evils resulting from their acquisition. That can be done by Government without altering the Land Acquisition Act. That being so, I ought to support my hon'ble friend's amendment only for the purpose of pointing out that that is the logical conclusion of the principle which guides Government enacting the Calcutta Rent Bill."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, we have heard a good deal about the Calcutta Improvement Trust and the necessity of clipping its claws to such an extent as would make the Improvement Act practically a dead-letter for the next three years. My Lord, it is true that in the beginning the Trust, in connection with the selling or letting out of the surplus lands, did not perhaps in every improvement scheme do so with an eye towards the question or problem of re-housing in Calcutta : but Government have from time to time applied the corrective to the Trust, and in recent times at any rate the policy of the Trust has been changing largely towards the problem of re-housing in Calcutta. As I understood Mr. Mitter and if I understood Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur correctly, as I found some difficulty in following him, they have given a qualified support to this amendment of the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray and I think I might yet be able to convince them that the amendment as worded will not only rope in the Trust and practically make its work nugatory, but it will make it impossible for Government to acquire any land for a public purpose, or for the Corporation for that matter to acquire lands unless they were able to prove that the lands were required for the purpose of an improvement.

Therefore from that point of view, the amendment as proposed is an impossible one. If the idea be only to have a sword thrust at the work of the Calcutta Improvement Trust, certainly the amendment as it stands goes much further and is so widely worded that it would make it impossible for any operation by Government under the Land Acquisition Act. For instance, if land was required for an educational institution or for any re-housing scheme and if Government hereafter thought that the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act or the Calcutta Municipal Act should be applied in acquiring the land, this amendment would make it impossible.

Now to turn to the question of re-housing for which the Improvement Trust is accused, and as I said in the beginning, probably in certain improvement schemes there were grounds for accusation. Am I to understand that it is the Improvement Trust alone that is responsible for this re-housing problem, simply because it has unfortunately in schemes which are of a varied nature—sewerage schemes, street schemes, etc., helter-skelter put people out of bustees and it has not found sufficient accommodation for them? Does not the landlord come in? Does not the question of pre-emption also to a certain extent bar the question of development of Calcutta? Is it entirely the Improvement Trust that is at fault over the question of development or rehousing? I think, my Lord, a good deal could be said regarding the landlord who gets back a certain amount of land from the Trust not developing that property. But my argument here to-day is going to be not actually to supplement what Mr. Goode has mentioned about the good work done by the Improvement Trust or to remove the distrust to a certain extent of the public mind towards the Trust, but my argument is mainly going to be that in the first place it is neither the time nor the place to restrict the operations of the Improvement Act. Mr. Goode has explained that Government have under consideration the amendment of the Improvement Trust Act, and I can assure the Council that that is a fact because I have seen the draft Bill myself, but for certain reasons we have not been able to introduce or publish it. But we have got several matters coming up in connection with the Improvement Trust. We have also, as I mentioned in connection with another thing the other day, the question of a Town-planning Act. For all these reasons I do think that to try to restrict and practically bring the operations of the Trust to a standstill for the next three years is not to my mind at all justifiable. Further, although Mr. Mitter has mentioned that owing to the land boom the Trust have made a little more income than in normal times, I can assure him that the Trust will be very largely financially crippled if this amendment is carried. I cannot possibly recommend this Council to accept this amendment, and on behalf of Government I must oppose it."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray said :—

"My Lord, I am very much thankful to my hon'ble friend, Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, for having said all that I had to say with reference to this amendment. He is probably connected with the Improvement Trust and the Calcutta Corporation for a larger number of years than any other member in this Council. Well, I am told by Mr. Phelps that it is not so: I may be wrong, but I think it is a fact that he is connected with the Improvement Trust for a larger number of years than many of us. Mr. Phelps began by saying that I had been trying to raise a hornet's nest and he was here to defend the Trust. My friend ought to know—and what he did not state—that public bodies like Government if they have rights have also obligations. The question, therefore, arises whether the Calcutta Improvement Trust in the exercise of their rights have discharged the obligations during the course of these long years that they are carrying on their improvements in Calcutta. Mr. Goode has also in the same strain said that by moving this amendment I am trying to raise a hornet's nest and that as a side issue I want to raise the old controversy. That is far from my mind, nor is it my wish by moving this amendment to check the work of the Improvement Trust. If the Improvement Trust has done good work—and everybody admits it—we are thankful to that body. I admit that it has done an immense amount of good, but it has also failed to carry out much that was expected from a body like it. It is said that the beneficient acitivities of the Corporation and of the Improvement Trust will be stopped if my amendment be accepted. But I fail to see how the beneficient work of the Corporation or of the Improvement Trust will be hindered or obstructed or will be stopped if my amendment be accepted. What is my amendment? My amendment is to the effect that no person shall during the continuance of this Act be ejected from any premises which may have been or shall be required under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, or the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911, or the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, and which is not actually necessary for the purposes of the improvement unless an equivalent accommodation has been provided for him. If you require a piece of land for the purpose of a road, acquire that piece of land, but do not acquire the surplus land which you now acquire under the provisions of the Improvement Trust Act or the Calcutta Municipal

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Surendra Nath Ray.

Act. Take as much land as you think necessary for the actual purpose of the road or for any other scheme. The object of my amendment is not to disturb the occupants of houses in the surplus land for three years. After these three years you can do anything you like with them. Nor will the work of the Improvement Trust or of the Corporation be hindered in any way. If you want to make an award in respect of any surplus land, let that award be paid to the person who is entitled to it after three years. Do all that is necessary for the purposes of acquisition or for the purposes of an actual roadway or for the purpose of any other improvement scheme which you think necessary, but do not disturb the tenants of the surplus land for three years. That is my amendment.

The Hon'ble Mr. Goode has said that my amendment is too wide and that it is not actually necessary. Of course I know the decision of the Privy Council in the case of Chandra Kanto Ghose, but that has nothing to do with my amendment. I beg to submit that my amendment is plain and simple. Your Lordship is probably aware of the feeling of the Indian public in respect of the operations of the Improvement Trust. They have been loud in their condemnation of the way in which middle class gentlemen have been dislodged from their ancestral homes, but no heed has been paid to their complaint. In fact, the Anglo-Indian press have said that the Indians want to live in dirt and filth. If my amendment is accepted the Improvement Trust or the Calcutta Corporation might be able to sell the surplus lands to the would-be purchasers after three years. It is only for three years that I say do not disturb the occupants of houses in the surplus land.

Then I am told by the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan that there is already a draft Bill for amending the Calcutta Improvement Act, but we know the fate of these draft Bills. It will take at least a year more at the earliest before the Bill will become law. Where are these people to go to in the meantime? If, as has been said by Mr. Goode, my amendment is too wide, let him say what amendment Government are prepared to accept. I shall be only very glad to consider, if any reasonable amendment is put before me, whether I would be willing to accept that. I am told that this Rent Bill is primarily in the interest of the tenants and my amendment is also in the interest of the tenants. Do not evict people who have been in their homesteads for generations unless you actually require the land for the purpose of the improvement, and allow profiteers to purchase the surplus land and make enormous profits therefrom. This is all I have to say."

The Ayes being 14 and the Noes 20, the motion was lost.

109. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha moved that clause 11 be omitted.

He said :—

"This clause violates the elementary principle of legislation, namely, the preservation of decrees and orders already passed by duly constituted courts of law, and of the rights and obligations arising therefrom. It is for this reason that we invariably find a saving clause in the various statutes passed by the legislature of every country. In this connection I may point out by way of example section 2 of the Transfer of Property Act whereby all legal relations created before the Act have been saved. There are also several judicial pronouncements of His Majesty's Privy Council (e.g., 3 Cal. 47 P. C.), which have repeatedly laid down that while interpreting a particular statute in the absence of express provision to the contrary, the presumption should arise that the rights and obligations which have already accrued, should be considered as having been preserved by the Act. In Munjhoori Bibi versus Akil Mahmud (17 C. L. J. 316) it was held, following the sound principle laid down by Mr. Justice Willes in Phillips versus Eyre [(1870) L. R. 6 Q. B. p. 1 (23)] that "retrospective laws are primâ facie of questionable policy and contrary to the general principle that legislation by which the conduct of mankind is to be regulated ought, when introduced for the first time, to deal with future acts and ought not to change the character of past transactions carried on upon the faith of the then existing law.' Again, that eminent English jurist Sir Peter Benson Maxwell in his Treatise on the Interpretation of Statutes, p. 350, 5th edition, has expressed the opinion that 'every statute which takes away or impairs vested rights acquired under existing laws, or creates a new obligation or imposes a new duty or attaches a new disability in respect of transaction or considerations already past must be presumed to be intended not to have a retrospective operation.' Besides, the Civil Procedure Code provides for setting aside a decree or order. A decree once passed becomes final unless it is set aside by way of appeal, review or revision. If, as under this clause, courts are empowered to set aside their own decrees on their own initiative and in a totally different proceeding, I am afraid the finality in litigation, which is the fundamental principle of all judicial orders, would be lost and uncertainty and insecurity would arise. In my opinion a novel departure from that principle has been made in this Bill without assigning any special reason for it. For these reasons I beg to move the omission of this clause."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

The Hon'ble Mr. G. N. Roy said :—

"My Lord, I oppose the amendment. The provision follows the Bombay Act. It gives some relief to people against whom an order of ejectment has been passed between 1st September 1919 and the date of commencement of this Act. If the decrees have been executed their cases are finished and done with. But what of those who still occupy the premises when the Act comes into force? More than six months have passed from the 1st September 1919 before the Act comes into being. They should get some benefit along with their neighbours who will be protected. We are only giving a discretionary power to the court to give relief in the light of the provisions of the Act. The court may vary the order or rescind it. I appeal to the Hon'ble Member, to extend their sympathies to the case of tenants who have not been turned out of their homes on the date when the Act comes into force."

The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha said :—

"My Lord, I am not much convinced by what has fallen from the Hon'ble Mr. Roy. I see no justification for introducing this clause in this Bill. There is no such provision in the Rangoon Act. And although the Hon'ble Mr. Roy said that there is such a provision in the Bombay Act, I do not find any. In any case, I do not see any reason for introducing this clause in this Bill.

The Ayes being 9 and the Noes 21, the motion was lost.

The following motion being identical with the previous one was deemed to have been withdrawn :—

110. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that following be inserted, viz. :—

111. Motion No. 100 not being carried, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the word " may " in line 5 of clause 11 the following be inserted, viz:—

" except in the case of habitual defaulters or where the house is not required for any of the purposes mentioned in sub-section (1) of section 10 ".

He said :—

"If Your Excellency will permit me I would simply add the words 'except in the case of habitual defaulters' and leave out the remaining words of the amendment. My object is that this clause will only apply to those who are habitual defaulters."

The Hon'ble Mr. G. N. Roy said :—

"My Lord. I said just now that clause 11 gives only a discretionary power to courts in these cases, and they are to exercise this discretion for the purpose of giving effect to this Act. We have provided against habitually defaulting tenants. And we have also provided for the landlords if they require possession of the premises under section 10(1). The Court will exercise its discretion in the light of those provisions, and surely it is unnecessary to repeat all these in this clause and surely we can leave this thing to the discretion of the court. I, therefore, oppose this motion."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. G. N. Roy; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

Clause 12.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

112. The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur to move that clause 12 be omitted.

113. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the word " person " in line 9 of clause 12 the words " or his agent " be inserted.

He said :—

" My Lord, I simply move this amendment. The 'person' may be absent or the 'person' may be a lady and in that case it may be necessary that he should be represented by an agent. I do not know whether there is any objection in accepting this amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. G. N. Roy said :—

" My Lord, I really think the amendment is superfluous. I fancy that the Hon'ble Member fears that the landlord has to make an affidavit and lay himself open to penalty. But that is not what the clause really means. The landlord's agent can always apply for execution. The clause says that the person applying for execution shall swear an affidavit."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

Clause 13.

114. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the word " been " in line 2 of clause 13 (1) the following be inserted, viz. :—

" proved to the satisfaction of the Controller to have been ".

He said :—

" My Lord, clause 13 gives power for the recovery of rent of any kind paid by the tenant above the standard rent. In the English Act it is also recoverable, but it is recoverable by the Controller, not by the tenant himself. Some such provision ought to find a place here also. The matter should be decided by the Controller, otherwise the tenant on that plea may withhold the rent."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" My Lord, there is nothing to prevent the landlord running in the tenant if he refuses to pay rent, and I do not quite see why the Controller should be made the referee in this matter. For these reasons, I do not think this amendment is necessary ; I therefore oppose it."

The motion was then put and lost.

115. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the word " six " in line 5 of clause 13 (1) the word " three " be substituted.

He said :—

" My Lord, ordinarily three months' time is allowed by the court. I think also that three months would be sufficient time to enable the tenant to make up his mind. Six months is rather too long a time. "

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Mr. O'Malley.

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, I do not consider three months long enough, and this really applies to rent which should not have been paid and has got to be recovered. I think six months is better than three."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

116. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that for the word "six" in line 9 of clause 13 (1) the word "three" be substituted.

117. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that at the end of clause 13 (1) the following be inserted, viz. :—

"except in the case of a payment made in pursuance of a voluntary agreement".

118. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after clause 13 (1) the following be added, viz. :—

"Provided that no such sum shall be recoverable by the tenant unless he had given notice of the alleged overpayment in writing to his landlord and filed a copy of the same notice in the court of the Controller within a fortnight of the alleged over-payment".

He said :—

"My Lord, I think this will ensure bonâ fide objection on the part of both landlord and tenant. The tenant can no doubt easily give 15 days' notice and it should be quite enough for the landlord to take necessary steps for refunding the excess sum. Otherwise the matter may be kept over for a long time. This proviso will be helpful both to landlords and to tenants."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, the effect of this amendment would be to frustrate the simplicity which the Bill aims at, and to introduce a formal procedure. Now the tenant must pay his rent regularly month by month if he is to obtain the protection of clause 10. The landlord will therefore know, quickly enough, if the tenant claims that there has been an overpayment, for when the month comes round he will find it deducted from his rent, and there is no need for the tenant to serve a formal notice on him. Much less is there any necessity for filing a copy in the Controller's Court. Apart from this, it cannot seriously be contended that when there has been overpayment the tenant should be deprived of his just rights by omission to give the landlord notice. Section 108 of the Transfer of Property Act does not provide for a notice in cases where the tenant can deduct payment from his rent. It lays down, for instance, that where a lessor neglects to make repairs which he is bound to make, the lessee may make the repairs and deduct their cost with interest from the rent, or otherwise recover it from the lessor. No notice of the cost of repairs is required. Again, if the lessor does not make a payment which he is bound to make, and which is recoverable from the lessee if he does not make it, the lessee may make the payment and deduct it with interest from the rent or otherwise recover it from the lessor. Here again, no notice is prescribed. For these reasons, my Lord, I oppose this amendment."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I quite understand that if the tenant is in a position to deduct the overpayment from the next month's rent, then where is the necessity of providing for six months' time? In one case the tenants may sit quiet for 5 months and 25 days and then come and say, 'I have paid Rs. 5 more.' There are small landlords, my Lord, who do not keep any accounts, and then there is sure to be trouble. I think there will be no harm in providing against such occurrences."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 15.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

119. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that the words "in the opinion of the Controller" in lines 4 and 5 of clause 15 (9) (d) be omitted.

120. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that for the words "unduly low" in line 5 of clause 15 (2) (d) the words "less than the fair rent" be substituted.

121. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the word 'condition" in line 1 of clause 15 (2) (e) the words "or environments or area" be inserted.

He said :—

"My Lord, in clause 15 it is stated that if there is any change in the condition of the building, or an increase in the municipal tax, the Controller may raise the standard rent. My Lord, there may be other changes also; for instance changes in environment or area; such changes as I have indicated in my amendment."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, the reason why I oppose this amendment is, that in the first place 'unduly low' in sub-clause (d) would cover most of the cases that the Rai Bahadur has in mind, and, secondly, by adding these words after 'condition' we would be imposing on the Controller a very large area of Calcutta to administer, and for these reasons, I am unable to accept the amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

122. If motion No. 9 be not carried, and if motion No. 33 be carried, the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter moved that at the end of clause 15 (2) (e) the following be added, viz. :—

> "(f) where a lessee has taken a lease for purposes of subletting or where the lessee has sublet the premises for a period of seven years or more".

122A. The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan moved that in line 3 of clause 15 (2) (e) the word "or" be omitted, and that after the word "taxes" in the same line the words "or cesses" be inserted.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. O'Malley.

He said :—

" My Lord, this is a consequential amendment. As amendments Nos. 56 and 57 have been carried this is necessary."

The motion was put and agreed to.

123. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after clause 15 (2)(e) the following be added, viz. :—

" (f) where the value of any premises has increased owing to the opening out of a road or square or similar other works of improvements in the close vicinity of the premises ".

He said :—

" My Lord, if there is a change in the condition of the premises, the standard rent will not apply. This is also one of the cases in which the Controller may be empowered to fix a fair rent, and therefore I move for the addition of this sub-clause."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

" My Lord, what the Hon'ble Member in charge said about amendment 121 applies to this amendment also, and I oppose it for the same reasons."

The motion was then put and lost.

124. The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq was to have moved that for the words " at any time since the first day of April, 1914," in lines 4 and 5 of clause 15 (2) (i) the following be substituted, viz. :—

" at any time before the first day of April, 1916," and for the figures " 1914 " in line 6 of the same clause the figures " 1916 " be substituted.

The Hon'ble Member being absent, the motion was deemed to have been withdrawn.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

125. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that after the figures " 1914 " in line 5 of clause 15 (2) (i) the words " with the addition of ten per cent." be inserted.

126. The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter to move that in line 6 of clause 15 (2) (i) for the words and figures " since the 1st day of April, 1914 ", the following be substituted, viz. :—

" between the 1st day of April, 1914, to the 1st day of April, 1919."

127. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri, in the absence of the Hon'ble Mr. M. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri, moved that for the words " fix such standard rent as he may deem just " in lines 10 and 11 of clause 15 (2) (i), the following be substituted, viz. :—

" increase the rent of twenty-five per cent. and fix any premium or other like sum as he may deem just".

He said :—

" My Lord, I move the amendment that stands in the name of the Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri without any speech."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Maharajadhraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Mr. G. N. Roy.

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, as the Hon'ble Mr. Ashraf Ali is not here I really cannot make out why he has put this amendment in. The reason why we have put in 'premium' here is not to enable the Controller to allow any premium but to take all the circumstances into consideration in fixing what is the just standard rent. The addition proposed by Mr. Ashraf Ali practically means that the Controller is to increase the rent by 25 per cent. and fix any premium that he may deem just. I am, therefore, unable to accept the amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

128. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that at the end of clause 15 (2) (i) the words "with the addition of ten per cent." be added.

129. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that after clause 15 (2) (i) the following be added, viz. :—

> "Provided further that in the foregoing cases the standard rent shall be fixed at a sum equivalent to an income of not less than seven per cent. on the valuation of the premises to be determined by the Controller".

130. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that at the end of clause 15 (2) (ii) the following be added, viz. :—

> "(2 a) In any proceeding for the recovery of any sum due under this Act, the Controller shall, on the application of the landlord or the tenant, grant a certificate specifying the amount due in accordance with the provisions of this Act, and if such sum be not paid within a fortnight from the date of the certificate the same shall, on application to that end, be executed by the court to which suits relating to property ordinarily lie".

He said :—

"My Lord, this amendment is both in the interest of the landlord and the tenant because it will obviate the necessity of litigation in a court of law involving heavy expenses. The Controller has been made an authority in many matters relating to landlords and tenants. If a landlord can satisfy the Controller that a tenant owes him a certain amount or where a tenant can prove, to the satisfaction of the Controller, that a certain sum is due to him, a certificate from the Controller should be sufficient for the court within the jurisdiction of which the property stands to issue an order for payment of the sum. This is, I believe, analogous to the practice prevailing in the mufassal under the Bengal Tenancy Act. I think this is a simple procedure and should be accepted both in the interest of the landlord and the tenant."

The Hon'ble Mr. G. N. Roy said :—

"My Lord, I think there is some misapprehension in the mind of the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur. He seems to forget that the Controller is a person to determine only the standard rent and not to adjudicate on any dispute as to the amount of rent payable by the tenant. That is the function of the court and the court must determine it. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur wishes the Controller to be a smaller cause court if I may say so, for he wishes that the certificate of the Controller is to have the force of a decree. I am sure that the Council will not permit the Controller's certificate to be accepted as the judgment of a court. I, therefore, oppose the amendment on behalf of Government."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, it is provided in another place that a landlord should obtain a certificate from the Controller as regards the standard rent and the amount due from a tenant. I think, having regard to the fact that a certificate from the Controller is necessary in such cases, the landlord and the tenant should not be compelled to go to court; a certificate from the Controller ought to be sufficient to enable either of the parties to realise his dues. This is a simple procedure, and I think there is such a procedure under the Bengal Tenancy Act, which is known as the certificate procedure. If something of that sort, with such modification as Government might suggest, be adopted it would be for the benefit of both the landlords and the tenants, otherwise it would open the door still wider to the lawyers."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, I beg to withdraw amendment No. 131."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, I was willing to accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, if that be so, I may be permitted to move it."

131. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri then moved that before the word "copy" in both places in which it occurs in clause 15 (4), the word "certified" be inserted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

New Clause 15 A.

132. The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter moved that after clause 15 the following be inserted, viz.—

Landlords may apply to Controller to assess a fair rent in certain cases.

"15 A. Notwithstanding the provisions of this Act either the landlord or the tenant may apply to the Controller to assess a fair rent in any of the following cases:—

(a) where the tenant satisfies the Controller that the rent allowable under the other provisions of this Act yields to the landlord a net return of more than six and a half per cent. per annum on the estimated cost of erecting the building on the 1st day of April, 1919, less a reasonable amount to be deducted on account of depreciation, if any, and the estimated value of the land on such date; or

(b) where the landlord satisfies the Controller that the rent allowable under the provisions of this Act yields to him a net return of less than six per cent. per annum on the estimated cost of erecting the building on the 1st day of April, 1919, less a reasonable amount to be deducted on account of depreciation, if any, and the estimated value of the land on such date, and the Controller shall, in either case, fix the rent at a figure which will yield to the landlord a net return of six and a half per cent. per annum on such date".

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. O'Malley.

He said :—

"My Lord, this is a new clause and the object of it is to do justice both to landlords and tenants. We have been discussing a good deal as to what should be the proper data for fixing the standard rent and various questions were raised as to the standard rents for the superior landlord, the intermediate landlord and the tenant who is in actual occupation of a house. All these difficulties will disappear and justice will be done to all grades of landlords and tenants if my amendment be accepted. When we were discussing an amendment of the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur in which he wanted to give 7 per cent. on the valuation of the premises to be determined by the Controller, the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said that the result of accepting that amendment would be to increase the work of the Controller a good deal. Now what I suggest is that those who can satisfy the Controller that the automatic standard rent yields less than 6½ per cent., can ask him to raise the standard rent and those who can satisfy the Controller that the standard rent yields more than 6½ per cent., can ask him to lower the standard rent. If the amendment of Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur were accepted, it would have been necessary to go to the Controller at every stage, whereas the stage at which I want to bring him in is only when the landlord or the tenant can prove to the satisfaction of the Controller that he has been rather hardly treated. Suppose that a landlord has already raised the rent of his house to 200 per cent., if we follow the automatic standard rent method of the Bill we allow him another 10 per cent. increase. That is neither justice nor common sense. On the other hand, take the case of a landlord like Mr. Phelps who has not raised his rent for years, who wants to raise his rent ; all that he need do is to go to the Controller and say I have spent so much on the property and I want a 6½ per cent. return. My amendment, if accepted, will remove the very serious anomaly which the Act, as at present drafted, lends itself open to, namely, the anomaly of the rent that a landlord can charge and that of the rent which a man in actual occupation of a house can charge from a sub-tenant. I submit that my proposition is quite reasonable. At present one gets 5½ per cent. from war bonds free of income-tax and 6½ per cent. with income-tax with all the trouble of land-holding seems to be reasonable. It is only 1 per cent. more than what one gets from Government securities."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, I may be permitted to mention briefly some of the duties which are already imposed on the Controller by this Bill. The list of those duties has been increased in the course of the discussion of the Bill by making him a referee in cases of leases or agreements to leases for 5 years or upwards. References can be made to him if the landlord thinks the rent is unduly low and it requires no prophetic instinct to say that those references will not be few and far between but very numerous. Again, he may fix such standard rent as he may deem just in all cases in which salami has been paid. This was an addition made by the Select Committee, and I have no hesitation in saying that it will involve a very large number of cases to be settled by him; for the Council is aware that the payment of salami is common where shops are concerned and there are thousands of shops in Calcutta. Nor will the general provision that the Controller shall fix a standard rent where for any reason any difficulty arises in giving effect to this Act tend to render the life of the Controller a happy one. I trust I am not pessimistic, but I think the attitude the landlords have taken towards the Bill shows that they are likely to make difficulties arise in giving effect to it when passed into law. The effect will be to make the Controller a valuer in all cases covered by the amendment which are referred to him by landlords. I say the landlords, for I do not believe the tenants would refer to him, for in practice it will be found that few are in a position to produce proof of the cost of building a house on the 1st April, 1919, a date very favourable to the landlord."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"My Lord, about the increase of the duties of the Controller I must freely confess that I am not in sympathy with the point. Even if his duties increased the amendment ought to be accepted in justice to landlords and tenants. If the Act is to do what it is intended to do, namely, to give relief to the tenants, then if we do not make a provision like the one I have suggested, we cannot work the Act satisfactorily. And I do not think that the work of the Controller will increase very much. After all what would be his duties? In the first stage his duties will be more or less of an automatic nature. We have certain fixed datas and all that the Controller need do in most cases will be to get the rent fixed. Now as regards that duty it ought not to take a very long time.

As regards the reference of my friend, Mr. O'Malley, to the amendment for which I am responsible, namely, that in places where leases are for five years the Controller will have to certify that these leases are fair and just. I do not think there will be very many of that character. Therefore, as regards the picture of the Controller being overburdened with work I do not think there is much substance. Then as regards the difficulty of the fixing a 6½ per cent. return on outlay, those who are familiar with the duties of the assessment officers of the Calcutta Corporation who revise the assessment of a considerable number of houses within a comparatively short time will agree with me when I say it is not a very difficult task. No complicated system is necessary for this purpose, and a rough and ready method will do quite well, and if my suggestion is accepted justice would be done to both the landlords and tenants. My friend has not satisfactorily explained how the standard rent of a house which is going to be let out for the first time will be determined. However, my sole object was to bring this question to the notice of the Council and of the Goverment in order to make the Act a just one, and I leave the decision in the hands of Government."

The motion being put, a division was taken with the following results :—

The Ayes being 11 and the Noes 19, the motion was lost.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

133. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that after clause 15, the following be added, viz:—

"15 A. Notwithstanding the provisions of this Act a voluntary agreement between the landlord and the tenant shall be valid and binding as between the parties or their representatives or persons deriving title through them ".

134. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the word " Act " in line 2 of clause 16, the following be inserted, viz:—

" to fix the standard rent or to determine whether any premises are to be governed by this Act ".

He said :—

" My Lord, in the Bombay Act from which, I believe, most of the sections of this Act have been copied it is definitely stated that in order to fix the standard rent or to determine the rent the Controller may make enquiries but he cannot enter into a house."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" My Lord, the reason for which I oppose this amendment is that in the first place it is not necessary. The Controller is not going to do something which is not governed by this Act. Secondly, there may be other things for the Controller to do besides the fixing of the standard rent, although they may be in connection with the fixing of the standard rent. I, therefore oppose the amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

135. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that the words " used for human occupation " in lines 1 and 2 of the proviso to clause 16 be omitted.

He said :—

" My Lord, this clause enables the Controller to enter any house without giving notice although it is stated that houses used for human occupation shall not be so entered, but there are places where it is necessary to give notice because the owner may not be there at the time. Perhaps it will be more convenient if the owner is present when the Controller comes to inspect the building. The notice is obligatory under the Calcutta Municipal Act. I believe it is convenient for the purpose of inspection ; also for the proprietor if he be present can furnish any information that the Controller may want. It is a very simple amendment."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" My Lord, it is a simple matter and I accept it."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

Clause 17.

The following motion being consequential upon Amendment No. 134 was deemed to have been withdrawn :—

136. If motion No. 134 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that after the word " Act " in line 2 of clause 17 (1), the following be inserted, viz :—

> " to fix the standard rent or to determine whether a premises would be governed by this Act ".

137. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the words " apply for revision of " in line 4 of clause 18, the words " appeal against " be substituted.

He said :—

" My Lord, the ordinary procedure in the Calcutta Municipal Act is appeal. I think there is a lot of difference between appeal and revision. As in assessment cases an appeal is made to the Chief Judge of the Small Cause Court I suggest that the words 'appeal against' be substituted for the words 'apply for revision of.' The word 'revision' has of course, as I understand it, not the same effect as the words 'appeal against.' "

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

" I think, my Lord, that the amendment should not be accepted and the clause, as it stands drafted now, is better. After all, the question of appeal arises where there is a decision of the first court. That is not the idea here. The idea is that if the Controller passes an executive order there should be some sort of provision for going to a higher authority."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. G. N. Roy; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; The President; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

The Hon'ble Mr. G. N. Roy said :—

"My Lord, the Council will remember that the original word was 'reference' and the reference was to be to the Chief Judge of the Small Cause Court or the Civil Court. It was pointed out in the Select Committee that the word 'reference' had a particular meaning as in the Land Acquisition Act In deference to the wishes of the non-official members we put in the President of the Improvement Trust Tribunal as also we changed the word 'reference' to 'revision.' The word 'appeal' as now moved by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur was discussed, but we came to the conclusion that the word 'revision' was the more appropriate for the reasons given by the the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter. The amendment proposed does not make any change in substance and, after having discussed the matter thoroughly in Select Committee I do not think, we should accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I beg leave to withdraw the amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

138. Motion No. 131 being carried, the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that before the word "copy" in both places, in which it occurs in clause 18, the word "certified" be inserted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

139. If motion No. 137 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that for the word "revision" in both places in which it occurs in line 10, the word "appeal" be substituted.

The President said :—

"Amendment No. 140 has been misplaced. It should be discussed after 141. Therefore we should take 141 now."

141. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the words "shall be final" at the end of clause 18, the following be substituted, viz :—

> "shall relate back to the date of the decision of the Controller appealed against, and shall, subject to the right of the Controller to refix the rent of any premises should there be a change of conditions affecting the standard rent thereof, be final".

He said :—

"My Lord, my apprehension is that the order of the court may not correspond with the date fixed by the Controller against whose decision the appeal is made, and therefore I have proposed this addition so that if there is any revision of the order of the Controller, it shall take effect from the date of the decision of the Controller."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, we consider this unnecessary, and I do not think the Rai Bahadur has adduced any argument in favour of this addition, which can weigh with the Government. I therefore oppose it."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. G. N. Roy ; Mr. P. C. Mitter.

140. The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter moved that at the end of clause 18 the following be added, viz. :—

" subject, however, to revision by the High Court for the purpose of satisfying itself that the decree or order made by such President of the Tribunal or Court was in accordance with the provisions of law and for that purpose the High Court may call for the records of any case and pass such orders as it thinks fit ".

He said :—

" The object of this amendment is to give a right of revision to the High Court for the purpose of satisfying itself that an order has been passed according to law. We discussed this in the Select Committee and the point that I pressed before the Select Committee was this : that in spite of using the word 'final,' the High Court will have its power of interfering if a particular order is passed without jurisdiction. That will be only in case an order is passed without jurisdiction. But apart from jurisdiction the order may be illegal or it may not be illegal. I take one view of the tenant's right to sublet, Mr. O'Malley takes another view. In the Select Committee Mr. O'Malley put to me that if you give the right of revision to the High Court it will mean expensive litigation. But I will ask the Government and the Council to consider that it will mean expensive litigation and far more expensive litigation too if you do not give the right of revision. Take, for instance, the particular point of sub-tenancy—subletting a house on higher rent—the whole thing can be settled in two months' time if there be a provision for revision. But if there be no provision for revision the party affected will have the right to file a suit and to ask for an injunction and after the suit is decided to appeal from the decision, and that appeal is not likely to be decided till the Act has run its course. If you have applied for a revision then no court will give you an injunction, and the subsequent civil suit, if any, will be finished quickly. Therefore in the interest of speedy justice, I submit that the right of revision would be a better course. I would leave it to the Government to accept my amendment or not. I have placed my view before them. If it is not accepted, experience will show whether I am right or Government is right."

The Hon'ble Mr. G. N. Roy said :—

" My Lord, the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter mentioned this subject in the Select Committee and he contended that the High Court will have power to revise the proceedings of the Improvement Tribunal. It would appear that he has some doubt in the matter. Our position is that if the High Court have this right the Act does not take it away, but we do not wish to invite landlords to rush to the High Court by making a special provision in the law. This is a simple measure which is to last three years, and it is highly undesirable that the question of the standard rent to be fixed by the Controller should be the subject of prolonged litigation. We have provided a sufficient safeguard by giving the power of revision to the President of the Improvement Tribunal or to the Judge of Alipore, as the case may be. It was at the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter's suggestion that we adapted the President of the Improvement Tribunal. I do not think we can go any further and bring in the High Court as well.

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

" My Lord, I am sorry that I have been misunderstood, although I do not feel that I have given cause for any misunderstanding. My position in the Select Committee was just the same as here. As the Bill stands, a litigant has every right to go to the High Court, although the word 'final' is used. I also pointed out that in the Select Committee. I have also pressed for a different point, namely, that when an order without jurisdiction or unless you give a right of revision, the party affected will have a right of suit and that will mean a far more protracted litigation, the whole thing may be held specially as an Injunction. I am sorry that the Government Member has not replied to that part of my argument. I am free to confess that this aspect of the matter did not strike me before as clearly as it has struck me now and I did not bring forward this argument in the Select Committee when we had to go through the Bill very hurriedly. I submit that a right of revision will be better in the interest of speedy justice."

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

The motion was then put and lost.

142. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that clause 19 be omitted.

He said :—

"My Lord, clause 19 provides for penalties. I consider this clause to be unnecessary. In the first place clause 4 lays down that nothing shall be recoverable from the tenant over the standard rent or the sum liable under the Act, and clause 13 provides that the tenant can recover from the landlord the over-payment in whatever way he likes. In a court of law the landlord will have to make a solemn affirmation that the sum due is a sum recoverable under the Act. There is another provision too, that he must get a copy of a certificate from the Controller for anything beyond his standard rent, and therefore I think that this penalty clause is quite unnecessary. I have examined the English Act and can find no such provision. The excess is irrecoverable. There it is said that no excess shall be recoverable from the tenant, and therefore, if anything is paid, it shall be recoverable from the landlord. I think this penalty clause would only foster litigation; there are good and bad tenants as there are good and bad landlords and it is unnecessary to have criminal cases because, although it shall be decided by the President of the Tribunal, it would practically come under criminal class. I submit, therefore, that there is no necessity for this clause."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, I am not so sanguine as my hon'ble friend opposite is, about the chance of loopholes, and I consider that this clause being left in the Bill will have a very salutary effect. There may be cases in which we wanted to make an example of rapacious landlords who are likely to evade the provisions of the Bill. I therefore think that this is an essential clause, and it must be left in, and for these reasons, I strongly oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, should there not be a provision as well that the party who pays in spite of these provisions here, should also be penalised?"

The motion was then put and lost.

143. Motion No. 142 not being carried, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that the following be added at the end of clause 19 (1), viz. :—

> "Provided that no such complaint shall be entertained or lie unless the complainant has given notice in writing of the alleged over-payment to his landlord and filed a copy of the said notice in the Court of the Controller within a fortnight of the alleged over-payment".

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

He said :—

"My Lord, six months is the time given here, and if it is bonâ-fide complaint, I think notice ought to be given to the Controller and to the landlord, because then the bonâ-fide of the complaint will be clearly proved thereby. There are ignorant tenants as well as ignorant landlords. Of course it is quite understood that there are landlords who are much more ignorant than some tenants in the city and therefore some wily people may try and get the landlord into trouble under the cloak of this clause. Therefore, I think some such notice ought to be served upon the landlord."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, in the first place, I have got to point out that there is no court of the Controller under the Bill; and secondly, this clause is unnecessary as it would only lead to complications. I therefore oppose it."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, by 'court' I of course mean office and with Your Excellency's permission, I am willing to change it. There will be no complications at all. It is a very simple procedure, and the parties will be in a position to know what are the real facts."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motion being consequential upon motion No. 38 was deemed to have been withdrawn :—

144. If motion No. 38 be carried, the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that clause 19 (2) be omitted.

Clause 20.

145. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the word "repairs" in line 5 of clause 20, the words "improvements, additions or alterations" be inserted.

He said :—

"My Lord, this is also a penalty clause. Besides repairs there are also other works, such as additions, alterations and improvements. I think, therefore, the words suggested by me should be added to this clause."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, as regards the ordinary improvements and additions and alterations, the Rai Bahadur ought to be content with what comes in under the compliance of municipal requisitions, and I do not think, therefore, that these words are necessary, and I therefore oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, quite apart from complying with any municipal requisitions there may be other alterations and improvements which may be necessary in connection with a house, therefore I think that these words are necessary."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. G. N. Roy; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

146. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the word " premises " in lines 6 and 7 of clause 20, the words " or creates any new unauthorized easements " be inserted.

He said :—

" My Lord, there may be cases where the occupant of the house may, without the consent of the owner and in collusion with a neighbour, create an easement—opening a door or a window—and in order to guard against that I suggest that these words should be added to the clause."

The Hon'ble Mr. G. N. Roy said :—

" My Lord, I am not quite sure what the Hon'ble Member means by this clause The section is intended to prevent landlords and their agents from harassing their tenants by disturbing any easements and compelling them to leave their premises. A landlord cannot create an easement, new or old. If the amendment is meant against the tenants all I need say is that a tenant cannot create an easement in 3 years. Clauses (m), (o) and (p) of section 108 of the Transfer of Property Act are specificially mentioned in section 10 and they provide sufficient safeguards for the landlord."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

" I may mention, my Lord, that the clause begins thus : ' whoever in any case does these things'—and I submit that ' whoever ' includes both the owner and the occupier. There may be certain things done by the occupier of the house without the consent of the owner. I think it is rather putting the owner to great disadvantage. The tenant will have the advantage of this clause, and I think the owner of the house should also have an equal advantage, so that the tenant may be prevented from doing things which may injure the building in any way."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

147. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that at the end of clause 20, the following be added. viz :—

" and if the tenant, or any person deriving authority from him, be the offending party, the tenant shall further be liable to ejectment ".

Clause 20 A.

148. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that for the word " shall " in line 2 of clause 20A, the words " may, if necessary ", be substituted.

He said :—

" My Lord, the use of the word ' shall ' may mean that the only way of recovering a fine is by distraint, but the fine may be recovered in any other way, say, by deposits in the court."

The Hon'ble Mr. G. N. Roy said :—

" My Lord, the clause really follows the usual form ; the word ' shall does not mean ' must '. For instance, the tenant may deposit it in the court. and if he does not pay it, the only way of realising the money would be by distraint."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

149. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the word " landlord ", in line 4 of clause 20A, the words " person fined " be substituted.

He said :—

" My Lord, the position is this : clause 20 says that the landlord shall be fined. Clause 20A says that the fine shall be levied by the Controller by the distraint and sale of a sufficient portion of the moveable property of the landlord in accordance with the rules prescribed under section 22. My Lord, sections 19 and 20 begin with ' whoever '. ' Whoever ' may be any person ; it may be a neighbour or some other person who may have a grudge against the landlord, and may create trouble by breaking a water tap, or doing other injury, but even in that case it seems that the fine shall be realisable by distraint upon the landlord. Therefore I propose that instead of the word ' landlord ' we should have the words ' person fined '. If it is the landlord, it would be the landlord ; if it be other persons, it would be other persons."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" My Lord. I am willing to accept this amendment."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

Clause 21.

150. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the word " or " in line 3 of clause 21, the word " and " be substituted.

151. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the word " six " in line 3 of clause 21, the word " three " be substituted.

He said :—

" My Lord. six months is rather too long a time. In the Municipal Act three months is allowed, and I think that is quite sufficient. for a person who wants to make a complaint, whether tenant or landlord, to make up his mind. Six months is too long, and may encourage people with some grudge, to manufacture cases, having regard to the long time given to them to do it in."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" I am willing to accept this, my Lord."

The motion was put and agreed to.

New Clause 21A.

152. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after clause 21, the following be added, viz:— Defaulting tenants to pay rent in advance.

" 21A. If a tenant makes default in payment of his monthly rent within a week of its falling due, the landlord shall be entitled to realize from the tenant one month's rent in advance by way of security, and in case of continuing default, to realize rent for every month in the first week of that month ".

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

He said :—

" My Lord, having regard to a similar amendment accepted by the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur, if Your Excellency will be pleased to substitute the word ' fifteen days ' for the words ' a week,' I shall be grateful. It may not unoften happen that a tenant makes or continues to make default. I think it is necessary to guard against loss of rent, and this provision will not do any harm, and if a tenant is presistently in default, I think he should be required to deposit a month's rent in advance. I do not want him to be turned out, but it is only to safeguard the payment of rents. It is well known that there is a certain class of tenants in a certain part of the town who run away without paying any rents and without leaving any address, and you cannot find them out anywhere in Calcutta. Therefore it is necessary that this clause should be included."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" The amendment in which the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri proposed 15 days is quite a different one, but this is really a sort of penalising a defaulting tenant, by forcing him to pay rent in advance. I therefore oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

" My Lord, the only reply that the Hon'ble Member has given is that it would penalise the tenants. Instead of turning them out I suggest this. Is it in any way penalising them ? Or rather helping them because otherwise there is the more expensive procedure of applying to the court and getting immediate payment. Where is the penalty ?"

The motion being put, a division was taken with the following result :—

The Ayes being 10 and the Noes 21, the motion was lost.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

New Clause 21B.

153. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that after clause 21, the following be added, viz:—.

What standard rent to be in certain cases

" 21B. If a tenant does not, by previous notice in writing to the landlord, object to his present rental before the Controller within six months of this Act coming into force or in the case of a tenant coming into possession after this Act comes into force, within six months of his entering into possession, the rent which he is paying shall be deemed to be the standard rent of the premises during the period of his tenancy ".

Clause 22.

154. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the word " may " in line 1 of clause 22 (1), the words " after previous publication " be inserted.

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

" My Lord, I am willing to accept it."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

155. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the word " the " in line 1 of clause 22 (2) (1a), the words " practice and " be inserted.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. G. N. Roy ; The President ; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan ; Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur.

The Hon'ble Mr. G. N. Roy said :—

"My Lord, the amendment seems to be unintelligible. If it means method and practice of publication, all I need say is that the words 'method of publication' cover everything and whatever is necessary will be done. I think the words 'practice and' are unnecessary."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

156. Motion Nos. 131 and 138 being carried, the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that before the word "copy" in line 2 of clause 22 (2) (a), the word "certified" be inserted.

The President said :—

"Amendment No. 156 is consequential upon amendments 131 and 138 which have already been accepted by Government and therefore it is accepted by Government."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

157. The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur moved that after clause 22 (2) (b), the following be inserted, viz :—

"(b1) prescribing the manner of issuing notice upon the landlord in case of deposit under section 10, sub-section (3), and the payment thereof ".

He said :—

"My Lord, under clause 10 of the Bill tenants may deposit their rent ith the Controller, but I find by referring to clause 22 that rules may be framed prescribing certain procedures. If the rent is deposited and there is no rule to the effect how notices are to be served upon the landlords, all these rules are necessary and hence my amendment. I find in the Bengal Tenancy Act that rules have to be framed for the purpose."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, I am willing to accept it in a modified form if the hon'ble mover would accept it."

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"I accept it, my Lord."

The motion was then put in the following form and agreed to :—

"That after clause 22 (2) (b), the following be inserted, viz :—

(b 1) prescribing the manner of giving notice to the landlord in case of a deposit of rent under section 10, sub-section (3), and the method of withdrawal of the rent by the landlord."

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

158. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that in line 1 of clause 22 (2) (e), the following be inserted, viz:—

" in proceedings under this Act before the Controller, the President of the Tribunal, and the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in the district ".

159. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that after the word " of " in line 3 of clause 22 (2) (e), the word " such " be inserted.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; The President.

The following motion being consequential upon motions Nos. 137 and 139 was deemed to have been lost :—

Clause 23.

160. If motion Nos. 137 and 139 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that for the word "revising", in line 1 of clause 23 the words "hearing appeals from" be substituted.

161. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the word "erected" in line 1 of clause 24 the words "or re-erected" be inserted.

He said :—

"My Lord, the object of my amendment is this. Suppose there is a plot of land measuring, say, 4 or 5 cottahs and there is an old dilapidated building on it, the whole structure is pulled down and one or two buildings are constructed there. Am I to understand that this Act will apply to such buildings ? If so, I would like to add the words 'or re-erected' to clause 24. Of course, if it is said that the word 'erected' would cover these cases, then I do not want to press it. If not, I would insist on the insertion of the words 'or re-erected' in the clause."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, if a building is demolished and then it is re-erected again, that kind of re-erection is covered by clause 24. But if it is a partial re-erection, certainly it is not the intention that clause 24 should cover it, and therefore on behalf of Government I am unable to accept it."

The motion was then put and lost.

The President said :—

"Amendment No. 162 is consequential upon amendment No. 161 and therefore falls. As to amendment No. 163, clause 24 deals with the exemption of new buildings and it has nothing to do with the question of land acquisition. The matter should be raised in connection with the proposed new clause 25. Amendment No. 164 has been disposed of by a previous decision of the Council."

The following motions were then deemed to have been withdrawn :—

162. If motion No. 161 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that after the word "erection" in line 2 of clause 24 the words "or re-erection" be inserted.

164. The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq to move that at the end of clause 24 the following be added, viz. :—

"or to premises whose rent was below rupees two hundred and fifty a month, before the 1st day of April, 1916."

165. The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur moved that after clause 24 of the Bill the following be added, viz :—

"25. The "standard rent" under this Act shall not be considered to be the basis of any valuation under any proceedings under the Land Acquisition Act". Standard rent not to be the basis of valuation.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur ; Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur ; Mr. G. N. Roy.

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, this Act would put down the natural rise of rent of house properties in the city, and that being so, it stands to reason that this artificial depreciation of the rent value for the period of three years should not be the basis of land acquisition proceedings. Proceedings under the Land Acquisition Act will be going on at all times at the instance of public bodies such as the Improvement Trust, the Calcutta Corporation and also at the instance of joint stock companies and several Government Departments. It does not look fair that Government by a legislative enactment to put down the natural rise of rent value of house property should take advantage of it and acquire property on the basis of the rent which might be prevailing during these three years. In the case of a private person such conduct looks very ugly, and I therefore propose that there should be some express provision to the effect that advantage should not be taken of it by the Land Acquisition Collector or that the standard rent should not be the basis of land acquisition proceedings."

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I beg to support this amendment. I have a similar amendment No. 166 although I have drafted it in general terms. The object of my amendment is based upon similar reasons. In cases of land acquisition proceedings for the purpose of acquiring land, the chief factor of valuing the land or building is the rent, and the question therefore arises whether the rent receivable during the three years will be one of the factors for determining the valuation of land. In my humble opinion that ought not to be. The normal rent of the building or land should be considered as one of the factors in valuing the land or building, and for this reason I submit to the Council that the rent which is controlled by the Act ought not to be the basis of calculation in valuing the land. I support amendment No. 165, and I have already put forward my views in connection with my amendment No. 166."

The Hon'ble Mr. G. N. Roy said :—

"I rise to oppose the proposal. I notice that there are three other amendments on the same lines. I can appreciate the apprehension of the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur who appears to be Knighterrant of the landlords in this Council. No such apprehension was voiced by him or by anyone else in the Select Committee. He will probably find that he is tilting at a windmill in this instance. I am surprised, however, that such eminent lawyers as Rai Bahadur Debender Chunder Ghose and Rai Bahadur Mahendra Nath Mitra shall feel the same apprehension, viz., that the Act before us will affect in any way the proceedings under the Land Acquisition Act. My Lord, it is not a new thing which we have discovered or evolved. An Act was passed in England some time ago. Bombay and Rangoon have passed their measures. It may be expected that the authors who passed the measures in Bombay and Rangoon have accomplished their task, looking before and after. They felt no apprehension. The suggestion apparently is that Government will be deliberately lowering the rent just to acquire land at a small value."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"That is not the suggestion."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. G. N. Roy; Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur.

The Hon'ble Mr. G. N. Roy continuing said :—

"I am glad to hear that. This is a piece of emergency legislation which is being passed on account of extreme necessity and is going to last only for three years. Why should the standard rent which we are fixing have anything to do with the valuation of land which the Land Acquisition officers have to determine? The law is that they are to proceed upon the market value of the land which is to be acquired. The market value of land is worlds apart from the standard rent which we are fixing for three years.

If the contention be, that the Land Acquisition authorities will proceed upon the basis of the actual rents paid for a series of years, the simple answer is that the Land Acquisition Judge is not likely to be guided by the controlled rents of the three years during which the Act will be in force. I have some knowledge and experience as a Judge and I can hardly believe that any Judge or other authority will depart from the ordinary principles of law and base their award on the standard rents which we are fixing. This is all that need be said.

I am not unmindful of the subtle thought which was probably in the back of the far-seeing hon'ble gentleman's mind and which he has not voiced. It is this: what will happen if by controlling rents in this fashion the market value of land goes down? In the first place the majority of the people of Calcutta will rejoice. We are looking forward to a time when we are going to have more buildings, more suburbs and so on and if the land value goes down many of us will have a chance of having a place somewhere in the sun of Calcutta. Some observers tell us that this Act will make no change in the land values of Calcutta. If that is so, our hon'ble friends are safe. If they do fall, will the amendment make any difference? Not the slightest. The fall is there and the Land Acquisition officers will have to proceed upon a factor, that is, the land value. They cannot be forced to go back upon the previous market value unless of course we alter the Land Acquisition Act. I do not suppose that either the hon'ble mover or his friends propose to remodel the Land Acquisition Act to counteract the effects of this Act. As I have said, the matter is entirely irrelevant. The market value is not connected with what we are going to do, and the fixing of standard rent will not affect in any way the proceedings of the Land Acquisition officer.

My Lord, I oppose the amendment on the ground that it is irrelevant."

"My Lord, we have been told that the Land Acquisition Collector will ascertain the market value and then pay awards accordingly, but in ascertaining the market value he will have to ascertain the rent of a certain number of years. There are also other ways of valuing a property where the ground is more than is necessary for the main building and the owner can put up a second house on the ground, where the Collector does not proceed on the rent value but ascertains the value of the land independent of the building and that of the building independent of the land. But it is only in few cases that this is done. In the majority of cases he looks to the rent of the house and then fixes the value as the market value. What would be the effect of leaving the Act as it is? If it is not intended to depreciate the rent value of Calcutta property, then where is the necessity of this Act? The Act intends to put down the natural rise of rent in the town of Calcutta, and therefore I think I am right in saying that it will affect the value of house properties in Calcutta for three years. If Government pass an Act of this kind and then go on with land acquisition proceedings on the basis of the standard value as fixed under this Act, it will certainly be hard upon the property owners. I have said that it will be rather ugly in the case of a private gentlemen who will think twice before going on in that way. I think the code of honour is equally applicable to the State. Therefore I think I am right in suggesting that Government would be acting fairly if they were to say in so many words that though we have passed this Act as a temporary measure for the relief of persons who find it hard to get house accommodation at a reasonable rent, the standard rent fixed under this Act for a period of three years is not to be considered as indicating the market value of the land. The land acquisition Officers work under the control of Government and they have no option in formulating their own views as to what is the market value. If they find that the temper of Government is that the rent value of the properties should be checked in its rise then it would be lowered to some extent during the period of three years. Where is the harm in laying down in so many words in this Act that the land acquisition proceedings should proceed independently of the rent fixed under this Act?"

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

Act not to affect market value of buildings under the Land Acquisition Act.

166. The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur to move that after clause 24, the following be added, viz:—

"25. Nothing in this Act shall affect the market value of lands and buildings to be determined under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 ".

Stay of proceedings before the Controller in certain cases.

167. The Hon'ble Mr. M. Ashraf Ali Khan Chaudhuri was to have moved that after clause 24 the following be added, viz :—

" 25. (1) Whenever on an application made for possession or enhancement of rent under this Act, the occupant binds himself with two sureties in a bond for such amount as the Controller thinks reasonable, having regard to the value of the property and probable costs of the suit, to institute without delay a suit in the High Court or in the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in the district against the applicant for compensation for trespass and for enhancement of rent, and to pay all costs of such suit in case he does not prosecute the same or in case judgment therein is given for the applicant, the Controller shall stay proceedings on such application until such suit is disposed of.

(2) If the occupant obtains a decree in any such suit against the applicant, such decree shall supersede the order (if any) under this Act ".

The Hon'ble Member being absent, the motion was deemed to have been withdrawn.

168. The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray moved that after clause 24, the following be added, viz:—

Corporation of Calcutta not to raise assessment.

" 25. During the period this Act shall remain in force, the Corporation of Calcutta shall not raise its assessment of any premises over the standard rent on the ground of the increase of value, when any standard rent has been fixed in respect of the said premises ".

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray said :—

"My Lord, under clause 2 of the Bill standard rent in relation to any premises should be the rent at which the premises were let on the 1st November 1918, or where they were not let on that date, the rent at which they were last let before that date, and after the 1st of April 1916 with the addition in either case of 10 per cent. on such rent, and under section 15, if there has not been an increase of rent or if the rent at which the premises were last let was in the opinion of the Controller unduly low, then the Controller may fix a fair rent, so that you always get a fair rent fixed for the house. If that be the case and when there are these data to go upon, I really do not understand why the Calcutta Corporation should again interfere with a valuation in respect of the same premises. This is all I have got to say, my Lord.'

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. Gurner.

The Hon'ble Mr. Gurner said :—

"My Lord, it is to a thankless and difficult task that I rise in stating the position of the Calcutta Corporation in regard to this amendment. Government, I understand, have an open mind on the subject, and it will rest with the free decision of this Council whether or not the scope of this emergency Rent Bill should be extended to affect the whole system of municipal assessment. I was explaining last night that the rental assessment of Calcutta is based on the valuation, taken to correspond to the fair rent, the rent at which the premises may reasonably be expected to let from year to year and that assessments once made cannot be enhanced within a period of six years. Now when this Act first comes into force, I am quite ready to admit that there will be a very few cases in which the fair rent does not correspond with the standard rent. There will be a few cases, as for instance, when the premises are let within the family at an extraordinary low rent, or as part of a business arrangement. In the latter cases, we assess on the actual rent paid. Besides this, we have to face the question of the operations of this Act which the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter has raised more than once. Let us take two possible cases. Suppose the landlord, after the standard rent is fixed, instals two broken chairs and useless almirahs and insists on letting his premises 50 per cent. above the standard rent. In a case like that our assessing officers would be entitled to take the fair rent as something more than the standard rent of the premises. Another obvious experience would be for a tenant to pay the landlord a salami of of Rs. 2,000 plus the fine of Rs. 1,000 notwithstanding the terms of the Act ; he will of course have to pay his rent into the bargain. That is a procedure which we have met with in the Corporation in theatre cases ; as I say probably there would be circumstances arising out of the Act in which we should find the fair rent to be a little more than the standard rent. That much for the immediate present.

Now let us put ourselves two years further off, when this Act comes to an end. You will recollect that the assessment made in the year 1922 will be valid for six years, whereas you may take it for certain that by that time all these rents will have risen above the present rate. If the Act should be extended, presumably a higher percentage will be allowed, but that would be no benefit to the rates which had actually been fixed in 1922. What we should have to do in 1922, if we are bound to take the standard rent as the fair rent, is to fix our rates on the rents paid in 1918 plus 10 per cent. although that assessment has to stand for another six years up to the year 1928. In 1927 and in the early part of 1928 the lucky owners would still be paying rates on a basis of the rents of 1918 plus 10 per cent. Is that fair to the city finances, or to the tenants in other wards of the city which had had previously been assessed ?

Then again, I should like to point out the numerous practical difficulties which come from simply tagging this clause on to the present Act. To begin with, the unit of our present assessment is a building ; the unit of the standard rent is the premises which may be a part of a building or room. Therefore we shall have buildings in which one room or a suite of rooms only has been assessed to the standard rent. Therefore as far as I can follow the present amendment, we shall be bound to assess the whole building on the standard rent or we shall have to go into very difficult calculations. Again, there may be several standard rents, whereas we have only one rate. The Hon'ble Mr. Mitter gave instances earlier in the day of kinds of sub-letting. Are we to take the basis of our valuation on these varying rents paid to the sub-landlords? There is one much more important difficulty which did not occur to the Hon'ble Members on the other side of the House, and that is this: that in section 567 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, the land acquisition value is presumed to be 25 times the municipal valuation; therefore if the standard rent does correspond to the municipal valuation, then the acquisition rate of the premises will be presumed to be 25 times the standard rent which is just what the Hon'ble Members want to avoid.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. Gurner.

These are the practical difficulties which come most prominently before one when we consider this amendment, and it is quite impossible at this late hour to go further into the technical difficulties. I would, however, as the matter is to be decided by free vote in the Council, warn Hon'ble Members most seriously against the possible effect of this Bill on our municipal revenues. I do not know whether the Council realises the storms that we are weathering under the Rent Bill. I think, under the new system, we are going to lose over a lakh of rupees in our markets alone, and it would be disturbing the whole system under which we have built up these markets. By an amendment moved yesterday by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, our whole educational policy has been hampered because it has transferred to the occupier, the whole of the liability for any educational cess which may be raised in the future, to give effect to the scheme of education put forward by Government. These are the obstacles we are going to meet with, and now we are faced with a much more radical danger of equalising the standard rent with the fair rent, the effects of which are more lasting and more widening.

I need hardly emphasise the capital needs with which we are faced in the near future. There is the large question of water-supply. There is the question of the wholesale revision of the pay of our staff, which will run into more than 2 lakhs; there is the new educational policy and there is the development of the undeveloped areas, which is in itself a matter of the highest importance as regards the extension of houses in Calcutta. If our revenues are docked or curtailed by the acceptance of the amendment now before the Council, you risk impeding the execution of the large capital improvements to which we have looked forward in the near future; you risk even curtailing most fundamental municipal activities, for instance, the improvement of the water-supply. I would appeal to Your Excellency and this Council, and to the Hon'ble Member in charge of this Bill, as I understand he is still open to persuasion, not to let emergency legislation like this, disturb the revenue system on which the city finances are based. I would ask the Council not to let a casual vote in a jaded Council have the effect of impairing the revenue system on the basis of which the city has built up its financial position, perfectly healthily, perfectly normally, without injustice, notwithstanding what our critics might say, and in accordance with the accepted principles of British municipal administration since the days of the Justices of the Peace."

On the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter rising to speak, the President said :—

"I think it would be better that the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur should explain the position of Government before continuing the debate further."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan; Mr. Phelps.

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, Government have an open mind on this subject, and are willing to leave it to the free vote of the Council. In case, however, the Council accepts the amendment, Government would then accept it in a modified form, as follows :—

"During the continuance of this Act, the Corporation of Calcutta or any other local authority shall not raise its assessment of any premises above the standard rent on the ground of the increase of value."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said :—

"My Lord, Mr. Gurner has explained the position, and I am very glad to see that his opinions concur with mine. I take it to be most fortunate in that my opinion coincides with his. I did not know what the Hon'ble Mr. Gurner's opinions were before he spoke, as I have never had an opportunity of discussing the matter with him, but I have had some experience in the Corporation, and I may add my little mite of evidence in support of what I consider the highest authority in Calcutta at the present moment in these matters. The proposals, my Lord, appear at first sight so very innocent and reasonable that one is apt to accept them without doubt, but from my own experience with regard to assessment in the Corporation, I came to the conclusion—in fact I became aware two years ago of the fact—that it is admitted, openly admitted, by municipal commissioners, that the city is actually under-assessed, notwithstanding that we have many complaints from landlords that they have been over-assessed. I have made particular inquiries into these matters,—I am jealous of the good name of the Corporation—and I have challenged those who have asserted that they have been over-assessed, to give me particular figures, so that I would investigate them myself. My challenge has never been accepted; on the contrary, as I said before, I discovered in 1918 that the city was so much under-assessed because of the habit of many landlords of taking advantage of the six-yearly assessment and raising their rents during that period. I have the other day given you some startling figures about the rise in rents that have been demanded by landlords. I may tell you now that in many cases I have personally investigated the assessments in these particular cases, and in every one of those cases that I investigated, I found that these preposterous rises which have been made, were made on the plea that they have been re-assessed but, as a matter of fact, the assessment had not been raised. Therefore, so many landlords were actually, if I may use the words, cheating the Corporation out of their just dues on the one hand, and squeezing the tenants on the other. I have made this statement on other occasions too, but the fact needs hammering in; in fact I was so impressed with this under-assessment owing to the horrible system of charging or making profit out of the assessment, that when I first started on this propaganda, I advocated in a Rent Bill, not an imitation of the Bombay Act, nor an imitation of the Rangoon Act, but a simple return to the positive assessment. I said over and over again that if landlords would charge their rents according to assessment, there would be no necessity for a Rent Bill whatever, and I say so now. But I was not listened to. I have told this story over and over and over again in every assembly that I have addressed, for the last two years past. I insisted upon this in the Rent Committee; I was not listened to. I was not listened to in the Corporation, and it was not until I got into this Council that my words were listened to with respect. I suggest that these amendments may not be accepted by Government instead of that we have got a Rent Bill, and I give my blessings on it."

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Mr. P. C. Mitter; Mr. Gurner.

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"I find it rather difficult to follow my hon'ble friend, Mr. Phelps, and the difficulty is all the greater because I find that he has delivered a long speech at the fag end of the day, without even taking the trouble to read the amendment which the Hon'ble Member in charge is going to accept. His speech, so far as I could follow it, only amounts to this; that the landlords in the past —I am sure he has always got the landlords in his brain—have been cheating the Corporation. Hard words do not always carry conviction. But what is this amendment that we have before us, viz., that the Corporation of Calcutta or any other local body shall not raise their assessment of any premises over the standard rent. Now we have the standard rent. If we have the standard rent what is the good of talking to us about the past good deeds or the past misdeeds of landlords. With great respect I say, that he has not added either to our wisdom or our knowledge on the points which we have got to consider at the present moment. No doubt Mr. Phelps has said that he was never listened to in this place and that place. My sympathy goes to him, but if he does not confine himself to the points at issue, I am afraid he will find himself at the same disadvantage in this house also. My Lord, we have heard a good deal of the iniquities of the landlord, but I have here with me a piece of paper giving particulars of the way in which assessments have been raised by the Corporation. In 18, Bagh Bazar Street, the assessment was raised 45 per cent., in 21-1, Bagh Bazar Street, it was raised by 126·5 per cent. Again in 5-2, Brindaban Pal Lane, the assessment was raised by the high figure of 1,416·5 per cent."

The Hon'ble Mr. Gurner said :—

"May I inquire whether these assessments are on a rental basis, or whether they are on the basis of valuation?"

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"I cannot give the information. The Corporation's plea is that there is a general rise in rent. With regard to 13, Hira Lall Mitter Street, on the ground of general rise of rent in the locality, the assessment has been increased by 250 per cent. This is enough I think, and I do not want to tire the patience of the Council. I can quote a number of figures like these, but I do not blame the Corporation for it. They would be wanting in their duty if they did not follow the provision of section 151 of the Municipal Act, and that is the reason why there is the necessity of this amendment or a similar amendment. Under section 151 it is their duty to assess on the basis of the present estimated rental, and any Corporation officer would be failing in his duty, if he does not act according to the provision of that section. For this reason the amendment is necessary. But, my Lord, if this Act is intended to give some relief to tenants that relief can hardly be given if this inflated assessment due to no fault of the Corporation but due to speculation in land and houses is allowed, it must necessarily follow that such assessment would raise the price of land and houses. Therefore some amendment of this nature is very necessary.

With regard to what the Hon'ble Mr. Gurner has said, I have every sympathy with the Corporation for increasing their revenues as they have increased their expenditure, and for that reason in the amendment which stands in my name, I have limited the rise to 10 per cent. I would not object to 10 or 20 per cent., but I would protest strongly against 200 or 250 per cent.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

Babu Surendra Nath Ray; The President.

After all, this Act will remain in force for three years and therefore I am in favour of taking some action in the matter of checking the rise in assessment, because in that way the good effect, if any, of the Rent Act will be lost to a very great extent."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray said :—

"My Lord, I accept the form of the amendment as proposed by the Hon'ble Member in charge."

The President said :—

"The Council understands that the amendment in the form which I now propose to put it from the Chair is left to the unfettered decision of the Council, officials have liberty to vote as they think proper."

The motion being put, a division was taken with the following result :—

Assessment by Corporation of Calcutta.

" 25. During the period this Act shall remain in force the Corporation of Calcutta shall not raise its assessment by more than ten per cent. on the last assessment on any premises on any of the following grounds:—

(a) increase of value of land,

(b) increase in the estimated present cost of erecting the building, and

(c) the gross annual rental at which the land and building or the premises might reasonably be expected to let from year to year."

The President said :—

" Motion No. 169 is disposed of by the decision which the Council has reached on the previous amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

" My Lord, may I make a suggestion as regards clause (c) of my motion No. 169 ?

My motion is undoubtedly disposed of so far as clause (c) is concerned, but I would ask Your Excellency to consider whether clauses (a) and (b) have also been disposed of ? Clause (c) relates to houses assessed on rental basis and this is undoubtedly disposed of by the previous amendment, but (a) and (b) deal with houses not assessed on a rental basis."

The President—Adjournment.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President said :—

"It is not my intention, as is customary, to address the Council this evening, partly because the legislative programme is by no means complete and certain important measures which have been introduced, such as the Bengal Alluvial Lands Bill, the Bengal Agricultural and Sanitary Improvement Bill will be proceeded with during the coming months ; and secondly, because a more appropriate occasion for my delivering a valedictory address to this Council will arise in September next when it is probable that the Council as it now exists will hold its last sitting. Under these circumstances, I now propose that the Council should adjourn sine die."

ADJOURNMENT.

The Council was then adjourned sine die.

J. F. GRAHAM,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal and Secy. to the Bengal Legislative Council.

CALCUTTA,

The 21st May 1920.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1920.

The President; Mr. P. C. Mitter.

The President said :—

"The Hon'ble Member will see that the governing clause of this amendment is that the Corporation of Calcutta is not to raise its assessment by more than 10 per cent. That is to say his amendment will give the Corporation the right to raise the assessment by 10 per cent. The Council has already decided that during the continuance of this Act the Corporation shall not raise the assessment of any premises above the standard rent. It is therefore out of order to move an amendment which would empower the Corporation to raise their assessment by 10 per cent."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"I must bow to Your Excellency's decision."

The motion was then deemed to have been withdrawn.

The following motion was then deemed to have been withdrawn.

163. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that after the word "Act" in line 3 of clause 24, the following be added, viz:—

"and also shall not apply in the matter of determining the compensation payable in respect of any premises which may be acquired under the Land Acquisition Act".

169A. The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan moved that consequent on motion No. 28 being carried in an amended form, the following amendments be made :—

WIRELESS METEOROLOGICAL INFORMATION TO AND FROM SHIPS AT SEA.

General Remarks.

No. 122 (third publication).—The following particulars, etc., relative to the above, issued by the British Admiralty (No. 478 of 1920), are republished :—

* Former Notice—No. 8 of 1920 ; hereby cancelled.

1. It is earnestly hoped that all concerned will assist in making the wireless meteorological service a success. Negotiations are now in hand to extend and unify the system of collecting weather data by wireless from ships at sea all over the world, and at the same time to organise the free transmission of weather bulletins from a sufficient number of wireless stations to admit of ships being constantly supplied with reliable weather reports and forecasts wherever they may be.

2. It should be borne in mind that the needs of ships at sea in regard to information regarding the weather will march hand in hand with the requirements of aircraft. The importance of this service will therefore be constantly increasing and its success or failure will largely depend upon the co-operation of ships at sea in providing the data without which accurate forecasting is impossible. The matter does not depend solely upon the efforts of the ships selected to furnish the data. The essence of success lies in rapidity in passing such data by wireless from the ship to the coast station, and thence to the central meteorological office. It follows, therefore, that all ships not taking an active part in supplying data should use the greatest care not to interfere with the transmission of the wireless messages to the shore.

3. The following particulars refer to the scheme now being undertaken by the British Meteorological Office. This notice will, however, be subject to revision from time to time, and endeavours will be made to include in each revision all information available to date of the weather bulletins issued by the wireless stations of the world. Earnest endeavours are being made to obtain international agreement as to the form of these weather bulletins and to the methods and times of transmissions. It is hoped that the messages will eventually all be made in an international code at fixed times, so arranged that a ship with only one wireless operator will be able to read them. A similar scheme for time signals is being evolved.

Collection of Weather Data from Ships.

4. Certain ships are being asked to supply data regularly three times a day and in addition to the regular observations, which are taken at 0100, 0700 and 1300 Greenwich time and sent as soon as possible to Malin head (GMH) or Valentia (GCK) coast stations, these ships may, on request from either of these coast stations, send special data messages at other times.

5. Precise instructions as to the procedure for ships which intend to send a data message, together with the necessary code, will be issued at an early date.

Issue of Weather Bulletins to Ships.

6. A wireless weather bulletin may contain both or either of the following:—

(a) A weather report, which is an official statement of existing weather conditions; and-or

(b) A weather forecast, which is an official opinion of probable future weather conditions.

7. The accompanying schedule of wireless weather bulletins is intended to provide, in a form suitable to give all information required by the wireless operator, a complete and up-to-date list of all weather bulletins transmitted at fixed times by wireless stations throughout the world. The same information will be found in detail in the Sailing Directions and in the International List of Radiotelegraph Stations (the Berne List).

8. The times given in the third column of the schedule are expressed in the 4-figure notation employed for signalling during the war. The term "G.M.T." here means the civil mean time of the meridian of Greenwich with the day commencing at midnight and the hours reckoned from 00 to 23.

9. Operators are reminded that Article 45 of the International Service Regulations imposes the general obligation of not interfering with reception of weather bulletins by other ships.

10. Certain other stations not shown in the schedule supply weather bulletins on demand, generally at reduced charges. Particulars will be found in the Berne List.

DARJEELING, THE 24TH MAY 1920.

RESOLUTION No. 84T.—M.

IN introducing the Calcutta Rent Bill in the Bengal Legislative Council, the Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan stated that Government realized that legislation for the restriction of rents was in itself not sufficient to solve the housing problem in Calcutta and that Government were considering the adoption of further measures for the improvement of existing conditions. At present, one of the chief obstacles to the expansion and development of Calcutta is the difficulty which building societies and companies experience in obtaining land and securing a firm title. It was on this account that the Calcutta Rents Committee recommended that Government should utilize the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act to acquire land for bodies which had been formed definitely for the provision of housing accommodation. There is evidence that private enterprise is prepared to take up housing schemes provided that it is granted reasonable facilities for the acquisition of land; and Government have accordingly decided to accept the recommendation of the Committee and to acquire land under the Land Acquisition Act on behalf and at the cost of registered companies formed for housing purposes whose schemes are approved by Government, so long as emergent measures are necessary for the development of Calcutta. In order to give effect to this decision, an officer will be placed on special duty, under the title of Development Commissioner, who will be required to examine the schemes put forward by private companies, to obtain full information about them and to advise Government whether land should be acquired and, if so, upon what conditions. It will also be the duty of this officer to ascertain whether Government or any local authority or railway has proposals in view or work in hand which may affect or be affected by the building schemes proposed. For this purpose, he will be a member of the Calcutta Public Works Conference, which contains representatives of Government, the Railways, the Corporation of Calcutta, the Calcutta Improvement Trust, the Port Commissioners and six suburban municipalities. Each scheme will be considered by Government on its merits and with reference to its public utility, and if accepted by Government, such conditions will be imposed as will safeguard the interests of the public, for while Government are of opinion that the existing shortage of houses in Calcutta and its neighbourhood justifies them in making use of the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act for the purpose of making good the deficiency in the interests of the public at large, it is equally clear to them that they would not be justified in using the Act in furtherance of speculative schemes whose primary object is that of enriching their promoters. Pending the appointment of the special officer above referred to, applications from those desirous of having land acquired for building purposes in Calcutta or its neighbourhood should be made to the Collector of Calcutta.

By order of the Governor in Council,

L. S. S. O'MALLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 2032.

Simla, the 26th May 1920.

THE Report of the Committee which was appointed in resolution No. 2168, dated the 14th October 1919, to investigate the disturbances in Bombay, Delhi and the Punjab, is being published to-day. The following correspondence which has passed between the Secretary of State and the Government of India regarding the findings of the Committee and the action to be taken on the Report is published for general information :—

Despatch to the Right Hon'ble Edwin Montagu, His Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 2, dated Simla, the 3rd May 1920.

Sir,—We submit for your information and for any orders His Majesty's Government may desire to issue the report which was presented on the 8th March 1920 by the Disorders Committee, together with our review of the report and our conclusions thereon. In the ordinary course the report would have been published with a resolution of the Government of India in the Home Department, but we consider the subject so important that after discussion with you we have decided that it is best to communicate to you our views and findings on the report for the information of His Majesty's Government. We desire to add that our views and conclusions are unanimous, except on those points where the dissent of our Hon. colleague Mr. Shafi has been expressly indicated. We may also state that our Hon. colleague, Sir George Lowndes, now on leave, concurred in all the conclusions we had reached up to the time of his departure.

2. In Resolution No. 2168, dated the 14th October 1919, the Governor-General in Council with the approval of the Secretary of State appointed a Committee to investigate the disturbances in Bombay, Delhi and the Punjab, their causes, and the measures taken to cope with them. The Hon. Lord Hunter, lately Solicitor-General for Scotland and now Senator of the College of Justice in Scotland, was appointed President of the Committee, which consisted of the following Members :—

(1) The Hon'ble Mr. Justice G. C. Rankin, Judge of the High Court, Calcutta.
(2) The Hon'ble Mr. W. F. Rice, C.S.I., I.C.S., Additional Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department.
(3) Major-General Sir George Barrow, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., I.A., Commanding the Peshawar Division.
(4) The Hon'ble Pandit Jagat Narayan, B.A., Member of the Legislative Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of the United Provinces.
(5) The Hon'ble Mr. Thomas Smith, Member of the Legislative Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of the United Provinces.
(6) Sir Chimanlal Harilal Setalvad, KT., Advocate of the High Court, Bombay.
(7) Sardar Sahibzada Sultan Ahmad Khan, Montazim-ud-Doula, M.A., LL.M. (Cantab.), Bar.-at-law, Member for Appeals, Gwalior State.

The Committee began its sittings on the 29th October 1919 and after hearing evidence at Delhi, Lahore, Ahmedabad, and Bombay finished its labours in the first week of March 1920, when its report was presented to the Government of India.

Before reviewing the findings of the Committee we desire to make some preliminary observations regarding the scope of the enquiry, the procedure followed by the Committee in recording evidence, and the general character of its conclusions.

3. In order to obtain a general view of the character of the disturbances and of the scope of the enquiry it will be useful to explain briefly the relative geographical position of the chief centres of disorder and to refer to a few salient dates which indicate the sequence of events in point of time. It was at Delhi—the Capital of India and from its historical and commercial importance a determining factor of considerable weight in the attitude of the rest of Northern India—that disturbances first occurred on the 30th March. They were of such a character as required the use of the military to restore order and before this was achieved it became necessary to fire twice on the mob. On the 10th April violent rioting took place at Amritsar and Lahore in the Punjab, and at Ahmedabad in the Presidency of Bombay, and distinct unrest manifested itself in a minor degree at places as far distant as Calcutta and Bombay. Lahore is a city of 230,000 inhabitants and the capital of the Punjab. Amritsar, which is 20 miles east of Lahore, is a town of more than 150,000 inhabitants and of great commercial importance. Ahmedabad has a population of roughly 280,000 and is an industrial town where 78 mills are located. The distances respectively of Lahore, Amritsar and Ahmedabad from Delhi are roughly 300, 280 and 540 miles. The situation in the Punjab after the 10th April rapidly deteriorated and martial law was proclaimed on the 15th April in the districts of Lahore and Amritsar, and shortly after in three other districts. About two weeks later a thundercloud on the frontier burst and the mobilization of troops for the Afghan war began on the 4th May. This seriously affected the general situation in the Punjab and it was not found possible to withdraw martial law from all the districts concerned before the 12th June nor from railway lands till a later date. These were briefly the events which with their causes and consequences formed the subject matter of the Committee's enquiry.

4. The next point to which the Government of India wish to advert is the decision of the All-India Congress Committee to abstain from presenting evidence before the Committee of Enquiry. As explained by Lord Hunter in his letter of the 8th March forwarding the report of the Committee, all persons desirous of giving evidence were invited to submit their names and addresses, together with a brief memorandum of the points on which they desired to give evidence, and it was left to the Committee to decide what evidence they would hear. Lord Hunter has described the circumstances in which the Congress Committee declined after the 12th November further to assist the Committee of Enquiry by appearing before it and tendering evidence, the offer which the same body made on the 30th December to produce their evidence and re-open the enquiry, and the reasons which led Lord Hunter to reject that offer. We believe that Lord Hunter's account of the matter will convince all reasonable people that his decision was fully justified. The point, however, which we wish to emphasize—and it is one which was present to Lord Hunter's mind also—is this, that the material placed at the disposal of the Committee and the evidence laid before it covered the whole field of enquiry. The official witnesses fully disclosed all they knew regarding the events in which they had participated and placed before the Committee all correspondence and other documentary evidence which had any bearing on the nature of the outbreak, the suppression of the disturbances, or the administration of martial law. It is a matter of regret to Government that this was not supplemented by the additional evidence which the Congress Committee had collected and that the evidence which has since been published by that body has not therefore been subjected to examination by an impartial tribunal. They are doubtful however whether it would have made any substantial difference to the general picture placed before the Committee, although it might have thrown further light on particular incidents. With regard to the firing at Jallianwala Bagh, on which the attention of the public both at home and in India has been so largely concentrated since December last, the Committee had the most ample materials for judgment and further evidence would have contributed nothing to their knowledge of the facts.

5. The Committee have now submitted their recommendations in the form of a majority and minority report. The majority report is signed by the President and four members of the Committee, Mr. Justice Rankin, General Barrow, and Messrs. Rice and Smith. The minority report is signed by Sir C. H. Setalvad, Pandit Jagat Narayan and Sahibzada Sultan Ahmad Khan. While two reports have been submitted, it is a matter of satisfaction to the Government of India that most of the findings of fact are unanimous and that in spite of differences of opinion as to the conclusions to be deduced therefrom there is considerable common ground in this respect also. That common ground covers the whole of the events in Delhi and the Bombay Presidency. It also covers much of the narrative of events and the causes of the disturbances in the Punjab. Nor is the divergence in the Punjab findings altogether basic. It is partly one of degree, partly one of essential difference. Certain measures adopted in the suppression of the disturbances and the administration of martial law are condemned in both reports but with varying degrees of severity. This remark applies in particular to the joint condemnation of the firing at Jallianwala Bagh. The most important point on which there is an essential difference of opinion relates to the introduction of martial law in the Punjab. While the majority find that a state of rebellion existed, necessitating or justifying the adoption of that measure, the minority consider that the disorders did not amount to rebellion and that the disturbances might have been suppressed and order restored without abrogating the control of the civil authorities or calling in military force save as auxiliary to the civil power.

6. It will be convenient to explain at this stage the arrangement which has been followed in the reports. The first seven chapters of the majority report are devoted to accounts of the disturbances in Delhi, the Bombay Presidency, and the Punjab districts of Amritsar, Lahore, Gujranwala, Gujrat and Lyallpur. In each case the majority briefly review the disturbances and record their findings on the propriety of the measures adopted to check them and to restore order. In chapter VIII they describe the widespread attacks on communications which have an important bearing on the general nature of the disorders. In chapter IX they discuss the causes of the disturbances with more particular reference to the Punjab. Chapter X contains a brief description of the stages in the introduction of martial law In chapter XI the reasons for the introduction and continuance of martial law are considered, while chapter XII is devoted to a criticism of the administration of martial law.

The minority report follows a somewhat different plan of arrangement. Chapter I sets forth the general extent of the minority's agreement or disagreement with the findings of the majority. The nature and causes of the disorders are discussed in Chapter II. The justification for the introduction and the continuance of martial law in the Punjab is examined in Chapter III. Chapter IV is devoted to the firing at Jallianwala Bagh. The administration of martial law is discussed in Chapter V..the use of armoured trains and aeroplanes in Chapter VI and the working of the martial law courts in Chapter VII.

Although it might have been more convenient to review at the outset the findings of the Committee regarding the causes and nature of the disturbances, we are reluctant to depart from the general plan of the majority report, as any such departure would increase the difficulty of comparing its findings with those of the minority. We accordingly propose to examine the report chapter by chapter, to state our conclusions on the findings of the majority and minority, more particularly where these differ, and finally to explain the action which in our judgment should be taken on the report.

7. Chapter I deals with the disturbances at Delhi. The Committee are unanimous in finding that the authorities handled the situation in an adequate and reasonable manner, that there was no provocative or unnecessary display of military force, and that the firing was justified on the three occasions on which it was found necessary to resort to this extreme measure. The actual collisions between the police and mobs are found to be the by-products of the Satyagraha movement. The majority recognize that Mr. Gandhi's visit to Delhi after the first outbreak, if not prevented, would have been a serious embarrassment to the executive authorities there and might well have proved a source of great danger. The minority, while doubtful of the expediency of his exclusion and while thinking that his presence might have had a beneficial result, do not deny the possibility of developments endangering the public peace. The only criticism passed by the Committee on the measures adopted by the local authorities is that the Deputy Commissioner made a mistake in enrolling a number of leading citizens as special constables, though, as they point out, these persons were not called on to render any services.

We accept these conclusions and have perused with satisfaction the commendation which has been bestowed by the Committee on the handling of the situation by the local officers. We do not consider that any blame attaches to the Deputy Commissioner for his appointment of special constables, as he acted in accordance with the established practice. We have, however, decided to address Local Governments on the question whether the orders now obtaining on the subject in the various provinces require modification or revision. This is the more necessary as it appears that leading citizens were enrolled as special constables at other disturbed centres besides Delhi.

The Government of India consider that the events described in this chapter have an important bearing on the rest of the report, for they were the first fruits of the Satyagraha movement, the first collision between the forces of order and the adherents of the passive resistance or civil disobedience movement. The behaviour of the crowd on the 30th March, which rendered it necessary for the military and police to fire on two occasions, cannot be ascribed to any action taken against Mr. Gandhi or local politicians. Such action has been pleaded in excuse of later mob excesses, but the internment order against Mr. Gandhi was not passed till ten days after the first outbreak of disorder at Delhi.

8. Chapter II gives an account of the disturbances in the Bombay Presidency. They were confined to Ahmedabad City and Viramgam in the Ahmedabad district, to Nadiad in the Kaira district, and to Bombay City. Viramgam is a town of 20,000 inhabitants 40 miles distant from Ahmedabad, and Nadiad, which has a population of 30,000, is 29 miles from the same city. By far the most serious outbreak of disorder occurred in Ahmedabad which is the home of Mr. Gandhi and may be described as the birthplace of the Satyagraha movement. The disturbances began on the 10th April as soon as the people of Ahmedabad heard of the action taken against Mr. Gandhi, and were not finally checked till the 14th, although military assistance was called in from the afternoon of the 10th. It is not necessary to follow the report of the Committee into the details of the disturbances and the measures taken to quell them, but it is important to notice that for two days mob law reigned in the city and the excesses committed included two atrocious murders, brutal assaults on Europeans and Government officers, and the total destruction of the courts and other Government buildings. The efforts of the police and the military to protect the city and restore order were not successful till the military commander, with the concurrence of the District Magistrate, issued a proclamation on the 12th April, warning all people that any gathering of over ten individuals collected at one spot would be fired at, and that any single individual seen outside any house between 7 P.M. and 6 A.M. who did not stop when challenged would be shot. The last occasion on which the troops fired was midday of the 13th April and the Committee find that there was not in fact any firing without warning nor was any person fired on, who was not either rioting or encouraging rioters. The outbreak came to an end abruptly on the 14th April, and its cessation is ascribed partly to the effects of this proclamation and partly to the return of Mr. Gandhi who, be it said to his credit, used his influence with the people to assist the authorities in restoring order. During the disturbances telegraph wires were cut at eight places in Ahmedabad and at fourteen places outside, and property to the value of nine lakhs of rupees was destroyed. The number of rounds fired by the armed police and the troops was 748, and the number of ascertained casualties amongst the rioters was 28 killed and 123 wounded. The majority report comments thus on the measures taken to suppress the outbreak:—"We are of opinion that the measures taken by the authorities to deal with the disturbances were appropriate. The use of military force was unavoidable and the rioters alone were responsible for the casualties which ensued. The control of the city was in the hands of the military for less than two days and this has been referred to as a period of martial law. But beyond maintaining order and issuing the proclamation on the 12th April, the military authorities did not interfere with matters of administration. The so-called martial law orders were drastic; but the situation was most serious. The belief that all groups of more than ten men would be fired on without warning did much to restore order, and it appears that this instruction was not in fact literally carried out. We think that the troops behaved with praiseworthy restraint in most trying circumstances, and that the military action taken was not excessive. The Bombay Government have informed us that the behaviour of the military during the period that they were stationed in the city was exemplary. Our investigation leads to the same conclusion."

9. The outbreak at Viramgam was marked by the same ferocity as in Ahmedabad, by arson, murder, the destruction of Government property, and attacks on railway and telegraph communications. The fury of the mob culminated in the savage murder of Mr. Madhavlal, a magisterial officer, who after a relentless pursuit was dragged from a house where he had taken refuge to the public road, soaked in kerosine oil and burnt alive beneath piles of public records, his body being completely incinerated. The outbreak began on the morning of the 12th April and was not finally suppressed till troops arrived from Ahmedabad late on the evening of that day. The Committee find that the total ascertained casualties amongst the rioters were six killed and eleven wounded and that the value of the property destroyed by the mob exceeded two lakhs of rupees. They commend the conduct of the armed police who behaved with spirit and kept off the mob from the public offices for six hours. They consider that the force used against the rioters by the armed police and by the armed peons of the Salt Department under Mr. Caldecott was certainly not excessive, and say indeed that if greater force could have been applied at an earlier stage, an atrocious murder and much destruction of property might have been prevented. They express regret that the murderers of Mr. Madhavlal could not be brought to justice for want of adequate identification.

10. In Nadiad the chief incident was an attempt to wreck a train which was conveying British troops to Ahmedabad. The train was derailed but had a miraculous escape, as it was brought to a stand before running down a steep embankment. Several attacks were made on railway and telegraph communications, but no collision occurred between the people and the troops who were sent here as a precautionary measure.

11. In Bombay City attempts were made to create disturbances when news came of the exclusion of Mr. Gandhi from the Punjab and Delhi, but the situation was well handled by the police and the military, and with the arrival of Mr. Gandhi the disorder subsided. As the Committee were informed by the Bombay Government, "the disturbances were attended by no fatal casualties or extensive destruction of public or private property. There was no suspension of the normal course of administration or of civil control over law and order. Offences committed in the course of the disturbances were dealt with by the permanent magisterial courts. There was no serious dislocation for any considerable time of the normal life of the city."

12. The minority accept the majority report in respect of all the disturbances in the Bombay Presidency, although they consider it almost certain that the unfortunate events at Ahmedabad and elsewhere would not have taken place but for the orders passed against Mr. Gandhi, and add that according to the official evidence his influence on arrival was fully thrown on the side of law and order. They acknowledge the discretion and judgment displayed by Mr. Chatfield, the Collector of Ahmedabad, in dealing with a sudden and grave outburst of mob fury, and compliment the local Government in the following terms:—"The manner in which the Bombay Government while firmly taking adequate steps for the maintenance of peace and order in the city of Bombay and Ahmedabad and other places, avoided taking measures likely to cause public irritation and leave bitterness behind, displayed to our mind creditable statesmanship"

13. We accept the unanimous findings of the Committee regarding the disorders in the Bombay Presidency. We also endorse the opinions which have been expressed regarding the valuable services of the local officers and the admirable behaviour of the troops engaged in the suppression of the disturbances. In this despatch it is impossible to review in detail the various outrages recorded in the report. A perusal of that document is necessary to appreciate correctly the cruelty of the mob, which was immediately directed against Europeans and Government servants. We desire to place on record our deep sympathy with all those who suffered at the hands of the mob and in particular with the relations of the magistrate and two police officers who were done to death in so dastardly a manner. Steps have already been taken to make provision for the dependants of these persons and to ensure adequate recognition of the services of those officers and others who rendered valuable assistance in this serious outbreak.

14. In Chapter III the Committee turn to the Punjab and deal first with the disturbances in the Amritsar district. They begin by describing the unrest and ferment which prevailed in Amritsar city prior to the 10th of April, on which date the first outbreak of disorder occurred. On the 9th the Deputy Commissioner received the orders of the local Government for the deportation of Drs. Kitchlew and Satyapal to Dharmsala. The action of the Deputy Commissioner in carrying out these orders quickly and quietly is approved and the precaution of concentrating seventy-five armed police at the kotwali (police-station) is commended as wise. The subsequent breakdown of this arrangement is not held to be due to any want of foresight on the part of the local officers. The Committee comment, however, on the failure to warn the European residents in the city of the danger of their position, observing that this omission seems inconsistent with the precautions taken for the evacuation of the women and children. At the same time they recognise the impossibility of predicting such an outburst of murderous antipathy against Europeans as actually occurred.

When the news of the deportation of Drs. Kitchlew and Satyapal became known, an excited and angry crowd attempted to make their way to the civil lines. The Committee find that the Deputy Commissioner was right in preventing the crowd from proceeding further in this direction, and that the firing which was ordered to secure this object was completely justified and in no way exceeded the requirements of the occasion. Similarly on the second occasion on which firing was ordered at the Hall Bridge they justify the action taken and agree that the necessity of the occasion was not exceeded.

15. The Committee then describe the violent excesses which were committed by the mob in the city. At the National Bank the manager and assistant manager were brutally beaten to death: their bodies were burnt under piles of furniture, and the building itself was sacked, set on fire, and completely gutted, while the bank godowns were looted of their contents. The Alliance Bank was next attacked and its manager was cruelly murdered, being flung from the balcony on to the street where his body was burnt under a stack of furniture soaked in kerosene oil. The building itself was spared, presumably because it was Indian-owned. The Committee condemn the police at the kotwali for failing to take steps to prevent these outrages, holding that the officers in charge might have prevented them but failed either to grasp, or to attempt to cope with, their responsibility. The Chartered Bank which was also attacked escaped through police intervention. The Town Hall and post office were burnt and the telegraph office attacked but saved by the jemadar of the station guard who fired on the mob. The Committee hold the firing at the telegraph office to be justifiable. They proceed to describe the looting of the goods station, the murderers of Guard Robinson and Sergeant Rowlands, the murderous attacks on Mr. Bennett and Miss Sherwood, the determined search for Mrs. Easdon, the burning of various buildings including the Indian Christian Church, and the persistent efforts to injure communications and isolate Amritsar. The mob violence is described as anti-Government and anti-European and the gravity of the situation is made abundantly clear. In the course of a single day property to the value of seventeen lakhs of rupees was destroyed.

16. Later that day reinforcements in the shape of troops arrived and in the evening the Commissioner of the Division gave verbal instructions to the commanding officer that as the situation was beyond civil control he as senior military officer should take such steps as the military situation demanded. On the evening of the 11th the Commissioner left for Lahore and General Dyer arrived at Amritsar where he took over charge of the troops. The Deputy Commissioner made over formal charge to him at midnight of that day. Generally speaking, the Committee find no serious ground for criticism in regard to the action taken before the 13th April. The general conclusion of the Committee is that between the 10th and 12th the civil authorities had become powerless, and that the state of affairs on the 11th was inevitably leading to a state of de facto martial law, that the authorities were justified in the measures which they took to suppress disorder, including the cutting off of light and water supplies, and that they acted wisely in not attempting to take sterner and more resolute action to regain control within the city on the 11th and 12th.

17. The minority say that they are in general agreement with the statement of facts set out in Chapter III of the majority report, except where they specifically differ. They agree that all the firing which took place on the 10th April was justified and they differ on one point only. While the majority say that the firing at the bridge was in no sense the cause of the mob excesses of the 10th, the minority hold that, although the excesses were altogether inexcusable and without justification, the mob had not any previous fixed intention of committing excesses, but after the firing lost their heads and were seized by a mad frenzy to commit nefarious deeds.

18. We desire at this point to review the situation and the measures taken at Amritsar up to and including the 12th April. We endorse the finding of the Committee that the situation was one of great difficulty and consider that the action taken by the authorities was generally justified. We think, however, it is to be regretted that the civil authorities considered it incumbent upon them, before the proclamation of martial law, to hand over control to the military in such terms as to suggest that they did not intend to exercise supervision or guidance over the action of the military commander. The result was to place the latter in a position of great difficulty and to impose upon him a grave responsibility which, in the opinion of the Government of India, should have continued to be shared by the civil authorities up to a later stage. It is not clear who was actually responsible for the complete abdication of civil authority, but the Government of India propose to make further enquiry into this matter and to pass such orders as may be necessary.

19. The Committee next deal with the events at Jallianwala Bagh on the 13th. They describe the place and give a full account of all the facts and circumstances of the firing, stating the number of rounds fired—1,650, and the extent of the casualties, the dead being estimated at 379 and the wounded at three times that number. They criticise General Dyer adversely on two grounds: (1) that he opened fire without warning, and (2) that he went on firing after the crowd had begun to disperse. On the first point, they say that the only person who can judge whether notice should properly be given on such an occasion is the military officer concerned. The Committee point out however that General Dyer does not suggest the existence of an emergency justifying his decision to fire on the crowd without warning. He stated before the Committee that his mind was made up as he came along that if his orders were disobeyed he was going to fire at once. They think it distinctly improbable that the crowd would have dispersed without being fired on, as most of those present had assembled in direct defiance of a proclamation. Nevertheless they say that notice would have afforded those who had assembled in ignorance of the proclamation and others an opportunity to leave the assembly. In continuing to fire as long as he did, even after the crowd had begun to disperse, General Dyer, in the opinion of the Committee, committed a grave error, though they consider that he honestly believed on the information then before him and his appreciation of the existing military situation that he was called upon to take this step in the discharge of his duty. They find further that it was his intention to create a moral effect throughout the Punjab and they condemn this as a mistaken conception of his duty. As regards General Dyer's failure to attend to the wounded, they say that he had a very small force with him and, as he explained, the hospitals were open and no application was made to him for help. In conclusion, they do not accept the view that General Dyer's action saved the situation in the Punjab and averted a rebellion on a scale similar to the mutiny.

20. In dealing with the events of Jallianwala Bagh, the minority find that the notice prohibiting the meeting was not adequately published and they criticise General Dyer severely, (1) for suggesting that he would have made use of machine guns if they could have been brought into action, (2) for opening fire without warning and continuing after the crowd had begun to disperse until his ammunition was spent, (3) for firing not merely to disperse the crowd but to punish it and to produce a moral effect in the Punjab, and (4) for assuming that the crowd before him consisted of the persons guilty of the outrages of the 10th. They maintain that it is immaterial whether General Dyer thought he was doing right or not and that the plea of military necessity will not avail him, as this plea is always used in justification of Prussian atrocities. They do not agree with the majority that it was probable that the crowd could not have been dispersed without firing, citing General Dyer himself in support of their opinion: and they describe his action as inhuman and un-British and as having caused great disservice to British rule in India. They attribute his conduct to a fixed idea that India must be ruled by force and they condemn his action in not taking steps for the removal of the dead and the care of the wounded. Finally, they criticise the failure of the Punjab Government to ascertain without delay the number of casualties. It should be here stated that the result of official enquiries which included a careful scrutiny of the information gathered by the Sewa Samiti (a Social Service Society) places the figures at 379 killed and 192 wounded. It is almost certain that the latter figure omits many who were only slightly wounded, but as an estimate of the more serious casualties the combined figure is probably nearer the truth than any estimate based only on a rule of proportion, such as that stated by General Dyer in his evidence before the Committee to be not beyond the bounds of possibility.

21. The difference in the measure of condemnation of General Dyer by the majority and the minority and the attention which has been directed to the events at Jallianwala Bagh both in England and in India, necessitate a careful examination by Government of the extent to which General Dyer should be held to be blameworthy. Looking to the specific findings on which the condemnation of his action is based we consider that the orders prohibiting assemblies should have been promulgated more widely and in particular that notices might have been posted up at Jallianwala Bagh, which had become a favourite assembly ground for political meetings. We think also that notice might have been given at the Baisakhi fair where many people from villages in the vicinity had collected. At the same time it is the case that the proclamation was made by beat of drum in the presence of General Dyer himself and notices were published at nineteen places in the city: it cannot therefore be doubted that most of the residents of Amritsar present at the meeting were aware of the orders and collected in defiance of them.

The Government of India agree with the Committee that General Dyer should have given warning to the crowd before opening fire. It is true that he had only a small force with him and that in view of this circumstance and the previous successes of the forces of disorder it is most improbable that an excited and defiant mob would have dispersed on a mere warning, but those ignorant of the order, including the villagers who had come to visit the Baisakhi fair, and indeed others would have had an opportunity of leaving the assembly if reasonable notice had been given to them. The Government of India agree that there was not such an emergency existing as to render this precaution impossible.

General Dyer's action in continuing to fire on the crowd after it had begun to disperse was, in the opinion of the Government of India, indefensible. He fired continuously for ten minutes, during which time 1,650 rounds were expended. It is probable that General Dyer's action so intimidated the lawless elements in the population of Amritsar and neighbouring districts of the Central Punjab as to prevent further manifestations of disorders. The Government of India cannot, however, accept this as a justification of the continued firing which greatly exceeded the necessity of the occasion. The dispersal of the crowd was indeed a matter of vital importance in view of the situation which then existed in Amritsar and stern measures to effect this end were certainly required. In our opinion, however, much more restricted military force would have sufficed to produce this effect and General Dyer's action has undoubtedly left behind bitterness of feeling which will take long to pass away. He was no doubt faced with a position of great difficulty; he was apprehensive of Amritsar being isolated and he had before him the danger of allowing mob rule to continue after the terrible events of the 10th. Giving all due weight to these considerations, the deliberate conclusion at which we have arrived is that General Dyer exceeded the reasonable requirements of the case and showed a misconception of his duty which resulted in a lamentable and unnecessary loss of life. Although we are constrained to this decision, we are convinced that General Dyer acted honestly in the belief that he was doing what was right and we think that in the result his action at the time checked the spread of the disturbances to an extent which it is difficult now to estimate. This was the opinion of many intelligent observers in the Punjab. There remains the question of the failure to arrange for medical aid after the firing at Jallianwala Bagh. Here too we must express our great regret that no action was taken either by the civil or the military authorities to remove the dead or give aid to the wounded. The minority criticize Sir Michael O'Dwyer for expressing approval of the action taken at Jallianwala Bagh. On this point the Government of India have little to add to the account given by the late Lieutenant-Governor of the circumstances in which his approval was conveyed, but making every allowance for the difficult position in which Sir Michael O'Dwyer was placed, the Government of India think that he would have acted more wisely, if, before expressing any approval of General Dyer's action on this occasion, he had taken steps to ascertain the facts and circumstances of the firing more fully.

We desire to add here that our honourable colleague, Mr. Shafi, agrees generally with the minority in their findings of fact as regards Amritsar and the inferences deduced therefrom, where these differ from the findings and conclusions of the majority. He rejects the theory that General Dyer's action at Jallianwala Bagh saved the situation in the Punjab and averted rebellion on a scale similar to that of the Mutiny. In his opinion the disturbances on and after the 14th of April in the districts of Gujranwala, Gujrat and Lyallpur were the results of the commotion caused by the Jallianwala Bagh affair.

22. We cannot leave this tragic occurrence without adverting to the charge that a veil of secrecy was deliberately thrown around it, the public being left to infer that the sinister policy of concealment has only been foiled by the revelations made before the Committee of Enquiry in December last. The insinuation is devoid of foundation. When the outbreaks of disorder occurred, the immediate necessity was to quell them and restore order. At a very early stage His Excellency the Viceroy decided that it was incumbent upon Government to hold an enquiry into the disturbances and the administration of martial law. In this opinion you concurred and in the third week of May in a speech in the House of Commons you made the following announcement :—

"As regards these troubles which I have been describing, as questions have been asked from time to time and resolutions have been moved demanding an enquiry, the Viceroy has always contemplated an enquiry. You cannot have disturbances of this magnitude without an enquiry into the causes and the measures taken to cope with these disturbances, but no announcement has been made of enquiry up to this moment for this reason; let us talk of an enquiry when we have put the fire out."

This announcement is entirely incompatible with the suggestion of a conspiracy on the part of either the Government of India or the Secretary of State to suppress or conceal the details of the occurrence.

As a result of further communications between us the present Committee was appointed. The question of the composition of the Committee received the most careful consideration, as Government were determined that it should be a body of commanding weight and high judicial experience in which perfect confidence could be reposed by the public, both at home and in India. An announcement of the impending appointment of the Committee was made in the Imperial Legislative Council during its autumn session of September last. Apart from a general enquiry of this character the question whether the investigation of particular incidents should be deferred till the Committee assembled or should form the subject of preliminary proceedings had been carefully considered. Finally, however, we decided with your concurrence that such preliminary enquiries were inadvisable.

In considering whether preliminary enquiries should be held, the case of Jallianwala Bagh had received prominent notice, and after the decision the collection of information continued. The first report of the firing on the crowd at Jallianwala Bagh received by the Government of India on the 14th April placed the casualties at 200. This was supplemented two days later by a report that 200 was the number of killed. These reports were at once repeated to the Secretary of State. Fuller reports were not received till a later date. In the second half of April, General Dyer was fully occupied in marching troops throughout the disturbed area. Very early in May, owing to the outbreak of the Afghan war, he was selected for the command of the Kohat Brigade. From that date till the end of July he was continuously engaged in field operations; and his detailed report on the administration of martial law in Amritsar, including the firing at Jallianwala Bagh, was not received till the month of August. Meanwhile the local Government had been pursuing enquiries to obtain accurate statistics regarding the extent of the casualties. The information elicited up to the end of August, which was confirmed by a scrutiny of the results of private enquiries made by the Sewa Samiti, showed that the ascertained death-roll was then 291 and this was the figure stated at the meeting of the Imperial Legislative Council held in Simla on the 11th September. During this same session of the Council full accounts were given of the happenings in the Punjab and the story of Jallianwala Bagh was discussed in great detail. The proceedings of the debate were fully reported and published in the usual manner and indeed attracted great attention in India. The official enquiries however, continued, and when the Chief Secretary to the Punjab Government gave evidence before the Committee four months later he stated that the total number of death casualties as then ascertained was 379, while a more recent report of the local Government, based on scrutiny of the Sewa Samiti's information, places the number of wounded at 192.

From the time that it was decided to appoint the Committee, Government thought it proper to avoid as far as possible making any public comments on the transactions which it was the duty of the Committee to examine and to refrain from passing any judgment on the conduct of individual officers until they received the report of that body. There is no justification for the allegation that from the date of these occurrences until the publication of General Dyer's evidence before the Committee, the Government of India had been guilty of following a policy of deliberate suppression of the truth. The facts stated above clearly refute this libel.

It is no doubt a matter for regret that without resort to a formal enquiry full knowledge of what actually occurred should not have become general earlier. But the chapter is closed, and as Government and the public both in India and the United Kingdom are now in complete possession of the facts, recriminations and regrets serve no useful purpose.

23. Chapter IV deals with the disorders in the Lahore district. In the capital itself the agitation against the Rowlatt Bills and the complete hartal of the 6th April had worked the people up to a state of intense excitement, which the news of Mr. Gandhi's arrest and of the disturbances at Amritsar brought to a head on the afternoon of the 10th. Crowds assembled in the city and endeavoured to overpower the police when the latter opposed their advance towards the civil lines. The Committee have carefully considered the circumstances under which fire was opened on this mob under the orders of the District Magistrate, Mr. Fyson, and the Superintendent of Police, Mr. Broadway, on three occasions in the course of that afternoon, and they fully approve the action taken by these two officers. The Government of India are unable to think that any other conclusion is possible. The outrages at Amritsar were known at the time to the mob when it was proceeding to the civil lines and it would have been suicidal to allow it to succeed in its endeavour. The position in Lahore, after these attempts of the crowd to enter the civil lines had been repelled, is thus described by the Committee :—

> "On the night of 10th April and for some days following the city of Lahore was in a dangerously disturbed condition. Military measures were taken on that night to protect the Civil station and its surroundings. No European could safely enter the city, from which the police were temporarily withdrawn. For about two days the city was controlled by the mob."

The Committee then describe the events of the 11th, the inflamatory speeches delivered at the Badshahi mosque to excited crowds of Hindus and Muhammadans, the organization of the Dand i Fauj, a band of hooligans, who marched through the city armed with sticks (lathis) and destroyed pictures of Their Majesties, shouting that King George was dead. Attempts were made on the morning of the 11th to pull down the railings at the Fort, where some of the rioters spat at the British soldiers on guard and called them "white pigs." On the same day the railway workshop was attacked and determined efforts were made to bring about a strike amongst the workers. On the 12th another meeting was held at the Badshahi mosque, when an officer of the Criminal Investigation Department was severely beaten by the mob. On the same day a mixed column of police and military was marched through the city in an effort to regain control of the situation. The march was hindered by large crowds, assembled at the Hira Mandi, who refused to disperse when so directed by the District Magistrate and began to stone the small advance force of police which was with him. Mr. Fyson was obliged to open fire with the result that one man was killed and twenty wounded. The Committee consider that it was essential on this day to disperse the crowd and that it would have been the end of all chance of restoring order in Lahore if the police and troops had left without dispersing it. All the firing was done by the police. The fact that the police, armed with buckshot, were made to take the brunt of the collision with the crowd instead of the troops with service ammunition, the small number of shots fired by the police, and the warnings given to the crowd, showed, in the opinion of the Committee, that the greatest care was taken and the least possible degree of force was used.

Special attention is invited by the Committee to the use of inflammatory and seditious posters in Lahore, which in the name of Mahatma Gandhi called upon the brave people of the Punjab to enlist in the Danda Fauj and kill the English who were described as pigs, monkeys and kafirs. On the 13th April the district was proclaimed under the Seditious Meetings Act. On the same date the station of Wagah, about 14 miles off, was burnt and sacked, telegraph lines cut and an armoured train derailed, fortunately without loss of life. On the 14th the Punjab Government deported the local leaders, Rambhaj Dutt, Har Kishan Lal and Duni Chand, who had been actively associated with the agitation and the still continuing hartal: all these men were convicted later of the offence of waging war. On the 15th April martial law was proclaimed in Lahore.

24. The second portion of Chapter IV describes the very serious disturbances which occurred on the 12th April at Kasur, a subdivisional town, 37 miles south-east of Lahore. On the morning of that day a violent mob attacked the railway station, and after destroying and burning a considerable quantity of valuable property, turned their attention to three trains which were held up near the station. Murderous attacks were made on a number of Europeans, including a lady and three children, who were travelling by these trains; some of them had miraculous escapes, but three persons were severely injured and two unfortunate warrant officers were beaten to death. Elated by their success, the mob next burnt down the post office and a civil court, and attacked the subdivisional offices where the police were obliged to fire in defence of Government property with the result that four men were killed and several wounded. The Committee uphold the decision to fire upon the mob and think indeed that it should have been fired on at an earlier stage. Troops arrived from Ferozepore on the afternoon of the 12th and averted further trouble. Outbursts of disorder occurred at two other places in Lahore district, at Khem Karan on the 12th when the railway station was attacked with some resultant damage, and at Patti, where telegraph wires were cut on the night of the 11th and the post office and railway station were attacked on the 12th.

We accept all the findings of the majority, in which the minority concur, with regard to the disturbances in Lahore district and the measures taken to suppress them. We consider that praise is due to Messrs. Fyson and Broadway for their handling of the difficult situation in Lahore city.

25. Chapter V deals with the very serious outbreak at Gujranwala which is a town of 30,000 inhabitants about 36 miles north of Lahore. There had been here as elsewhere the usual agitation against the Rowlatt Bill and a complete hartal was observed on the 6th April, but no violence had occurred or was anticipated till the 13th, when the news of the happenings at Amritsar and Lahore on the 10th gave rise to local excitement. That evening the authorities learnt that further demonstrations were intended next day and the acting Deputy Commissioner took such police precautions as seemed to him necessary. The Committee describe in detail the outrages which were committed in the town on the 14th including the attack on a train, the setting fire to the Gurukul bridge, the burning of many buildings, and numerous injuries to railway and telegraph communications. The mob had obtained complete mastery and the police were unable to stop the senseless destruction of property which occurred or to secure the safety of the European and loyal population. The post office, the revenue office, the church, and the district court were all burnt down. The jail and the police lines were attacked but were saved by the police firing. The mob then returned to the railway station, set the buildings and goods sheds on fire, and looted their contents. Those European families which had not been sent away as a precautionary measure on the previous evening were collected for safety in the Treasury, which was protected by a small police guard. Communications meanwhile had been interrupted on every side; by the end of the day practically all the wires along the railway in front of the city were cut for a distance of some miles. On account of this interruption of communications, it was impossible to send ordinary military aid to Gujranwala and it was in these circumstances that the use of aeroplanes for the relief of the town was sanctioned. The police were nearly exhausted when about three o'clock in the afternoon three aeroplanes from Lahore arrived over the town. It was not till nine o'clock that night that the first troops arrived.

The important findings of the majority regarding events at Gujranwala are (1) that Mr. Heron's action in firing on the mob is entirely approved; (2) that the conduct of the acting Deputy Commissioner in refusing to allow firing when the mob attacked the post office is open to criticisin; (3) that the mob was seeking to imitate what had been done at Amritsar; (4) that the decision to use bomb-carrying aeroplanes was justified in circumstances, though recourse to the use of aeroplanes in civil disorders cannot be defended save in cases of the utmost urgency; and (5) that generally speaking, the action of the aeroplane officer, Major Carberry, was justified but that his instructions were defective. On all these points the Government of India are in entire agreement with the Committee and desire to commend Mr. Heron who behaved well in circumstances of great difficulty. The Committee find that the dropping of bombs on two outlying villages and on the Khalsa High School cannot be defended but the fault lay chiefly with the instructions given to Major Carberry and they impute no blame to him for a decision taken in the air and at the moment. They observe that the dropping of bombs on the riotous crowds within Gujranwala city was not only justified but in their view, invaluable, and the fact that the disorders were ended long before troops arrived is in large measure attributed to this act. They say that no sufficient explanation has been given to justify the use of an aeroplane on the 15th of April for purposes of offensive action, and they conclude by recommending that the instructions to be issued to Air Force officers regarding the procedure to be followed by them on such occasions should form the subject of careful enquiry by the Air Force Headquarters.

The minority discuss the employment of aeroplanes in Chapter IV which is entitled "Armoured Trains and Aeroplanes." They agree with the majority in saying that the use of aeroplanes to quell civil disorders should as far as possible to deprecated. They condemn Major Carberry for dropping bombs on the Khalsa High School and two outlying villages, and say that though the orders he received were not worded with sufficient care, he did not exercise his discretion wisely in carrying them out. They find also that his action in firing with a machine gun on the crowd was excessive.

26. So far as the general question of the use of aeroplanes at Gujranwala is concerned, the Government of India accept the finding of the majority which is aptly expressed as follows:—"We are not prepared to lay down as a charter for rioters that, when they succeed in preventing the ordinary resources of Government from being utilized to suppress them, they are to be exempt from having to reckon with such resources as remain." We do not consider that it would be right to censure the officers who have been mentioned in connection with individual incidents, as their acts, where condemned, are more to be ascribed to want of clearness in their instructions than to errors of judgment. We think that the despatch of aeroplanes on the 15th under instructions which admitted of their being used for offensive action was not justified but we do not consider that the officer who carried out the instructions was seriously to blame. We note, however, with satisfaction that, so far as is known, no casualties resulted from the action taken on this date. Finally, we propose to take steps to give effect to the recommendation of the majority that the instructions to be issued to Air Force officers on such occasions should be carefully prescribed.

27. There were outbreaks of disorder at fourteen other places in the Gujranwala district, but the Committee discuss those only which occurred at Wazirabad, a town of 20,000 inhabitants, 20 miles north of Gujranwala, at Akalgarh and Hafizabad, and in the Shekhupura subdivision. At Wazirabad a riotous mob was repelled from the railway buildings, but did extensive damage to the telegraph system. It also set fire to railway bridges, sacked and burnt the bungalow of a Scotch missionary, and made an unsuccessful attempt to wreck the mail train. At Akalgarh and Hafizabad extensive damage was done to the telegraph wires, and at the latter place an officer of the Military Farms Department had a fortunate escape from the murderous intentions of a threatening crowd. In the Shekhupura subdivision persistent and determined attacks on the telegraph and railway systems were made at Chuharkhana, Shekhupura, Sangla and other places, at least three railway stations being destroyed, while savage assaults were made on certain railway employés and Government servants. An armoured train was sent to the rescue from Lahore, and fire was opened from this at Chuharkhana under the orders of Rai Sahib Lala Sri Ram Sud Extra Assistant Commissioner of Sharakpur. The Committee find that this officer acted in a difficult situation with promptitude and decision. The minority take a different view and condemn him on the ground that his intention was punishment and that the firing was therefore not justified. The Government of India accept the opinions of the majority in all matters arising out of the disturbances at these places and agree with them that Lala Sri Ram Sud displayed promptitude and decision in the discharge of his duties.

28. Chapters VI and VII describe the events which occurred in the Gujrat and Lyallpur districts, respectively. The chief features of the disturbances in these areas were attacks on railway communications and telegraph wires. At Gujrat on the 15th April fire had to be opened on a riotous mob which was dispersed without casualties. At Malakwal a train was derailed on the 17th April and two lives were lost. In Lyallpur a very disquieting and prominent feature was the continued exhibition of posters of an inflammatory and criminal character. Indians were called upon in the blessed name of Mahatma Gandhi, to fight to the death against English cheats and to dishonour English women. Great tension existed for several days and the situation at Lyallpur was an anxiety to Government on account of the memories of the previous troubles of 1907. The position was so serious that the Europeans in the station were collected for safety in two houses in the civil lines but no actual violence occurred except the cutting of telegraph wires at a few places in the district. The arrival of troops on the 17th April prevented any further disorder.

The Committee have not described in detail the acts of violence and disorder which occurred in many other towns and places in the Punjab, but these are set forth in the chronological statement annexed to the report and it is necessary to bear them in mind in considering the position as it appeared to the local Government when the proclamation of martial law was recommended.

29. Chapter VIII describes the persistent and widespread attacks on the railway and telegraph systems, which continued from the 10th April till about the end of the month. According to a report of the Telegraph Department, the wires were cut or tampered with on 55 occasions, but there were besides numerous attacks on railway telegraphs and the total number of outrages of this class cited by the Home Member at a Council meeting in September last according to a statement of the Punjab Government was 132. The Committee ascribe the attacks on communications partly to anti-Government feeling and partly to the desire to prevent the movement of troops. They also refer to the persistent attempts which were made to incite the railway staff to strike. The unrest prevailing amongst certain sections of the staff was a cause of great anxiety to Government at this critical time

The importance of this chapter lies in the close bearing it has on the question of the justification for the introduction and continuance of martial law. The significance of the statistics of railway and telegraph interruptions is brought forcibly home by the maps attached to the report. These indicate the extended area over which this class of offence was committed, giving rise to a suspicion of preconcerted action.

30. In Chapter IX the Committee discuss the causes of the disturbances and say thatan adequate explanation of the general and widespread outbreaks in the Punjab must be sought in the causes of a general state of unrest and discontent amongst the people, particularly the inhabitants of the larger towns. The increased interest in political agitation caused in recent years by the Home Rule movement received a great impetus from the new doctrine of self-determination. Meanwhile, however, the restrictions imposed under the Defence of India Act were becoming more essential, as the war drew to its climax. These restrictions affected the daily life of the ordinary citizen much more lightly in India than in Europe ; nevertheless, particularly when imposed on political agitation they were, however necessary, the more galling to the educated classes, in view of the fact that the political future of India was under consideration. The Punjab was meanwhile doing more than its share to respond to the call of the Empire for recruits for the army, and the strain was falling mainly on the country districts, which the local Government considered it necessary to protect from any anti-Government agitation likely to hamper the work of recruitment. After the conclusion of the Armistice in November 1918 hopes ran high amongst the educated classes that the services rendered by India in the war would receive immediate recognition. But these hopes were not at once fulfilled and disappointment was caused by a combination of circumstances, such as high prices, scarcity, foodstuff restrictions and the anxieties of the peace settlement, especally as it affected Turkey.

The Committee next consider the agitation against the Rowlatt Bills. They find that this was largely, if not mainly, responsible for creating the feeling against Government which provoked such serious disorders and they cite various false rumours as to the provisions of the Bill which inflamed popular feeling. They next examined the history and progress of the Satyagraha movement inaugurated by Mr. Gandhi on the 24th February. After a careful review of this movement in all its aspects, the Committee find that a familiarity and sympathy with disobedience to laws was engendered by it amongst large numbers of people and that the law-abiding instincts which stand between society and outbreaks of violence were undermined at a time when their full strength was required. From its first inception the Satyagraha movement was condemned by prominent leaders of moderate opinion in India as likely to promote disorder and breach of the peace, and the organizer himself recognized later that in embarking on a mass movement he had underrated the forces of evil. The Committee expressly find that the recruiting campaign and the action taken in the Punjab to raise subscriptions to the war loans were not responsible for the unrest. They conclude by saying that there is no evidence that the outbreaks in the Punjab were the result of a pre-arranged conspiracy to overthrow the British Government in India by force, but that it was difficult and probably unsafe for Government not to assume that the outbreak was the result of a definite organisation. Apart from the existence of any deeply laid scheme to overthrow the British, a movement which had started in rioting and become a rebellion might have rapidly developed into a revolution.

31. In the introductory chapter of their report the minority state that they are in substantial agreement with the findings of the majority as regards the causes of the disturbances, with this reservation that they do not concur in the opinion that the Punjab authorities were justified in assuming that the outbreak was the result of a definite organization. They are unable to agree that the riots were in the nature of a rebellion and they say that it is an unjustifiable exaggeration to suggest that the events might have developed into a revolution. They entirely agree with the majority in their estimate of the Satyagraha movement and its off-shoot, civil disobedience of laws. They develop their views on the real character of the disorders, including their causes, more fully in Chapter II of their report Here they refer to the general conditions existing in the beginning of 1919 the strain placed on India by her war efforts, the hardship of high prices, the inconveniences and restraints imposed by war measures, the hope of alleviation excited by the armistice, and the subsequent disappointment caused by famine, epidemic, and a more stringent Income-tax Act, the belief that the proposals of the Government of India as regards the reform scheme were illiberal and intended to whittle it down, and the delay of the Turkish settlement. They argue that many of the foregoing causes affected the Punjab more than other provinces and they instance other special factors such as war weariness, foodstuff and traffic restrictions, Sir Michael O'Dwyer's speeches, press restrictions, the orders prohibiting the entry into the province of outside politicians, all tending to cause general irritation amongst the educated classes. While refraining from any discussion of the merits of the Rowlatt Act they hold that its introduction and enactment in the face of Indian opinion was a fertile source of discontent which was fostered by misrepresentations in the Punjab. They assert that Indian leaders were not responsible for these misrepresentations, and they condemn Government for failing to explain the Act to the masses until after the hartal of April the 6th, although misrepresentations were current before that date. They accept the estimate of the Satyagraha movement formed by the majority, but they disclaim the view that the disorders in the Punjab can be attributed to any active presentation of the Satyagraha doctrine by organizations working within the province. The find that there was no organization to bring about disturbances and they quote the evidence of various official witnesses in support of this conclusion. The anti-British and anti-Government outbursts which occurred were in their opinion purely the result of sudden mob frenzy. The minority conclude that although there was thus no evidence of organised conspiracy in the Punjab, the civil and military authorities persuaded themselves that open rebellion existed and took action accordingly.

32. The Government of India accept the findings of the Committee regarding the causes of the disturbances. The minority as stated above, are in substantial agreement with the majority on this subject. Of the causes specially mentioned by the minority they agree that epidemics and a new Income-tax Act were factors in the unrest, and this latter cause may have accounted in part for the extent to which the movement enlisted the sympathy of the trading classes. The despatches containing the views of the Government of India on the Reform proposals, were not published till long after the disturbances, and if, as is suggested by the minority, the supposed attitude of the Government was a cause of unrest this must have been due to deliberate misrepresentation. Moreover, so far as is known, no such allegations were made either in the press or on the public platform before the disorders actually broke out. The minority assign as one of the causes of the unrest which preceded the outbreak in the Punjab the attitude of Sir Michael O'Dwyer towards the educated classes and the resentment which they allege was produced thereby. The efforts made by the larger landowners and men of leading in rural areas to promote recruiting during the war had brought these classes into prominence and had secured a generous recognition from the local Government. For this and other reasons a tendency had sprung up towards cleavage between the rural classes and the trading and professional classes from which the intelligentia is mainly drawn. This may have created amongst the latter an impression that their political influence was being curtailed. The Government of India agree with the Committee that misrepresentations of the Rowlatt Act were an important cause of the outbreak. Such misrepresentations were freely circulated and their harmful effects were incalculable. Government were unaware of the dissemination of these malicious falsehoods until the beginning of April when they at once took action to contradict them. It is unfortunate that neither in the press nor on the public platform did those who attacked the Act endeavour to remove the effects of these misreprentations. Whether it is correct or not to say, as the minority do, that the disorders in the Punjab were not due to any active presentation of the Satyagraha doctrine within the province, we must place on record our belief that many of those who joined the Satyagraha movement did so with the intention of using it for the purpose of promoting disorder. Finally we desire to observe that the opinion of the minority regarding the nature of the disorders is discounted by their findings of fact, while the conclusion of the majority that a movement which started in rioting became a rebellion is supported by the conviction before various tribunals of a large number of persons for the offence of waging war against the King. These convictions, in the opinion of the Government of India, are of great importance in reaching a decision as to the true character of the disorders.

But whatever the truth may be as to the causes which produced these disorders and grave as the outbreak was in its nature and effects, it must not be forgotten that the loyalty of India as a whole remained unshaken and that even in the Punjab the bulk of the population maintained its reputation and did not fall a victim to the infection which so disastrously affected a portion of it.

33 There is one point in the discussion of causes to which the Government of India desire to advert at greater length. It has been represented that the action taken by Government against prominent politicians, such as Mr. Gandhi and Drs. Kitchlew and Satyapal, was the cause and not merely the occasion of the disturbances. This is sufficiently disproved by the fact already pointed out that the Satyagraha movement had led to grave disorders in Delhi long before any such action was taken. But the circumstances in which Mr. Gandhi was excluded from Delhi and the Punjab deserve fuller examination.

The situation about the end of March has already been described. The acute state of tension which continued in Delhi for some days after the the outbreak of the 30th March greatly increased the potentialities of danger of the Satyagraha movement in other parts of India, where the news of the Delhi rioting caused great excitement. The events of that date might indeed well have conveyed to the promoters of the movement a warning of the dangers which were attendant on their propaganda, but actually they were far from doing so. The agitation accompanied by increasing excitement continued unchecked all over the country.

It was at this critical juncture that we received information that Mr. Gandhi had vigorously renewed his campaign of civil disobedience to the laws, and on the 9th we heard that he had left Bombay for Delhi on the previous evening. Immediately on receiving this news, we consulted the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab and the Chief Commissioner of Delhi. Both these officers considered that the situation had become serious and that it would be most dangerous to allow Mr. Gandhi to enter their jurisdictions. His avowed intention was to break the law of the land and to secure adherents to the Satyagraha movement. His arrest and prosecution in the Punjab would in all probability have been the signal for an outbreak, and the enlistment of any large number of supporters to his movement in that province would almost certainly have led to an immediate campaign of active resistance and outrage. The Chief Commissioner considered that an order merely prohibiting Mr. Gandhi from entering Delhi would be very dangerous, as the only method of enforcing it would be to arrest, detain and prosecute him in that city. On the other hand, if he were allowed to enter Delhi, it was most probable that he would break the law there and would have to be arrested and tried for an offence, with the result that there would almost certainly be a recurrence of the recent serious rioting. In these circumstances the Government of India authorised the local Governments of the Punjab and Delhi to issue orders under rule 3 (b) of the Defence of India Rules, directing Mr. Gandhi to remain in the Bombay Presidency. The Government of India then considered, and still consider, that this course was amply justified in view of the fact that Mr. Gandhi was the leading spirit of a movement intended to paralyse Government.

34. In the same way it has been suggested that the action of the Punjab Government in ordering the deportation of Drs. Kitchlew and Satyapal on the 10th April was a provocative act leading direct to the subsequent outrages. Previous orders had been passed prohibiting them from speaking in public, and it is true that they had not taken an open part in the meetings immediately preceding the hartal of the 6th April. But as the evidence subsequently taken before the martial law commission showed, they held secret meetings after that date and continued to direct an agitation which was found to be of the nature of a criminal conspiracy. It was in these circumstances that the local Government decided to remove them from Amritsar to Dharamsala. That outrages followed as soon as the news of the deportation became known is of course the case. But it is always a question of the greatest difficulty to judge whether preventive steps such as those taken will, in a time of great popular excitement, quiet the general atmosphere or precipitate disorder. The probability seemed to be that they would achieve the former result.

35. Chapter X of the Report contains a statement of the facts regarding the successive stages in the application of martial law. Chapter XI discusses the propriety of its introduction and continuance. The majority of the Committee, as already mentioned, definitely find that a state of rebellion against Government existed. They review the various occurrences, indicate the broad features of the disorders and their significance, point out the danger of criticising isolated events and examine the whole position as it presented itself to the Punjab Government and the Government of India. Finally they conclude that the situation in the Punjab was one of extreme gravity and that the authorities were justified in declaring martial law in those areas where it was proclaimed.

The wisdom of continuing martial law is discussed at some length, and the prolongation of it on the railway is examined with special reference to the Afghan War. The conclusion of the majority is that those responsible for the continuance of martial law gave careful and considerate judgment to the question and did not prolong it beyond the time during which to the best of their judgment it was necessary for the maintenance and restoration of order in the province. Looking to the problem with which Government was faced, the committee do not think they would be justified in adversely criticising the decision. On the question of the enforcement and continuance of martial law the minority differ widely from the majority. They find that the introduction of martial law was not necessary, because in their opinion order had been restored everywhere and the authority of Government vindicated before martial law was applied. They think that order could have been restored by the civil power with the aid of the military, and that the Punjab Government persuaded themselves rather easily that martial law was necessary. The reasons for the continuance of martial law are also examined and rejected. Assuming that the introduction of martial law was necessary they say that it ought not to have been continued beyond a few days. The Punjab Government, they think, approached the question from a wrong point of view and the Government of India were guided by the local Government.

36. In considering the necessity for the declaration of martial law it is difficult for the Government of India to take an entirely detached view. We were necessarily guided by the information forwarded by the Local Government: we had already received reports of grave disorders occurring in various places: and we maintain the view that with this information before us, we could not have taken any other course than we actually adopted, when we received from Lahore on the afternoon of the 13th April the wireless message which ran as follows:—"Railway stations between Kasur and Amritsar looted. British soldier killed and two British officers injured at Kasur. Bands of rebels reported on move—Kasur and Tarn Taran treasuries attacked. State of open rebellion exists in parts of districts of Lahore and Amritsar. Lieutenant-Governor with concurrence of General Officer Commanding 16th Division, and Chief Justice of the High Court, requests Governor-General in Council to suspend functions of ordinary Criminal Courts in Amritsar and Lahore districts, to establish martial law therein, and to direct trials of offenders under section 22, Regulation X of 1804. Section 4 will be borne in mind. Situation is critical. Moveable column starts on march from Ferozepore to Amritsar through worst tract with guns to-morrow."

The action of the Government of India has now been justified by the findings of the majority of the Committee, who also exonerate the local Government from all blame. The minority accept the findings of fact as to the number of outrages committed, the animus of those engaged in the riots, the violence used and the number of times on which it was necessary to resort to firing; they also observe that the acts of some of those who took part in the disorders may have amounted in law to waging war against the King, although it was not rebellion in the sense in which that term is ordinarily used. These findings in the opinion of the Government of India detract largely from the force of their conclusion that the introduction of martial law was not necessary. In regard to the continuance of martial law the Government of India have nothing to add to the findings of the majority beyond stating that although martial law was maintained on the railways for a prolonged period owing to the outbreak of the Afghan War it was only employed there, after it had been withdrawn from the districts for the purpose of controlling traffic and protecting the lines.

There is, moreover, one factor in the situation as it presented itself in April 1919 which cannot in the opinion of the Government of India be neglected without prejudice to sound judgment. At that time the British Empire was at war with Germany. Even at the present moment we are not yet at peace with all our enemies; and certainly a year ago when the treaty of peace with Germany had not yet been signed, the existence of a state of war was not a mere technicality. Allusion has already been made to the additional pre-occupation which intervened in the shape of war with Afghanistan, and the difficulties thus created were enhanced by the attitude of the frontier tribes. But at the back of and accentuating these more local difficulties was the paramount necessity of maintaining at the call of the Empire, whose needs were abated, but not extinguished, by the armistice, the resources of the Indian Dominions of His Majesty. In the face of this necessity it was impossible to contemplate any policy which involved an appreciable risk of delay in the restoration of normal conditions or of the recrudescence of the disorders which appeared to have been suppressed.

We desire to add here that our Hon'ble Colleague, Mr. Shafi, dissents from the finding of the Majority of the Committee, accepted by us, that the declaration of martial law was necessary. In his opinion, there being no organised or preconceived conspiracy to subvert British rule behind these disturbances, the vast rural tract in the five districts concerned having remained tranquil and loyal, there having been disturbances only in a few places in the urban area, and even in these few places the majority of the residents not having taken any part in the disturbances, there was no open rebellion as alleged and no justification in consequence for the proclamation of martial law. Besides before the date on which martial law in these districts was actually enforced, the disburbances had been quelled with the assistance rendered by the military and in consequence, there was no justification for enforcement or maintenance of martial law on these days and after. This being the case, Mr. Shafi is of opinion that the continuance of martial law over such a long period was uncalled for.

37. Chapter XII deals with the administration of martial law, including the working and procedure of the summary courts. The majority of the Committee find that the trials were correctly described as lengthy, detailed and careful, and commend the substitution for courts martial of tribunals similar to those under the Defence of India Act. They find, however, that although arrests were made in the ordinary way, there may have been cases in which individual police officers subjected those arrested to unnecessary severity. They observe that while the number of persons arrested and not brought to trial was regrettably large and the period of detention unusually long, on the whole this difficult work was not done badly or oppressively. The disorder was so widespread and serious that its inevitable result was to strain any improvised system. In regard to the sentences passed by the martial law courts the Committee find that there was a general feeling that they were unnecessarily severe but that this was remedied by commutations effected by the local Government. They suggest that charges for serious offences need not have been pressed in the case of minor offenders. Extensive reductions in the sentences would not then have been necessary. The Committee also find that in certain cases, e.g., those of Drs. Kitchlew and Satyapal, it is a matter for regret that the accused were not tried by the ordinary courts. These views are accepted by the Government of India. The military order prohibiting the employment of counsel from outside the Punjab is criticised as unwise and the action of the Government of India in disapproving it is commended.

38. The Committee examine at considerable length the nature of the martial law orders which were promulgated by military commanders in the Punjab. The majority find that some of the orders passed were injudicious and served no useful purpose. They criticise severely the "crawling" order passed by General Dyer (which was disapproved by the Lieutenant-Governor as soon as it came to his notice), the "salaming" order of General Campbell, and the "roll call" imposed by Colonel Johnson on the students of Lahore. The Government of India agree that in the instances which the Committee cite with disapproval the action of the officers mentioned was unjustifiable and in some cases inflicted unnecessary humiliation, resulting in ill-feeling which has been a serious embarrassment to the administration. The flogging of six persons, the suspected assailants of Miss Sherwood, for a breach of fort- discipline on the spot where that lady was assaulted is severely criticised and the Government of India agree that the action taken in this case was highly improper. In dealing with sentences of public flogging the Committee say that under martial law administration no flogging should take place in public. They find further that the number of flogging sentences was excessive, and though it was regarded as probably the most efficacious and convenient method of dealing summarily with minor breaches of martial law regulations, restrictions ought to be placed on the discretion of area officers in awarding sentences of this kind. They say, however, that there is no foundation for the allegation that whipping was inflicted in a cruel fashion and that several persons practically succumbed to it. These findings the Government of India entirely accept. The Committee then refer to the infliction by summary courts of certain punishments not warranted by the law. Though these punishments were unsuitable, they were not generally of a serious nature and were often awarded in place of more severe legal punishments The Government of India, however, disapprove of such fantastic penalties and have taken steps to prevent their being imposed in future.

39. The minority are more severe in their condemnation of the martial law administration. In addition to the criticisms already dealt with, they contend that many of the orders were issued for purely punitive purposes. They cite in particular the orders directing representatives of each ward in Lahore to appear daily before the commanding officer to ascertain his orders for the day. The curfew order, the regulation of prices, and the commandeering of motor cars, electric lights and fans from Indians are also criticised. We are not prepared to say that all these orders were without justification, but we consider that the administration of martial law in Lahore was in some respects unduly severe and exceeded its legitimate limits, that is to say, the requirements of the military situation and the maintenance of law and order. The minority condemn the order imposing on property-owners responsibility for the safety of martial law notices pasted on their houses. The Government of India are not prepared to say that in the circumstances this order was improper. The minority express their strong disapproval of the confinement of the professors and students of the Sanatan Dharm College because certain martial law notices had been destroyed. The Government of India agree that this order exceeded the necessity of the case. The minority further criticise and condemn the conduct of certain officers, notably Colonel O'Brien, Mr. Bosworth Smith and Mr. Jacob, for various orders passed by them in the administration of martial law. The Government of India agree that in the instances cited the officers mentioned acted injudiciously and in some cases improperly. While the findings of the minority report in regard to all these points are very cogent and in some cases fully justified, it must be remembered that officers charged with the administration of martial law cannot be expected to act in abnormal conditions with that care and circumspection which are possible in normal times, nor can such a standard be rigorously applied for the subsequent examination of their actions in the calm atmosphere of safety after order has been restored.

40. The minority in a separate chapter discuss the working of the courts under matial law. The flogging of some members of a marriage party in Lahore by an extra assistant commissioner is rightly condemned. The Punjab Government at once took action against the officer responsible for this abuse of power. The procedure of the summary courts is attacked as unsatisfactory. The Government of India do not think that when martial law is enforced summary courts can be required to observe the formalities of procedure which normally obtain. The minority comment more severely than the majority on the large number of persons arrested and discharged without trial. In the opinion of the Government of India arrest and detention for short periods are justifiable, during a period of martial law as preventive measures to preserve the peace; further many of those arrested were not prosecuted subsequently because, though evidence was available the necessary deterrent effect had already been secured by the convictions of a large number of persons for similar offences. Nevertheless, the Government of India consider that the arrest and detention for long periods of so many persons, and particularly of Dr. Kedar Nath, Mr. Gurdial Singh, Dr. Manohar Lal and six lawyers of Gurdaspur, were a serious error and while they do not overlook the difficulties of the situation, they are constrained to express their disapproval of the action taken in these cases.

In this connection we cannot pass over in silence the allegations of corruption and ill-treatment of prisoners and witnesses on the part of subordinate officers of the police and other services to which wide currency has been given. We recognise the difficulty of sifting charges made so long after the event, but we will direct the local Government to undertake enquiries and take appropriate action in cases where specific complaints are made and action has not already been taken.

41. We accept the view that the administration of martial law in the Punjab was marred in particular instances by a misuse of power, by irregularities, and by injudicious and irresponsible acts. We further agree with the Committee that while the principle of the ultimate supremacy of the military authorities must be kept in view, still in practice executive instructions should be given to all officers who may be called upon to administer martial law, which will guide them in the discharge of this duty. In our opinion it was the absence of such instructions which was responsible for many of the defects which have been noticed in the administration of martial law in the Punjab. It is to inexperience ignorance of local conditions, and lack of guidance when confronted with an abnormal situation rather than to deliberate misuse of power that most of the mistakes committed must be ascribed. The Government of India consider that in any area in which in future it may be necessary to enforce martial law, senior civil officers should be appointed to act as advisers to the various military authorities. The military officers would not be bound in the last resort to follow the advice of his civil adviser but if he decided contrary to that advice, he would do so on his own responsibility. We regard the prevention of any future repitition of mistakes and irregularities as the most important lesson to be learnt from this portion of the report and we have accordingly decided to issue instructions which will secure this object, and will in particular discourage interference by the military authorities with the ordinary administration in excess of the necessities of the case.

42. Before leaving the subject of the working of the courts under martial law, the Government of India desire to refer to the action which was taken by the local Government, after order was restored and martial law withdrawn, to mitigate the effects of the sentences passed by these courts. Between the months of June and November sentences were reduced in 634 cases, 45 death sentences were commuted, and 43 persons were released. In November two High Court Judges were appointed to review all unexpired sentences passed by summary courts and such other cases tried by martial law commissions as might be referred to them by Government. In December, as a result of the reviewing Judges' recommendations 92 persons convicted by summary courts were released, and further action of the same kind would have been taken, but on the 23rd of that month the Royal Proclamation with its message of amnesty was published, and under it clemency was extended to 657 prisoners who were released. By February, out of a total of 1,779 persons convicted in connection with the disturbances, only 96 of the worst offenders, who had taken part in serious crimes of violence, remained in jail and this number has since been reduced to 88. The extension of clemency to political prisoners in the Punjab has been guided throughout by the generous and sympathetic recommendations of the Lieutenant-Governor, whose efforts to restore a peaceful atmosphere within the province are gratefully acknowledged by the Government of India.

43. It now remains for the Government of India to endeavour to arrive at a just appreciation of the conduct of the officers of the Crown, whether Civil or Military, who were employed in the areas affected by those disorders and to make certain general remarks which appear to be essential before finally disposing of the Committee's report. The task of rightly estimating in a calm atmosphere when order and peace have been restored, the behaviour of those faced with a grave emergency and compelled to arrive promptly at decisions of the greatest moment is one of unusual difficulty. The very qualities of courage and initiative, which are of incalculable value during the early stages of an outbreak, may in its later stages be a source of injury, if not tempered by discretion. Moreover, any such estimate, if it is to be just, must not neglect the difficulty of deciding when to act and when to refrain from action, and must endeavour to view the whole position in a right perspective.

It was fortunate that, when the disturbances broke out in April 1919, the Punjab was in charge of a Lieutenant-Governor of great experience and courage. The Government of India consider that Sir Michael O'Dwyer acted with decision and vigour in a time of great danger and that he was largely responsible for quelling a dangerous rising which might have had widespsead and disastrous effects on the rest of India.

Reviewing the situation as a whole, we desire to express our great appreciation of the admirable conduct of the troops who were employed in the suppression of the outbreak. Leaving aside individual instances, which have already been noticed, both officers and men acted with admirable restraint under most trying circumstances and the Government of India have nothing but praise and gratitude for the services which they rendered in suppressing disorder and restoring the peace of the country.

The officers of the civil administration of all classes and ranks in the affected areas generally maintained that high standard of conduct and devotion to duty which the Government of India would have expected of them. Thanks are due not only to those who were immediately concerned in the restoration of order but also to those who by carrying on their ordinary duties with calmness and fortitude in a time of turmoil did much to restore the confidence of the people. The names of some of those officers who have been specially commended have already been referred to but if local Governments consider that there are other officers whose conduct merits special commendation, their names should be brought to notice at an early date.

To those non-officials who either did their best to stay the agitation which had so sinister a connection with the outbreak, or who by their influence and assistance helped the authorities to restore order, the grateful acknowledgments of the Government of India are due in full measure and local Governments will be asked to see that individual assistance of this kind does not go unacknowledged or unrewarded.

It is a great satisfaction to the Government of India to notice that there were many of all classes and creeds who, in the face of frenzied mobs and even at the risk of their lives, afforded assistance or showed compassion to the innocent victims of the outrages. Here again it is desired that all such actions shall be marked with a very definite acknowledgment or, in cases where such a course is suitable, be recompensed with a pecuniary reward.

44. The names of officers whose actions have been rightly criticised or condemned have been mentioned in the body of this despatch and local Governments will be requested to take such action as may be necessary to mark in these cases the disapprobation of the Government of India.

The case of General Dyer calls for separate mention. We have given most anxious consideration to the action of this officer at Jallianwala Bagh. We are satisfied that it was bonâ fide and dictated by a stern though misconceived sense of duty. The facts are abundantly clear. General Dyer has made no attempt to minimise his responsibility for the tragedy or even to put a favourable complexion on his action or purpose. The only justification that could be pleaded for his conduct would be military necessity arising out of the situation before him and in the area under his jurisdiction. In circumstances such as General Dyer was confronted with, an officer must act honestly and vigorously but with as much humanity as the case will permit. We recognise that in the face of a great crisis an officer may be thrown temporarily off the balance of his judgment and that much allowance must be made on this account. We recognise further that, however, injurious in its ultimate effect General Dyer's action may have been, it resulted in an immediate discouragement of the forces of disorder. Nor have we overlooked our resolution in which we promised full countenance and support to officers engaged in the onerous duty of suppressing disorder. Nevertheless, after carefully weighing all these factors, we can arrive at no other conclusion than that at Jallianwala Bagh General Dyer acted beyond the necessity of the case, beyond what any reasonable man could have thought to be necessary, and that he did not act with as much humanity as the case permitted. It is with pain that we arrive at this conclusion, for we are not forgetful of General Dyer's distinguished record as a soldier or of his gallant relief of the garrison at Thal during the recent Afghan war. We must however direct that the judgment above pronounced be communicated to His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief with the request that he will take appropriate action.

45. We have on several occasions expressed our very great regret for the loss of life, European and Indian, which occurred in the disturbances and our sympathy with those who are left to mourn the victims of these unhappy events. We desire once again to convey regret and sympathy to all who have thus suffered. Compensation, so far as this can be any reparation, has been awarded to those to whom compensation was due under the law, and adequate provision has been, or will be, made for the dependents of Government servants who have lost their lives in the disturbances. The Punjab Government will also be enjoined to consider the cases of persons who have been left in want through the death or permanent injury of their supporters at Jallianwala Bagh, and to supplement, if necessary, any assistance that may have been rendered to such persons by local charity organisations.

46. We have now surveyed all the conclusions of the Committee. There remains, in our opinion, one lesson of supreme importance to be drawn from the events of April, 1919. It will be impossible to dissociate memories of these disorders from the civil disobedience movement which was their chief immediate cause. When this movement was initiated, it was apparently not obvious to its promoters, as it was to all thoughtful persons, that in India in its present state of development (whatever may be the case in other countries) the unsettling effect of advice to the public in general to break selected laws was likely to lead to a situation which might involve the overthrow of all law and order. The bitter experience of last year removes this question from the category of doubt, and those who henceforth inaugurate such movements from whatever motives, cannot feel uncertain as to the consequences of invoking forces which they can neither direct nor control. We can only hope that this lesson has been learnt once for all, and that in the future all right-thinking persons will set their faces firmly against the deliberate playing with fire which is involved in the promotion of such movements.

Finally, we desire to express here our earnest hope that the lesson to be learned from these events is not of a merely negative character. Since the period which has formed the subject of this enquiry a new era has been inaugurated in India and the change has given occasion to a gracious proclamation by the King-Emperor which has appealed to the hearts of all his subjects in India. We venture to recall at this time the salient feature in this gracious message; we feel confident that the earnest desire expressed by the King-Emperor that any trace of bitterness between his people and those responsible for his Government should be obliterated, will not pass unheeded.

47. In conclusion, we desire to express our thanks to Lord Hunter and the members of his Committee for the great ability and painstaking labour they have bestowed on an enquiry which from its very inception must have been a most difficult and seemingly thankless task, and for their report which has cleared up much that was in doubt and dispute, and which has been of the utmost service to us in arriving at just conclusions on the many questions that called for decision.

We have the honour to be,

Your most obedient, humble Servants

Despatch from the Right Hon'ble Edwin Montagu, His Majesty's Secretary of State for India No. 108-Public, dated London, the 26th May 1920.

MY LORD,

His Majesty's Government have considered the report of Lord Hunter's Committee upon the disturbances which occurred in the Punjab and other parts of India in the early part of last year. They have further been informed by me of the conclusions at which Your Excellency's Government had arrived in your own review of the report as expressed in your letter dated the 3rd May, the text of which you have telegraphed to me. The report and your letter naturally cover ground which His Majesty's Government did not feel called upon to survey in detail, but their consideration of the matter has led them to definite decisions upon certain of the more important questions arising out of the report, and they have desired me to communicate to you in my reply to your letter their considered statement of these decisions. The paragraphs numbered 2 to 8 of this despatch contain accordingly this statement.

2. General.—The report of Lord Hunter's Committee presents the results of a prolonged and patient investigation. Their labours would be of little value if their very complete and careful findings are not put to a practical use. The conclusions here recorded have been inspired in the main by the belief that the chief duty which lies upon His Majesty's Government and the Government of India in utilising the report is not primarily to apportion blame to individuals for what has been done amiss or to visit penalties upon them, but rather to prevent the recurrence in the future of occasion for blame or regret should unfortunate circumstances ever produce again a situation such as that which occurred in India in the spring of 1919.

3. The Conduct of Brigadier-General Dyer at Amritsar on April the 13th.—The main features of the occurrence at Jallianwala Bagh in Amritsar City on the afternoon of April the 13th, 1919, are well known. They are set out at length in Lord Hunter's report and appear in minute detail in the evidence, both written and oral, given before the Committee by Brigadier-General Dyer himself, the full and authorised text of which is now available to the public. As to the facts, there is no doubt and no dispute, and it is only necessary here to recapitulate them very briefly in their baldest form. On the morning of April the 13th, Brigadier-General Dyer, who had arrived at Amritsar on the night of the 11th, issued a proclamation forbidding inter alia processions to parade in or outside the city and declaring that "any such procession or gathering of four men will be looked upon and treated as an unlawful assembly and dispersed by force of arms if necessary." This proclamation was read out at various places in the city, in the course of the progress through the streets of a column of troops led by Brigadier-General Dyer personally who left his quarters about 9 A.M. for this purpose and returned to them about 1-30 P.M. About an hour before his return to his quarters in Ram Bagh Brigadier-General Dyer had heard that despite his proclamation it was intended to hold a large meeting at Jallianwala Bagh at 4-30 that afternoon, and at 4 P.M he received a message that a crowd of about 1,000 had already assembled there. Shortly after 4 P.M. Brigadier-General Dyer marched from Ram Bagh with picketing parties (as he had previously determined to picket the main gates of the city) and with a special party consisting of 50 Indian Infantry armed with rifles, 40 Indian Infantry armed only with "Kukris" (type of sword), and two armoured cars. He proceeded straight to Jallianwala Bagh dropping his picket parties en route and on arrival marched his infantry through a narrow lane into the Bagh and deployed them immediately right and left of the entrance. The armoured cars he left outside, as the lane was too narrow to admit them. Having deployed his troops Brigadier-General Dyer at once gave orders to open fire and continued a controlled fire on the dense crowd facing him in the enclosure (which he estimated at about 5,000 persons) for some 10 minutes until his ammunition supply was at the point of exhaustion. 1,650 rounds of ·303 mark VI ammunition were fired. The fatal casualties as the result of this action are believed to be 379; the number wounded has not been exactly ascertained but is estimated by Lord Hunter's Committee at possibly three times the number of deaths. Immediately after giving orders to cease fire, Brigadier-General Dyer marched his troops back to Ram Bagh. The reasons given by General Dyer for the severity and duration of his fire are stated as follows in his written statement furnished to the General Staff (16th Indian Division) and subsequently laid before Lord Hunter's Committee: "We cannot be very brave unless we be possessed of a greater fear. I had considered the matter from every point of view. My duty and my military instincts told me to fire. My conscience was also clear on that point. What faced me was, what on the morrow would be the "Danda Fauj" (this, which may be translated as bludgeon army, was the name given to themselves by the rioters in Lahore). I fired and continued to fire until the crowd dispersed, and I consider this is the least amount of firing which would produce the necessary moral and widespread effect it was my duty to produce if I was to justify my action. If more troops had been at hand, the casualties would have been greater in proportion. It was no longer a question of merely dispersing the crowd, but one of producing a sufficient moral effect, from a military point of view, not only on those who were present, but more specially throughout the Punjab. There could be no question of undue severity."

The principle which has consistently governed the policy of His Majesty's Government in directing the methods to be employed, when military action in support of the civil authority is required, may be broadly stated as using the minimum force necessary. His Majesty's Government are determined that this principle shall remain the primary factor of policy whenever circumstances unfortunately necessitate the suppression of civil disorder by military force within the British Empire.

It must regretfully, but without possibility of doubt be concluded that Brigadier-General Dyer's action at Jallianwala Bagh was in complete violation of this principle. The task which confronted him was to disperse by force if necessary a large, but apparently unarmed assembly which had gathered in defiance of his orders. It is possible that considering the strength of the military force at his disposal, the size of the crowd, and the general temper and attitude of the inhabitants of the city, he would have found it impossible to achieve this task effectively and completely without some firing and without causing some loss of life. But it is certain that he made no attempt to ascertain the minimum amount of force which he was compelled to employ, that the force which he actually employed was greatly in excess of that required to achieve the dispersal of the crowd, and that it resulted in lamentable and unnecessary loss of life and suffering. But this is not a full statement of Brigadier-General Dyer's error. There can be no doubt that large numbers of people in the assembly, many of whom were visitors to the city from surrounding villages, were ignorant of the existence of his proclamation and the danger which they ran by attending the gathering. The proclamation was published in only a portion of the city, that portion being some distance from the scene of the meeting, and no warning of any kind was given before fire was opened. It would be unfair, considering the state of the city, the heat of the weather and the strain to which the troops under General Dyre's command had been subjected since their arrival in the city to lay too great stress upon the first point, but the omission to give warning before fire was opened is inexcusable. Further that Brigadier-General Dyer should have taken no steps to see that some attempt was made to give medical assistance to the dying and the wounded was an omission from his obvious duty. But the gravest feature of the case against Brigadier-General Dyer is his avowed conception of his duty in the circumstances which confronted him.

His Majesty's Government repudiate emphatically the doctrine upon which Brigadier-General Dyer based his action—action which to judge from his own statement might have taken an even more drastic form had he had a larger force at his disposal and had a physical accident not prevented him from using his armoured cars. They have not overlooked the extreme gravity of the situation as it presented itself to the authorities in India generally and to Brigadier-General Dyer in particular on April the 13th, nor have they failed to appreciate the immensity of the responsibility which Brigadier-General Dyer felt and rightly felt to be imposed upon him by that situation. They think it is possible that the danger to the lives of Europeans and to the safety of the British and Indian troops was greater than appears from the Committee's report. In Amritsar itself voilent murder and arson of the most savage description had occurred three days previovsly and the city was still practically in possession of the mob. From the surrounding country-side reports were hourly being received of similar violent outbreaks and attacks upon communications, and the deficiencies in these reports (due to the success of the attacks on communications) were supplemented by rumours which there was little means of verifying and as little ground for disbelieving. In discharging this responsibility with the small force at his disposal Brigadier-General Dyer naturally could not dismiss from his mind the conditions in the Punjab generally and he was entitled to lay his plans with reference to those conditions. But he was not entitled to select for condign punishment an unarmed crowd which, when he inflicted that punishment, had committed no act of violence, had made no attempt to oppose him by force, and many members of which must have been unaware that they were disobeying his commands.

In passing judgment upon Brigadier-General Dyer for his action on April the 13th, it is impossible to disregard an order which he passed some six days later, and which has become generally known as the "crawling order." It is unnecessary here to repeat the nature of this order or the circumstances out of which it arose. Had the order been carried out as a punishment upon the persons actually guilty of the crime, which it was designed to stigmatise, it would have been difficult to defend; inflicted as it was upon persons who had no connection with that crime, with the object of impressing upon the public of Amritsar through the humiliation those persons the enormity of the crime committed by certain individuals of that public, the order offended against every canon of civilised Government.

Upon a military commander administering martial law in a hostile country there lies a grave responsibility; when he is compelled to exercise this responsibility over a population which owes allegiance and looks for protection to the Government which he himself is serving, this burden is immeasurably enhanced. It would prejudice the public safety, with the preservation of which he is charged, to fetter his free judgment or action either by the prescription of rigid rules before the event or by over censorious criticism when the crisis is past. A situation which is essentially military must be dealt with in the light of military considerations which postulate breadth of view and due appreciation of all the possible contingencies. There are certain standards of conduct which no civilised Government can with impunity neglect, and which His Majesty's Government are determined to uphold. Subject to the due observance of those standards, an officer administering martial law must, and will, remain free to carry out the task imposed upon him in the manner which his judgment dictates to him as best and most effective, and may rely upon the unqualified support of his superiors when his task has been accomplished.

That Brigadier-General Dyer displayed honesty of purpose and unflinching adherence to his conception of his duty cannot for a moment be questioned. But his conception of his duty in the circumstances in which he was placed was so fundamentally at variance with that which His Majesty's Government have a right to expect from and a duty to enforce upon officers who hold His Majesty's commission, that it is impossible to regard him as fitted to remain entrusted with the responsibilities which his rank and position impose upon him. You have reported to me that the Commander-in-Chief has directed Brigader-General Dyer to resign his appointment as Brigade-Commander and has informed him that he would receive no further employment in India, and that you have concurred. I approve this decision and the circumstances of the case have been referred to the Army Council.

4. The justification for the declaration and continuance of Martial law.—There are no grounds for questioning the decision of the majority of Lord Hunter's Committee that the declaration of martial law and the partial supersession of the ordinary tribunals in the districts of the Punjab in which martial law was applied were justified (Chapter XI, paragraph 17). As regards the dates to which it was prolonged, it is obvious that the institution of martial law involves the responsibility of deciding when it is to be revoked. The general principle is clear that martial law should remain in force no longer than the public safety demands, but beyond this there are no hard-and fast criteria which can govern this decision, and a retrospective judgment in the light of after-events is not permissible. The fact that open disorder had ceased some time before martial law was revoked may have been due to the existence of martial law and its earlier abrogation might have been followed by a recrudescence. Looking back in the light of events, it is permissible to argue that an earlier abrogation was possible, though His Majesty's Government can feel little doubt that this argument would have been less pressed than it has been, had there been no grounds for complaint of the manner in which in some cases martial law was administered. But it is not permissible to condemn the authorities responsible for the decisions taken, who had to rely only on their anticipation of the future.

5. The justification for Ordinance IV of 1919 giving the Martial Law Commissions jurisdiction to try any offence committed on or after March the 30th.—The legality of this ordinance is not a point at issue; that question has been recently determined by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. Nor is there any valid reason to question the propriety, when (as was the case here) it can legally be done, of ante-dating the effect of an enactment setting up special martial law tribunals and procedure, so as to bring within their jurisdiction persons charged with overt acts of violence, which were the immediate cause of and justification for the declaration of martial law. The original ordinance setting up Martial Law Commissions in the Lahore and Amritsar Districts gave the Commissions jurisdiction to try offences committed on or after April the 13th. Had this date remained unamended, it would have been impossible to try by Commission persons charged with actual participation in the murders, incendiarism and destruction of property which occurred on April the 10th at Amritsar, or persons charged with participation in the riots at Lahore on April the 10th, 11th and 12th and in the murders at Kasur on the 12th; and if the Government of India with the legal power at their disposal had neglected to correct the anomaly to this extent, they would have omitted an obvious and necessary step towards the rapid restoration of normal conditions. But the use of the power which the ordinance gave in order to apply the special martial law method of trial to persons whose offence consisted in newspaper articles and speeches which were not demonstrably and immediately the cause of the outbreak of open disorder, stands on an entirely different footing and the terms "unfortunate" and "imprudent" which the majority of Lord Hunter's Committee applied to this policy are at all events not exaggerated criticism.

Taking into consideration the acts committed under Ordinance IV of 1919, which it is impossible not to disavow, His Majesty's Government can feel little doubt that the terms of the ordinance itself were too wide, and that the drafting of any future ordinance of a similar kind should ensure due limits to its application.

6. Administration of Martial Law.—There is one question with regard to which it is impossible to avoid the conclusion that the majority of Lord Hunter's Committee have failed to express themselves in terms which, unfortunately, the facts not only justify but necessitate. In paragraphs 16 to 25 of Chapter XII of their report the majority have dealt with the "intensive" form generally which martial law assumed and with certain specified instances of undue severity and of improper punishments or orders. It is unnecessary to recapitulate the instances which the Committee have enumerated in detail in both their reports, nor would any useful purpose be served by attempting to assess, with a view to penalties, the culpability of individual officers who were responsible for these orders, but whose conduct in other respects may have been free from blame or actually commendable. But His Majesty's Government must express strong disapproval of these orders and punishments, and ask me to leave to you the duty of seeing that this disapproval shall be unmistakably marked by censure or other action which seems to you necessary upon those who were responsible for them. The instances cited by the Committee gave justifiable ground for the assertion that the administration of martial law in the Punjab was marred by a spirit which prompted—not generally, but unfortunately not uncommonly—the enforcement of punishments and orders calculated, if not intended, to humiliate Indians as a race, to cause unwarranted inconvenience amounting on occasions to injustice, and to flout the standards of propriety and humanity, which the inhabitants not only of India in particular but of the civilised world in general have a right to demand of those set in authority over them. It is a matter for regret that, notwithstanding the conduct of the majority, there should have been some officers in the Punjab who appear to have overlooked the fact that they were administering martial law, not in order to subdue the population of a hostile country temporarily occupied as an act of war, but in order to deal promptly with those who had disturbed the peace of a population owing allegiance to the King-Emperor, and in the main profoundly loyal to that allegiance. It is difficult to believe that this would have occurred had the civil authority been able to retain a larger measure of contact with the administration of martial law, and it is of paramount importance, if in the future it should unfortunately be necessary to have recourse to martial law, that some system should be devised which will secure such contact effectively.

A review of the methods and results of the trials by the summary procedure of martial law tribunals would be uncalled for. It is not, however, improper to observe that marked attention has been directed to its disadvantages, and to the extreme divergence between the sentences required by the charges as presented to those courts and by the dictates of justice as they presented themselves to the reviewing authorities. It is to be hoped that, as a result of the experience thus gained, means will be devised whereby martial law tribunals can be improved if they have again to be employed.

7. The use of bombing aeroplanes at Gujranwala.—With regard to the use of bombing aeroplanes at Gujranwala on April the 14th, the majority of Lord Hunter's Committee expressed their views as follows: "As to the use of bombs from aeroplanes we do not think that this would be defended by any one save in cases of urgent need, in the absence of other means, and under the strictest limitations even then. In our opinion the first two of these conditions were present in full force "..... "We are not prepared to lay down as a charter for rioters that when they succeed in preventing the ordinary resources of Government from being utilised to suppress them, they are to be exempt from having to reckon with such resources as remain.' They then proceed to state that no blame can be imputed to the flying officers concerned for carrying out the instructions given to them, but that the action taken under the instructions given illustrates their defectiveness and they conclude by a recommendation that the formulation of instructions to be given to flying officers in future in similar circumstances should form the subject of careful investigation.

In formulating these conclusions, His Majesty's Government desire to state clearly that reconnaissance, communications, propaganda-dropping and moral effect summarise the normal and correct use of aircraft under conditions of unrest in normally peaceful countries. But emergencies may occur when, owing to distances, or damage to communications, or both, and the progress of murderous mob violence and arson which there is no other means of checking, exceptions from this general position are not only justified but necessary. It is impossible to guarantee by general or special instructions that machine-guns or bombs will affect only the crowd which would be justifiably fired upon if troops were available on the ground. But in future explicit orders must be required for the employment of armed air-craft in such emergencies: these orders should be issued in writing by a civil authority and should authorise only a limited amount of bombing and machine-gunfire to be employed to overawe mobs, which are, so far as the airman can judge, actually engaged in crimes of violence. The Government will see to it that instructions on these lines are issued as soon as possible. They regretfully agree with Lord Hunter's Committee that the instructions issued to the airman who visited Gujranwala on this occasion left much to be desired in precision.

8. Sir Michael O'Dwyer.—It follows from what has been said in earlier paragraphs that on certain points arising out of this enquiry His Majesty's Government do not regard Sir Michael O'Dwyer as immune from criticism. Thus they cannot endorse the unqualified approval which he accorded on insufficient information to the action of Brigadier-General Dyer at Jallianwala Bagh and they think it unfortunate that he did not adhere at the time to his first impulse to with hold both praise and blame on a matter with which as a civil officer he was not in the circumstances directly concerned. The motives which evidently prompted him to adopt another attitude and to maintain that attitude subsequently and in the light of fuller knowledge are less open to criticism.

Secondly, the opinion already expressed on the application of martial law procedure to certain trials must be taken as applying to Sir Michael O'Dwyer in so far as he was personally responsible for the action in question. As regards the administration of martial law generally Sir Michael O'Dwyer had evidently contemplated arrangements by which civil officers would be accorded a recognised position to advise on military administration, and the martial law manual which your Government have under consideration should ensure that in future this plan is brought into operation.

With the general question of Sir Michael O'Dwyer's administration of the Punjab His Majesty's Government are not now immediately concerned. They recognise that it has formed the subject of much controversy in India and that a widespread impression has been engineered that the Punjab Government under his direction was hostile to the educated classes and was determined to suppress not only illegitimate but also legitimate and constitutional political agitation. While they sincerely trust that this atmosphere may be dispelled, they are fully conscious of the difficulties of the situation with which he was faced. Conspiracy, the activity of enemy agents, the rise in the cost of living and the necessity of furnishing the bulk of the vast number of recruits for the Indian Army which the needs of the Empire required, though fortunately powerless to disturb the loyalty of the province as a whole, caused constant anxiety throughout his term of office. That term is now closed, a long and honoured connection with India is ended, and His Majesty's Government desire here to pay a tribute to the great energy, decision and courage which Sir Michael O'Dwyer brought to his task through a period of exceptional difficulty and to express their appreciation of his services.

9. As to the conclusions which Your Excellency's Government have recorded on other matters arising out of this report, I am glad to find that I am in general accord with your views, save in so far as otherwise appears from the foregoing paragraphs and I have little further to add at the present moment. Your Excellency's Government will, however, understand that the publication of documents in which the public, both in India and in this country, is vitally interested is not necessarily a final settlement of all the large questions involved. In particular I shall expect you to submit for my early approval the draft of the martial law manual which you have under consideration. To this matter I attach the utmost importance. I need hardly say that I most earnestly trust that occasion may never arise for the enforcement of such rules. But this enquiry will have served a valuable purpose if it results in the enactment of a code of regulations calculated to ensure, so far as human foresight can serve; a system of administration which is at once adequate to repress disorder, to secure the speedy, just and fitting punishment of its promoters, and which yet subverts no more than the fulfilment of these requirements necessitates the ordinary rights and course of life of the people at large, and adheres to the processes of civil justice and government. For in view of conditions which threaten the existence of the State, martial law is a necessary remedy, but it is a remedy which unless applied with wisdom and good judgment loses its value. It is therefore incumbent upon us to do all in our power to prevent the depreciation of its value by misuse. The same observations apply in my judgment to deportation, an expedient which in its present form it is so notoriously difficult to employ and the effects of which are so incapable of exact estimation.

10. His Majesty's Government found it necessary to criticise in strong terms the conduct of certain officers charged with the administration of martial law and Your Excellency's Government have indicated that all proved cases of abuse of their powers on the part of subordinate officers of the police and other services will receive due notice. But these exceptions apart His Majesty's Government desire me to express to you in no uncertain terms their warm endorsement of your appreciation of the conduct of officers and men, both civil and military, both British and Indian, upon whom fell the heavy task of assisting the people of India to recover their fair name for loyalty and orderliness. The burden thus imposed upon officers and men of His Majesty's British and Indian armies, of his police force and of his civil services who had already borne with fortitude but not without fatigue the trials and strain arising from a long drawn war, was a heavy one. In setting themselves to their task these men proved true to the great traditions of their services.

His Majesty's Government wish further to express the profound regret which they, equally, with Your Excellency's Government, feel for the loss of life which these disturbances occasioned, and their deep sympathy with those to whom the events have brought personal bereavement.

11. In conclusion I am glad to have this opportunity of assuring Your Excellency of the sense of obligation which His Majesty's Government feel to you personally for the manner in which you have fulfilled your high trust. Great as is always the burden borne by the Governor-General of India, world-wide circumstances have combined to lay upon you a degree of anxiety such as has only at long intervals fallen upon any of your illustrious predecessors. His Majesty's Government desire that you should be fortified by the knowledge that they continue to repose the fullest confidence in Your Excellency's discretion, inspired as they feel certain it has constantly been by the single aim of the good of the peoples whose government is committed to your charge.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient humble Servant,

Germany.—Gift parcels sent by parcel post may enter Germany without import licence and also free from duty and taxes, provided they do not contain more than 2 kilos (70 ozs.) of tobacco.

URGENT ORDERS.

The Import and Export Licensing Section, Board of Trade, announces that, in collaboration with the Department of Overseas Trade, an arrangement has been made whereby firms receiving orders which require immediate acceptance may telegraph details of any such order to the Department of Overseas Trade in order to ascertain whether a licence will be granted for the export of the goods if the order is accepted.

In the event of an applicant being promised a licence he will be enabled to deal with the order straightaway with the knowledge that upon application being made in the proper form to the Import and Export Licensing Section (Board of Trade) the licence will be granted.

The telegrams should be addressed to "Orders, c-o Advantage, Stock, London." They should give in each case in addition to the name and postal or telegraphic address of the applicant the quantity and description of the goods comprised in the order and the name and address of the ultimate consignee if the goods are destined for a neutral country. In the case of orders from Allied or British Territory or from Territory in the occupation of troops of the Associated Governments, the consignee need not be stated; and it will be sufficient merely to give the country of destination. A reply of 24 words (1-3) must be prepaid.

Applicants are requested in their own interest to confine their enquiries to orders needing a very urgent decision, since the fewer the enquiries the more promptly can answers be given.

Any subsequent correspondence that is necessary in connection with the telegraphic enquiries should be addressed to the Comptroller General, Department of Overseas Trade (Export Facilities Section), 35, Old Queen Street, Westminister, S. W.-1.

The 12th May 1920.

Despatch from His Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 6-Accounts, dated the 15th April 1920, and enclosures.

ORDERED that the despatch and its enclosures be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

INDIA OFFICE, LONDON,
15th April 1920.

Accounts,
No. 6.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

MY LORD,

Indian Civil Service Family Pension Regulations. Valuation as at 31st March 1918.

With reference to my predecessor's Despatch, Financial (Funds), No. 3, dated 28th April 1916, fixing the date of the next valuation of the Indian Civil Service Family Pension Scheme as at the 31st March 1918, I enclose herewith a copy of the Report of the Actuary, Mr. J. Douglas Watson, F.I.A., as at that date, with copies of a letter sent to him on the 23rd February 1920, relative to that Report, and of his reply dated the 24th of the same month.

I also enclose a statement of the consolidated accounts for the period from 1st April 1911 to the 31st March 1918.

2. The valuation, which was made on a 4 per cent. basis, showed that there was a surplus in the capitalised value of the assets, actual and contingent, over the capitalised liabilities, actual and contingent, of 223,239*l*. The continuation of the reduction of 12½ per cent. in the subscriptions, which has been in force since the 1st August 1908, would absorb 102,168*l*. of this surplus, leaving 121,071*l*. undistributed.

3. For the reasons set forth in the letter to Mr. Watson dated the 23rd February 1920, I have decided, while continuing the 12½ per cent reduction in subscriptions as at present, to increase by 25 per cent. all pensions that may be payable in respect of the period from the 1st January 1920 to the 31st December 1924, or any part of that period. I have sanctioned this increase on the distinct understanding that it may not be continued beyond the 31st December 1924. I feel sure that the disposal of a large portion of the surplus by granting this increase will commend itself to the judgment of the subscribers. No increase will be made in the donations payable to daughters on marriage.

This exceptional step of temporarily increasing pensions has been rendered possible by the decision to allow for the present 5½ per cent. interest on the half-yearly balances in the pro formâ accounts with effect from the 1st April 1919. The additional ½ per cent. is subject to withdrawal on six months' notice.

4. I have to request that you will publish the Actuary's Report, with the letters of the 23rd and 24th February, also this Despatch, in the Gazette of India. Interest on arrears of contributions should be increased to 5½ per cent. with effect from the first day of the month following publication. The date of publication should be communicated to me by telegram, and as soon as possible thereafter copies of the amended Regulations will be despatched.

I have the honour to be,

MY LORD,

Your Lordship's most obedient humble Servant,

ED. S. MONTAGU.

ENCLOSURES.

ENCLOSURE NO. 1 :—Mr. J. Douglas Watson, F.I.A., to India Office.

32, Moorgate Street. E.C. 2,
15th December 1919.

SIR,

In accordance with instructions conveyed to me by the Accountant-General and Director of Funds in his letter of the 26th March 1918, I have investigated the financial position of the Indian Civil Service Family Pensions Scheme as at 31st March 1918.

2. The previous actuarial investigation into this scheme was made by the late Sir George Francis Hardy as at 31st March 1911, and in that connection he made a very elaborate investigation into the past experience of the fund, supplemented, where it seemed useful, by data derived from the Bengal, Madras and Bombay Civil Funds, with a view to the preparation of the necessary tables to determine what is likely to be the future experience of the Fund with regard to—

(a) the rates of mortality at various ages of subscribers and of actual and prospective incumbents;
(b) the rates of marriage of the widows and of the daughters of subscribers;
(c) the rates of marriage of unmarried subscribers and the relative ages of husbands and wives at marriage;
(d) the number of sons and daughters born to subscribers of various ages; and (e) the ages at which subscribers will retire from active service.

From the data available suitable graduated tables were produced, which Sir George Hardy in his Report of 11th November 1913 stated might be regarded as a really trustworthy basis for the financial estimates and one which would be of value in the future. The tables in question are for convenience reprinted at the end of this Report (Appendix A, Table A).

3. In connection with the present investigation, I have been furnished by the Accountant-General and Director of Funds with full statistics relating to the Fund as at 31st March 1918, and for the seven intervening years since the date as at which the last investigation was made. The first point requiring investigation was how far the experience of the Fund since 1914 has, in fact, coincided with the above-mentioned tables prepared by Sir George Hardy with a view to seeing whether such tables could properly again be used upon this occasion.

4. As the result of a full investigation into the new facts, I am of opinion that Sir George Hardy's tables may again be adopted (with one unimportant exception, which will be referred to below) but it will be convenient, if only for purposes of record, briefly to deal with the figures for the seven years 1911-1918 under each head in detail.

Mortality of Subscribers.

5. THE following table gives a summary of the experience with respect to the mortality of subscribers, both active and retired, the facts being arranged for convenience in quinquennial groups of ages :—

TABLE I.

Mortality Experience of Subscribers—Active and Retired, 1911-1918.

Ages.	Actual Number of Deaths.	Number expected by Table A.
24-29	15	15
30-34	16	13
35-39	15	11
40-44	13	15
45-49	13	14
50	6	6
Total ...	78	74

From this table it will be seen that the number of deaths was 78, which is four more than the number "expected" by Table A. This deviation is unimportant.

Mortality of Wives of Subscribers.

6. During the period 30 wives died, which is six more than "expected" under Table A, but the total figures are so small that no particular significance can be attached to this fact.

Mortality of Widows and Daughters of Subscribers.

7. Only two widows died during the period, which was the number "expected" under Table A, while with regard to the daughters 22 died as against 28 deaths "expected."

Mortality of Sons of Subscribers.

8. In the case of the sons of subscribers the number who died was 46 as against 28 "expected" under Table A. Of the 46 deaths, however, 19 are returned as war casualties. Making allowance for this fact, it will be seen that what may be regarded as the normal mortality has closely approximated to that expected.

Marriages.

9. (a) Single Subscribers.—During the period there were 291 marriages of single subscribers as against 309 "expected," showing as close an approximation between the actual and "expected" marriages as could reasonably be anticipated.

(b) Widows.—Here there were 10 marriages as against five "expected" under Table A. In the case of re-marriages of widows, not only is the experience during the period very small, but the rates given in Table A are themselves based, as was pointed out by Sir George Hardy, upon very scanty data, and it is not surprising that there should be some deviation between the actual and "expected" results. There seems, therefore, in my judgment at present no adequate reason for modifying the Table A rates, and in any case, having regard to the small financial effect of this particular item on the investigation, this point is of no practical significance.

(c) Daughters.—During the period there were 45 marriages of daughters of subscribers at the ages shown in the following Table:—

TABLE II.

Marriages of Daughters, 1911-1918.

Ages.	Actual Number of Marriages.	Number expected by Table A.
Under 20	4	4
20-24	28	11
Total ...	45	19

It will be seen that the number of marriages of daughters considerably exceeded the "expected" under Table A. In this connection it must be borne in mind that, as pointed out by Sir George Hardy, the marriage rates deduced by him were based mainly upon the experience of the old Funds. In order, therefore, to provide for the possibility of a fall in the marriage rate in the future, he arbitrarily reduced the rates indicated by the past experience by 25 per cent., and it is such reduced rates which are shown in Table A. So far as there has been any rise in the number of marriages during the last few years, this may quite likely have been due to special circumstances connected with the war. Moreover, it is possible that the marriage rate in the immediate future may tend to fall owing to the social and economic after-effects of the war. For these reasons, and bearing in mind the fact that any fall in the marriage rate in the future would have an adverse effect on the Fund, it has not been considered advisable to assume on this occasion a higher marriage rate than that shown in Table A.

Births of Future Children.

10. (a) Sons.—The number of sons born was 347 as against 324 "expected," a sufficiently close approximation. Moreover, the ratio of the number of married men at each age to the total number of subscribers at that age has not altered materially. With regard to sons, therefore, it is satisfactory to adopt the Table A rates.

(b) Daughters.—The number of daughters born was 331 as against 298 "expected." With regard to these figures it will be noticed that the actual number of daughters born, 331, is about 5 per cent. less than the number of sons born, 347; which is a proportion found normally to obtain in similar experiences. This fact suggested an enquiry as to the former data upon which the Table A rates were based, and it was found that for the six years 1900—1905, and again for the six years 1906—1911, the number of sons born exceeded the number of daughters born by 20 per cent. in each period. No particular reason suggests itself why what can only be regarded as the very abnormal experience up to 1911 should recur, and it was therefore decided to base the present valuation on the more normal experience of the immediately preceding seven years. In order to carry this out it has been on this occasion assumed that the birth rate of daughters would in future correspond with that given for sons in Table A. The "expected" births on this basis during the past seven years would have been almost exactly equal to the actual births.

Number and Ages of Subscribers entering the Service.

11. The following table gives the numbers and average ages of subscribers entering the service :—

TABLE III.

Number and Ages of Subscribers entering the Service.

Year of entry.	Numbers.	Average age.
1911	60	24·3
1912	48	24·3
1913	47	24 4
1914	43	24 3
1915	45	24·3
1916	14	24·2
1917	9	24·5

From this table it will be seen that throughout the period the average age at entry has been 24·3, which is practically the same as during the previous six years. With regard to the numbers entering the service, it will be noticed that these fell off considerably during the later years of the war.

Retirements of Subscribers.

12. The number of subscribers who retire fsom active service at the various ages is a very important factor in such a Fund as this, and Sir George

Hardy in his Report (paras. 19-24) went very carefully into the questions involved. The special difficulty in dealing with these points in connection with this particular Fund is that, owing to the date at which it was established, comparatively few of the members have reached the normal age of retirement. Moreover, since the Fund was established the average age at entry, which in the early days was 21, has increased to slightly over 24, which fact may be expected ultimately somewhat to increase the average age at retirement, while on the other hand the fact that subscribers are no longer required to pay their monthly subscriptions after retirement may tend in the other direction. Bearing these considerations in mind, and after careful examination of the data of the last seven years, I am of opinion that while there is not at the present time sufficient justification for definitely assuming that retirements will ultimately take place earlier than at an average age of 50, it would be wise somewhat to strengthen the valuation in this respect to provide a margin for future contingencies, and this has accordingly been done.

Withdrawals of Subscribers.

13. Having regard to the present rules, the influence of withdrawals on the Fund is insignificant and may be neglected.

Basis of Valuation.

14. The valuation has been based upon the rates of mortality, marriage, etc., as explained above, combined with interest at the rate of 4 per cent. in accordance with instructions. This involves the assumption that in the case of each succeeding valuation the capital will from year to year be credited with interest at the rate of not less than 4 per cent. so long as any of the existing contracts remain in force.

Results of the Valuation.

15. The valuation balance-sheet appended to this report (Appendix B) shows in detail the results of the valuation upon the assumptions described above, and assuming that the full rates of contributions and donations as set out in Regulation 10 are payble in future.

16. It will be seen that there was as on the 31st March 1918 a surplus, according to the present valuation, of 223,239*l*., which figure may be compared with the corresponding surplus of about 130,000*l*. disclosed in the previous valuation after taking into account the financial effect of the modifications in the rules then in contemplation and now in force.

17. It will be observed that the surplus on the present occasion considerably exceeds the corresponding surplus at the previous valuation. I have roughly investigated the reason for this, and find that the larger surplus is partly due to the rate of interest allowed on the half-yearly balances having been at the increased rate of 4½ per cent. from 1st April 1911 to 31st March 1914 (when the rate was again reduced to 4 per cent.), but mainly on account of the experience of the Fund during the seven years having, as regards many material items, worked out somewhat more favourably than provided for by the tables upon which the valuation was based.

18. Assuming that on this occasion it were decided to continue the abatement of 12½ per cent. at present allowed off the contributions, this would absorb 102,168*l*. of the above-mentioned surplus and would leave 121,071*l*. of the surplus undistributed. This undistributed surplus would represent 7¼ per cent. of the Fund, which would not be an unreasonable amount to keep in hand in a Fund of this description if the abatements in the contributions allowed were permanent. Having regard, however, to the following considerations :—

(a) that the abatement in subscriptions allowed is subject to revision after each valuation ;

(b) that, as explained above, during the last seven years on the whole the experience of the Fund has been somewhat more favourable than that anticipated ; and

I am of opinion that until the date of the next valuation the abatement in the subcriptions might safely be increased to 20 per cent., which recommendation, if adopted, would absorb 163,469*l.* of the surplus now disclosed, leaving 59,770*l.* to be carried forward.

Non-European Members of the Indian Civil Service.

19. It remains to deal with the further question upon which I am instructed to report, namely, as to the effect, if any, on the Fund of the admission to membership of non-European members of the Indian Civil Service.

20. It is understood that it is now compulsory for non-European probationers admitted in August 1914 and thereafter to join the Fund, and in accordance with present arrangements such members pay the same rates of subscription and receive the same benefits as the European members. At the time these new arrangements were authorised it was recognised that, in the absence of sufficient material on which to base an investigation of the liabilities that would be incurred through the admission of non-Europeans to the Pension Scheme, no good purpose would be served by taking actuarial advice on the point [see Despatch (Financial), No. 70, dated 23rd May 1913].

21. Since the new arrangements came into force in 1914 the number of non-European members admitted to the Fund has been 22, all of whom were under 30 years of age on the 31st March 1918, and it is therefore still clearly impossible to base any conclusions of value upon such small foundations. At the same time I recommend that the statistics relating to this class continue to be kept separately as they may ultimately prove useful. In the meantime these 22 members are, of course, included in the present valuation with the other members.

I have, &c.,
J. DOUGLAS WATSON.

The Secretary of State for India.

ENCLOSURE No. 2.—India Office to Mr. J. Douglas Watson, F.I.A.

India Office,
23rd February 1920.

SIR,

I am directed to acquaint you that the Secretary of State for India in Council has had under consideration your Report, dated the 15th December 1919, on the Valuation of the Indian Civil Service Family Pensions, from which it appears that a reduction in the rates of subscription at present paid by the members might safely be made.

It is contrary to precedent and to accepted views regarding the application of a surplus to apply it to temporary benefits, but the existing circumstances seem to justify a departure from previous practice, and the Secretary of State feels that at the present time various reasons exist for adopting, as an alternative to a reduction of subscription, some method for securing benefits to widows and children drawing pensions under these Regulations, if this can be done without impairing the stability of the scheme and with due consideration for the interest of existing subscribers.

As regards the latter, an important point to be borne in mind is that, as the contributions are fixed in sterling, the recent large rise in the value of the rupee has the effect of greatly reducing the sums payable by them, so that they are independently receiving a large benefit which does not accrue to the pensioners.

Several factors, which do not immediately affect the present valuation, may perhaps be expected to have some disturbing influence on the future position of the scheme, such as the recent reduced entries into the service to be made good later, the possibility of some early retirements, and some other indirect effects of the war, so that it would seem undesirable to increase existing and future pensions permanently. On the other hand the Secretary of State has recently decided that, with effect from 1st April 1919, interest shall be allowed on the half-yearly balances at 5½ per cent., the additional ½ per cent. being subject to withdrawal on six months' notice. In view of this decision and of the position disclosed by your valuation, he is disposed to think that without prejudicing the future of the scheme a temporary addition until the 31st December 1924 of at least 25 per cent. might be made to the pensions of all present pensioners with effect from the 1st January 1920, and of those hereafter admitted during the five years to 31st December 1924. The addition might perhaps be more if it were to be subject to reconsideration in the event of any reduction being made from 5½ per cent. in the rate of interest on balances.

Before coming to a decision, the Secretary of State would be glad to have any comments that you may be disposed to make on the above proposal.

I have, &c.,

J: Douglas Watson, Esq., F.I.A. R. G. JAQUET.

ENCLOSURE No. 3.—Mr. J. Douglas Watson, F.I.A., to India Office.

24th February 1920.

SIR,

Ref. A. G. (Funds) 101719.

I am in receipt of your letter of yesterday's date, and in reply beg leave to say that if it is desired—

(1) to continue the existing 12½ per cent. reduction on contributions, and

(2) as a temporary measure, as from the 1st January 1920 until the 31st December 1924, to increase all incumbent pensions payable by the Fund by 25 per cent,

I am of opinion that this can safely be done without impairing the stability of the scheme, and with due consideration for the interests of existing subscribers, if during this period the interest allowed on the half-yearly balances is maintained at not less than 5½ per cent.

I am, &c.,

The Under-Secretary of State for India. J. D. WATSON.

THE GOVERNMENT COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE.

The Evening Lectures.

COURSES of evening lectures are delivered in the following subjects. A student can take up one subject or several subjects, provided the class hours permit him to attend the lectures in each subject :—

(a) Book-keeping (Elementary).
(b) Book-keeping (Advanced).
(c) Shorthand (Theory).
(d) Shorthand (Speed).
(e) Typewriting.
(f) English (including commercial correspondence, letter-drafting and précis-writing).
(g) Outlines of Political Economy.
(h) Banking and Currency.
(i) Annuities and Insurance.
(j) Mercantile Law.
(k) Accountancy and Auditing.

The courses of lectures commence in July and continue until the following April, except the course of Accountancy and Auditing, which extends over two years.

(a) Book-keeping (Elementary).—Students having a satisfactory knowledge of English and Arithmetic are admitted. Text-book—Arthur Fieldhouse's Complete Book-keeping, up to 100 exercises including Partnership accounts. The fee for the full session, July to April, is Rs. 24, payable in eight monthly instalments of Rs. 3 each. Classes are held three times a week from 6 to 7 P.M.

(b) Book-keeping (Advanced).—Students who have passed the Elementary Book-keeping Examination, or who can give satisfactory proof of their knowledge of elementary book-keeping up to the requisite standard, are admitted. Text book—Complete Book-keeping by Arthur Fieldhouse. The fee for the full session, July to April, is Rs. 32, payable in eight monthly instalments of Rs. 4 each. Classes are held twice a week from 6 to 7 P.M.

(c) Shorthand (Theory).—Pitman's Shorthand is the system taught. Students having a sufficient knowledge of English are admitted at the beginning of the session in July. Students are also admitted in December provided they have already a sufficient knowledge of shorthand to enable them to appreciate the lectures in the session, December to April.

The minimum speed required to pass the examination is 80 words per minute. The class is held daily from 5 P.M.

The fee for the session July to November is Rs. 12, which may be paid in four monthly instalments of Rs. 3 each. The fee for the session, December to April, is Rs. 16, which may be paid in four monthly instalments of Rs. 4 each.

(d) Shorthand (Speed).—Students having a speed of 60 words per minute are admitted in July and the class practice is from 60 to 120 words per minute.

Students having a minimum speed of 80 words per minute are admitted in December and the class practice is from 80 to 140 words per minute.

In the examination the tests are at four grades of speed, 80, 100, 120, 140 words per minute, and at higher speeds if candidates can write more rapidly. Classes are held daily from 6 P.M. Fees are the same as for (c).

(e) Typewriting.—Beginners are admitted in July. Students having a minimum speed of 20 words per minute are admitted in December. The minimum speed required to pass the examination at the end of April is 35 words per minute. Certificates are issued for 35, 40, 45, 50, 55, 60 words per minute. For each of the speed tests, there is a corresponding accuracy test in tabulating. Classes are held at 5, 6 and 7 P.M. Fees are the same as for (c).

Combination of the above subjects and reduction of fee.—If a student simultaneously takes up two or three of the subjects (a) to (e), a reduction of Re. 1 per instalment of each of the fees payable by him will be granted: for example, if a student is a member of both the Shorthand and the Elementary Book-keeping classes, he will have to pay instalments of Rs. 2 for each subject, instead of Rs. 3, for the session July to December.

(f), (g), (h), (i) and (j).—Classes are formed in these subjects if a sufficient number of candidates apply for admission. The fee for each subject is Rs. 3 for each series of ten lectures.

(k) Accountancy and Auditing.—There are two courses of year each for ordinary students, or one year for those who are already practising as auditors, to prepare candidates for the Government examination of Diploma in Accountancy, which qualifies them to obtain the Government license to practise as auditors. Students of this class have to attend Book-keeping and Mercantile Law classes for which no extra fee has to be paid. The fee is Rs. 144 payable in advance in four half-yearly instalments of Rs. 36 each in the case of ordinary students and Rs. 72 in two half-yearly instalments of Rs 36 each, in the case of those who are practising as auditors and hold a provisional license granted by Government.

2. Examinations.—The examination in subjects (a) to (j) is held at the end of April at the end of the year's course under the control of the Government Commercial Institute Board, and successful candidates receive certificates signed by the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, and countersigned by the Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. The examination fee for each subject is Rs. 5.

3. Attendance.—Strict regularity and punctuality of attendance are observed. Students must attend 75 per cent. of the lectures in order to appear at the examination. Classes are not held in the evening on Saturday.

4. Standard of Admission.—Candidates who have attended the lectures of the day course are eligible for admission. Others will be admitted provided they appear qualified for the class or classes they seek to join.

5. Prizes.—Prizes of Rs. 50 each are offered by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce to the best candidates from the evening classes in subjects (b), (d), (f), (g), (h), (i) and (j). Three medals are offered by the Remington Typewriter Co. to the best three students of either the day or evening classes in the Typewriting examination.

6. Admission.—Candidates for admission should send in their applications and register their names, with a deposit of fees, before the end of June. Candidates who desire to be admitted in December should apply before the end of November.

THE GOVERNMENT COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE.

The Day Course.

1. There is a specialized Day Course extending over two years. Candidates who have passed the Matriculation Examination are eligible for admission. Others are admitted, provided they satisfy the Education Department, by passing a preliminary test examination of a similar standard, that they have sufficient general education to enable them to derive advantage from the teaching.

2. Compulsory subjects :—

(a) English (modern), and especially English Correspondence, including Commercial Correspondence, letter-drafting and precis-writing.
(b) Arithmetic, including Commercial and Mental Arithmetic.
(c) An Indian vernacular.
(d) Commercial Geography.
(e) Book-keeping (Junior).

For an Indian vernacular, the Institute provides a thorough training in Bengali. Students taking up any other vernacular are given directions for the examination for which they have to prepare themselves. Anglo-Indian candidates who have passed the Higher Standard examination in an Indian vernacular held by the Inspector of European Schools, Bengal, or who have passed the Lower Standard examination in an Indian vernacular held by the Board of Examiners, will be further examined in the same vernacular in the following manner:—

(1) They will be examined orally to test their command of the vernacular for the ordinary purposes of business.
(2) They will have to translate into English a business letter dictated in the vernacular, and will be examined in both the dictation and translation.

3. Optional Subjects.—Shorthand and Typewriting—(A candidate may take up one or both, according to his option).

A student must take up all the compulsory subjects and must pass in each to obtain the final certificate. The marks obtained in the Optional Subjects—Shorthand and Typewriting—are counted towards a prize.

4. Examination.—At the end of the first year's course, an examination is held to determine promotion to the second year class and to decide the award of scholarships. At the end of the two years' course the final examination is held towards the end of April or the beginning of May. A candidate who fails in one of the five compulsory subjects is not eligible for a pass certificate. A candidate who fails in one subject only in the final examination may appear again in the final examination in the following year in that subject without attending the class. A candidate who fails in only two subjects in the final examination may appear in the final examination in the following year in those subjects, provided that he attends the classes in those subjects.

A candidate who attends a final examination to be examined in a subject in which he has previously failed must pass again in English, if English was not a subject in which he had failed, in order to obtain the diploma.

5. Text-books.—The following text-books are prescribed:—

(a) English—Hooper and Graham's "Home Trade".
(b) Arithmetic—Grant and Hill's "Commercial Arithmetic" and "Mental Arithmetic".
(c) Bengali—"Kapalkundala" by Bankim Chandra Chatterjee.
(d) Geography—"Commercial Geography of the World" by A. J. Herbertson, "A Short Commercial Geography" by L. W. Lyde, "A School Economic Atlas" by J. G. Bartholomew and "A New Geography of the Indian Empire, Burma and Ceylon" by Morrison.
(e) Book-keeping—Arthur Fieldhouse's "Complete Book-keeping."
(f) Shorthand—Pitman's Shorthand Instructor, Centenary edition.

The text-books cost about Rs. 25.

6. Session and Fees.—The session begins about the end of June and closes about the end of April. The usual summer and Puja vacations are given. The students have to pay an admission fee of Rs. 3 and monthly tuition fee at the rate of Rs. 3 beginning from June. The final examination fee is Rs. 8. Tuition fees are to be paid monthly in advance after admission.

7. Attendance.—Strict regularity of attendance is enforced. Students attending less than 75 per cent. of the lectures are debarred from promotion to the second-year class or from appearing at the final examination. Classes are held from 10-30 A.M. to 4 P.M. with half-an-hour's interval daily from 1-30 to 2 P.M. On Saturdays classes are held from 10-30 A.M. to 1-30 P.M

8. Scholarships and Prizes.—Three scholarships of Rs. 12 each per mensem, tenable for one year, are awarded to those students of the first-year class who, amongst those admitted, have secured the highest marks in English at the Matriculation Examination of the Calcutta University. Three scholarships of Rs. 20 each per mensem, tenable for one year, are awarded to those students of the second-year class who obtain the highest total marks at the examination held at the end of the first-year's course. Holders of Junior and Senior scholarships at the Matriculation Examination are not eligible for these scholarships. The best two students in the final examination at the end of the two years' course obtain prizes of Rs. 75 and Rs. 50, respectively, offered by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. The Remington Typewriter Co. present medals to the best three students in typewriting at the final or special examination.

9. Successful candidates are eligible for posts in the lower grade Secretariat Service.

10. Applications for admission must reach the Principal before the 30th June every year. As only a limited number can be enrolled, priority of application is considered.

(A separate prospectus is issued for the evening lectures.)

2. The more important changes are as follows :—

Clause 2 (1).—We have omitted the definition of "agricultural work" as being unnecessary.

Clause 2 (3) (a).—The reference to salaries in this clause has been omitted as unnecessary.

Clause 2 (5).—We have inserted a provision in this clause to make it clear that a landlord in khas possession is a landlord as well as a tenant for the purposes of this Act.

Clause 2 (11).—As we are informed that the Sanitary Board may shortly cease to exist, all references to the Board have been omitted from the Bill. We have accordingly deleted the definition of Sanitary Board in this clause.

Clause 2 (13).—We have made certain alterations in the definition of tenant in order to make it clear that for the purposes of this Act it refers to all persons other than landlords.

Clause 3.—Besides a few drafting alterations, we have omitted that portion of the clause which required the Collector to make the inquiries referred to in this clause in the prescribed manner, i.e., in a manner to be prescribed by rules under the Act, as we consider this unnecessary.

Clause 5.—We have omitted the words "in the prescribed manner" at the end of sub-clause (1) as such a provision appears to us to be impracticable and unnecessary.

Clause 6.—We have made an important change in this clause by providing that any objections, or suggestions which may be submitted by persons interested shall be preferred within a definite time to be specified in the rules.

Clause 7.—We have omitted those portions of this clause which relate to the deposit, security, and advancing of the cost of a work, as these matters are dealt with more properly, under clause 15.

Clause 8.—Under this clause as originally drafted, there was no appeal against the orders of the Collector in respect of the financing and distributing of the cost of a minor scheme. In redrafting the clause, we have provided for an appeal to the Commissioner.

Clause 9.—We have made it clear that the interests referred to in this clause include cultivating as well as land-owning interests.

Clause 10.—The following modifications have been made in this clause :—

(1) We have provided that the method of investigation by the Committee under this clause is to be prescribed by rules under the Act.

(2) We have also provided that it will be the duty of the Committee to frame proposals for the financing and distribution of the cost of major schemes.

(3) The reference to the Sanitary Board has been omitted, and appeals under this clause will now be to the Local Government.

(4) We have also taken power for the Local Government, of their own motion, to cancel or modify an order of the Committee rejecting any scheme.

Clause 11.—We have made certain consequential alterations in this clause following the changes made in clause 10.

Clause 12.—All references to the Sanitary Board having been deleted from the Bill, this clause becomes unnecessary and has been omitted.

Clause 13.—The changes in this clause are purely consequential.

Clause 14.—We have made it clear that the Engineer as defined in the Act is to execute the work.

We have also made the preparation, or revision of a record-of-rights optional instead of obligatory, as there might be cases in which a record-of-rights might not be necessary.

The other changes are matters of drafting.

Clause 15.—We do not think it necessary to provide by rule for the method of making deposits, or of giving security for the cost of a work, and we have accordingly omitted this provision.

We have, however, revised sub-clause (2) so as to enable a local authority, or person, other than the Local Government, to advance the cost of a work.

Clause 16.—The changes made are mainly verbal.

Clause 17.—We have added to the items of the cost of the work in clause (a), the particulars referred to in clause (d) of section 2 (3). We have also provided that the map referred to in clause (b) shall be prepared in a manner to be prescribed by rules.

Clauses 18, 19 and 20.—These clauses have been re-arranged in more logical sequence. In clause 18 it has been made clear that after preparing the statement of the cost of the work, it will be the duty of the Collector, first, to distribute the cost of the work between Government, local authorities and the landlords and tenants collectively, and then to apportion the share of the landlords and tenants amongst them individually, according to the degree of benefit to be derived by the different classes affected by the scheme.

We have provided for an appeal to the Commissioner against an order of apportionment by the Collector under clause 18, or clause 20.

We have also given power to the Collector in sub-clause (4) of clause 20, to correct mistakes made in the calculation of the amounts apportioned against any landlord, or tenant.

Clause 21.—This clause has been omitted as we have inserted a new clause 28A dealing comprehensively with additional costs that may not have been included in the original statement of cost.

Clause 22.—The change made in this clause is merely verbal.

Clause 23.—We have omitted this clause as we considered it better to leave the matter to be dealt with under the existing provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act.

Clause 24.—We have here retained the language of section 114 of the Bengal Tenancy Act; but we understand that the intention is to apply the certificate procedure as is done in the recovery of settlement costs. Power has accordingly been taken under the rules to allow of this being done.

Clause 26.—We have increased the period of limitation from two to three years; and in order to facilitate calculation of the period of limitation, we have added a sub-clause fixing the time from which it should be held that a work has been completed.

New clause 28A.—We have inserted a very necessary provision for the distribution, apportionment, and recovery of additional costs not foreseen, or unprovided for, in the original statement of costs.

Clause 30.—Apart from a few drafting alterations, the important change made in this clause is that, while it will still be obligatory to vest lands and works included within a scheme in a local authority or person who has paid the total cost of the scheme, we have also provided for such vesting, should the Local Government consider it to be expedient, even when such local authority or person has not paid the total cost of the scheme. It was pointed out to us that it was very desirable that a provision should be made for such cases.

Clause 31.—We have made a few drafting alterations in this clause in order to make the meaning more clear.

Clause 34.—The reference to the Sanitary Board has been omitted.

Clause 36.—We have omitted several of the provisions in this clause consequent upon changes made in the body of the Bill.

One or two items have been added for the same reason.

3. We recommend that the Bill, as now amended by us, be passed.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

ROYAL BOTANIC GARDEN AND THE GARDENS IN CALCUTTA

AND OF THE LLOYD BOTANIC GARDEN, DARJEELING,

FOR 1919-20.

ROYAL BOTANIC GARDEN.

1. General.—Weather conditions during the latter half of the year were somewhat abnormal and the rainfall excessive. On one occasion seven inches of rain fell over night and, accompanied by heavy squalls, accounted for the downfall of several trees by the edges of flooded tanks. Except where the damage involved a species not elsewhere represented in the garden or a tree forming an integral part of a scenic group, the loss was negligible, for parts of the garden suffer already from overcrowding and the elimination of a few trees here and there may be regarded with equanimity. The garden fortunately escaped the cyclone which caused such damage to trees and dwellings in the eastern part of Bengal during November.

The three new vistas referred to in last year's report have resulted in a great improvement to the garden. Their directions were carefully selected, to some extent defined by the trees which could most conveniently be spared, and to the necessity of maintaining the requisite amount of shade. The result is evident in a much more open, park-like appearance and the improvement effected could, with advantage, be paralleled by experiments on similar lines in other parts of the garden.

The year has been particularly well suited for cold weather annuals, the display of these being unrivalled in the writer's experience of the garden. In addition to raising the usual variety of annuals, the experiment of transporting established plants from the hills at the beginning of the cold weather was rendered possible through the services of Mr. H. F. Green, Manager of the Government Cinchona Plantation, Munsong. The species with which the greatest degree of success was attained were Primula obconica and malacoides and a variety of Begonia semperflorens. The presence in the garden of plants usually seen in India in the hills only added greatly to the attractiveness of the collection. To those who love gardening and who are fortunate enough to be able to get established material from the hills the experiment can be confidently recommended.

The display of Orchids during March and April was up to the usual standard and formed one of the principal attractions to visitors.

About fifty young trees and shrubs were planted out during the year, twenty-three of which were species new to the garden.

Labour during the early part of the year was concentrated on the building of walls and rivetments along the river bank. In a few years time this work may be expected to engulf a smaller percentage of the garden allotment, but for the present it must continue to be a heavy drain on garden funds, for the river takes yearly toll of the bank and it will be some years before the substantial type of structure now being built can be completed. With this constant drain on funds much could not be attempted in the way of garden improvement proper. Though such improvement is much to be desired, industrial development on the right bank with its increasing demand for labour at post-war rates further sets a limit to what the officers responsible for the state of the garden can accomplish. During the latter part of the year garden labour was reduced to about half its normal strength.

2. Plant and Seed Exchange.—Over 40,000 young trees and shrubs were distributed to the Public Works Department, District Boards, Municipalities, Railways, etc., and some 2,200 were received by the garden, during the year. Two thousand three hundred packets and 135 lbs. of seed, mostly of trees and shrubs, were distributed within and outside India. The seed went chiefly to Government or other institutions or to private parties throughout the British Empire. A considerable quantity including palm seed went to Delhi, where in spite of difficult soil and adverse climatic conditions, it is being successfully applied in arboricultural development work. Over 400 packets and 60 lbs. of seeds were received by the garden, exclusive of two barrels of Mahogany seed from Kew.

3. Herbarium and Library.—Work was carried out along the usual lines throughout the year, aid in herbarium work being given by Messrs. Debbarman and Narayanaswami, of the Botanical Survey Department.

Accessions to the herbarium number over 6,000 sheets the largest collection being one of middle and West Himalayan flowering plants and ferns. Distributions number between 2,000 and 3,000 in addition to over 9,000 sheets sent on loan for work at Kew. Since the termination of the war increased numbers of individual workers have asked to be supplied with material to work on. In addition to material for work on the flora of Madras and on the Euphorbiaceæ the Sibpur representatives of some thirty genera have been out on loan to various institutions or individuals.

Less than the usual number of book additions was made to the library on account of supplies ordered from London either not being available or the orders being left unattended to. Periodicals and reports over 200 in number have been added, but the expenses of binding and the difficulty of obtaining binding material have interfered with their being properly deposited in the library.

4. Publications.—Volume XII, Part II of the Annals of the Royal Botanic Garden, being Signor Beccari's account of the Lepidocaryeæ palms, is now complete in letter-press and plates and will be distributed during the current year.

5. Financial.—The total revenue was Rs. 3,842-12, being Rs. 2,842-12 above the sanctioned estimate. The excess is due to the temporary letting out of the garden foreshore below high-water mark for timber storing purposes. Revenue proper, being the sale-proceeds of seeds and plants, amounted to Rs. 550-4. The total expenditure under establishment and contingencies was Rs. 1,10,244-15-2. There was an excess expenditure of Rs. 2,861-13-3 under establishment, and a saving of Rs. 1,534-11-7 under contingencies.

6. Staff.—Lieutenant-Colonel A. T. Gage, I.M.S., was in charge of the gardens as Superintendent from 1st April to 10th October 1919, after which he went on combined leave being relieved by Mr. C. C. Calder, who continued to act, in addition to his own duties, till the end of the official year. Mr. G. T. Lane was Curator of the Garden till 17th July 1919, when he went on combined leave. His relief, Mr. P. V. Osborne, was in charge thereafter till the end of the year. Messrs. Mitra and Jones were Overseers, the former throughout the year, the latter on his return from military duty on 7th January 1920. Babu Devendranath Basu was Head Clerk throughout year.

CALCUTTA GARDENS.

Work in these gardens was mostly of a routine character. Great damage was done to the Eden Gardens during the Peace Celebration Mêla and the usual display of annuals was much delayed. A special grant was provided by the Mêla Committee for repairs, but the ride and lawns will require the monsoon drenching before one can hope to see them in their former condition. All these gardens are suffering not only from a shortage of labour, but from the inferior type of labour which a pre-war rate of wage draws.

Mr. S. Basu officiated as Assistant Curator in charge and Babu K. C. Maity as Overseer throughout the year, and both performed their duties conscientiously.

There was a saving of Rs. 5,543-13-6, almost entirely on salaries and establishment. Sums collected and paid into the Bank of Bengal as revenue amounted to Rs. 440.

LLOYD BOTANIC GARDEN, DARJEELING.

The excellent state of this garden lies to the credit of Mr. G. H. Cave. During a year characterised by difficulties both of a general and of a local character, the work has been carried forward with resource and ability. Epidemics among the labour force, enforced shortage of garden stores and the effects of adverse weather conditions have all successfully been overcome. The garden is a credit to Darjeeling and it is a pleasure to enter it.

About thirty plants, comprising as many species new to the garden, were added to the permanently planted out collections of trees and shrubs. Some 3,497 plants, 3,882 dozen seedlings of annuals, 386 bulbs and over 12,000 packets of seed were distributed.

Records at the gate show the popularity of the garden as an institution where recreation and educational pursuits can be combined. Over 60,000 persons visited it throughout the year.

The "Guide to the Lloyd Botanic Garden," an index to the contents of the garden, arranged both numerically and according to a natural system of classification, is being brought up-to-date and photographic illustrations prepared with a view to publication. There was a small saving of Rs. 176-2-5 out of a total annual allotment of Rs. 16,000 for upkeep.

RESOLUTION No. 38T.—San.

ENQUIRY having shown the prevalence of hookworm infestation (ankylostomiasis) among the people of Bengal, His Excellency Lord Ronaldshay, towards the end of 1918, called together a conference of the Sanitary Board, members of District Boards and representatives of the jute, coal and tea industries and other interests, and invited their advice as to the measures to be taken to fight against the disease. It was then resolved that a campaign on comprehensive lines should be undertaken in the mills and other industrial concerns near Calcutta, in the tea gardens and collieries, on the railways and in selected rural areas. In accordance with the recommendations of the conference, Government appointed three special officers, with a subordinate staff, to supervise and direct operations. A year has now passed since their appointment, and the Governor in Council desires to review the results of the work which has been done.

2. Mill area and railways.—In the mill area, work was at first impeded by ignorant suspicion on the part of the operatives, who imagined that the arrangements were part of an insidious scheme connected with the Rowlatt Act and that persons suffering from the disease would be discharged; but this spirit of distrust was gradually overcome. The Governor in Council desires to take this opportunity to acknowledge cordially the assistance given by the staff of the Titagarh, Empire and Kelvin mills, to whose co-operation is due much of the success which attended the initiation of the campaign in the mill area. A striking instance of appreciation of the beneficial results of treatment is that of a man whose son, a boy six years' old, was suffering from the debility characteristic of ankylostomiasis. The boy's health improved so much after one treatment with thymol that his father refused to bring him again because his appetite had grown so keen that he could hardly manage to satisfy it. A high ratio of infestation has been detected, the percentage in one month being 75 in one mill and 92 in another: in a third mill it was found that even among skilled artisans, who mostly wore boots, as many as 35 per cent. were infected. During the first four months of the present year, 3,112 persons were examined, of whom 81·5 per cent. were found to be infected.

Laboratories for the examination of patients have been started at the Titagarh, Kelvin, Empire, Kinpison, Barnagore and Khardah mills and at the Howrah General Hospital, the last being selected because it is in the vicinity of a number of mills and factories. Arrangements have also been made by the Anglo-Indian Jute Mill for work on lines laid down by the special officer (Dr. McVail); while a laboratory, with a dispensary attached, on a plan approved by Dr. McVail is being constructed by the Russa Engineering Company. Training has been given to sub-assistant surgeons from the Bengal-Nagpur Railway and the ordnance factories at Cossipore, Ishapore and Dum-Dum. The chief medical officer of the Eastern Bengal Railway is arranging for the training of all assistant surgeons and sub-assistant surgeons in charge of railway hospitals, where the detection and examination of hookworm disease will be made a routine practice. The chief medical officer of the East Indian Railway has applied for a complete set of apparatus, and when this is available, training will be given to officers under him.

The aim from the first has been to utilize the Government staff for initiating work and training the local staff, so that the managing authorities of the different concerns may take up anti-hookworm work themselves. It is impossible for the Government staff to open laboratories at all the centres where they are needed, and if the movement is to be extended, it will be necessary for the concerns, which will benefit by the enhanced efficiency and consequent output of their labour force, to provide laboratories and staff a their own expense.

3. Tea gardens and colliery areas.—In the tea gardens, the work of the special officer (Dr. Griffin) was greatly assisted by the Duars Planters' Association, which made a grant of Rs. 1,500 and formed a special committee to deal with matters connected with the campaign. A laboratory was opened at Jalpaiguri and a class started for the training of tea-garden doctors. Altogether 112 attended the first course and 74 the second, and training has now been given to the doctors on the majority of the gardens in the Duars. Lectures and demonstrations in simple hygiene were included in the course, and instruction was given in the diagnosis, cure and prevention of common intestinal parasitic affections. Public lectures were also given, which were so much appreciated that the schoolboys of Jalpaiguri asked for instruction in simple hygienic measures. Their request was gladly acceded to. Treatment for hookworm and other intestinal parasitic diseases is reported to be now general on the European estates, on many of which there had been a certain amount of treatment for some years, though not on fully systematic lines: some of their medical officers now intend to start central laboratories for pathological observation in the districts under their charge. Interest has also been aroused among the managers of Indian-owned gardens, on one of which an anti-hookworm centre has been started; and they are anxious to have their doctors trained and to get advice on water-supply and sanitation.

In the Darjeeling district, where Colonel Clayton Lane's researches had shown the wide prevalence of infection and the great improvement which treatment secures in the efficiency of the labour force, systematic treatment is being carried on in some gardens. Anti-hookworm centres have been started by the Government staff in three tea estates; and endeavours are being made to improve the sanitary arrangements for the labour force. In the colliery area, where the operations have been under the direction of the Mines Board of Health, work has been carried on at the Damudapur Colliery, and investigation is now in progress in the underground workings of the Jamuria Colliery.

Rural areas.—Anti-hookworm operations have been conducted under the direction of Dr. Gupta in the town of Burdwan and some selected villages in the Burdwan district. In order to diffuse knowledge of the disease, hookworm charts have been supplied to the schools, pamphlets have been distributed to the students and to the public, and lectures delivered illustrated by magic lantern slides. Efforts are being made to induce the people to give up the habit of resorting to jungle and waste land for the purposes of nature and to teach them the use of approved and cheap types of pit-privies, while persons found to be infected with hookworm are informed of the fact, and those who are willing to submit themselves to treatment are treated by trained sub-assistant surgeons. Progress is, however, disappointing, as the people are generally ignorant of the gravity of the disease; and it appears that an intensive educative campaign is necessary in order to convince them that hookworm infection is present and is a potent but preventible cause of sickness and debility.

General.—Much has been done in the way of propaganda, for it has been realized from the first that progress must largely depend on the spread among the people of knowledge as to the prevalence of hookworm disease, its effect upon the health and efficiency of the community and the need for taking measures to prevent and reduce infection. A variety of literature, including booklets, pamphlets, leaflets and posters dealing with different aspects of the problem, has been widely circulated. Nearly 100 different lantern slides, illustrating the life-history of the hookworm and various aspects of preventive work, have been prepared, and sets issued to the various centres of work and to local authorities and others interested in the campaign. The extension of the campaign has, however, been impeded by difficulties in obtaining supplies of microscopes and other apparatus. No microscopes or centrifuges could be obtained from the United Kingdom; and it has been only the kindness of the Rockefeller Foundation in New York and its branch in Ceylon that made it possible to obtain the materials necessary for the work which has already been done.

RECONSTITUTION OF THE STANDING WATERWAYS ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

IRRIGATION DEPARTMENT.

CALCUTTA, THE 1ST JUNE 1920.

RESOLUTION—No. 1514-I.

READ—

Resolution No. 3847-I., by the Government of Bengal, Public Works (Irrigation) Department, dated the 28th August 1912.

Minutes of the proceedings of the meeting of the Standing Committee for waterways held on the 16th December 1914.

Minutes of the proceedings of the meeting of the Standing Committee for waterways held on the 14th February 1917.

Bengal Government letter No. 407-I., dated the 11th February 1919, to the Government of India, and Letter No. 106-I., dated the 3rd April 1920, from the Government of India, Public Works Department, to this Government.

A Standing Committee was appointed in 1906 to inspect periodically the natural and artificial waterways between Calcutta and Eastern Bengal and Assam and to suggest measures of improvement. The Committee was at first composed of three officials and one representative of the steamer companies; and in 1911 one official and three non-official members were added. On the redistribution of the territories of Bengal with effect from the 1st April 1912, the whole position was examined with a view to enlarge and strengthen the existing Committee; and the Bengal Government decided that the Standing Committee should be enlarged, to consist of nine members and the member of the Executive Council in charge of the Public Works Deparment portfolio as President. The Government of Bihar and Orissa and the Administration of Assam were also asked to assist the Committee, should occasion arise, by deputing their Chief Engineers to advise the Committee upon such matters as come under its consideration which directly affect the waterways situated in those provinces.

2. The question of the formation of a Waterways Trust was discussed by the Standing Waterways Committee in 1914 and again in 1918, and it was strongly urged that a Trust should be constituted at an early date. No conclusion, however, was reached, mainly because the Committee were unable to put forward any practical constructive proposals for the establishment of such a Trust on a sound financial basis. In April 1918 the subject was again reopened by the Joint Steamer Companies of Calcutta when they urged among other things the necessity for centralised control in order to ensure greater co-ordination in the matter of river conservancy between the various local Governments concerned. Again in June 1918 the subject of the formation of a Waterways Board, to look after the interest of river transport in India, was raised by a question asked in the House of Commons. After a complete and exhaustive examination of the facts by the Government of Bengal and the Government of India, the following conclusions have been formulated by the Secretary of State for India—

(i) that the formation of a Waterways Board for the whole of India is undesirable, and that in present conditions the proposal that a Trust should be constituted to undertake the conservancy and development of the navigable waterways of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa and Assam cannot be entertained; and

(ii) that the existing Waterways Committee in Bengal should be continued, but that the sphere of its action should be enlarged by the nomination to it of extra provincial representation.

3. The Governor-in-Council has, therefore, decided in consultation with the Government of Bihar and Orissa and the Administration of Assam, and with the approval of the Government of India to enlarge the sphere of the existing Waterways Advisory Committee by making it possible to have extra provincial representatives. He has, therefore, decided to reconstitute the Standing Waterways Advisory Committee as follows :—

President.

The Member of the Bengal Executive Council in Charge of the Irrigation Branch of the Public Works Department.

Members.

The Chief Engineer, Irrigation, Government of Bengal.

The Chief Engineer, Irrigation, Government of Bihar and Orissa.

A member to represent the Commercial interests of Eastern Bengal to be nominated by the Naraingani Chamber of Commerce.

A member to be nominated by the Managing Agents of the India General Navigation and Railway Company and the Agents of the Rivers Steam Navigation Company acting jointly.

The Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Irrigation Department will act as Secretary to the Committee, and the records will be kept in the Bengal Secretariat.

The functions of the Standing Waterways Advisory Committee will be to advise on (a) the maintenance and improvement of waterways more specially the Ganges, Brahmaputra, Meghna group of waterways which connect Bengal with Bihar and Orissa on the one side and with Assam on the other ; and (b) the regulation of traffic on these waterways.

ORDER—Ordered that this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that a copy thereof be submitted to the Government of India, Public Works Department, for information.
